If any of the readers of this notice are wanting to make a substantial mining investment, we believe they will have but very few chances to make one such as is now being offered by our Company.

With our own mill adapted to handling our ores, there will undoubtedly be a wide margin for profit, such as is seldom brought to the notice of the investor. Evidently in store for us in these mines. WE ARE DEVELOPING VAST ORE RESERVES. BONANZA ORE 1,000 FEET ABOVE US, AND PICTURE ORE AT A DEPTH OF ABOUT 2,000 FEET BELOW THE SURFACE. THAT IS PROVING THE GROUND SOME, IS IT NOT? WHERE CAN YOU BEAT IT! EVERYBODY TALKING ABOUT OUR RECENT BIG STRIKES!

We Have Millions

Now, Mr. Investor, WE WANT QUICK ACTION, and if you want goods that can be delivered to you, buy them now.

There is Nothing Shoddy About This Investment

We have the courage of our own convictions, and when we tell you that IDAHO-BRIDE SHARES is one of the best buys on the market to-day, we mean it. We are not offering to sell out treasury stock just for the sake of selling it. We have very good reasons for doing so. We can use your capital to very good advantage RIGHT NOW at both mine and mill; otherwise, this notice would never appear. It's quick results we are wanting, and if youwant to share in our good fortune, you're welcome, and your co-operation will be appreciated.

WE SHALL NOT SOLICIT THE PUBLIC MUCH LONGER. THIS IS ABOUT THE LAST OFFER YOU WILL EVER GET FROM US. THIS STOCK IS CHEAP AT 85.00 PER SHARE; but we are offering it for much less. You can't go out on the market and buy it, as our stockholders are holding tight. There's where they are showing good, common sense. They are expecting big dividends and we don't think they will be disappointed. Our mines are too good for that. If you want in with us

Better Make Your Application at Once

A word to the wise is usually sufficient and what we are telling you is for your own good. If you don't get these shares, some other lucky individual will. NUF CED. So get them while the getting is good.

TROOPS READY FOR BATTLE STIR THOSE BUFFALO STRIKERS, BLOODSHED NEAR

Three Thousand Soldiers Seem None too Many to Handle Condition Approaching Civil War---Chief of Police Target For Missiles

Two City Regiments Reinforced by Down State Troops Guard Thoroughfares--Not a Wheel Was Turning at Eleven O'clock

Buffalo, April 9.—While there was less rioting up to noon to-day than during the same time yesterday, still condition of affairs in the Buffalo international Railway Company strike is not in the least improved.

This morning street fights were prevalent and imminent rioting is feared.

Two thousand troops from the 65th and 74th Regiments of this city are marching up and down the street car lines, others are being rushed from headquarters to the ten different car barns in the city and another thousand troops are pouring into Buffalo on orders from headquarters from Rochester, Syracuse, Niagara Falls and Elmira and fifteen other cities in Western and Central New York.

With bayonets and weapons drawn, the troops are parading the city, but this has only aggravated the strikers to such an extent that bloodshed is certain to follow.

Several attempts were made just before noon to assault Police Chief Regan. Bricks and stones were hurled from second storey windows at the chief's automobile and missed him by inches.

Power House Men May Quit.

Mechanics and car repairers joined in the general strike and the linemen of local street railway are preparing to join hands with the striking trainmen

Employes in the power house which runs the local system are preparing to leave on strike within short time. This would mean complete paralization of the system. About two hundred troops are stationed in and around the power house as report had it to-day that dynamite had been placed under the power house and that plans had been made to blow up the power house.

The Pope Dying

London, April 10.—A Central News despatch from Rome says the Pope suffered from a fainting fit lasting two hours yesterday afternoon and that it was rumored in the lobbies of the Italian Chamber of Deputies that the Pontiff was in extremis.

Prof. Machiafava, however, continues to assert that the Pope is no worse and that there are no grounds for anxiety.

WONDERFUL GROWTH OF MONTREAL, QUE.

The wonderful development and rapid extension of Canada's resources and trade take one's mind naturally to Canada's leading port of entry, Montreal. The metropolis of Canada, with her 600,000 of population, nestling around Mount Royal and washed by the ocean-connected and mighty river St. Lawrence has made great strides in population. It would be a wise prophet who could accurately predict her future growth. Real estate in Montreal is synonymous with golden coin or government bonds as regards security, and better than either as a lucrative investment. In this connection, we would call attention to an advertisement in this issue of the Montreal Consolidated Real Estate and Investment Ltd.

WIDOW POISONED NEIGHBOR.

Lansing, Mich., April 9.—Mrs. Mary Lucas, a widow, 60 years old, yesterday was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment for having poisoned Mrs. Pauline Fingel. The women were neighbours.

PROF. E. E. F. CREIGHTON TO LECTURE HERE

The Technical Society of Peterborough has arranged for a lecture on "Lightning and other Electrical Disturbances," by Prof. E. E. F. Creighton, of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. Prof. Creighton is recognized as one of the world's leading authorities on this subject, being retained by the General Electric Company as a specialist on Protective Apparatus. In collaboration with Dr. C. P. Steinmetz he has devoted his time for many years, almost exclusively, to exhaustive researches, both practical and experimental, of electrical disturbances.

The lecture will be illustrated by numerous experiments and photographs, and will be preceded by a dinner which will close the Technical Society's first winter of activity. The lecture will be free to all interested either directly or indirectly. Further details will be announced at an early date.

The Money On Hand

Montreal, April 9.—Mrs. Tremblay has received the $2,000 necessary to permit her to carry her appeal to the Privy Council. If this case is decided in favour of Mrs. Tremblay, as is generally believed, it will be a great victory over the Roman hetrarchy of Quebec.

WOULD BANISH DIRTY BILLS AT THE COST OF MILLIONS

Banking Committee Inquire Into Cost of Destroying Used Notes---Hundred Thousand For Single Office

Ottawa, April 10.—Mr. Joseph Henderson, the veteran Toronto bank financier, was again on the stand before the Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday morning. Mr. Henderson thought that unclaimed deposits, if retained by the bank, could be used for the business of the country. If turned over to the Government it could go into the general fund and not benefit the public.

Mr. Henderson was questioned in regard to rates paid on deposits and saw no objection to the banks making an arrangement to pay the same rate of interest.

"Do not rates of interest fluctuate from time to time?" asked Major Sharpe.

Higher Rate of Interest.

"They do," replied Mr. Henderson. "But the rates paid to depositors do not fluctuate?" replied Mr. Sharpe.

"They do not," said Mr. Henderson. "We must get together when the question of increasing rate of interest is under consideration. There is no need of cutting each other's throats, for if one bank raises the rates the others must do likewise."

Mr. Ames asked what would be the effect on the banks if the rate of interest in the Government savings banks were raised. Mr. Henderson said that the banks would have to increase their rate of interest. This would mean a corresponding increase of rates on loans. The banks can't afford to reduce their profits.

Mr. Maclean asked why the bank could not raise its rates and take less profits.

"Investors could not be persuaded to invest in bank stocks," was the reply.

UNANIMOUS

Ottawa, April 10.—At a Ministerial caucus yesterday morning the proposed closure resolution of the Government was under discussion. The Cabinet's decision in regard to putting the Navy Bill through was enthusiastically ratified.

Keeping Bills Clean.

Mr. Henderson did not think the proposal of Dr. Steele, that the banks should sterilize bank notes before re-issuing them, was practical. They would have to sterilize the people who present them as well. Dr. Steele said that the question of cost was important. What he wanted to do was to prevent unclean notes being re-issued, and to prevent the spread of disease. The cost would not be large not more than eight or ten dollars a branch.

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt emphasized the necessity of something being done. There should be some way to prevent dirty bills being issued. He pointed out that the Bank of England never re-issued a note, and asked what would be the cost if this plan was followed here.

Mr. Henderson said that he had figured the cost to the Bank of Toronto would be no less than $125,000 a year.

Mr. Cockshutt was surprised at the amount and asked what suggestion Mr. Henderson would make for cleaner bills.

HAS SUFFRAGETTE GENERAL A SECRET FOOD SUPPLY?

Mrs. Pankhurst Has "Fasted" Five Days, But With No Starvation Effect--Again Await Release

London, April 9.—The suffragist expectation that Mrs. Pankhurst would be released yesterday was disappointed. They now declare confidence of her release to-day. They have prepared a great demonstration at Albert Hall to-morrow evening, anticipating her presence.

Mrs. Pankhurst has consistently refused all prison food while in prison but her five days' fast has so far only produced, it is said, slight effects. The prison doctors believe she has some store of highly concentrated nourishment secreted in her clothes, but this is considered improbable. She will be released on license when the doctors report she is in danger of collapse through voluntary starvation. On recovery from the effects of starvation she will be liable to re-arrest.

Yesterday Olive Wharry, who was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment for firing Kew Pavilion, was released after 30 days' starvation. For twenty-nine days she concealed her hunger strike from the officials.

JACK'S LAKE IS NOW VERY HIGH

An Apsley correspondent writes that the water in Jack's Lake is very high, and our informant notifies us that unless one or two stop logs are raised the water is going to do considerable damage to Mrs. Robbin's property. Her ice house is threatened as it is. Last spring she lost most of her ice through overflow of water.

In reference to the above, the Times interviewed Supt. McClellan, of the canal. That gentleman says that the new concrete dam is holding water quack, that used to seep through the old structure. He intimated that it is even preferable to lose a $10 ice house than let the water down and thus assist in closing the factories of Peterborough next Summer. Mr. McClellan has written the dam caretaker at Jack's Lake to watch affairs closely.

TRUE SYNPHONY IN THIS CITY

Last Night it Was Shown That the Conservatory Has Brought Local Music to High Grade

Mr. Rupert Gliddon of the local Conservatory of Music should be a proud man this morning. Mr. Gliddon last night demonstrated that Peterborough has not only the raw material for producing sweet strains of harmony, but that this city, thanks to his efforts, has talented musicians.

Last night in the big Conservatory Hall, the Orchestra of that local home of the muse, displayed, at their annual concert that Peterborough, whilst a manufacturing city, still favors the arts. The audience, whilst large, was altogether disproportionate to what it would or should have been, had the excellence of the music presented, been known. It might be an invidious comparison to single out any one of the various performers as star; still, it struck The Times that Miss Mignon Telgmann, of Kingston, a little girl in short skirts, seemed to meet with most general applause, although all those taking part were artists in their respective parts. When, as an encore, Miss Telgmann, whose technique as a violinist, reminds one of Remenyi, played, the audience went wild. As she finished, a big boquet of roses was handed her. This girl certainly has a big future ahead. Those who materially assisted in the success of the evening's enjoyment were: the Misses Hazel Dean and Pearl McKee, accompanists; Mr. Frank Killmaster and Mr. Frank Oldfield, the Toronto Baritone.

NEW TARIFF WOULD ENRICH OUR LUMBER AND PULP MEN

Such Is the Opinion of Business Men in Montreal--The Leather Men are Hopeful

Montreal, Que., April 9.—The general impression among local business men is that the proposed reduction in the United States tariff will benefit this part of the country.

"As for the lumber and pulp industries," stated Mr. P. G. Owen, secretary-treasurer of the Quebec Limit Holders' Association, "the new regulations will make the fortune of the lumbermen."

The leather men also claim that their trade will profit immediately by the new conditions to be created, and they think that even the shoe industry will be stimulated.

The lower part of the rural district, which already makes a good business by selling hay and potatoes to the United States, receive the new provisions with satisfaction

SHOEMAKERS FROM BRITAIN WOULD ENTER U. S. MARKET

Woodrow Wilson's New Tariff Bill, Popular in United Kingdom, Great Boom to Leather, Woolens, and Cotton Manufacturers

London, April 9.—President Woodrow Wilson is to-day the most popular man in England, especially in the Midlands. Bradford will particularly benefit by the tariff reductions. Woolen and piece goods manufacturers and merchants generally have maintained some trade, despite the tremendous tariff wall.

This will now soar ahead. Cotton manufacturers anticipate a stimulus to the fine cotton goods trade, in which England leads the world. British tailors are already contemplating enlarging their premises.

The most remarkable development will probably be in the shoe trade. Twelve years ago British shoemakers alarmed by American competition, modernized their plant methods. They swept American shoes out of the English market and have recently exported to the States. They believe, that owing to the high quality of British leather, this trade will now grow in leaps and bounds. Manufacturers anticipate that the ultimate result of the reduction of the American tariff will not make the States a much more formidable competitor in this market by forcing a lowering in the cost of living and thus reducing the vital costs in American manufacture.

THAT DEFECTIVE PUMP.

Water Commissioners Frame Agreement that May Be Mutually Satisfactory.

At the meeting of the Water Commissioners yesterday, the matter of the pump purchased for the Water Works, from the McDougal Caledonian Iron Works Co., was considered. At the meeting an agreement drawn up by Mr. Hall was ordered supmitted to Mr. W. Kennedy, Engineer for the Commissioners. Mr. F. H. D. Hall was granted a salary of $150 a year as solicitor for the Commissioners

Police of San Francisco Seized Drug Worth $50,000--At Time of Seizure Another Charge Confronted Suspect

San Francisco, April 9. Eight hundred pounds of cocaine contained in four trunks, and said to be worth $50,000, were seized in a downtown hotel by the police last night.

The police believe the drug was smuggled in from Mexico. Edward Arlington, who at the time of the seizure was being held on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences, is the suspected smuggler, and is facing the new charge. All of it is in bottles, which bear the name of a Montreal, Canada chemist.

TITANIC STRUGGLE BETWEEN THE PARTIES AT CAPITAL

Closure Yesterday Afternoon Marks Beginning of New Phase of Battle

Ottawa, April 10. With the introduction of the closure measure in the house yesterday afternoon there promises to be a struggle precipitated that will be historic. The measure will be introduced by Premier Borden shortly after three o'clock this afternoon and the great interest that is being taken in the bill ensure a crowded House and gallery. An enthusiastic Conservative caucus was held this morning.

The Opposition was given another chance last night to accept the reasonable offer the Government has made. Their rejection of the Olive branch has made it necessary in the interests of Parliamentary dignity and the proper transaction of public business that a check should be placed on the anarchy into which the Opposition has run during the last few months.

As soon as the Premier has spoken explaining the proposed amendments to the rules and giving the reasons for introducing them, it is expected that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will reply and probably end by moving an amendment. The struggle will then be on.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Unsettled, with frequent showers.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT MONAGHAN SOLD

Yesterday afternoon Mr. W. J. Hancock, the local auctioneer, held a sale in the Munro House of two valuable farms in the 12th concession of North Monaghan. The farms were the property of the Young Estate. The first block disposed of was 37 acres one mile from the city, part of lot 11. This was bought by Mrs. Mary Goodfellow, of the same township.

The second lot was 50 acres, in the same concession, which was purchased by Mr. R. Fowler, whose farm adjoins, for $3,600.

CARS MOVE WHILE TROOPS LINE ROUTE

Strike-Breakers and Policemen Were on Board the First Car to Move in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., April 10.—At exactly one o'clock yesterday afternoon, the first street car to turn a wheel in Buffalo since the afternoon before left the Hertel avenue barns. It was manned by strike breakers. Three policemen were also aboard.

The car was followed quickly by two others from the same barn. They were not molested.

Troops lined the entire route.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaprilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store, we make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 206 George St., directly opposite Crossman's store.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The New York police are taking notice that in the fashionable tea rooms the t is for tango, turkey trot and Texas Tommy.

No wonder the Liberal members have sore heads. Every scandal they have attempted to raise against the Conservative Government has proved a boomerang.

The condition of the Liberal party political and otherwise is absolutely hopeless, so long as Dr. J. A. McDonald, the Globe editor, fills the role of consulting physician.

It is said that German measles are prevalent in Berlin, Ont. The name of the town indicates that it is an appropriate place for an outbreak of that disease.

These militants that carry paint pots and lettered placards to the scenes of their devastations must either have a brother on the beat or fernseed in their shoes.

By calling in an expert decorator a Toronto preacher has learned that the drowsiness of his congregation is caused by inharmonious colors in the auditorium. But why not make the inquiry more direct.

It does seem that spring time has come, gentle Annie, but don't be too sure about it and take off your Schedule K.'s, because old Boreas may be holding another swat up his sleeve.

Churchill states that the three Canadian battleships are a grave necessity to the empire. Of course Pugsley, Laurier and Clarke know better. If you don't think so, ask them.

It is high time that the band of obstructionists in parliament was taught to admit that the majority has the right to govern. They have been given ample rope: the moment is rapidly arriving when it will be well in the interests of good government to begin to haul it in.

The declaration of independence having been read in the House of Commons by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, and its reading lustily cheered by the Liberal cohorts, all that Laurier has to do is to run up the red flag of mutiny. The people of Canada know how to deal with such gentry.

But yesterday J. Pierpont Morgan was the great financier of the world. Now he, like "imperial Caesar, dead and turned to clay, may stop a crack to keep the wind away." Death brings us all to a common level and is a constant reminder that "the paths of glory lead but to the grave."

ONE WAY OUT.

Why doesn't the British government fight suffragettes with women police? Surely female "bobbies" would not be so tender and merciful in their treatment of the militants as London police have been. What a sight for the eyes of a harrassed cabinet minister it would be to see a policewoman and a suffragette locked in a close embrace, one defending the law and the other defying it. If woman met woman cabinet ministers might have peace.

POOR OLD TURKEY.

The dramatic feature of the European situatiob is the fact that after centuries of misgovernment and bloodshed, Turkey, for all practical purposes, now quits Europe by the unanimous consent of the great powers. Turkey is merely left a wreck and a remnant of her prime in Europe, namely, the straits of Constantinople, and the peninsula running up to the Enormidia line. Her work of empire and consolidation is now Asiatic. To enable her to do this work effectively, the powers refuse to permit her to be squeezed into bankruptcy on the Bismarkian principle.

CANADIAN SHIPS NECESSARY

Honourable Winston Churchill made the following statement:—

"Canadian ships are absolutely necessary for the whole-world-defence of the British Empire from the end of 1915 or the beginning of 1916 inwards," he said. "The fact that they are necessary is no measure of their value. We can build three ships ourselves if necessary. It is the fact of this new great nation coming forward with all its measureless strength and the possibility to testify to the enduring life of the British Empire, which has already produced an impression throughout the world that is of more value than many dreadnought ships; an impression which conduces both for the safety of this country and the peace of the nations from this point."

The new differences of the method which separates the proposal of Premier Borden's Government from those of that far-seeing Imperial statesman Sir Wilfrid Laurier, are not of vital importance. The Admiralty have expressed their opinion, as it was our duty, as to which was the more convenient method, and which method will be the most quick, helpful, and most effective for the common good of the British Empire. But from a wider standpoint, than any which the Admiralty can occupy, the principle of Canada coming forward for the world to see, is of inestimaqle value and that is the poincple on which I understand the Liberals and Conservatives in Canada are as one."

FROM ALL OVER THE GREAT WEST

COME REPORTS FROM WOMEN OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Telling of Renewed Health and Fresh Vigor Through Using the Great Canadian Remedy.

Overland, Sask., April 9.—(Special)—From all over this great west are coming statements from women who have found renewed health and fresh vigor through using Dodd's Kidney Pills and in this growing comminity evidence is not lacking that the great Canadian remedy is daily gaining friends among those on whom the burdens of life fall most heavily. Mrs M. D. Forsberg, a well-known resident, says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills did me a great deal of good. I tried two other kinds of medicines before using them but it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that benefitted me."

Women's health depends on the kidneys. If the kidneys are not right the result is weakness and weariness and a burden of pain almost too great to bear. But when Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right and result is that all poison is strained out of the blood, the seeds of disease are removed and the purified blood carries health and vigor to all parts of the body.

Almost any bright, healthy woman can tell you why Dodd's Kidney Pills are known as woman's best friend.

THE WISDOM OF 1911.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The new tariff bill of the United States is a canvincing and clear proof of the wisdom of the electors in turning down the Reciprocity pact of the Liberal party, and speaks in unmistakable language of the folly and short-sightedness of Laurier, Fielding & Co. The new tariff bill of our southern neighbors gives to Canada practically all the benefits that the Taft-Fielding agreement would have brought, and in many cases larger benefits, and all this has been secured without Canada making one single concession in return and without opening our markets to American competition.

The new tariff is also a notable contrast to the reciprocity proposals of 1911, in regard ro our raw materials and manufactured products. The agreement drawn up by Taft and his advisers was plainly intended to secure the raw materials of Canada (which we are bound to need more and more), for the benefit of the manufacturers of the States. The new tariff reverses this very largely. It admits our manufactured articles made from our raw materials and does not take in raw materials free. This is shown clearly in the case of two of our most important products. Flour is in the free list but not wheat. This will stimulate milling in the West instead of in the States. Meat also is on the free list, but not cattle. With Reciprocity, we would have been shipping wheat instead of flour. Space forbids me enlarging but any thinking man can se we have got now more for nothing than Reciprocity would have given us at a very dear price

Percival G. S. Webb.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY BY A GERMAN SPECIALIST.

Until a year or so ago Diabetes Mellitus was numbered among the incurable diseases, and to-day many are sufferers from this complaint, and are under the impression that they are incurable. Physicians are employed without any avail, and so the disease is allowed to run on until the sufferer eventually succumbs. This is the story we hear day by day the world over.

About eleven years ago a German Specialist started to work out his wonderful cure, and after nine years of labor and many disappointments he at last perfected Sanol's Anti-Diabetes, which during the last two years, thousands of sufferers have been cured of this disease, and many so called incurables, people whose doctors have given them up, once again restored to their health and strength. Slowly but surely it came to be a recognized fact that with both the people and the medical profession of Canada, that Sanol's anti-diabetes is the one remedy that may be relied upon to cure this fatal disease.

The manufacturers of Sanol's Anti-Diabetes have received within the last nine months over three thousand letters of recommendations. Many from some of the most prominent people in the City of Winnipeg, and all over the country. The remedy is endorsed by many of Winnipeg's leading physicians who do not hesitate in recommending it to their own patients. This medicine is daily used in many of the hospitals and colleges in Canada. People using Sanol's Anti-Diabetes, suffer from no ill effects, as the preparation is made from pure herbs, and absolutely no alcohol or poisonous matter is used in its preparation.

The greatest recommendation The Sanol Manufacturing have is from those who have used this treatment, and who recommend it to their friends.

For sale at all leading druggists, $2.00 per bottle.

BASEBALL.

The following local players will report at Preston on April 26th:

Pitchers—Tracey, Hanson, D. Barthold, Strain, Short, Armbruster.

Catchers—Shea, Lowery, Scott, Kniverton, Teed.

First base—Johnny Barthold.
Second base—Wiedman.
Short stop—Brant.
Third base—Byrne.
Outfield—Swartz, Beard, White and Ferguson.

The series opens on Wednesday, May 7th, when the White Caps will play a series of two games at Berlin. On Friday and Saturday the Petes will be at Brantford, after they come home for the next week, when Brantford and St. Thomas play here.

An Ottawa despatch says, Johnnie Barthold, the hard hitting first-baseman of the Peterborough Club, who will manage there this season, has not anything on Cosy Dolan as a base runner. Johnnie stole one sack last season against Dolan's two.

Brantford expects to fight it out for the pennant with Hamilton. Guelph picks Cook's bunch and Berlin to go up on top. Guess the others aren't in the race at all.

Irwin Trout, the ex-Peterborough backstop, was in the limelight again yesterday in Richmond for the second day in succession, catching the entire game for Toronto. He accepted twelve chances, did not allow a stolen base, had a triple and a sacrifice hit and scored two runs.

Rather than take a chance of not reaching Cleveland in time for the opening game to-day, Secretary Blackwood and Manager Birmingham of the Naps completed arrangements to take the Naps home via Washington. The team will leave here Sunday night, regulars and recruits alioe, until such time as Birmingham finds places to drop off the surplus material he is carrying. The shift is due to the flood which has put a number of railroads out of business in the Middle West. It was believed the Naps could reach home via Chicago, but President Somers telegraphed to go via Washington and take no chances of being delayed.

President Johnson of the American League announced last night the following assignments of umpires for the opening games on Thursday:

At Cleveland—O'Loughlin and Ferguson.
At St. Louis—Evans and Hildebrand.
At Boston—Dineen and Hart.
At Washington—Connolly and McGreevy.

New York, April 9.—Major league baseball, scheduled to continue for 180 consecutive days before decks are clear for the world championship battle of 1913, is due to begin tomorrow. The start, however, will be confined to a single game — in Brooklyn's new baseball park—with the other major league cities held in leash until Thursday for the general opening in both leagues.

It was by special dispensation of the National league that the opening in Brooklyn was advanced a day this year in deference to the fact that a magnificent new stadium has been erected there. The game today will be with the Philadelphia Club.

On Thursday in the National League circuit, the opening games will be:

At New Yark, with Boston.
At Cincinnati with Pittsburg.
At Chicago with St. Louis.
At Philadelphia with Brooklyn.

In the American League cities Thursday's games will be:

New York at Washington
Philadelphia at Boston.
Chicago at Cleveland.
Detroit at St. Louis.

The league champions of last year, the New York Nationals, and the Boston Americans, under the same leadership, and with forces practically intact, are boastful of carrying off pennant honors, but there are many clubs which are equally confident of displacing them.

KILBANE MAY CUIT.

Kilbane declares that it would be a matter of only a short time until he would be unable to make the 122 limit and be at his best, but a still more potent factor, he said, was the fact that after he disposed of Dundee there would be no one left in the featherweight to fight him.

Kilbane called attention to the fact that he already had one knockout against Joe Rivers to his credit and was sure he could do it again. Tom McCarey, manager of the Vernon arena, said he would back Kilbane as a lightweight for $25,000 against anybody in the world.

NO SOCCER TEAM FROM ENGLAND.

Montreal, April 9.—There is not likely to be any old country professional tour this season. F. J. Wall of the F. A., in a letter to President Barter of the D.F.A., says he has taken the advice of the A.A.A. of England on the matter, and, owing to the unsettled state of athletic affairs in Canada, the proposed tour will be dropped, rather than be the cause of making trouble. In the meantime, both the F.A. and the A.A.A. of England will make representations to the A.A.U. of C. with a view of overcoming the present impasse.

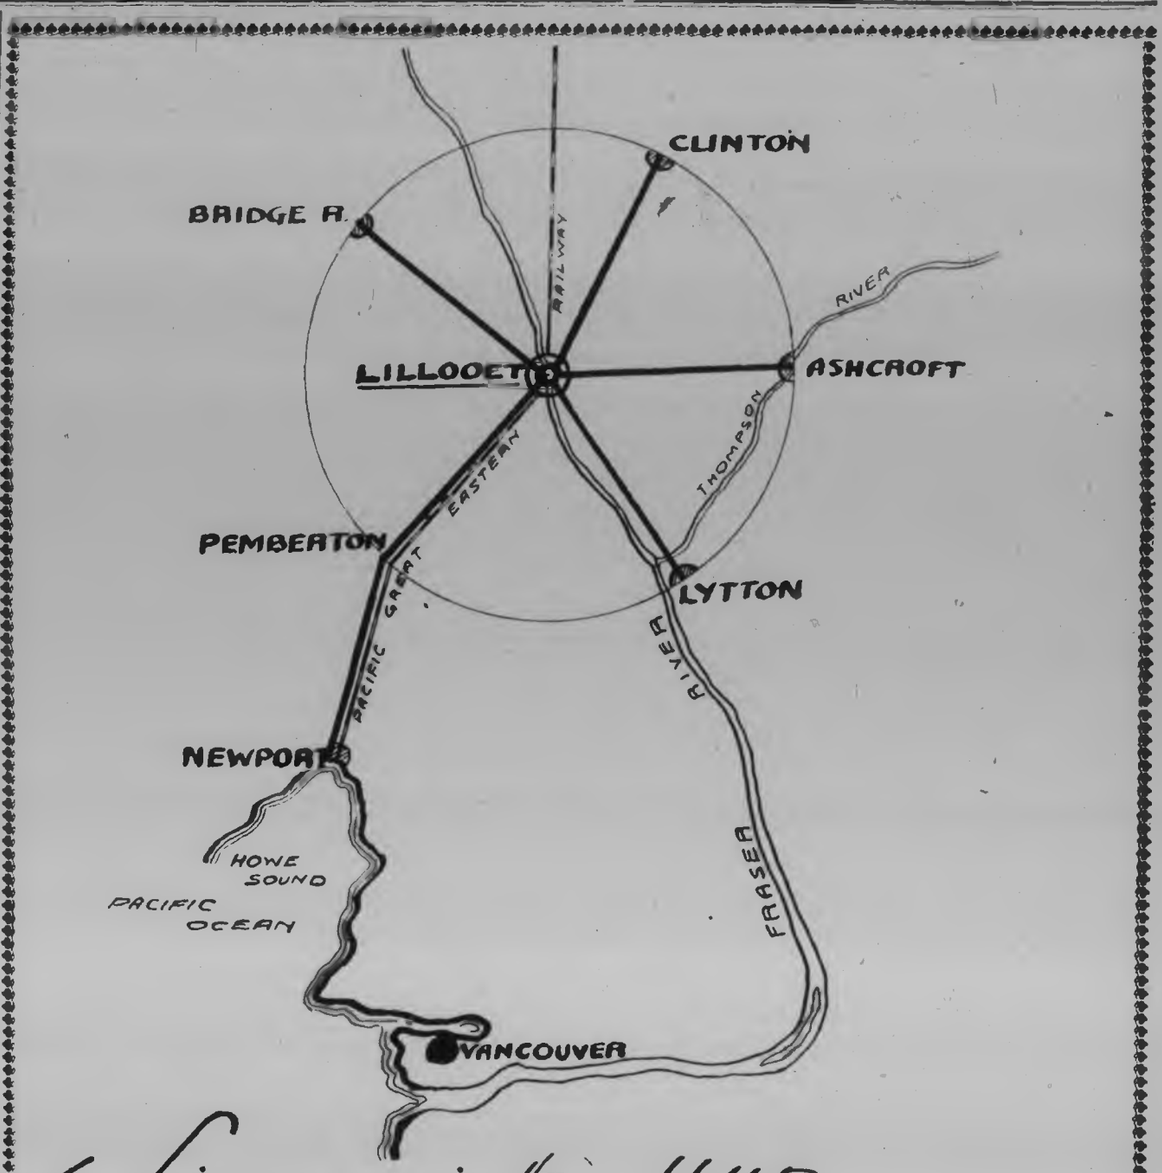
LACROSSE.

Shamrocks and Montrealers have both hung up their salary lists and quit the pro lacrosse game. They'll probably play amateur lacrosse. In fact they've been doing it for several seasons past so far as performers went. The salaries were the only things that savored the professionalism in this make-up.

ATHLETICS.

A Public School Athletic Association, to encourage football, baseball, and basketball, has been formed in Berlin, Ontario.

The International cross-country race at Juvisy, France, resulted in an easy victory for England. Bouin came in first, however, covering the distance, ten miles, in 51 minutes 52 2-5 seconds.



The Manitoba athletic championships will be held in Brandon this year in connection with the Dominion Exhibition in July.

THE RING.

Gus J. Felix, the well known New Orleans fighter, announces he has taken "Wild Cat" Vuillmot, a pug hailing from Montreal, Canada, under his wing and is willing to match him against either Kids Kleck or Bertucci before any of the local clubs. Felix is also managing Young Shea, a 118-pounder, whom he thinks will develop into a good fighter.

Forcing the fight from the tap of the gong, Kid Kleck was awarded a popular decision over Kid Bertucci at the Suburban Athletic Club at New Orleans. Kleck beat Bertucci in nearly every one of the ten rounds, and had he followed his advantage in the sixth would have probably dropped the Dryades Market representative for the count of ten. Kleck ought so fast during the early rounds that he tired a trifle in the tenth, in which Bertucci failed to fight his fastest, resorting to holding to holding methods.

Bertucci was dropped for the count in the sixth, but the referee tolled off a second, the gong sounded. Bertucci was revived sufficiently to finish the mill, Kleck loafing in the seventh.

DISTANCE WALKING NOW THE CRAZE

Regular Procession of Men and Women Emulating or Pretending to Emulate Weston's Feat

Ever since Edward Payson Weston dragged his elderly legs across the United States in about eighty days, a craze over long-distance walking has pervaded the country. Along both coasts, in New York and Philadelphia, the general starting points, and in San Francisco and Los Angeles, the usual objective points, the prevalence of the trans-continental pedestrians is not appreciated. It is in the interior towns along the few available coast-to-coast highways that the hikers are encountered in alarming numbers.

Probably this is due chiefly to the size of the starting and terminating points, where a young man, or even a young women, starting afoot on the 3,500-mile plod is lost sight of. But in the small towns through which these persons walk their coming, stay, and departure is a matter of the greatest interest. Usually their approach is signalled by telegraph operators along the railroad line they follow, or, again, they are heralded by a hastily-scrawled postcard to the "sport-editor" of the newspaper in the town they are approaching.

Reno, Nev., experienced an epidemic of coast-to-coast strollers on one occasion. Ten in one week was the alarming total of the most fruitful seven days, and two of them were girls traveling together. All were bound west, and the fact that they had already negotiated more than 3,000 miles of their trip, and had but a trifle of 300 miles before them, added interest in their venture and its success. Ten in one week, and there were periods before and after that when four was the average number of grimy, heavy-booted, khaki-clad walkers.

There are only about five possible routes by which the pedestrans may travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific. These limited routes exist only west of Denver, across the deserts and plains which cut off the verdure of the coast States from the rest of the Union. From El Paso, Texas, along the Southern Pacific to Los Angeles is the furthest south; the route along the Santa Fe Railroad comes next to the north; then the Oregon Short Line's Ogden route, the most direct passing through Reno, and finally a couple of lines to the north, the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee.

Only in the dead of winter are the Southern trips attempted, as the excessive heat is too much in the spring, summer, and fall, and so the middle and shortest route is most used. From Omaha or Kansas City west to Denver the way is serene. The railroad lines are dotted with small communities, and no danger attends he undertaking. But from Denver west, clean to Sacramento, Cal., a matter of 800 miles, there are numerous hardships and considerable real danger.

Along the railroad, through Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming there are enough towns to make daily stopping places; but through Nevada the hamlets are few and far between. The fact that there are only a few water tanks and section gangs of railroad bands in a few hundred miles does not deter pedestrians, be they male or female.

All walkers who come through usually announce to the edified audience that they are "three days ahead of Weston's record," or "a week ahead of schedule." They appear, exhibit their letters from Mayors and judges and dog catchers in their starting points, obtain further credentials from local authorities and editors, and then pass on.

Things are often pretty "soft" for these walkers. Often as not they declare that the agreement of their hike calls for them to make the trip without funds and without working. That always means that a kindy or sporty hotelkeeper will stake them to a bed and a restaurant proprietor will usually see that they don't go hungry.

Most of the travelers carry packets of post cards bearing their photographs in complete regalia, which they retail on the street corners for the ridiculously small sum of five cents. Occasionally the manager of the local moving picture theatre will hire them for the night to sing a few ballads, illustrated by colored films. Two youngsters who announced they were "roller skating across the country" took their "rollers" and gave a creditable exhibition of fancy skating on a theatrical stage in Reno one night. But they didn't attempt to skate out of town the next day. They chose the surer and faster roof of a sleeping car on the overland limited.

Most of them "hop the frieghts" when they get a chance, although the two girls who passed through declared they had walked all the way. There seemed no way of doubting them, and they frankly announced they were penniless.

All transcontinental walkers wear khaki clothes. That seems to be part of the rules. Also they all wear slouch hats and red bandanna handkerchiefs twisted about the neck.

Most of the walkers are positive in their assertion that they are making the trip as the result of a wager, and few will admit that the prize in sight is less than $5,000.

Fashion for Jade

If you are lucky enough to own any bits of real jade, or if you are the possessor of even an excellent imitation, it is time to bring it forth. It is shown in hat pins, bracelets, umbrella handles, ornaments for the chatelaine, shirtwaist sets, slipper buckles and side combs.

Railroading and Pictures

Motion pictures will be used by a Georgia railroad to teach elements of railroading to its more illiterate employes.

FINDING THE PRODIGALS

Woman Author Engaged in Reuniting Scattered Families in New World

Are you a "prodigal son?" If so Mrs Richard Waller is looking for you. Mrs. Waller is a well known author and journalist from Christiania, Norway. She has made it her mission to find prodigal sons all over the world, and get them into touch with the home folks.

Being a mother of twelve children herself, she conceived the idea that there must be many mothers who were mourning for sons who had emigrated and failed to write home. She first went on a lecturing tour through Norway and explained her mission getting hundreds of letters and addresses to look up. Then she crossed the Atlantic and a number of results were produced by her work in the United States. Then she crossed into Canada but finding few Norwegians in the Eastern part of the Dominion intends to pursue her work in the West. Later she will write a book on her travels.

WANT SONG-BIRDS

Movement to Bring Out Insect Eaters to Vancouver Island

The Attorney-General of British Columbia, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and the Provincial Game Warden, received a deputation from the Natural History Society of British Columbia, which desired to put before them reasons why the Government should grant the Society permission to import from the Old Country song birds (goldfinches, brown linnets, sky larks, robins, blue tits) into Vancouver Island.

Twelve years ago the society collected money for the same purpose and made a similar importation of which there survive the skylarks which have established themselves at Gordon Head and elsewhere. The deputation tried to remove the impression that the birds they wanted could do any harm to the fruit industry, and represented that by their activity in destroying grubs and insects these birds would really prove a blessing to the agriculture and fruit growing of the island.

INDIANS PROSPERING

Splendid Church in the Wilds Near Lake Manitoba

After visiting Little Saskatchewan, Lake St. Martin, Lower and Upper Fairford, Crane River, Water Hen, Pine Creek and other places on the Indian reserves about Lake Manitoba Indian agent R. Logan reported upon his return to Portage la Prairie that he and his party had traversed about 1,000 miles and paid out about $48,000 in treaty money to the red men. He found the Indians prosperous and happy, raising but little grain and going in mostly for stock raising. They are very industrious. At Pine Creek he was surprised to find a large stone church completed. The work was financed by the Catholic mission and Mr. Logan stated that he was sure that such a building could not be built in the cities for less than $5,000.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree, where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is equined. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the bowl of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman found drifting helplessly in a boat. He gives the name of Johnson. Cameron disappears from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had formerly declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron. Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries, "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

At the moment I could see no extenuation. He was a liar and he was a coward; and all the sympathy, all the friendship I ever felt for him died utterly, as I thought how, probably, every untoward incident of the past month, with its chain of vexatious consequences, might have been avoided had he been brave to the point of confession.

It was now plain enough for the least astute to see that at some time he had committed an act which had aroused certain of the Chinese to retaliation. It was this which I had feared from the first. It was this which he had chosen to hide.

As I paced to and fro, his craven words rang once more in my ears: "No, no, for God's sake, not that! I didn't kill them! I swear I didn't kill them! It was an accident!" And I knew that he was lying. The very tone of his disclaimer convinced me of his guilt. He had killed, and he cowered before the avengers.

Disgust, abhorrence, anger, all were mine in turn.

At length I paused before a window, and remained there, with my back to the room, looking down on the withered garden behind the house, yet seeing nothing but the red of my own passion.

A touch upon my shoulder aroused me to a realization of my surroundings, and informed me that I was not alone. Startled as one awakened abruptly from a dream, I turned, and turning, there came a revulsion. Every surcharging emotion that had held and bound me gave way instantly to a violent self-reproach, excited by the pathos of Evelyn's sad, questioning eyes and sadder, quivering mouth.

My impulse was to take her in my arms, and pacifying, to plead pardon for what must have seemed to her an inexcusable churlishness. But the conditions which so recently she had set upon me forbidding the coveted embrace, I compromised on a hand-clasp.

"My dear child," I began, earnestly, "I'm sorry. But then you must know how what we just saw and heard distressed me. I think I have been mad since we left that room. I hardly know what I have been doing. To see him so unstrung, demented, raving. To hear him—"

But she would not allow me to finish.

"Philip!" she cried, passionately. "Oh, Philip! Can't you see? Don't you understand? It is a mistake, an awful nightmare of a mistake. That creature over there is not my uncle. I am convinced that he is not my Uncle Robert."

CHAPTER XX.

An Enigma and Its Solution.

To my amazement I found that Evelyn meant more than I fancied. My interpretation of her words was that Cameron was not in his right mind—that he was not her Uncle Robert, as she had known him. But in a very brief moment she disabused me.

"It is not he, at all," she declared, with emphasis. "There is a resemblance, yes. But the man you found in the street is not Robert Cameron; I am sure of that."

The idea that I had brought there, not my friend, but my friend's double, seemed to me too preposterous for a moment's entertainment. I fear I suspected, just then, that Evelyn's reason had been warped a trifle by the racking scene of which we had been witnesses.

"I would to God, my dear child," I said, sympathetically, "that you were right. But there can be no question as to the identity of the sick man. Every one who has seen him recognized him at once—Checkabeedy, Louis, Stephen, Dr. Massey. No, no, Evelyn, you must not be misled by his ravings." And at this point there occurred to me a tentative explanation—one in which I did not in the least believe, but which, at all events, was worth trying; one which, indeed, I prayed would serve.

"Cameron, you must remember, has been with his Chinese captors for four weeks. In that time he must have picked up something of their language. It is only natural that he should. So, you see, to hear him use a few words of pidgin-English in his insane gibberish is not so remarkable, after all. And as for that spirited denial just before he dropped off to sleep, it is very evident that they accused him of something with which he had no connection, though quite cognizant of the facts."

But the girl would have none of it. Tolerantly she listened, and tolerantly she smiled when I had finished.

"No, no, Philip," she insisted, "I see it all quite clearly. Whatever crime was committed, the creature lying there committed it. But he is not my uncle. Others mistook the resemblance for identity, just as you did, only the situation was reversed. Those who abducted Uncle Robert thought they were abducting that villain we are now housing."

It was an ingenious notion, but of course it was not possible. However, I saw that it would be idle to continue to dispute with her.

"What would you suggest, then? Shall we send our invalid to a hospital?" I asked, in pretended seriousness.

But very sagely she shook her head.

"Oh, no," she returned. "We must keep him. He is very valuable to us. Perhaps we can do as contending armies do—arrange an exchange of prisoners."

In spite of my wretchedness, I suppressed a smile. It was all very amusing; and yet the fear that she was suffering aberration due to hysteria, tempered pitifully the humor of it.

When, later in the afternoon, Dr. Massey called, I told him everything, including this hallucination of Evelyn's.

"You did perfectly right," he said, in tone of cordial approval. "The malady with which Cameron is afflicted has a tendency to distort certain lineaments. Especially at times of excitement his face changes, so that Miss Grayson is justified in fancying that this is not the Robert Cameron she knew. I have noticed the dissimilarity myself, but it is due, of course, entirely to distorted expression. In a couple of days, at most, he will be fully restored, and then he himself will be the best one to rectify her error. Meanwhile, if I were you, I would not dispute her. She has gone through a great deal, and gone through it bravely; indeed with a courage that is quite phenomenal, and she is entitled to any little consolatory beliefs that she chooses to entertain." And then, as if such advice were not wholly superfluous, he added: "Be kind to her, Clyde! be good to her. She is a wonderful young woman."

Whereat I grasped his hand, and promised him, lifting him a notch in my estimation because of his perspicacity. And all the while a lump kept rising in my throat and threatening my tear ducts.

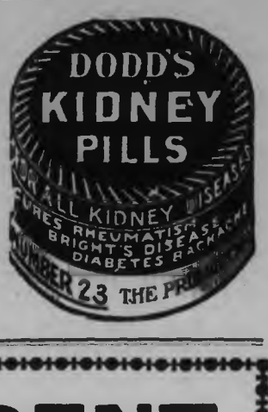
On the following day I heard nothing from Miss Clement, which somewhat surprised me, though she had told me that her prospective informants were likely to take their own time. Early, on the second morning, however, I had a note from her, the enigmatic character of which impelled me to speculation.

"Dear Mr. Clyde," she wrote, "I hope you can make it convenient to visit me this evening, at the Mission. I want to talk with Ling Fo, an exceptionally well-educated young Chinaman, who tells me that his people are much mystified over a recent event; and, if what he says be true—and I never knew him to lie—a new complexion is placed upon this whole matter. Come about nine-thirty, after our service is over."

As Dr. Massey's orders forbidding any one save Mr. Bryan to enter Cameron's room, issued immediately after our hideous experience, had not yet been rescinded, our knowledge of his condition was, perforce, gleaned entirely through physician and nurse. Both now assured me that he was progressing satisfactorily, and that there had been no return of the dementia.

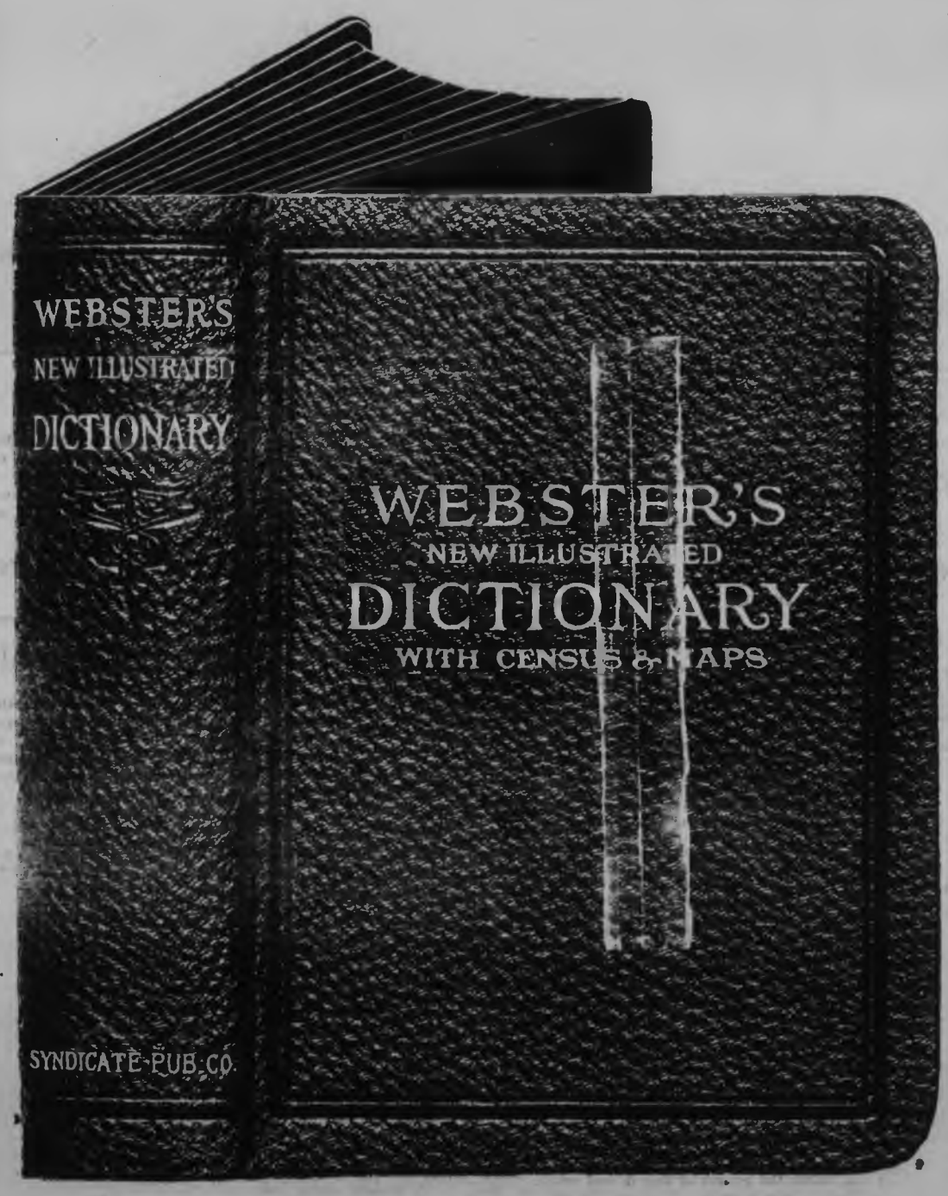
Evelyn still persisted in her notion that the patient was not her uncle, but his double, and following the doctor's directions I refrained from trying to convince her of the truth; even going so far as to pretend that I believed as she did, and planning to begin negotiations through Miss Clement and her Chinese confidants for an exchange of captives as soon as our hostage was able to be moved.

"I am to see Miss Clement, tonight," I told her, late that afternoon, "also an Oriental acquaintance of hers, who appears to be informed on the subject which interests us. It is possible that he will prove the very person who can arrange it all."



"Let me go with you," she urged, laying a beseeching hand on my arm. "Do let me go with you, Philip. I am so anxious. It will seem years if I have to wait here for you to bring me the news; and there are sure to be some things you will forget to ask about, if I'm not there to prompt you."

In spite of the unflattery of her speech I smiled, indulgent. Her great blue eyes, pathetically pleading as her words, were able advocates. It was hard to deny her under any circumstances, and now, as I thought it over, I saw no reason why in this instance she should not have her desire.



"Yes," I agreed, "you shall go. But remember, you must be very careful, for the present at least, not to let slip the slightest inkling that we suspect our Cameron is not the real Cameron. We are seeking information, you know, Evelyn, not squandering it."

Sergeant-Major Under General French

Veteran of Boer War Who Lost Health on the Veldt Tells Experience.

Good Advice for All who Have Indigestion or Stomach Disorders

In his home at Waldegrove, N. S., no one is better known than Sergt.-Major Cross, late of the 4th Queen's Own Hussars. Speaking of the ill-effects of a campaign upon a man's constitution, the Sergt.-Major writes "I served under General French during the late Boer war, in the capacity of Sergt.-Major. It was perhaps owing to a continued diet of bully beef, hard tack, and bad water, but at any rate my stomach entirely gave out. I was in such a state that I could eat nothing without the greatest suffering. The army doctors did not help me much, and since leaving the service I have been very miserable. Some few months ago a friend told me he had been a great sufferer from indigestion until he tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they cured him. I confess it was without much faith I bought a box, but the first dose made me feel better than I had been for a long time. Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely cured, and now I can eat everything and anything. I have recommended them to others and in every case the result has been similar to mine."

Quick, sure results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure disorders of the stomach, correct indigestion, make you feel uplifted and strengthened. To renew or maintain health, Dr. Hamilton's Pills always prove a good prescription. 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

BEST FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR AN ITCHING SCALP---25 CENT "DANDERINE"

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DANDERINE DESTROYS DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR AT ONCE—GROWS HAIR, WE PROVE IT.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff, you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff, no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now! A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

Blinding Headaches From Catarrhal Irritation Now Quickly Cured

The New Inhaler Breathing Treatment Does Away With All This Sort of Thing.

"A stuffy cold in the head, or an old fashioned attack of Catarrh are simply ancient history to me nowadays," writes S. Nathan Smith, from Cornwall, Ont. "I used to have the worst kind of building headaches. They were torture to me on damp days when my catarrh was bad. I would still perhaps be suffering but for the fact that I saw a friend inhaling Catarrhozone with apparent pleasure, and I got the dollar outfit in the Windsor Hotel Pharmacy in Montreal. I could scarcely believe the way Catarrhozone cleared out my head. It let me breathe easier than I had breathed for five years. Catarrhozone has cleared away every vestige of Catarrh from my system. My breath used to be rank—now it is sweet. My digestion was constantly disordered, but since the catarrh is cured I have no stomach trouble. I am a perfectly well man, and Catarrhozone did it all."

For speakers and singers and persons troubled with an irritable throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh or la grippe, Catarrhozone is of inestimable value.

The inhaler can be carried in your pocket and may be used at any time or in any place.

Large size, guaranteed, and sufficient for 2 months' use, costs $1; smaller size 50c.; sample size 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Ethel: I am glad you like canthrox shampoo recipe.

Bertha: You ask why a woman in the twenties gets crow's feet and wrinkles and what to do to avoid them. Ill health may cause loss of flesh and sagging of the skin which is no longer filled out by flesh, but more often they are caused by worry, deep thought, scowling or the habit of smiling. They can be quickly removed by using this stimulating vegetable jelly-cream which can be made at home at very little cost and will, while filling out the wrinkles, purge the skin of muddy spots and pimples. Get from your druggist one ounce almozoin and dissolve it in half-pint of cold water, adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. Apply to wrinkled surface or entire face to prevent wrinkles and leave through night. Then wash off and use more of the jelly-cream as a massage. This treatment will remove the most obstinate wrinkles or finest crow's feet, while toning the skin to a velvety texture. It is greaseless and does not grow hair.

M. W. Worry will not remove the fuzz from your chin. Get a small, original package of delatone and with water mix into a paste enough of the powder to cover the hairy surface. Apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the fuzz is gone. This is a harmless method and does not discolor the skin. Be certain it is delatone you get.

Lucile: Face-lotions or washes are to be preferred to ordinary face-powders. Your sallow, dark and oily skin can be made white and more youthful if you will use this recipe: To a half-pint of hot water or witch hazel and 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine add 4 ounces of spurmax; let stand until cold. Apply to the hands and face with the plam of the hand and continue rubbing the skin where applied until dry. This is a beautifier that when on seems part of the skin, and gives it a velvety appearance.

Blanch: If your eyes feel tired and are dull and inflamed, you need an eye-tonic. Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. One or two drops of this in each eye every day is all that is needed to strengthen your eyes and make them bright and sparkling. This tonic will not smart or burn and is a great aid to those who wear glasses. It makes the eyes appear brilliant and full of expression. A friend of mine, who is on the stage, tells me she keeps her much-admired eyes beautiful by using this tonic. I find it very strengthening to weak, inflamed, dull and tired eyes and for granulated eye-lids.

Grace: Yours is only a spring complaint. At the first signs of warm weather, "spring fever," poor appetites, pale, sallow, pimply faces and that tired, drowsy, overworked feeling remind us of the urgent need of taking preventive measures to ward off sickness and give us energy and good health. No better tonic can be had than the good, old-fashioned one made at home at small cost by dissolving an ounce of kardene (which you can obtain at any drug store) in one-half pint alcohol, adding one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before each meal will do wonders for those who feel "all gone" after the strain of winter or who feel sick and yet don't know just what's the matter.

Dorothy: You can make a fine quinine hair tonic as follows: To 1 ounce of quinzoin add ½ pint of alcohol and ½ pint of cold water; let stand until the quinzoin is dissolved. Rub in well until absorbed. This will remove dandruff and stop falling hair, relieve itching scalp, keep the scalp in healthy condition and promote the growth of hair if used once or twice a week. Shampoo the hair twice a month. (See answer to Ada J.)

Ada J.: The best and cheapest shampoo I know is made from pure, plain canthrox. Simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water and stir well until all is dissolved; then proceed to shampoo by pouring it on the hair and rubbing well. This makes a fine lather which makes the head feel good, and cleans the scalp, relieves irritation and makes the hair soft and fluffy—and such a shampoo costs very little. (See answer to Dorothy for making a good hair tonic.)

Mrs. T.: It is true that exercising and dieting have brought about satisfactory results to may who considered themselves too fat, but if you are so situated that you cannot take exercise and find that dieting weakens you, I would advise you to try a simple mixture of parnotis and hot water. Put 4 ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints of hot water and shake well until dissolved. Strain when cold and it is then ready for use. Take a tablespoonful 3 times a day and just before meals. This is a harmless flesh reducer.

VOL. XL. NO. 85. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1913 PRICE, TWO CENTS

FIERCE WAR IN PARLIAMENT OVER BORDEN'S CLOSURE BILL

Sir Wilfrid's Speaking Meant Couple of Hundred Amendments to Notice—To Pass Next Week

Ottawa, April 11.—The clever action of the Government in having the "previous question" moved in the Commons before Sir Wilfrid Laurier could put in his amendments, thereby shutting them out, will tend to shorten materially the debate on the closure resolutions now before the House. It has taken a good deal of fighting spirit out of the Opposition and the expectation is that the new rules will be in force before the close of next week, if not much earlier, and the Naval bill will then be put through without much delay and the other business of the session facilitated.

While no definite announcement is forthcoming, it is stated in Opposition circles that the Senate will make the introduction of closure in the Lower House an excuse for the killing of the bill by the Liberal majority in that Chamber. If this is done, Conservatives claim that within six weeks of the prorogation of the present session another sitting of the House will be called to deal with the question of the reform of the Senate and to pass the Naval bill again.

The Conservatives, with scarcely an exception, say that they regret that it was necessary yesterday to move the previous question before Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke. They had been given to understand, however that the Opposition had about two hundred amendments ready, and if Sir Wilfrid had been allowed to move his amendments it would have started the ball rolling and there would have been no end to them, with the result that the adoption of the new rules would have been indefinitely postponed and the House kept in session until next autumn.

The expectation is that the vote will be taken about the middle of next week and that with the amended rules in force the business of the House will be expedited.

As Mr. Borden said yesterday it is not the intention to use them unfairly against the Opposition, but the mere fact that there are such rules will have a wholesome tendency to shorten the debates in the House.

NEW LIQUOR BILL

2.—Advancing the morning opening hour of bars from six to eight.

4.—Placing livery stables on the same list as lodging houses, where the presence of liquor is regarded as evidence of intent of sale.

THE POWER QUESTION WAS UP YESTERDAY

Mayor Bradburn, City Clerk Armstrong and Alds. Buller, Johnston and Anderson appeared yesterday in Toronto before the Private Bills Committee. The companies were represented by Strachan, Johnston and T. F. Hellmuth, barrister of Toronto.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell of this city spoke for a number of power users. The argument was heard and the bill goes over until next Tuesday for further consideration, and possibly a settlement on that date. The big fight was over the clause relating to taking over the assets of the Peterborough Light and Power Company. The city claims the franchise as one of the assets and the company claim the clause refers to physical assets only. They also contend that the act allowing expropriation to any city should not be applied in cases where the Hydro-Electric Commission is acting as agents of the people.

Mr. O'Connell stated that the people of Peterborough did not want a monopoly by the Hydro-Electric. The $120,000 voted, was given under the impression that the city plant was to be a competitor with the present company.

FARMERS ARE TRULY LOYAL

Canadian Attitude of the Liberal Party

FAVOR IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Ottawa, April 10.—Here is an example of what western farmers really think about the Liberal attitude on the proposed Dreadnought gift to the Empire. In view of the extraordinary misrepresentation of western sentiment on this question by Opposition members, the example is a striking one. It is a resolution passed on March 26 and telegraphed from Wilkie, Sask., to Premier Borden by R. James Speers, Secretary of the Tramping Lake Conservative Association.

Mostly Farmers.

"At a mass meeting of the Tramping Lake Conservative Association, held at Leitz, Sask., to-day composed chiefly of farmers, representing over fifty townships, a resolution was passed condemning George McCraney, M.P., and A. Champagne, M.P., for misrepresenting the attitude of the West and for the inactivity in the House of Commons. At the close of the most largely attended and most enthusiastic meeting in Saskatchewan the following resolution was passed unanimously, 'Whereas the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden has laid before the Parliament of Canada a bill providing for the construction of three dreadnoughts to cost $35,000,000 and whereas the Liberal party has seen fit to oppose the bill and obstruct its passage, not merely by criticism and dignified debate but with great bitterness and rancour and whereas the people of Canada are dependent both for a market for their produce and for capital for their industries upon the people of Great Britain and whereas it is not

ARE LOCAL MOVIES IN SANITARY STATE

Sanitary Inspector Spence might find an opportunity for protecting public health, by investigating conditions in the local moving picture houses. As is well known, these places of amusement are simply stores, located in the central portions of business blocks, which have been altered to suit their purposes. The ventilation of these places, too frequently overcrowded, is altogether inadequate. The only means of furnishing pure air is through the rear doors, which are almost invariably kept tightly closed. The front entrances are hermetically sealed by the swing doors. Of course, fans are kept buzzing in hot weather. This keeps the air in motion, but it is the same old air. To hope for purification of the air by this means, is to expect to clarify mud by keeping it constantly stirred.

The public should demand some better system of ventilation. People from homes with contagious disease attend these theatres. Here the audience sits for hours breathing in microbe laden atmosphere. Should an epidemic of disease break out in Peterborough, it would not be hard to realize that the microbes, confined in the movies, even though wafted merrily abroad by the fans, have a nursery in such places. Public health demands a changed condition.

FRANCE AND GERMANY ARE SPENDING HUNDRED OF MILLIONS

Preparing For a War That Seems Not Very Far Off—Blaze May Come at Any Time

London, April 10.—The picture which Europe presents to-day is horrifying—the fruits of the arts of industry and peace being piled up year by year into a big golden heap, which melts away in the purchase of guns and machines, designed by Christians for the destruction of fellow men. To ascertain the causes which have operated to bring about this collective madness, one must look at the subject not from a radical standpoint, but through the spectacles of a cosmopolitan. It is as idle to blame the Germans as it is to blame the French.

The difficulty is to find out the real influences that so mould the minds of the rulers of Germany and France as to incline them to the idea that all these millions must be spent if they are to preserve their national independence. The history of the international relations of the chief powers in Europe during the last few years throws some light on the appalling problem which it is the duty to every democrat in this country to face why are the powers plotting further and further towards the precipice of war?

THE MENACE APPALLING.

It is not difficult to realize how the events have produced the present outbreak of fresh expenditure by Germany on her land forces. The redistribution of the naval forces in Europe, which took place in the autumn of last year, was a significant warning to her that her navy stood no chance of success in any portion of European waters. The association of England and France and Russia in a triple entente was not unnaturally interpreted in Germany that they would act together in the event of war. The isolation of which Germany complains so much to-day is the result, partly of her own naval ambitions, and partly of the fears she excited in the breast of her neighbors. To add to the complex situation, a fresh factor appeared in the spirit of rejuvenescence which has now spread throughout France. A wave of virile energy and national enthusiasm has swept on Gallic neighbors into a pitch of self confidence which they have not exhibited for a generation, and the jingoes among them—for even France suffers as much from jingoism as England and Germany are reviving dreams of revenge and the swoon quest of Alsace and Lorraine.

These are the circumstances which account for the decision of the German government to spend, this year, an extra fifty million dollars for the purpose of strengthening her military position, especially on the Russian border.

BODY MAY ARRIVE FRIDAY

New York, April 10. Wireless advices received at Sable Island to-day indicate that the steamship France, bearing the body of J. Pierpont Morgan, will reach her pier late to-morrow afternoon. Early this morning the vessel was 770 miles east of Sandy Hook.

WHAT PART RELIGION PLAYS IN THE BALKAN WAR

Taufik Mufarry, Turkish Traveller and Lecturer, Explains Causes of Hostilities--Tells Empire Club

Toronto, April 11.—"This is not a religious war," said Taufik Mufarry, Turkish traveller and lecturer, when interviewed on the Balkan war, "but religion, nevertheless, plays a very important part in it. But for the European battleships now standing around Constantinople, not a Christian would remain living in the city."

Not At All Oriental.

Mr. Mufarry is a young man, tall, erect, and gives the impression, from his dress and general appearance of a thoroughly enlightened and up-to-date Westerner. He speaks English fluently, in addition to other European languages, and, as a result of his having spent some years at Columbia University, has acquired certain mild Americanisms. Altogether it is difficult to believe that he is a native of Oriental Turkey.

Causes of the War.

Speaking at the Empire Club meeting yesterday, Mr. Mufarry treated at some length upon the causes of the Balkan war and other social and economical Turkish questions. He laughingly commenced by explaining that perhaps the greatest difference between the Turk and the Christian is that in this country it is the Christian that eats Turkey; in Turkey, it is the Turk that eats the Christian!

The principal causes of the war were, firstly, the disregard by the powers of the terms of the treaty of Berlin of 1876, whereby the powers undertook to preserve the individuality of the Balkan States. Austria by annexing Bosnia and Herzgovina, naturally created a fear amongst the other states that they, too, might become victims of the European powers—and their struggle to become sufficiently powerful to break from Turkey and protect their own independence dates many years back.

Secondly, the failure of Turkey to fulfil the promises made to the Christians in the Balkans, one great source of trouble was the law where by all Christians were forced to take all their disputes before a Mohammedan court, which was naturally prejudiced against the Christian.

Where Religion Enters.

Thirdly, the difference in religion. This is not a religious war, but religion nevertheless plays an important part in it. It is a war of one people against another, not of one nation against another. The majority of the people are Christian; the Government is Mohammedan. There are millions of Mohammedans suffering more in other parts of Asia than were the Christians in Turkey, but they prefer to remain so and to preserve their religion in the Government, than to place themselves under a government professing an alien religion, even though their conditions should thereby be bettered.

CHINESE TROOPS ATTACK BRITISH SURVEY PARTY

Former are Repulsed, but Sir Chas. Bernard, Chief Commissioner Is Wounded.

Calcutta, India, April 10.—A detachment of Chinese troops yesterday attacked a battalion of police attached to a British surveying party on the frontier of Burma. The hill-men in considerable number joined forces with the Chinese.

The British column repulsed the attack, but sustained a few casualties. Among the wounded was Sir Charles Bernard, Chief Commissioner and head of the surveying party.

A SENSATIONAL INCIDENT

Dr. Clark Falls Down In The Naval Debate

Ottawa, April 10.—The most sensational incident in a parliament of sensations was enacted on Monday last just after the dinner recess. Dr. Clark, of Red Deer, the hammer of the Opposition, arose at 8 o'clock to continue his speech, and began by declaring in a voice of thunder that the Minister of Finance had deliberately garbled the speech of recent date, of the First Lord of the Admiralty. Getting bolder as he went on uncontradicted, he fairly howled with delight at the mincemeat he was apparently making of Hon. T. W. White.

"The First Lord's speech of March 25th," said Dr. Clark.

"But I referred to his speech of March 31st, which the honorable member said he would agree with if it were true," said Mr. White.

"I don't care what you referred to," roared Dr. Clark. "It is all false. Mr. Churchill never said it."

"Well," replied Mr. White, crushingly, waving a paper in his hand, "this is the cabled report of the speech from the Colonial Office. It is no newspaper report."

NICHOLAS WANTS MORE TO ABANDON THE SIEGE

Paris, April 10.—It was learned today from a reliable, semi-official source that the powers offered King Nicholas of Montenegro 20,000,000 francs ($4,000,000) to abandon the siege of Scutari.

The King, it was said, refused the offer and demanded $20,000,000.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Not much change in temperature. Showery.

An Aggressive Church

It is time that our City Fathers paid some attention to the aggression of the Roman Catholic Church here in closing up part of Rubidge Street. Not only have they closed this thoroughfare, that is admirably adapted for a public park, but have erected their own buildings in the public domain. When the Wm. Hamilton Company, that pays out thousands of dollars monthly in wages, asked for temporary possession of part of the same street, not saitable for a park, a petition went in to Council protesting so strongly that the local Salons have reconsidered a permission previously given. Why should any particular sect grasp, without permission, public property similar to that asked for, but likely to be refused by a big employer of labor?

SENATE TO KILL NAVAL BILLL

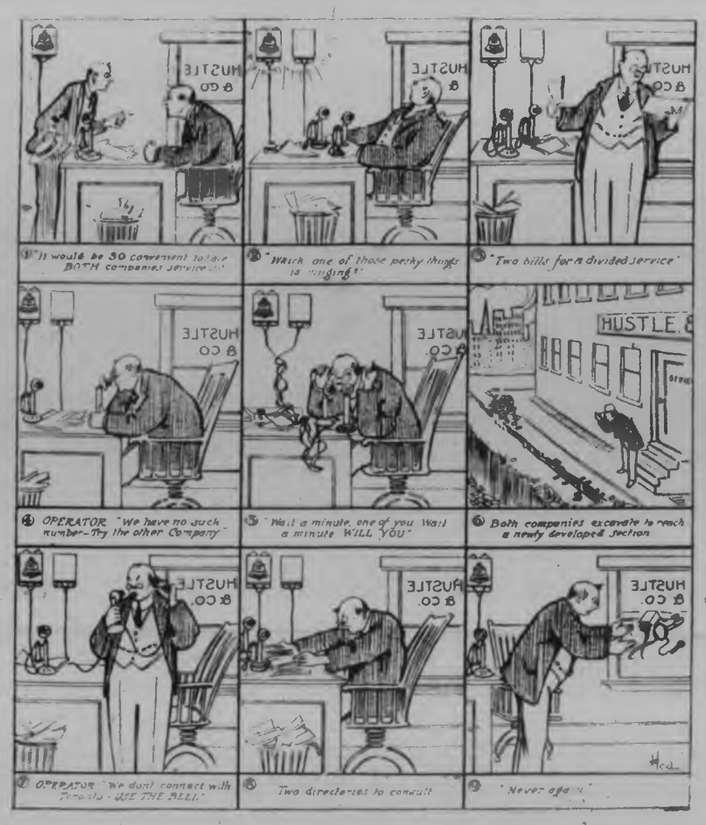
But it May Spell the Abolution of that Body

Ottawa, April 10.—The morning after the introduction of the closure and of effective methods to bat obstruction of it, finds the Conservatives in great spirits and the Liberals correspondingly touchy. It is said to-day that a precedent has been found which, if applied, would cut off the discussion at any time, but it is doubtful if this will be done immediately.

The Government is quite willing to give the Opposition a reasonable time for debate on the new rules. It may, and probably will, last some days.

The day's gossip is not so much as to what will happen in the Commons but more as to the probable action of the Senate, when the bill reaches there.

A number of Senators spoken to to-day stated that the measure would be considered on its merits, but there is an undercurrent of feeling around the two chambers that the adoption of closure will be seized upon by a Liberal majority in the Senate as a pretext for the rejection of the Naval Bill.



Then look out for Senate reform.

The Citizen (Cons.) says editorially that the use of closure to pass the Navy bill will give the Senate new reason for existence and for exercising the veto power for which it was originally intended. The closure means a dangerous revolution in Canadian Parliamentary methods. It might develop into a tool which, in the hands of a less scrupulous Government, would expose the country to mercenary aims."

The Citizen says the Senate "will willingly assume the role of savior of the country," and concludes: "There is reason to believe that the Opposition would not be at all averse to the enactment of the measure."

YEAR SINCE TITANIC SANK

London, April 10. Next Tuesday, the anniversary of the collision of the Titanic with an iceberg, will be the date for liners this year to set a still further southerly course than that which was adopted last January.

LONDON PRESS CAUTIOUS IN HANDLING NAVAL SITUATION

Times Makes No Editorial Comment, But Gives Two Columns of News Space---Pall Mall Gazette Deplores Party Conflict on an Imperial Issue

London, April 10.—London papers are handling the Canadian situation with caution and reserve.

The Pall Mall Gazette treats the debate as the principal item of to-day's news, describing it as the greatest party struggle in the history of the Dominion, and declaring that a great party conflict should have come on an issue so important to Imperial interests.

The Daily News says editorially: "It is hardly a pleasant augury for the promotion of Imperial unity when the first result of the proposed contribution is to provoke a domestic crisis of the most acute description. It is clear, the more it is discussed, that the advantages of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's alternative are approved in Canada. It avoids constitutional problems both here and in the Dominion. Mr. Borden's plan weakens the already imperfect control of the British Parliament over armaments, and withdraws from Canadians the management of their own ships. Obviously there is no element of permanence here, but rather an ample promise of those future opportunities for friction which wise statesmanship seeks to avoid."

THE DUCHESS OPERATED UPON ORDEAL BORNE WELL BY PATIENT

London, April 10. The Duchess of Connaught was operated on this morning at Clarence House by William Arbuthnot Lane, surgeon to Guys Hospital.

The operation was a severe one, but was borne well by the Duchess, whose condition afterwards was as well as could be expected.

The Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, suffered on several occasions during her residence in the Dominion from peritonitis. The last attack occurred early in January, when she was taken from Ottawa to Montreal for treatment in the Royal Victoria Hospital, where she remained several weeks.

On March 22nd, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught with Princess Patricia and the members of their suite, sailed for England, and it was understood at the time that the Duchess was to undergo a further surgical treatment.

PROMINENT MILITANT HAS SHATTERED NERVES

London, April 10.—Dr. Mansell-Moullin, the well known suffragist medical man, declared yesterday morning in discussing the health of Miss Zelie Emerson, the militant suffragette, that

"Miss Zelie Emerson's nervous system is completely shattered. She is almost unable to sleep, and, even when she is sleeping, she does not rest, owing to horrible dreams.

"Her digestive system has been seriously impaired, and she suffers great pain above the appendix. I do not care to say more about this feature of the case, but there can be no question as to the existence of such pain.

"Nobody except the doctor and the nurses are permitted to have access to the patient. Her mother has seen her for a few minutes at a time but only when a nurse or a physician has been in the room. The patient's pulse is very feeble.

"I would not say that Miss Emerson's reason is tottering, but she is suffering from a severe case of nervous prostration."

Armour vs. Armour.

The case of Armour vs. Armour, in which the plaintiffs, Eleanor Armour, Annie C. McKelvie, Jane Armour, Mary Armour, James E. Armour, John H. Armour and Carrie Armour dispute the right of the late Robert Samuel Armour to make a will leaving his estate in Percy township, to his son John A. Armour, who is the defendant in the case, which occupied the attention of Judge Latchford all of yesterday.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendants.

The case was ended in a satisfactory way for all concerned. The farm in dispute is to be sold.

Sims vs. Sims.

This was a case for alimony. The Dove of Peace hovered over the court and spread its benogn radiance over the litigants. They agreed, figuratively, to kiss and make up, but mother-in-law is taboo!

Hamilton vs. Hamilton.

Mrs. W. F. Hamilton had sued for alimony, charging desertion and almost any old thing against her husband, who is a well known and respected former local citizen. Ald. Gordon was for the plaintiff and Mr. Medd for the defendant. In court it was intimated that a mutual agreement had been attained. It is understood that $1500 is the price Mr. Hamilton pays for launching his cargo on the sea of matrimony.

FIERCE WAR IN PARLIAMENT OVER BORDEN'S CLOSURE BILL

Sir Wilfrid's Speaking Meant Couple of Hundred Amendments to Notice—To Pass Next Week

Mayor Bradburn, City Clerk Armstrong and Alds. Buller, Johnston and Anderson appeared yesterday in Toronto before the Private Bills Committee. The companies were represented by Strachan, Johnston and J. F. Hellmuth, barrister of Toronto.

FARMERS ARE TRULY LOYAL

FAVOR IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Ottawa, April 10.—Here is an ample of what western farmers [illegible]ly think about the Liberal attitude on the proposed Dreadnought gift to the Empire. In view of the extraordinary misrepresentation of western sentiment on this question by Opposition members, the example is a striking one. It is a resolution passed on March 26 and telegraphed from Wilkie, Sask., to Premier Borden by R. James Speers, Secretary of the Tramping Lake Conservative Association.

Mostly Farmers.

"At a mass meeting of the Tramping Lake Conservative Association, held at Unity, Sask., to-day composed chiefly of farmers, representing over fifty townships, a resolution was passed condemning George McCraney, M.P., and A. Champagne, M.P., for misrepresenting the opinion of the West and for the inactivity in the House of Commons.' At the close of one of the most largely attended and most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Saskatchewan the following resolution endorsing Mr. Borden's stand on the Naval question was passed unanimously, 'Whereas the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden has laid before the Parliament of Canada a bill providing for the construction of three dreadnoughts to cost $35,000,000; and whereas the Liberal party has seen fit to oppose the bill and obstruct its passage, not merely by criticism and dignified debate but with great bitterness and rancour and whereas the people of Canada are dependent both for a market for their produce and for capital for their industries upon the people of Great Britain and whereas it is not

ARE LOCAL MOVIES IN SANITARY STATE

Sanitary Inspector Spence might find an opportunity for protecting public health, by investigating conditions in the local moving picture houses. As is well known, these places of amusement are simply stores, located in the central portions of business blocks, which have been altered to suit their purposes. The ventilation of these places, too frequently overcrowded, is altogether inadequate. The only means of furnishing pure air is through the rear doors, which are almost invariably kept tightly closed. The front entrances are hermetically sealed by the swing doors. Of course, fans are kept buzzing in hot weather. This keeps the air in motion, but it is the same old air. To hope for purification of the air by this means, is to expect to clarify mud by keeping it constantly stirred.

The public should demand some better system of ventilation. People from homes with contagious disease attend these theacres. Here the audience sits for hours breathing in microbe laden atmosphere. Should an epidemic of disease break out in Peterborough, it would not be hard to realize that the microbes, confined in the movies, even though wafted merrily abroad by the fans, have a nursery in such places. Public health demands a changed condition

Preparing For a War That Seems Not Very Far Off--Blaze May Come at Any Time

London, April 10.—The picture which Europe presents to-day is horrifying—the fruits of the arts of industry and peace being piled up year by year into a big golden heap, which melts away in the purchase of guns and machines, designed by Christians for the destruction of fellow men. To ascertain the cuases which have operated to bring about this collective madness, one must look at the subject not from a radical standpoint, but through the spectacles of a cosmopolitan. It is as idle to blame the Germans as it is to blame the French.

The difficulty is to find out the real influences that so mould the minds of the rulers of Germany and France, as to incline them to the idea that all these millions must be spent if they are to preserve their national independence. The history of the international relations of the chief powers in Europe during the last few years throws some light on the appalling problem which it is the duty to every democrat in this country to face: why are the powers drifting further and further towards the precipice of war?

THE MENACE APPALLING.

It is not difficult to realize how events have produced the present outburst of fresh expenditure by Germany on her land forces. The redistribution of the naval forces in Europe which was a significant warning to her that her navy stood no chance of success in any portion of European waters. The association of England and France and Russia is a triple entente was not unnaturally interpreted in Germany that they would act together in the event of war. The isolation of which Germany complains so much to-day is the result, partly of her own naval ambitions, and partly of the fears she excited in the breast of her neighbors. To add to the complex situation, a fresh factor appeared in the spirit of rejuvenescence which has now spread throughout France. A wave of virile energy and national enthusiasm has swept our Gallic neighbors into a pitch of self confidence which they have not exhibited for a generation, and the jingoes among them — for even France suffers as much from jingoism as England and Germany—are reviving dreams of revenge and the revonquest of Alsace and Lorraine.

These are the circumstances which account for the decision of the German government to spend, this year, an extra fifty million dollars for the purpose of strengthening her military position, especially on the Russian border.

BODY MAY ARRIVE FRIDAY

New York, April 10.—Wireless advices received at Sable Island to-day indicate that the steamship France, bearing the body of J. Pierpont Morgan, will reach her pier late to-morrow afternoon. Early this morning the vessel was 770 miles east of Sandy Hook.

SENATE TO KILL NAVAL BILLL

But it May Spell the Abolution of that Body

Ottawa, April 10.—The morning after the introduction of the closure and of effective methods to bar obstruction of it, finds the Conservatives in great spirits and the Liberals correspondingly touchy. It is said to-day that a precedent has been found which, if applied, would cut off the discussion at any time, but it is doubtful if this will be done immediately.

The Government is quite willing to give the Opposition a reasonable time for debate on the new rules. It may, and probably will, last some days.

The day's gossip is not so much as to what will happen in the Commons but more as to the probable action of the Senate, when the bill reaches there.

A number of Senators spoken to to-day stated that the measure would be considered on its merits, but there is an undercurrent of feeling around the two chambers that the adoption of closure will be seized upon by a Liberal majority in the Senate as a pretext for the rejection of the Naval Bill.

Then look out for Senate reform.

The Citizen (Cons.) says editorially that the use of closure to pass the Navy bill will give the Senate new reason for existence and for exercising the veto power for which it was originally intended. The closure means a dangerous revolution in Canadian Parliamentary methods. It might develop into a tool which, in the hands of a less scrupulous Government, would expose the country to mercenary aims."

The Citizen says the Senate "will willingly assume the role of 'savior' of the country,' and concludes: "There is reason to believe that the Opposition would not be at all averse to the enactment of the closure."

YEAR SINCE TITANIC SANK

London, April 10.—Next Tuesday, the anniversary of the collision of the Titanic with an iceberg, will be the date for liners this year to set a still further southerly course than that which was adopted last January.

LONDON PRESS CAUTIOUS IN HANDLING NAVAL SITUATION

Times Makes No Editorial Comment, But Gives Two Columns of News Space---Pall Mall Gazette Deplores Party Conflict on an Imperial Issue

London, April 10.—London papers are handling the Canadian situation with caution and reserve.

The Pall Mall Gazette treats the debate as the principal item of to-day's news, describing it as the greatest party struggle in the history of the Dominion, and declaring that a great party conflict should have come on an issue so important to Imperial interests.

The Daily News says editorially: "It is hardly a pleasant augury for the promotion of Imperial unity when the first result of the proposed contribution is to provoke a domestic crisis of the most acute description. It is clear, the more it is discussed, that the advantages of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's alternative are approved in Canada. It avoids constitutional problems both here and in the Dominion. Mr. Borden's plan weakens the already imperfect control of the British Parliament over armaments, and withdraws from Canadians the management of their own ships. Obviously there is no element of permanence here, but rather an ample promise of those future opportunities for friction which wise statesmanship seeks to avoid."

Toronto, April 11.—"This is not a religious war," said Taufik Mufarry, Turkish traveller and lecturer, when interviewed on the Balkan war, "but religion, nevertheless, plays a very important part in it. But for the European battleships now standing around Constantinople, not a Christian would remain living in the city."

Not At All Oriental.

Mr. Mufarry is a young man, tall, erect, and gives the impression, from his dress and general appearance of a thoroughly enlightened and up-to-date Westerner. He speaks English fluently, in addition to other European languages, and, as a result of his having spent some years at Columbia University, has acquired certain mild Americanisms. Altogether it is difficult to believe that he is a native of Oriental Turkey.

Causes of the War.

Speaking at the Empire Club meeting yesterday, Mr. Mufarry treated at some length upon the causes of the Balkan war and other social and economical Turkish questions. He laughingly commenced by explaining that perhaps the greatest difference between the Turk and the Christian is that in this country it is the Christian that eats Turkey; in Turkey, it is the Turk that eats the Christian!

The principal causes of the war were, firstly, the disregard by the powers of the terms of the treaty of Berlin of 1876, whereby the powers undertook to preserve the individuality of the Balkan States. Austria by annexing Bosnia and Herzgovina, naturally created a fear amongst the other states that they, too, might become victims of the European powers—and their struggle to become sufficiently powerful to break from Turkey and protect their own independence dates many years back.

Secondly, the failure of Turkey to fulfil the promises made to the Christians in the Balkans, one great source of trouble was the law where by all Christians were forced to take all their disputes before a Mohammedan court, which was naturally prejudiced against the Christian.

Where Religion Enters.

Thirdly, the difference in religion. This is not a religious war, but religion nevertheless plays an important part in it. It is a war of one people against another, not of one nation against another. The majority of the people are Christian; the Government is Mohammedan. There are millions of Mohammedans suffering more in other parts of Asia than were the Christians in Turkey, but they prefer to remain so and to preserve their religion in the Government, than to place themselves under a government professing an alien religion, even though their conditions should thereby be bettered.

CHINESE TROOPS ATTACK BRITISH SURVEY PARTY

Calcutta, India, April 10.—A detachment of Chinese troops yesterday attacked a battalion of police attached to a British surveying party on the frontier of Burma. The hill-men in consideraqle numbers joined forces with the Chinese.

The British column repulsed the attack, but sustained a few casualties. Among the wounded was Sir Charles Bernard, Chief Commissioner and head of the surveying party.

A SENSATIONAL INCIDENT

Dr. Clark Falls Down In The Naval Debate

Ottawa, April 10. The most sensational incident in a parliament of sensations was enacted on Monday last just after the dinner recess. Dr. Clark, of Red Deer, the hammer of the Opposition, arose at 8 o'clock to continue his speech, and began by declaring in a voice of thunder that the Minister of Finance had deliberately garbled the speech of recent date, of the First Lord of the Admiralty. Getting bolder as he went uncontradicted, he fairly howled with delight at the mincemeat he was apparently making of Hon. T. W. White.

"The First Lord's speech of March 25th," said Dr. Clark.

"But I referred to his speech of March 31st, which the honorable member said he would agree with if it were true," said Mr. White.

"I don't care what you referred to," roared Dr. Clark. "It is all false. Mr. Churchill never said it."

"Well!" replied Mr. White, crushingly, waving a paper in his hand, "this is the cabled report of the speech from the Colonial Office. It is no newspaper report."

NICHOLAS WANTS MORE TO ABANDON THE SIEGE

Paris, April 10.—It was learned today from a reliable semi-official source that the powers offered King Nicholas of Montenegro 20,000,000 francs ($4,000,000) to abandon the siege of Scutari.

The King, it was said, refused the offer and demanded $20,000,000

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Not much change in temperature. Showery.

An Aggressive Church

It is time that our City Fathers paid some attention to the aggression of the Roman Catholic Church here in closing up part of Rubidge Street. Not only have they closed this thoroughfare, that is admirably adapted for a public park, but have erected their own buildings in the public domain. When the Wm. Hamilton Company, that pays out thousands of dollars monthly in wages, asked for temporary possession of part of the same street, not suitable for a park, a petition went in to Council protesting so strongly that the local Salons have reconsidered a permission previously given. Why should any particular sect grasp, without permission, public property similar to that asked for, but likely to be refused by a big employer of labor?

THE DUCHESS OPERATED UPON ORDEAL BORNE WELL BY PATIENT

London, April 10.—The Duchess of Connaught was operated on this morning at Clarence House by William Arbuthnot Lane, surgeon to Guys Hospital.

The operation was a severe one, but was borne well by the Duchess, whose condition afterwards was as well as could be expected.

The Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, suffered on several occasions during her residence in the Dominion from peritonitis. The last attack occurred early in January, when she was taken from Ottawa to Montreal for treatment in the Royal Victoria Hospital, where she remained several weeks.

On March 22nd, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught with Princess Patricia and the members of their suite, sailed for England, and it was understood at the time that the Duchess was to undergo a further surgical treatment.

PROMINENT MILITANT HAS SHATTERED NERVES

London, April 10.—Dr. Mansell-Moullin, the well known suffragist medical man, declared yesterday morning in discussing the health of Miss Zelle Emerson, the militant suffragette, that

"Miss Zelle Emerson's nervous system is completely shattered. She is almost unable to sleep, and, even when she is sleeping, she does not rest, owing to horrible dreams.

"Her digestive system has been seriously impaired, and she suffers great pain above the appendix. I do not care to say more about this feature of the case, but there can be no question as to the existence of such pain.

"Nobody except the doctor and the nurses are permitted to have access to the patient. Her mother has seen her for a few minutes at a time but only when a nurse or a physician has been in the room. The patient's pulse is very feeble.

"I would not say that Miss Emerson's reason is tottering, but she is suffering from a severe case of nervous prostration."

LOCAL SPRING ASSIZES OVER AT 8 LAST NIGHT

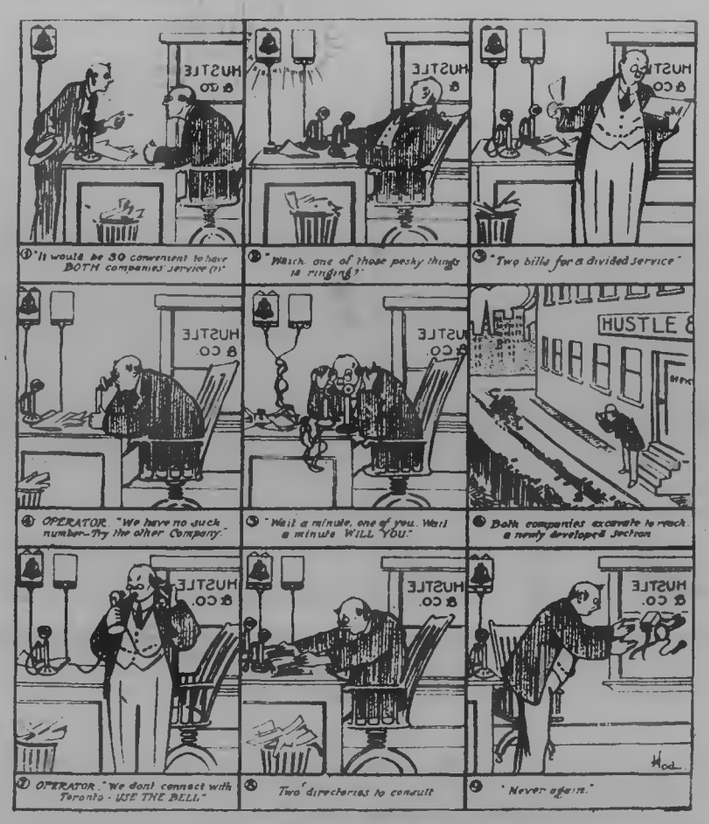
Armour vs. Armour.

The case of Armour vs. Armour, in which the plaintiffs, Eleanor Armour, Annie C. McKelvie, Jane Armour, Mary Armour, James E. Armour, John H. Armour and Carrie Armour dispute the right of the late Robert Samuel Armour to make a will leaving his estate in Percy township, to his son John A. Armour, who is the defendant in the case, which occupied the attention of Judge Latchford all of yesterday.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendants.

The case was ended in a satisfactory way for all concerned. The farm in dispute is to be sold.

Sims vs. Sims.



This was a case for alimony. The Dove of Peace hovered over the court and spread its benogn radiance over the litigants. They agreed, figuratively, to kiss and make up, but mother-in-law is tabood.

Hamilton vs. Hamilton.

Mrs. W. F. Hamilton had sued for alimony, charging desertion and almost any old thing against her husband, who is a well known and respected former local citizen. Ald. Gordon was for the plaintiff and Mr. Medd for the defendant. In court it was intimated that a mutual agreement had been attained. It is understood that $1500 is the price Mr. Hamilton pays for launching his cargo on the sea of matrimony.

REAL ESTATE is the greatest security on earth. There can never be an over-production of this necessity. Participate in the owner of a clear title to a farm, but, next to this, if one cannot afford the farm, the best thing is to own a few lots within or adjoining a live progressive City, has a great future assured. There is no place in the world that fills these requirements like the City of Winnipeg.

Lots can be purchased close to this City for as low as $240 on a farm, but there are some in Rosser Park actually abutting the building district and now served by a good car service and within 20 miles from the City Hall at prices ranging from $240 to $350 per lot on easy terms. The above are within less than three blocks from the car line. Lots the same distance from the Portage Avenue car line and 6 miles from the City Hall sell in the area $240.00 per lot. We also have Warranty Deeds and easy terms to be arranged. Further particulars cheerfully furnished on application.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 306 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

ELECTRICITY FROM PEAT

Bavaria Trying Out Commodity of Which Canada has Deposits

European engineers are engaged in the investigation of methods of utilizing peat as fuel in electric stations. Southern Bavaria, for instance, has vast fields which would serve to run electric plants of large size and this would give a great reserve of power. The peat bogs lie mainly in the region of the Danube, and are estimated to cover an area of 500 square miles. Supposing the peat layer to be only three feet in thickness and the cubic foot of peat to afford but three pounds of fuel, this will mean a supply of fifty million tons. The fuel can be burned under boilers or it can be used in special producers to secure a supply of gas for industrial purposes.

Lizard in Stomach

Miss Melrose Pickell of Melrose Highlands, Mass., ate shrimp salad and then was very ill. Ordinary remedies for acute indigestion failed to have any effect and finally by the aid of a stethescope, a physician discovered that there was something alive in the woman's stomach. A head of boiled lettuce was held at Miss Pickell's mouth, and in a moment a very much alive lizard made its escape.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

An elective Senate is one of the changes which should materialize soon says an exchange. The abolition of the upper chamber would be much better.

We are pleased to note that the troubles of the Conservatives are occuring only in the editorial columns of the Liberal newspapers.

An Egyptologist at the U. of P. has just displayed a picture of Amenophis III. holding his wife upon his lap. Strange how Egypt anticipated our best modern ideas!

We know a few alleged Conservatives who are utterly miserable because Mr. Burnham has been member for West Peterborough for over a year and a half without making a single blunder.

If German military aviators are forced to accept this Berlin opinion that the captain of an airship, rather than alight on French soil, should blow his craft and crew to dust, they will never want to fly when the wind is east

Wisconsin voted with some emphasis last fall against an equal suffrage amendment to the constitution, but the question refuses to stay settled. There is an active movement in behalf of another referendum, and the example of Michigan in granting a second test so promptly is likely to have weight in Wisconsin.

PUNISHMENT TO FIT THE CRIME.

A judge in the Chicago municipal court who has got tired of fining spitters who defile public building floors or sidewalks and apparently making no lasting impression in the correction of the filthy habit, has devised a punishment to fit the offence, He proposes that hereafter when a policeman is a witness of such expectoration he shall take the offender in hand, lead him back to the spot on the floor or sidewalk and require him to clean it up as an alternative to immediate arrest.

LIBERAL BOLT IS SHOT.

The Liberal members have returned to Ottawa, after the Easter recess, proudly boasting that the country is behind them in their fight against the naval proposals of the Government, and that they want a general election right away. They even state the people have nothing but commendation for their blockade tactics, all of which goes to prove that they have taken the voice of one or two of their party heelers for the voice of the people. It may be asserted without fear of contradition that if the people were given a chance at Laurier and his band of Separatists at the polls, there would be a sorry remant left of a once great party Canada is tired of the men who, by their talk of great things they do for the Empire, prevent prompt and immediate action on an Empire binding proposition.

There are strong evidences, however, that Laurier and his henchmen have shot their bolt. Despite their fervid prayers for an election, the very last thing they want is to be dragged before the people. They have shown themselves incapable of realizing Canada's duty to the motherland. In the place of immediate and effective aid, they have substituted something which if carried out, would mean years of delay and enormous expenses. And in the place of argument they have substituted obstruction and bluster. Lungs have taken the place of brains in the leadership of the Liberal party. He with the loudest voice is acclaimed a prince among his fellows.

The determination of the Government to put an end to wilful obstruction, by an amendment of the rules which govern debate, will be welcomed by every Canadian who believes it is the duty of an administration to administer. Free Speech is one thing' senseless obstruction is another. There is no desire on the part of the government to prevent fair and legitimate criticism, but the time has now come to haul in the rope. The men who have been so blinded by party passion, that they have disgraced the proceedings of parliament, flung defiance at law and order, and attempted to impose minority rule on the majority, have no one to blame but themselves for the proposed amendments to the rules which will enable the government of the day to proceed quietly and carefully with the business which confronts it.

Canada is tired of bluff and bluster. Parliament must deal with its legislative programme, despite the efforts of a set of discredited politicians, hungry for the sweets of office, to block the way.

THAT NOISY TRAIN.

(Written for The Times.)

Now relentless fate or a luckless star
Has cast my lot near the C.P.R.,
So when the day comes to a close,
Andweary I seek a brief repose.

You well may think the effort vain,
To sleep to the tune of a bellowing train,
That crashes on with rush and roar
Louder even than grandma's snore.

Like spirit's holding carnival high,
And head light glaring like Cyclop's eye,
Tossings and turnings approaching despair,
And uttering words which are scarcely a prayer.

Old Morpheus holding me willing thrall,
Loud clanking bells and sizzling steam,
Shatter in fragments the mushroom dream.

Grinding a terrific grist of noise,
Matched by nothing earthly except some boys,
Till it sometimes seems that the tress and strain,
Will end in unhinging my harrassed brain.

But soon holidays come, with release from the broil,
Then adieu to this nerve racking, jarring turmoil,
With a few friend, congenial, my pleasure to share,
To that haven of rest, Stoney Lake, I'll repair.

And steer our course for some peaceful spot,
On the Burleigh shore, in some verdant glade,
We'll pitch our tents in the cedar shade.

Where the world with its troubles can never intrude,
Nor larking care roost her numerous brood,
We will bring just a drop of the good old stuff,
(Sure, a drop for medicine's, always enough.)

Here our soft serenade, the gentle note,
That the bull frog pours from his rusty throat,
And Carrion crows, with never a pause,
Proclaim in our wars their urgent laws.

O'er scorching rocks we may idly roam.
While clouds of mosquitoes sing "Home, sweet home."
How we shudder with fear, when a hissing snake,
Wriggles under our pillow as we awake.

At home once more these pleasant hours, past,
(For of course the most pleasant of all is the last),
Tho' sunburned and jaded beyond a joke,
We had holiday outing like other folk.

That we paid for our whistle a little too dear,
And p erhaps we have learned jtis folly to roam,
For the pleasures that always abide at home.

That through lens of imagination seen.
Far distant hills are ever green.
So in future cease all repining vain,
Reconciled at last to the noisy train.

C. CALDER.

THE TEMPERANCE PARTY

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—The "Citizen's Committee," who has charge of the recent temperance campaign in this city have fallen foul of one another and are also clashing with that very recent recruit to their ranks—the Examiner. In this mix-up the temperance people show their old-time party spirit, and that lack of loyalty to their cause which to-day makes them a negligible quantity in politics. It was ever thus. When Col. Miller, a life-long temperance man, ran as a member for the Legislative Assembly in opposition—mark you—to a party that boasted that they held the liquor men in the hollow of their hands, not only in this city but throughout the Province. What happened? Why the temperance party simply slaughtered the Colonel, and nobody was surprised. In fact, outside of Mr. Rowell, I don't think there is a politician in the land today who gives a hang for the temperance party, and Mr. Rowell, of "abolish the bar" fame, will endorse this sentiment after he has had a tilt with the voters of this province at the next elections.

Yours truly.

Consistency.

A YOUNG'S POINT MIX-UP

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 2nd inst., there appeared an article from Young's Point, regarding the meeting which was recently held in this place under the auspices of the Protestant Benevolent Association of Peterborough, which is a tissue of falsehoods from start to finish. The intention of the writer, who is known and her cotrie of relatives, was to discredit certain residents of this place in the estimation of their friends. They will find out before they get through that their effort will be a veritable boomerang so far as they are concerned. The writer of the article signs herself "S. Maloney." 'Now who is "S. Maloney, Young's Point"? "She" must be a stranger for there is no person in this place or neighborhood of that name. "S. Maloney" starts by saying that there was an Orange Rally at Young's Point. This is intended for a slur as there was no such rally as suggested, the meeting referred to being conducted under the auspices of the above named Society. The writer goes on to say that the party adjourned to the cheese factory where a banquet was held and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. This is again absolutely false, not containing one word of truth.

The young lady who uses the nom de plume of "S. Maloney" goes on to say that Mr. P. P. Young, was on an extended visit to Rochester. That would lead the public to believe that he is shirking his duty as lockmaster. This is another falsehood as Mr. Young has not been away from the Point, being on his job at the locks every day.

In conclusion let me say to "S. Maloney," that you will have to retract in order to save what is left of your good name. I have the documents to prove your identity and unless you make a satisfactory retraction I am advised to disclose it with some further information of a character that will not look well in print.

Yours very truly,

Honesty.

SPORTING NEWS

BASEBALL.

Lindsay has formed a baseball league. The following officers were elected:

Patron—Chas. Squires.
Pres.—R. Butler.
Vice-Pres.—H. Martin.
Sec.—F. W. Moynes.
Treas.—A. M. Paton.

Each team manager is a member of the executive. He may sign eighteen players.

The following teams will enter the league: L.C.I., Business College, Beal's, St. Mary's and East Ward.

Manager Elberfield bought Outfielder Chouinard from tae White Sox. He will report in time for the opening game. He takes the place of Elston for the present while the latter is searching for his family who are lost in the Ohio floods.

Many a true word is said in a joke, remarked one of the chaps who used to make the people laugh years ago, but how about Frost in Montreal, of course meaning the ball player double

THE PIRATES ARE READY.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 10.—Hans Wagner, who has been resting a twisted knee, President Dreyfuss, and a squad of war correspondents are due in Cincinnati to-day to prepare for to-morrow's opener with the Reds. The arrival in Cincinnati of Paddy Green, Holyoke, Mass., pitcher, purchased from the New York Americans, was expected to-day.

CHANGE IN CLEVELAND PITCHERS.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 10.—The Naps, who arrived from their Southern training trip late last night, will hold their first practice of the season at Somers' Park to-day. Manager Birmingham announced that there might be a chance in his pitching selection for the opener with Chicago to-morrow. Gregg, star twirler, at first chosen, is not in the best condition, and Willie Mitchell may start the opening game.

RED SOX PLAY HOLY CROSS.

Boston, Mass., April 10.—After disposing of Harvard without over-exertion, the Red Sox to-day faced a better conditioned team in Holy Cross. The Worcester boys, who have just returned from the South, are in fine shape. Red Murray, of Philadelphia, is expected to start on the mound for the collegians, with R. Carroll receiving. The Sox battery was in doubt until the last minute.

LACROSSE.

Toronto, April 10.—Reports from all over the province to Secretary Frank Doyle of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association, tell of the great revival of the national game. Not only is the old time interest evident in the old-established sections, but also in districts where lacrosse never before was played in affiliation with the big organization.

GOING STRONG IN THE EAST.

Three senior teams in Ottawa City have decided to enter the Ontario body, while other far eastern teams in line are Merrickville, Smith's Falls, Brockville, Prescott, Renfrew, Kingston, Napanee, Trenton and Belleville are also in good energetic hands and this division is likely to be lined up all down the eastern line from Kingston to Toronto. Live, hard-working enthusiasts who have the lacrosse interests at heart are very busy in the campaign and success is sure to reward them.

MORE THAN EVER HERE.

Toronto will have more amateur lacrosse this season than for many years. The present indications are that sixteen teams will be playing in the O.A.L.A. Western Ontario is also contributing its share and the new clubs already in line include St. Mary's, London, Wingham, Goderich, Kincardine, with assurances that Walkertan, Durham, Chesley, Paisley, Tara, Port Elgin, Southampton, Lucknow, Seaforth, Clinton and Stratford will hold their own. The northern section will find Newmarket, Aurora, Bradford, Barrie, Orillia, Beaverton, Gravenhurst and Bracebridge playing the game. The general outlook is that lacrosse is coming back and coming back strong.

CRICKET.

Charles William, of London, the world's racquet champion, Saturday, at Queen's Club, beat Jack Souter of Philadelphia, the American challenger, in the first half of the Home and Home match, for the championship title. The conditions were that seven games should be placed in London and seven in Philadelphia. Each player deposited $2,500.

The cricket season of 1913 is beginning to take on a definite outlook, the nature of which seems up to the present to be of the best.

Most of the meetings, that is the annual assemblies, have been held, and the general business transacted, with the elections and so-forth.

THE AUSTRALIAN QUESTION

Then, of course, there is the Australign team proposition.

This question has been put up to the directors of the Rosedale grounds Toronto. If the cricketers can get the guarantee of expenses from these men then the enterprise will in all likelihood go through. At least they are waiting for a reply in regard to gates. The end of June is figured on as the time for the visitors to play. They will fight it out at Rosedale against an all-Toronto team.

WILL VISIT THE STATES.

Haverford College, Pennsylvania, U.S., will be visited in the middle part of June for a few games with Americans.

HOCKEY.

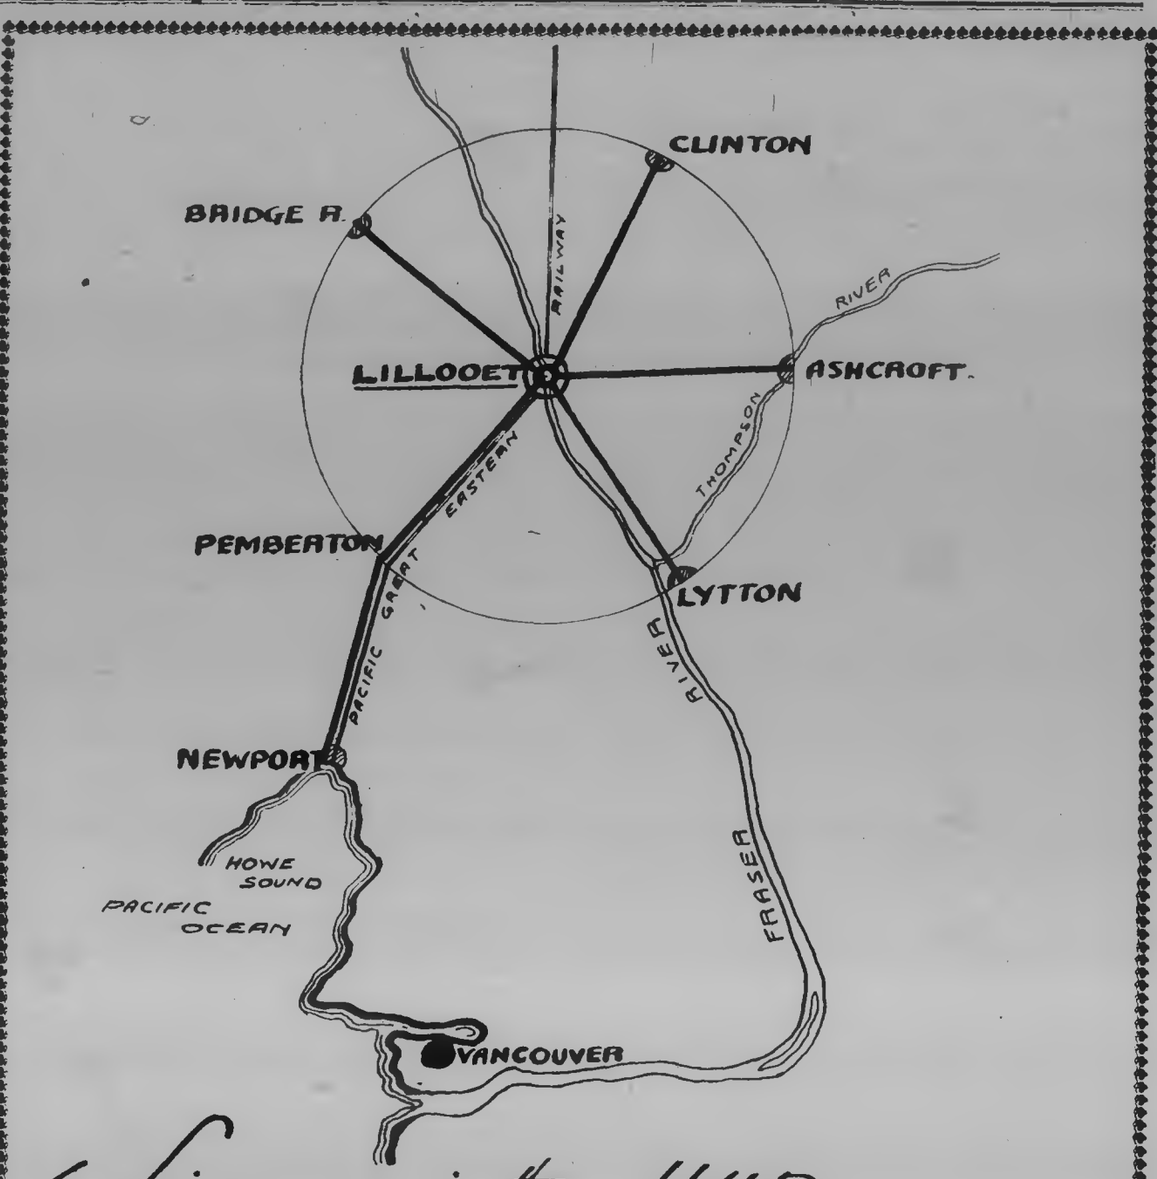
Ottawa, April 10.—Ottawa players who went West on Art Ross' All-Stars, say that the East will lose four players next winter, and perhaps more. At any rate, it appears to be certain that Skene Ronan, Harry Broadbent, Clint Benedict, of the Ottawas, and Frank Nighbor, of Torontos, will be among the missing when the N.H.A. teams line up again. They also think that some of the Quebec players will go West, but say that Goldie Prodgers is the only one they are at all sure will jump.

YACHTING.

London, April 10.—Sir Thomas Lipton, the British yachtsman, yesterday sent an unconditional challenge for a series of races for the America's cup, and, after ten years' undisturbed possession of the trophy, American yachtsmen must again prepare to defend it. The challenge was cabled to the New York Yacht Club today through the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

After the challenge had been sent Sir Thomas said to the Associated Press: "They will now either have to race or give me the cup."

Sir Thomas Lipton proposes to challenge for the cup regardless of conditions. Some fellows will argue this is sportmanship and others may hint it is a method to advertise a new brand of tea.



GUN.

Harvard University without a defeat won the eastern league intercollegiate rifle shooting championship, Massachusetts Agricultural College was second, with one defeat and Princeton third with two defeats.

RING.

What's the use of working eight or ten hours a day when the wrestling game is productive of purses that run into the thousands? Frank Gotch and Lurich drew an $18,000 gate at Kansas City.

COUNTESS, SPENDER LEFT HUGE DEBTS

Paris, April 10.—Last Sunday the time limit for making claims against the estate of the late Countess Ludmilla Bobrinskoy-Bourtourine expired. Bills of 300,000 francs were sent to the English lawyers representing the heir, but these claims may be very much reduced after the lawyers and court pass on them. As the heir-at-law, Manuel Julian de Lizardi has been recognized.

The countess, who died two years ago, was known to her friends as Mimi Bourtourine, and she was a descendant of the great Catharine of Russia and Orloff, her handsome field marshal. As a young woman, Mimi was lady of honor at the Court of St. Petersburg, married a very rich man, and after her divorce came to Paris, where she was known as the "girl who didn't care a rap for people's opinions."

She was soon everywhere and rejoiced in the reputation of a spender. When the Boulanger fizzle burst, Mimi—who had supported the general with money, and at his side courted popular applause—lost both pocket and public esteem.

CANOE TRIP DOWN ATHABASCA RIVER

Canadian North a Virgin Land of Wondrous Beauty Inhabited Only by Beasts and Birds

"Those who have wearied of the strenuous whirl and racking intensity of metropolitan life can find absolute quiet and relaxation in the upper Athabasca country," said J. K. Miller of Milwaukee, naturalist, traveler and big game hunter who has visited every quarter of the globe, on his return to Edmonton, from a stay of several weeks in the silent north.

The vast territory between Fitzgerald and Whitecourt, the last named place a settlement of sturdy homesteaders, he continued, impressed him with a sense of remoteness not found in any other country. "and in this," he added with emphasis, "I do not exclude the wilderness of the Congo or even the steppes of Siberia. It is too wonderful for words."

Briefly describing a canoe trip down the Athabasca from Fitzgerald in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, Mr. Miller termed it a land of grand grandeur—a natural playground that has no counterpart.

"There is not a sign of human habitation," he said, "not a tree cut, not a blaze mark of the woodsman's axe not the least indication that man has ever come under the hand of man, a country without a raucous sound. The only voices are those of fur-bearing animals, the songs of birds, the ripple of the river and the murmuring of breezes in the trees, a virgin land of wondrous beauty and indescribable charm."

Mr. Miller, who was accompanied on the trip by James K. Cornwall, member of the provincial parliament of Alberta for the Peace River district, is arranging to visit the Mackenzie River country with a party of writers who expect to follow the fur trail to a point beyond the Arctic.

Protecting Pencil Point

To prevent a pencil from continually breaking its point by falling have brother slip a small quantity of lead into an empty cartridge shell and wedge the shell tightly on the end of the pencil opposite the point. Then if the pencil falls the weighted end will hit the ground first and the point will be preserved.

Centenarian Dead

Mr. Townsend Hall, the oldest resident of the Eastern Townships, died at Farnham Centre, Que., at the age of 103 years and five months. Up to within a short time of his death, Mr. Hall showed no signs of failing mentality and was more active than many much younger.

Queen's Apt Rebuke.

Queen Victoria, who hated unpunctuality, once administered an apt rebuke to a certain mistress of the robes:

A day and an hour had been appointed for a certain public ceremony in which the queen had to take part. The hour had arrived, and of all the court the duchess alone was absent, and her absence retarded the departure. The queen gave vent more than once to her impatience, and at length, just as she was about to enter her carriage without her first lady of honor, the duchess, in breathless haste, made her appearance, stammering some faint words of excuse. "My dear duchess," said the queen smiling, "I think you must have a bad watch." And as she spoke she unloosed from her neck the chain of a magnificent watch which she herself wore, and passed it round the neck of the offender.

Poor Excuse.

The man who is blind to his neighbor's faults may be so merely because he thinks that affords him an excuse for having faults of his own.

Had Better Knowledge.

Lord Dufferin delivered an address before the Greek class of the McGill university, about which a reporter wrote: "His lordship spoke to the class in the purest ancient Greek, without mispronouncing a word or making the slightest grammatical solecism." "Good heavens!" remarked Sir Hector Langevin to the late Sir John A. McDonald, "how did the reporter know that?" "I told him," was the conservative statesman's answer. "But you don't know Greek." "True, but I know a little about politics."

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree, where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the bowl of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman found drifting helplessly in a boat. He gives the name of Johnson. Cameron disappears from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature, who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron. Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries: "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

Pell street wore its night garidery when the Cameron electric brougham with Evelyn and myself as occupants glided to a halt before the door of the Mission over which Miss Clement ably and successfully presided. The pale, vari-tinted light of lanterns from the balcony of a restaurant across the way, mingling with the flickering yellow beam of the city's gas lamps, threw into sharp relief the curious pendent black signs with their red cloth borders and gilded Chinese lettering, hanging before shop doors. It revealed, too, oddly contrasting figures of loungers and pedestrians, residents and visitors. And it bared, back of all that was bizarre, the commonplace brick fronts of the typically American buildings, with their marring gridironing of fire-escapes. To Evelyn, rarely observant, the combination was interesting, but disappointing.

"It does not look at all as I expected it would," she said to me. "It hasn't the air. It is neither one thing nor the other. It is like a stage scene, carelessly mounted."

As we alighted at the Mission door, the last notes of a familiar hymn, mangled in words and melody almost beyond recognition, flowed out to join the babel of street sounds; and before we could mount the high steps there had begun to pour forth a motley, malodorous freshet of felt-shod soles, that gave us pause; blocking, for a few minutes, not merely the ascent but the sidewalk as well.

When, at length, the way was clear, and by direction of a youth at the entrance, we had passed through the close, ill-smelling hall, where the lights had already been lowered, we came upon Miss Clement, alone in a little well-ventilated and brightly-lighted office or parlor, jutting off at the rear.

If she was surprised at seeing Evelyn, she gave no sign. She welcomed us both with the smiling cordiality of a life-long friend. But abruptly her smile died.

"I tried to get you on the telephone an hour ago," she explained, "but there was some trouble with the wire. I hoped to save you this journey for nothing."

"Your protege couldn't come?" I queried.

"Unfortunately, no," she returned, with a little quaver in her voice. "My protege will never come again. He was shot to death. Poor, poor Ling Fo!"

"Shot to death!" I cried, while Evelyn, with cheeks suddenly pale and eyes wide, held her underlip fast between her teeth, and gripped hard on the arms of the rocking chair in which Miss Clement had placed her.

"Yes." And this strong, sweet-faced, gray-haired woman in gray, her momentarily-lost composure quite recovered, laid a quieting hand softly over Evelyn's tensed clutch. "Yes. That sort of thing is not unusual down here, you know. There is always more or less bad blood between the tongs. But it was most unfortunate, just at this time, because I feel sure he could have told you something worth learning. I'm glad he was a good boy. He was one of the few converts that are really sincere."

"Perhaps he knew too much," I suggested.

But Miss Clement made no comment. I fancy it was out of consideration for Evelyn that she refrained from endorsing my conclusion; while I reproached myself for being less thoughtful, I was all the more convinced that I had voiced the motive for the shooting.

As Evelyn did not ask for particulars, I profited by the lesson thus taught and curbed my curiosity. But I was in no mood to drop the subject. From Miss Clement's note it was clear that Ling Fo had already communicated to her some of the more important facts in this connection, and of these I hoped to possess myself.

"And so, Miss Clement," I ventured, sharpening my wedge, "Chinatown is mystified, I understand."

She was seated, now, by her little desk, and for a moment had been turning up, searchingly, one paper after another, from an open drawer. At my observation, she paused and raised her glance, a folded sheet of note size in her hand; for a heart-beat her eyes held mine.

"Yes," she said at length. "Chinatown is all at sea, so to speak."

"Over what?" I pressed.

Slowly she unfolded the scrap of writing she held, and before replying she read it through, slowly and deliberately.

"If you don't mind," she proposed, "I would prefer not to talk about it. I am in a peculiar position here, Mr. Clyde, as you can well understand, and I can't afford to play false to those who trust me. At the same time I do not always know whom among these people to trust. Some one who knew them very well wrote, once upon a time, something like this:

You can take a Chink away from his joss,
Away from his lotteries, fiddles and joss,
You can give his queue to the barber boss;
But you can't get down to the roots that start
From the yellow base of his yellow heart.

And it's very true. There are those here who pretend to adore me, who would think nothing of treating me as they treated poor Ling Fo, if they suspected I knew anything and gave information."

"I don't want you to think I'm a coward, Miss Grayson," she went on, turning to Evelyn. "I think I've proved to you that I want to help you and mean to, but I'm rather upset tonight, and I'm so afraid we shall have to let matters rest a little longer. There is one thing, though, that you can do for me, if you will."

The last sentence was addressed to me, and I made haste to assure her that she had only to command me.

As she had spoken she had been folding and refolding the paper in her hand, until it was now a tiny, one-inch square.

"Take this," she said, handing it to me, her voice a low murmur, "and after you have read it, destroy it. I shouldn't want it found in my possession."

"I understand, Miss Clement," I returned and the folded square went into my waistcoat pocket.

"It may mean more to you," she added, in a whisper, "than anything I could say."

When once more in the brougham, speeding northward, Evelyn, who had been unusually taciturn throughout the interview, asked me a question.

"Did you mean what you said, Philip?"

"What did I say?" I queried.

"That you understood."

"I understood that it might not be well for her to have this letter of Ling Fo's about."

"But the rest? Her refusal to talk? Her uneasiness? Her fear of possible traitors?" she persisted.

Once more she had gone straight to the heart of the situation. I had been as puzzled as she by the missionary's attitude of constraint, which I could not attribute wholly to the tragedy she had told us of; and I admitted as much to Evelyn.

"If she suspected eavesdroppers," the girl argued, "she said too much. If she didn't fear being overheard, why couldn't she tell us all she knew?"

For want of a better answer I said: "Perhaps the letter will solve the enigma," and plucking it from my pocket with thumb and forefinger I began carefully to unfold it.

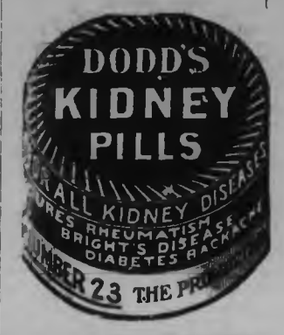
The interior of the vehicle was brilliantly alight, and though we were already far beyond the Chinatown zone and the chance observation of any lurking spies, I nevertheless chose discreetly to draw the shades prior to outspreading the written page.

Before the sheet with its network of creases was quite flattened, Evelyn, who was bending attentively near, exclaimed in surprise, "It is her own handwriting! See, it is written by Miss Clement herself!"

Already absorbed, I made no response. Avidly my eyes were racing over the lines; greedily, my brain was digesting them.

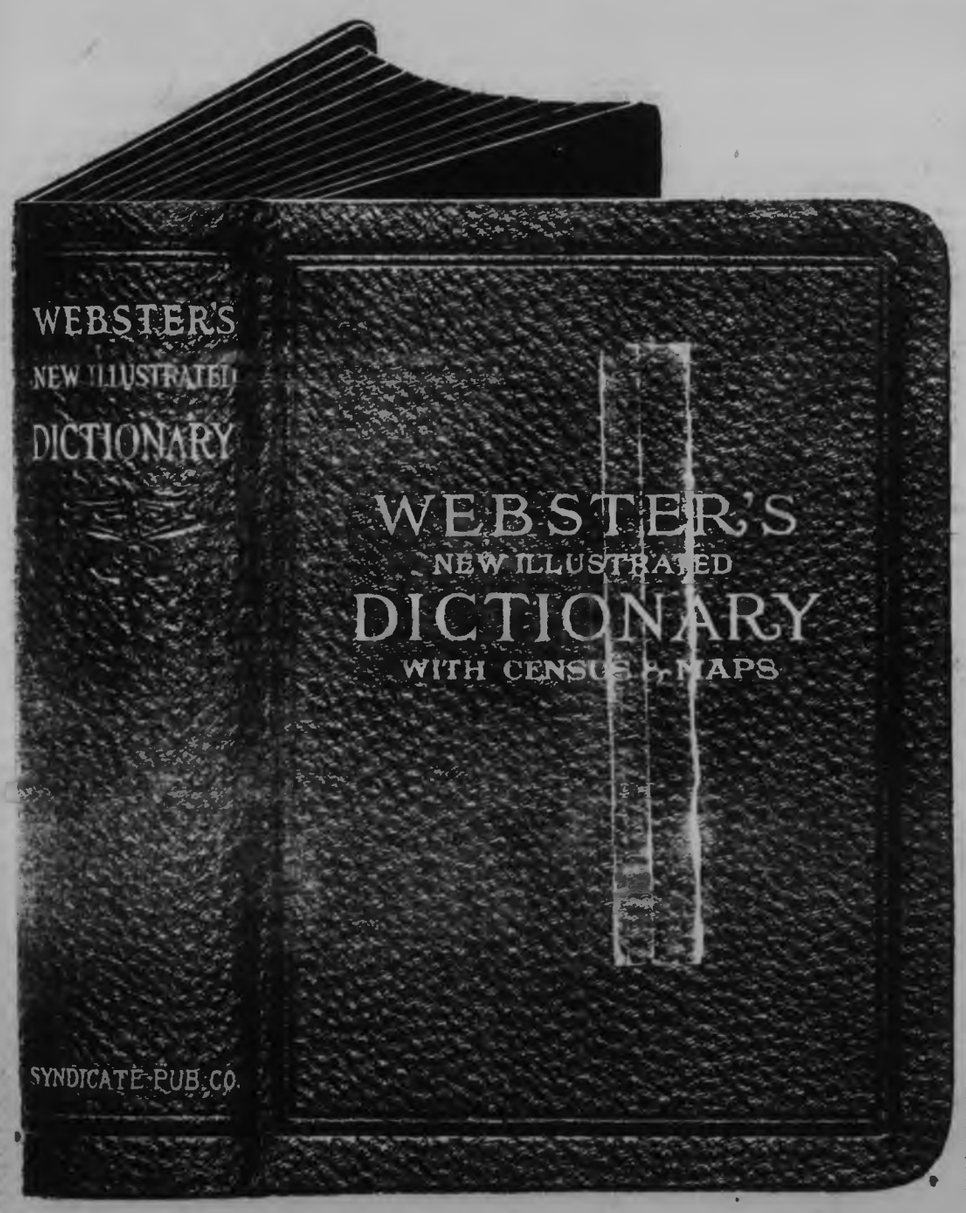
"Tidings of the cruel murder of Ling Fo have just reached me. When you come, as I know you will, I shall not dare to speak what I have written, and which is all that the poor boy ever told me. Already there are spies about me, and your visit is a risk to us both. I would have prevented it, if I could.

"Three weeks ago, according to Ling Fo, a white man was abducted by order of the Six Companies, and shipped to China for punishment, aboard a tramp steamer. Ling Fo would not give me the white man's name or any of the particulars, save that sixteen years ago he had committed a crime, known to every Chinaman in America as 'The Crime of the Sable Lorcha,' or 'black funeral ship,' by which nearly one hundred Chinese coolies lost their lives.



"It seems now that this man, who they thought was on the ocean, suddenly reappeared in New York, a few nights ago. He was recognised and set upon by two Chinamen, but he escaped, and the Six Companies and all the tongs are in a ferment over the mystery."

Evelyn's hand was on my arm as I read, her face close to mine, reading with me. Having finished, I held the sheet for a moment, waiting for her to signify that she, too, had reached the end. And in that moment the brougham came to a sudden halt.



Before either of us could voice a word the door on my side was wrenched violently open, and the blue steel muzzle of a revolver covered me.

Relieved Me of a Throat Weakness That Resisted Every Treatment.

"SUFFERERS, FOLLOW MY PLAN"

"After being loaded down with a chronic hacking cough for months, you can imagine my joy at finding even a relief from it," writes Mrs. O. A. Tooker, of Monson, Mass., U.S.A. "I was troubled with an irritable throat weakness and asthma that simply defied every medicine I ever used. I was discouraged until a friend recommended Catarrhozone so strongly that I bought a dollar outfit from my druggist. I breathed in the helping fumes of Catarrhozone very deeply—used the inhaler five minutes every hour. After the first day I was better, and next morning my cough was gone. My asthma is cured, my throat weakness is gone, and I am well. For two years indeed, with the aid of Catarrhozone, I have kept perfectly well. I have also used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for constipation with grand results, and consider your remedies have done wonders for me."

Thousands of wonderful cures are reported every year. Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it, and is certainly most efficient for colds, bronchitis, throat trouble, asthma and catarrh. The two months' treatment (large size), price $1.00, is guaranteed, smaller size 50c., sample size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Judge Latchford stated yesterday morning that he would give judgment in the Prussick v. Cordova Mines, Ltd. at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Were the Jury Asleep?

At one o'clock this morning, the jury, who had considered the Sam Steele evidence, returned a verdict of "Not Guilty." The judge evidently, judging by his remarks, did not agree with the verdict. He said to the prisoner, "It's lucky for you I am not trying you, I regret that you were not found guilty. Steele was charged with a beastly offense, and possibly, with the exception of the 12 jurymen, everybody in the court knew he was guilty. He was held, charged with a similar, but possibly worse offense.

A Blacklister Fined.

At yesterday's police court, Robt. Anderson of Otonabee, who was put on the blackliat on April 1st, and who got drunk on Tuesday, was fined $10. It seems that an "April fool" was worked in somewhere. Anderson got two complacent friends to buy him as many flasks of whisky one of which was on his person when arrested.

A Bad Heart, Its Cause and Cure

Many, Firmly Convinced They Are Dying of Heart Trouble, Have Often the Strongest Hearts.

Sometimes you wake up at night, heart throbbing like a steam engine. Your breathing is short and irregular; pains shoot through the chest and abdomen, and cause horrible anxiety.

Your trouble isn't with the heart at all. These sensations are the outcome of indigestion, which has caused gas to form on the stomach and press against the heart.

Just read what happened to Isaac Malloux, of Belle River, Ont.:

"Three months ago I was a weak, sickly man. My appetite was poor, food fermented in my stomach, I had sour risings and indigestion. At night I would often weaken with gas in the stomach and heart palpitation.

"I consulted my doctor and used remedies that my friends advised.

NOTHING HELPED.

"One day I received a sample of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and my cure commenced. To-day I have a vigorous appetite, strong heart action and no sign of indigestion. I feel younger and healthier than ever before."

Your druggist or storekeeper sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

106 TEXAS CONVICTS CONTRIBUTE $41.80.

Austin, Tex., April 10.—Governor O. B. Colquitt, Saturday, received a contribution of $41.80 from 106 prisoners in the State penitentiary at Huntsville to be forwarded to the flood sufferers in Ohio and Indiana. The warden of the penitentiary knew nothing of the collection until it was presented to him for the governor's fund.

PLAN TO DRIVE LOAN SHARKS TO THE WALL.

Chicago, April 10.—Sixty heads of big industrial enterprises, employing an aggregate of 100,000 persons, have subscribed funds whereby they expect to drive local loan "sharks" out of business.

The scheme is the simple one of establishing a loan agency of their own, and for this purpose $50,000 has been paid in, it was stated Saturday. The beginning of operations awaits only the passage by the Legislature of an enabling act which, among other provisions, two of whom shall be appointed, respectively, by the Governor and by the mayor, and fixes 3 per cent. a month as the legal rate of interest on unsecured loans.

For the attention of the "Medium" Investor

Co-operation, and its benefits

As we explained in yesterday's advertisement, we intend giving further particulars showing WHY this company offers inducements to the "medium" investor — benefits to the small man—and prosperity to the shareholders as a whole.

We are placing a Subdivision on the market shortly which, in itself, while giving handsome bargains to purchasers, will give the shareholders of this Company a first-class dividend, and—that is only ONE of our prospects. Now read on:—

What chance has the "small" man really got in speculation? None. The gains go to the man of wealth, eh? Well, does not a COMPANY OF SMALL MEN represent wealth? Certainly! That's why we are SURE we are doing the right thing in offering the "Small Investor" an opportunity to co-operate.

He makes the gains, and shares the profits of the rich financier.

Now don't put this out of your mind, write NOW. AT ONCE, while you HAVE TIME, for the fullest particulars. If you don't want to join, THEN you need not, but when you are fully acquainted with the possibilities you will thank us for bringing them before you.

We will give you all the particulars you desire Just communicate with us. OUR money is down, that's what WE think

LIBERALS ANGRY FOR LOSING CHANCE OF FORCING ELECTION

Forcing This Would Give Them Prestige--Laurier Dethroned as Tactician, But Not "Howled Down" by Conservatives

Ottawa, April 11.—The Opposition is thoroughly defeated. That is why it is screaming with rage. All these cries of "gag," "free speech," and the rest mean that it is worsted and is angry. That means that the Government has resumed the control of the situation which it was elected to exercise and which the Opposition thought it had wrested from it.

The interesting fact to-day is the wild anger of Opposition. Let us look at it cooly and carefully.

But first let us settle a couple of untruths which are being sedulously put about.

Laurier Not Refused Hearing.

First, it is asserted or insinuated that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was refused a hearing. He was not. He spoke for 50 minutes. He could have spoken for one hundred and fifty minutes or for two hundred and fifty minutes. The very newspapers which represent him as gagged report his speech. There was no reason to prevent him from beginning his speech at half-past five instead of a quarter to nine. The order of events was:

1. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Hazen claimed the floor and the Speaker recognized the former.

2. The Conservatives, invoking rule 17, voted that Mr. Hazen speak. The division confirming this was over by half-past five.

3. Mr. Hazen then moved the previous question and sat down without uttering a word beyond making the formal motion. The motion was open to debate.

4. Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not debate it. Instead, Mr. Pugsley moved that the House adjourn, and spoke till 8.45 o'clock. He then withdrew his motion to adjourn.

5.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier then made his speech, which was delivered on the motion by Mr. Hazen.

No, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not deprived of the right to speak. He was deprived of the right to move innumerable amendments—a very different thing.

False Charge of "Howling Down."

Secondly, the assertion is made that "the Conservatives howled down Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

This is flatly untrue. When Mr. Hazen rose, the Liberals shouted at him, and there was counter-cheering by the Conservatives, as always happens when the parties match their wills. When Mr. Hazen put his motion the yells of the Liberals were so loud that he could not be heard They had expressed their intention of not allowing him to speak. Mr. Pugsley was laughed at a good deal, especially when he asked the Government to grant votes to women, but when Sir Wilfrid spoke the Conservatives were very quiet. He was not interrupted once by the Conservatives. At times there were cries of dissent usual in heated debates and on occasions when the Liberals cheered him with especial vehemence, the Conservatives laughed and did some counter-cheering. The noise which accompanied his speech came nearly all from his own side

DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

London, Eng., April 11.—The physicians in attendance on the Duchess of Connaught, this morning say that her progress is quite satisfactory.

CANADIAN EXPERT STRONGLY IN FAVOR OLD AGE PENSIONS

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, April 11.—Experts from all over the Dominion have been giving testimony before the Old Age Pension Committee, of which Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., is chairman. Prof. Mavor, Toronto University, Prof. Short, heads of labor unions, and officials of agencies in touch with all moral and reform movements, etc., have appeared before the committee and given their testimony as to the necessity of a government system of old age relief.

To-day Mr. Morgan Shaw, Inspector of Prisons—a man with valuable experience of prison life, stated emphatically that 20 per cent of old vagrants could be rescued from prison life by an old age pension system. Driven by want, these men frequently appeal to be locked up in order to tide them over a hard time. This should not be.

Mr. Bancroft, vice-president of the labour congress, caused some sensation by stating that the greatest cause of the ruin of girls and widows in Canada was their failure through low wages and lack of employment to provide a means of living

SINEWS OF WAR AT HAND

Plenty of Money to Fight the Tremblay Marriage Case

Montreal, April 11.—Mr. Evan H. McLean, of Newcastle, Ont., chief legal representative of the Orange Order in British North America, yesterday, placed in the hands of Mr Arnold Wainwright the sum of $1,500 to complete the $2,000 which provides the necessary security for carrying the Tremblay-Depatie marriage case to the Privy Council. Mr. Wainwright, who is council for Mrs. Tremblay, deposited the security with the prothonotary of the Superior Court of Montreal yesterday afternoon.

Mr. McLean stated that the money brought from Toronto had been subscribed all over Ontario. Most of it had been provided by Orange lodges or individual members of the Order, but all classes were not represented, and at least $150 of it had come from members of the Roman Catholic Church. It would of course be un wise to give the names of those who had subscribed the money.

Mr. Wainwright made this statement: "Further assistance is of course still necessary to enable Mrs. Tremblay to carry her case. In the meantime, however, the security will be deposited and the appeal carried on."

The above despatch from Montreal is the final step in furnishing the security for the appeal of Mrs. Tremblay to the Privy Council. The facts are that Tremblay and his wife were married 9 years ago. A short time ago, finding that it was desirable to get rid of his wife, Tremblay discovered that they were third cousins, and that by the law of Quebec, what was forbidden by churches in this respect is also facts forbidden by the statute. But it was possible to overcome this difficulty by the payment of seven dollars to the R.C. Church for a dispensation. This Tremblay would not do, and applied to the courts to give effect to the statute. The courts of Quebec upheld contention and now the poor wife is appealing to the laws of England to have it declared that she shall be allowed to pay the seven dollars and get the dispensation. Otherwise for the lack of the payment of seven dollars by her husband she becomes a discarded woman. It is not likely that Canadians will alow such shameful treatment to be handed out in this free country to any woman. The Orange Association is backing Mrs. Tremblay's (maiden name Delpatie) lawyer. Mr A. Wainwright, K.C. and furnished the balance of the security required.

THE WEATHER.

To-day Mostly fair and sunny weather.

COOL DARING OF LIBERALS

Endeavoring to Force Their Policy on the Government

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, April 10.—There is cool daring in the proposal of Liberal leaders that they should force their solution of a great national issue upon a Conservative Government. Since when did Liberal leaders become recognized authorities upon national questions? Is it not a fact that in almost every case they took the wrong side of every great national question?

Were they right when they proposed commercial union with the United States?

Were they right when they advocated unrestricted Reciprocity?

Were they right when they opposed the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway?

Were they right when they tried to force through Parliament the Reciprocity Pact of 1911?

If they were right, the people were wrong and if the people were wrong in any of these cases they are unrepentant still.

The heart of the Liberal Party is still sound but that Party has been led badly on every great occasion The leaders appeared to have a genius for getting in wrong on great national issues, and there is a touch of impudence in their suggestion now that on a matter of national and imperial consequence their views should prevail. They were not able to carry out an unpopular policy even when they were in power, and they are less likely to be able now to carry out a similarly unpopular policy when the are in opposition.

FORTY-SIX MILLION FOR C. P. R. LINES

Enormous Expenditure Contemplated This Year West of Fort William.

Winnipeg, Man., April 11.—It was understood yesterday on good authority that the Canadian Pacific will spend anout $46,000,000 this year on Western lines between Fort William and the coast, on new lines, steel bridges, double-tracking, etc. Details not yet announced.

CLAIMS SALONIKI

rospect of Trouble—Triple Alliance Said to Support the Bulgarian Point of View.

London, April 11.—Bulgaria is making formal claims to the possession of Salonika, now occupied by the Greek troops, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company's despatch from Belgrade, Servia, and is taking military measures to support her claim. Greece is concentrating her army along the railway leading to Salonika.

Triple Alliance Scheme.

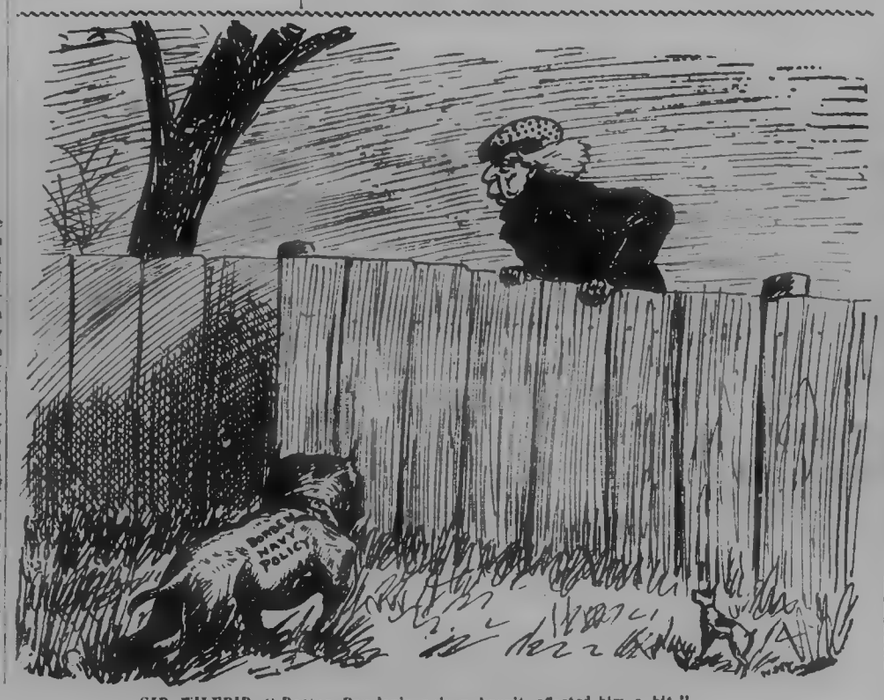
Vienna, April 11. Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy advocate, according to the Neue Freie Presse, that Salonika should be given to Bulgaria as compensation for cession of Silistria and a strip of Bulgarian territory to Roumania, and Britain favors the view, while Russia and France consider that Greece should have Salonika.

Montenegrins Withdrawing.

Cettinje, Montenegro, April 11.—The Servian troops who have been assisting the Montenegrin army in the siege of Scutari are withdrawing and marching back towards Servia.

SUFFRAGETTES SET FIRE TO PUBLIIC UTILITY--LEAVE PHOTO

Grandstand of the Great Cricket Ground at Tunbridge Wells Was Set Atire To-day



London, April 11.—Militant suffragettes started on their work of destruction at a very early hour yesterday morging when they set fire to the grandstand of the great cricket grounds at Tunbridge Wells. They left behind them a photograph of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst as an indication that the women had taken this means of protesting her imprisonment in Holloway jail.

London, April 11.—Annie Bell, the woman who was arrested in the crowd outside Holloway jail expecting Mrs. Pankhurt's release, who had a revolver in her pocket, was arraigned in court yesterday, and released on bail after giving an undertaking not to indulge in any militant work pending her trial. She said, when arrested: "If any man interferes with me I will shoot him."

PROPOSED MILITARY ROAD

Attention is drawn to a well put and practical suggestion contained in this issue, in a letter signed "Ex-Officer." It might be stated that the writer is not only, as intimated an "Ex-Officer," but is a gentleman possibly as well posted in the geography of this part of Ontario as any man in the Province. The writer calls attention to the fact that, a few years ago, troops from this district, going to annual camp at Petewawa, were dispatched by road, via Burleigh Falls, instead of going by rail. This was a wise movement, as the troops in question thus got a more practical training for war purposes than had they been sent by rail.

The writer calls attention to the strategetic value of military roads in Europe, not only for offensive and defensive tactics, as regards the handling of troops, but points out the lasting and good results accruing to the country at large. It is to be hoped that Hon. Col. Sam. Hughes' the efficient Minister of Militia, will give this suggestion his most serious consideration. The proposed road not only serve a great military purpose, as suggested by the writer, but would be a boon to settlers in the back country and help to open up a country now practically inaccessible.

THE GRITS AT OTTAWA MAKE CANADA SEEM VERY SMALL

Places Dominion in Very Ridiculous Light with Britian's Enemies Smaller Colonies Showed No Protest

London, April 11.—The keenest interest was shown here yesterday in the fairly full reports of the Ottawa proceedings, which incidentally correct earlier misstatements about the intervention of the police, but editorial references are few and restrained.

The London Times to-day editorially points out that the necessity for closure at Ottawa arises not through objections to the naval expenditure but against the particular form of expenditure proposed.

Therefore, the opinion of the other parts of the Empire has nothing to do with this aspect of the controversy.

We have, of course to recognize that the defeat of Premier Borden's emergency measure will inevitably involve the introduction of supplementary estimates here.

"The three ships proposed by Mr. Borden will be needed for the general security of the Empire in 1915

"It not laid down by Canada, public opinion here will insist that they be laid down by ourselves.

"The ships," continues The Times, "are of no account in comparison with the principle for which they stand.

Canada's Determination.

"They stand in Britain's eyes for Canada's determination to take her place beside the Mother and other Dominions, in maintaining the supremacy of the British sea power.

"We should indeed profoundly regret," concludes The Times, "a situation which divide French-Canadians and British Canadian sentiment into any semblance of the old race camps, but we shall not believe any such danger is threatened so long as Mr Borden's French Canadian colleagues remain loyally at his side."

BARS OPEN SATURDAY NIGHT "INDIAN LIST" PHOTOGRAPHED

Are Two Main Points of Liquor Men's Request to Whitney Government--Take Counsel to Fight Temperance Forces

Toronto, April 11.—Hotel bars open until 11 p.m. Saturday.

No "newsies" or hurdy-gurdy girls allowed in bars.

Hotelkeepers to be recompensed for licenses taken without cause.

The above resolutions will be presented to the Legislature this afternoon by a committee representing the twelve hundred members of the liquor and allied trades, who are meeting in this city. They will also urge the abandonment of the proposed amendments to the Liquor Act.

Mr. J. K. Paisley, of Ottawa, president of the organization, presided, and prominent speakers from the United States lent their assistance. Judge Durand, Ohio, and Colonel Perkins of Chicago, gave the convention pointers on how to fight the temperance cause, as worked across the line.

St. George's Hall proving to be too small for the hundreds of delegates, they met at the Y.M.C.A. hall on McGill street.

The speakers claimed that the liquor trade was being elevated to a point which was forcing out the undesirable element.

WOMAN BESTS MERE MAN IN DEADLY FIGHT WITH KNIVES

Persian Girl-Wife Inflicted thirteen Wounds on Hebrew After He Attacked, She says--Both in Hospital

Fort William, Ont., April 11.—Mrs. M. Benjamines, 18, a Persian, and Sam Jacobs, 29, fought a duel with knives in the woman's home yesterday. Both are in the hospital, the woman with a gash in the abdomen, and the man with 13 wounds in his chest and stomach. The woman may recover, but the man has little chance. Mrs. Benjamine stated that Jacobs attacked her.

Brazil Recognizes China.

Pekin, April 11.—The Brazilian Government has cabled to the Chinese Government its recognition of the new Republic. The Brazilian and Chinese flags were displayed together over the government offices to-day.

CHEMONG LAKE BRIDGE IS BROKEN BY JAM OF ICE

Yesterday afternoon the wind started the ice on Chemong Lake. Impelled by the strong westerly breeze, the vast ice pack carried away part of the floating bridge eastwards for a long distance. The Chemong Indian village stage, with Dan Whetung at the helm, was consequently delayed indefinitely. His Majesty's mail was conveyed to the Ennismore shore in a row boat. No doubt this county bridge will be at once repaired and a gang of men set to work.

THEY FEAR DEPORTATION

Home Secretary Will Be Asked Whether He Really Intends to Evict Foreign Suffragettes Convicted.

London, April 11.—It is understood that a member of the House of Commons who is friendly to the cause of woman suffrage intends to ask Reginald McKenna, Home Secretary, next week whether he is contemplating a plan whereby Miss Zelie Emerson of Jackson, Mich., and other foreign militant suffragettes guilty of breaking English law will be deported as undesirable aliens.

The report that McKenna intends to do so has caused consternation among the American women here who have jail records, as well as among those whose affiliation with the Women's Social and Political Union might lead to their being sentenced to a term in prison.

REAL ESTATE is the greatest security on earth. There can never be an over-production of this necessity. Fortunate is the owner of a choice little 5 acre farm, but, next to this, if one cannot afford the farm the best thing is to own a few lots within or adjoining a live progressive City has a great future assured. There is no place in the world that fills these requirements like the City of Winnipeg.

Lots can be purchased close to this City for as low as $70.00 per ft. but here are some in Brooks Park actually adjoining the building district and now served by a good car service and within 31 miles from the City Hall at prices ranging from $10.00 to $15.00 per ft. The cheapest ones being less than three blocks from the car line. Lots the same distance from the Portage Avenue car line and 5 miles from the City Hall sell now for over $30.00 per ft. All lots have Brooks Title and easy terms can be arranged. Further particulars cheerfully furnished on application.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 336 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

More Dead Than Living

In Ingersoll Ontario, the Home of the Dead is larger than the City of the Living. Of course, that statement is made with a reservation. Many of those who have been buried in the cemeteries of Ingersoll lived in the surrounding country and not a few came from a distance, although they were former residents of the town. But the fact remains that there are more people in the cemeteries of Ingersoll than are at present living within the corporation. Ingersoll's Home of the Dead is inhabited by about 5,200 people. The latest Dominion Census returns show that the population of the town is 4,762. This leaves a margin of about 500.

To Prevent Wrecks

An invention which, it is claimed, will prevent train wrecks from spread rails, and which will hold a broken rail in place, was patented by a Toronto man, Mr. S. Jagger. It is in the form of an iron fleplate, which holds the metals in a much surer grip than the present spikes. The invention has stood satisfactory tests.

JACK AND CARRIE

The Latter's Idea Brought Business to the Former and Happiness to Both

By GILBERT O. BURLINGAME.

Jack was an advertising solicitor who had not yet made good, and Carrie a stenographer who was tired of pounding out those "Yours of the 3rd inst. received and contents duly noted" kind of letters. Both wanted a home and had decided that together they could make a pretty good imitation of the real thing, but—

That but covered a whole lot of space.

Jack still had to make good, which translated means—prove to the firm for which he tramped the streets each day that he earned more than the beggarly fifteen per which did not fill his wants, although in dollar bills it did his pay envelope.

The time was night, probably about ten, as it usually took Jack and Carrie that long to dispose of news items relative to their friends, and the very personal questions which always arise between lovers, and then Carrie opened fire with this question:

"Opened up on anything yet?"

Jack shook his head.

"I have an idea," Carrie then declared, and without going into details of the questions she forced Jack to ask, it was as follows:

There was a certain manufacturer of a household necessity who utterly refused to advertise, declaring that he had no faith in the efficacy of it, and against Jack's repeated efforts he had turned a deaf ear. The advertising agency had exhausted all their good men on him before consigning him to Jack, and naturally that harassed solicitor and lovelorn young man was keen to land him. Carrie had thought over the matter many a long day as she was pounding her typewriter, and had evolved a plan to prove to the crusty and unbelieving manufacturer the value of advertising, thereby landing a contract for the advertising agency, increased salary for Jack, and eventually a flat built for two.

Jack knew his business, although he had not as yet made good, and told Carrie in a very few words just what he thought of her proposed campaign.

"Hello! What Do You Know?"

The next day it was opened, not with a band or any other noisy demonstration, but effectively. Within the next week the crusty manufacturer began to sit up straighter in his swivel chair, for his postage bill was visibly increased, and the mail man carried two bags and threatened to give over delivering the mail at all. The fifty or more dealers in his household commodity began to rub their eyes and send in doubled orders, while a number of advertising agencies began sending out their star men to renew the attack upon him. The latter only stared, goggled and refused to see them.

Up in the dingy little office where Carrie pounded out her usual letters, a feeling of contentment prevailed to such an extent that the boss forgot to "knock," and the office boy actually washed his face. Jack walked on air, and could have been found studying ads setting forth the delights of three and four room flats. At the end of ten days he called upon the crusty manufacturer, sending in his card with this line written across the bottom:

"I can show you the ad which is proving its own worth."

"Show him in," thundered the great man, for that was just what he was trying to find out.

The visitor gave a jaunty slant to his hat, recalled all Carrie's instructions, and made his way into the hitherto closed office, for he had never before penetrated beyond the office boy barrier in his visits.

"Hello! Well, what do you know?" was the way the manufacturer greeted him, but Jack knew he had something to tell that the other wanted, so he waited until he had taken a chair, pushed back his hat, and then he responded curtly:

"What you are trying to find out. Business has been rushing you lately, hasn't it?"

The crusty manufacturer turned with a glare upon his caller, asking:

"What business is that of yours?"

Jack rose with dignity, saying slowly and with emphasis:

The manufacturer grunted. "If any of you advertising men give anything away, I'm here to get it," but he waved Jack back to his chair. Having thus asserted his independence, the visitor took out his pocket book and extracted a clipping which he laid before the magnate. The latter adjusted his glasses and read it.

It was an ad. containing a simple statement of the merits of the household necessity, with the crusty manufacturer's name and address below; and the clipping was cut out so as to give the name of the paper and date of its appearance. After the manufacturer had studied it carefully he raised his eyebrows and asked:

"Well, what's the answer?"

"This ad. appeared once. You received enough mail to make you think a cyclone had struck you. Now if that one ad. produced results like that, how about a regular campaign?"

The crusty manufacturer fixed Jack with a pair of shrewd old eyes. After he had looked him through and through, he asked:

"If I sign up with your agency, will you put me next?"

"To what?" Jack asked, although he quite understood what was meant.

"The method. I'm not such a fool as to believe an ordinary ad. like that would have legitimately brought out the responses it did."

"Yes, I will," Jack returned heartily, producing a contract.

"Another thing, I'll sign up for a rattling good campaign if you'll take care of my account," the magnate continued, as he shook down his fountain pen.

"Write that into the contract, and then you will be sure," Jack modestly suggested, and with a twinkle in his eyes the other did so, and as he saw the amount to be expended Jack knew he had made good, or Carrie had, to give that clever young woman her due.

"Now, how'd you do it?" the manufacturer insisted.

"Easy," was the reply. "I put in the ad on my own hook, and paid for it out of my own resources," and he did not resent the grin of his hearer at the words. "A certain young lady and I are to be married pretty soon. At her suggestion, we both wrote to all of our friends, asking them as a wedding gift to us to carry on an endless chain letter of inquiry about your product."

The manufacturer sat gasping in astonishment.

"She and I wrote to twenty of our friends. That made forty to begin with. Each of the forty wrote to ten asking each of the ten to write to ten more, and—"

"Wait," the magnate shouted: "if you explain any more I'll countermand that contract, for as far as I can estimate, I'll be getting inquiries until I pass over where none can reach me."

Jack and Carrie now occupy the flat

EDIBLE MUSHROOMS

Simple Rules to be Followed in Order to Avoid Poisonous Varieties

It is not hard to distinguish edible mushrooms from poisonous varieties. The common mushroom (agaricus campestris) is usually found in open grassy fields, often on old pasture and lawns, but never in the woods. It has a fleshy cap, dun colored on top and pink beneath, the pink gills turning dark brown or black when mature and after gathering. There are many other good varieties, but the agaricus is the commonest. Mushrooms which are gathered in the open which have pink gills that turn brown or black after being gathered, it is safe to eat.

The two poisonous varieties which are most common are the amanita muscaria and the amanita phalloides. They are usually found in or near woods. They have yellow or white gills, and the stem of the latter rises from a cup-like base. Mushrooms gathered in the woods, which have yellow or white gills (not pink) or have cup attachments at the base of their stem, should be shunned; they are probably poisonous.

FEWER TIPS GIVEN

Sums Sent Back to England by Sailors at Montreal are Dwindling

That trans-Atlantic passengers are not as generous as formerly in the matter of tips and that the amount of money sent back to England by sailors is correspondingly smaller than usual is the statement made by Mr. Ritchie Bell, manager of the Montreal Sailors' Institute.

In substantiation of this argument Mr. Bell pointed out that this year only $14,000 was sent away from the Institute as against $17,000 last year. The amount of English tip money changed into Canadian currency dwindled from $2,250 last year to little more than $2,000 this season.

Moreover, the amount of money given the Institute officials for safe keeping was only $1,700 this year, compared to $2,000 for the same period last year.

On the other hand, the attendance at weekly concerts increased by more than 1,000, the number of letters written from the Institute also showed an increase. Other figures denoted an advance in the number of seamen attending temperance and religious services.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The druggists have nothing on the milkman who adds water to thin out the honest cow's "prescription."

The troubles of the democrats have started with the revision of the tariff, which is worse than taking care of hungry office seekers.

The militant suffragettes have been called "cranks." The more correct and more modern term would be "self-starters."

Toronto rate payers are kicking because their taxes are 19 mills on the dollar. How would they like Peterborough's modest little 25?

Those in Peterborough who have gone western land subdivision crazy might pick up a "lot" of desirable real estate by letting the water tap run.

For safety's sake filter both the water and the milk. You can tell the milk has been doped by the real estate that settles in the bottom of the jug.

There will be no election on the naval issue. The Borden government will live up to its obligations to the people who elected it, even if in doing so it blights the aspiring hopes of numberless discredited politicians.

If our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. McWilliams, wishes to convince the citizens that his fight with the R. C. hierarchy, is to be a real scrap, he will have to get his whiskers cut off, thus depriving his antagonists of a chance for a tight grip.

One might last week 372 Kansas women waited almost an hour in the lobby of a theatre for their escorts who has taken them to the theatre and had then gone to a wrestling match that proved to be unexpectedly protracted. The 372 escorts came at last—and, strange to say, Kansas City is still on the map.

APPENDIX AND DIVORCE

A lady in Seattle is suing her husband for divorce. She says that they got along nicely until he was operated on for appendicitis. When he recovered he became irascible and irritable and treated her very rudely. We always knew that the doctors were wrong when they said the vermiform appendix was merely a loafer and performed no function in the human system. This divorce case may disclose that it has a strong bearing upon domestic felicity.

ASIATIC IMMIGRATION.

The Dominion of Canada is again in control of its own immigration. In a notable instance Canada parted with this control under the Laurier Government.

The present Government has assured to Canada all the advantages and none of the disadvantages of the commercial treaty negotiated between Great Britain and Japan in 1911. The treaty is to apply to Canada with two important exceptions. The eighth article providing for the free entry of Japanese silks and other articles is not to apply, and the treaty is not to repeal or affect the Canadian immigration law. The effect of this last is to reserve for Canada absolute power to regulate Japanese immigration, if such regulations should at any time be deemed necessary.

Under the old treaty to which Canada was a party, this right was not reserved. The then Government affected an arrangement with the Government of Japan whereby the latter agreed to restrict emigration to Canada. The Canadian Government was dependent upon the good will of Japan. The Borden Government has expressly reserved the right under the new treaty arrangement, to enforce the Canadian immigration law, the provisions of which are very wide.

Weak, Tired Folks Given New Vigor

STRENGTH RETURNS, HEALTH RENEWED, VITALITY OF YOUTH RE-CREATED

Exhaustion and Bodily Tiredness Every Day Being Turned Into Vigor and Ambition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From Cheboque Pt., N.S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost my appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the 'blues.' I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. 'A medicine that will do this should be in every home.'"

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from the Cattarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

AIR THE MOVIES

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was pleased to note the stand you took on the lack of proper ventilation of our local moving picture houses. These places with their foul air, overfilled with people, many of whom come from infected homes are a menace to public safety. Should an epidemic of scarlet fever, measles, chicken pox, etc., break out, it would possibly be not unfair to blame reeking, microbe laden and tainted atmosphere of the moving picture houses as now conducted. These places are largely attended by children, many of whom are not allowed to go to school because of contagious diseases in their respective homes. How their parents can allow children to take the chance of breathing foul air in such places, for hours at a time, passes my understanding. It seems to me that the menace to public health should not only be looked into by Sanitary Inspector Spence, but is worth serious consideration by the Medical Health Officer.

WHAT LAURIERISM STANDS FOR.

Editor Morming Times.

Sir,—Laurierism stands for Separation from the Empire and Independence.

Laurierism stands for the degradation of parliamentary proceedings, and the reins of power in the hands of the minority.

Laurierism stands for the "get rich quick" principle in public life, and the making of milionaries at the expense of the people of Canada.

Laurierism stands for uncleanness in the administration of affairs, and the spoilation of the resources of the Dominion by a group of favorites who were permitted to use public office for private gain.

Laurierism stands for Canada doing nothing to bear her fair share of Empire burdens. If Laurierism were permitted to dictate the naval policy of the Dominion, the Day of Armageddon would find no Canadian Dreadnoughts fighting side by side with the ships of other overseas Dominions and those of the motherland.

Laurierism stands for "a little Canada," with her people so busily engaged in material pursuits that they have no time or inclination to concern themselves with Empire problems. Laurierism is seen at its worst in the view it takes of Canada's Imperial responsibilities. Laurierism is the incarnation of the inability to think or act Imperially.

Laurierism, in a word, is that brand of statesmanship of which the people of Canada are heartily tired.

MILITARY ROAD NEEDED

Burleigh, April 4, 1913.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Ancient history relates that when the Romans invaded England they built military roads through that country and Scotland, which, during their occupation no doubt were found to be just what was required. These roads, for centuries, have been a God-send to the agriculturists. Some years ago a number of our volunteers were ordered from the front to join the military camp at Petewawa, via the Burleigh Road which, at the same time seemed to me it would be a better training for list the support of your influential paper in having $200,000 (of the millions to be granted by the Ottawa Government, to improving the highways of the Dominion), set aside to build a military road from Peterborough via the Burleigh Road to the military camp at Petewawa.

You, Mr. Editor, will at once see when I give my reasons, the necessity of this great national work, being undertaken and completed at an early date.

The present Minister of Militia, by his energy and foresight, has brought the military forces of this Dominion into such a state of efficiency that it is very improbable they could ever be defeated by an invading army, no matter how superior in numbers; but sometimes, the unexpected happens. Then what? Our commanding officer would naturally wish to fall back to the impregnable heights of Burleigh and Chandos (the natural Torres Vedras of the Dominion), which ten thousand Canadians could hold against the army of United States or Germany. How thankful would the general-in-command be when he remembered that you had originated the great Peterborough and Petewawa military road, a road that would not only be a God-send to the militia, but also to the agriculturists. Let your member and ex-member cease their petty newspaper war and write with your 20,000 citizens in demanding the construction of this military road and you will accomplish your ends.

WOMEN ARE PRAISING DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Nova Scotia Mother Tells How They Cured Her Aches and Pains, And Made Her a Well Woman Again.

Ecum Secum Bridge, Halifax Co., N.S., April 11.—(Special.)—From Vancouver to Halifax come daily reports of the splendid work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing for the suffering women of Canada, and this little place can show a splendid cure of its own. Mrs. Orastus Pace, the mother of a large family, was a sufferer from these aches and pains only women know. Today she is a strong, healthy woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it.

"I had a pain in my left side and down through my hips," Mrs. Pace states. "I had headache all the time My heart was weak, and at times a pain around it added to my fears. Some days I was hardly able to walk.

"I read of a number of cures of cases like mine by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and sent for three boxes. Today I am a well woman, and can do as much work as ever I could."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mrs. Pace because her troubles came from diseased kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneys, and as ninety per cent. of women's troubles come from kidney trouble, Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to be known as suffering woman's best friend

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16358; GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND 66.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty, FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys	100 shares.
$300.00 buys	500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

ports which come from the managers who have been conditioning their men in the South. The race promises to be mighty close, which means a sustained interest. Efforts have been made to shorten the game by keeping everyqody connected with it moving, and that will add interest, for the short, snappy game is the one which always arouses the enthusiasm of the fan.

The personnel of the teams will prove of interest, especially during the early stages of the race, for there have been manay changes in some of the olubs, youngsters have been added and the enthusiasts will naturally want to secure first and information about them.

The coming of Frank Chance will be watched with keen interest both by his friends in the American and in the National Leagues. The reports from the training camp in Bermuda were to the effect that he had instilled much of his agressiveness into his players.

BASEBALL.

Leland Stanford Junior University announces that it will send a baseball team to Keio University, Japan. The Capanese university agrees to pay $3500 to the Stanford managers for the trip. The American team will stay 30 days in Japan, and agrees to finance a return visit of the Keio University team.

A meeting of Mercantile League enthusiasts was held at the "Y," when the following teams were represented: Printers, Machine Shop Draughting, Tool Room, Brinton Carpet, Oats and Canoe Builders. Mr. W. D. Craig was elected chairman. The League will be known as the Mercantile Baseball League.

The annual meeting of the Midland Association Football League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday afternoon, April 19th at 2 o'clock. The election of officers, the reception of reports and the drawing up of a schedule, will be the business before the meeting.

The directors of the Peterborough Ball Club have received a letter from Manager Barthold, giving them a line on the men he has picked up. The pitching department will have a backbone in Hanson and Tracey. He also expects to sign Silcox, last year with London and Gueloh, and now open. Charlie Strain is a good fast youngster. Barthold saw him work last year, and says he has as much "stuff" as any picher in the Canadian League.

A contract has also been sent to Leslick, of Cannington, Ont., who is reported to be a fast amateur. Danny Barthold, the manager's brother, is reported as being very fast and of a husky build. Armbruster, has not been seen in action, but he and Jas. Scott travel together, and are reported as a very classy battery. Johnny will see them work before they report.

Calvin Lowery is expected to be one of the best catchers in the League. He is a good batter. He had been training with D. Barthold and Byrne in Reading for about three weeks. Shea is also to do his share of receiving.

The only vacancy in the infield is second base, and Wiedman seems to be a likely candidate.

YACHTING.

London, April 10.—Sir Thomas Lipton, in discussing his new challenge for America's cup, has said: "I have withdrawn my stipulation because I am sure Americans also want a race. I may not succeed, but I am going to give that cup the fight of its life.

DEFENDERS WILL BE SPORTS

"I do not want to enter any anticipations regarding what sized boats shall be sailed against my 75 footer. I am sure that, now I have given way on the point objected to, the New York Yacht Club will do nothing unsportsmanlike. I have always been given a square deal, and I feel sure of fair play in 1914. The Royal Ulster Yacht Club and myself have disagreed on the interpretations of the deed of gift because of the sifference of some of the best legal advices in this country. However, that is all done with now. I have ordered a 75 footer."

GOSSIP OF SPORT.

They're off in the Big Leagues and the soul of the Yankee nation goes forth in one majestic appeal. "Kill the Umpire."

The annual meeting of the Island A.A.A. will be held at the Strollers Club 54 Yonge street, on Monday, April 14, not April 24, as stated in yesterday's papers.

At Dundas the boxing bout between "Kid" Taylor, colored, of Hamilton, and "Kid" Robbins of the same place was stopped in the middle of the contest by Chief Clark as being a brutal exhibition.

Frank Nighbor, of the Toronto pro hockey team, may play with the Patricks on the Coast next season. Ronan, Broadbent and Benedict, of Ottawa, may also go west.

On account of the disturbances at the recent International soccer match in Ireland, the Scottish Football Union may refuse to play next year with the Irish team.

Jack Tressider will start from the 15-yard mark in a 880-yard race to be held at the 74th Infantry Armory, Buffalo, on Saturday night. Ted Meredith and Joe Driscoll will be on scratch, but they will have their work cut out to overtake the elongated Toronto boy.

A new star has appeared on the rowing horizon in Australia in Jim Paddon, who recently defeated Alf. Felton, who won the title from Charlie Tomms. Paddon, who is a 196-pounder, won by over two minutes, and was immediately challenged by Arnst.

The directors of the White Caps have received a letter from Abbie Johnson, an old Montreal player, who is now in St. Catharines. Abbie has a semi-pro ball team and would like to get the Peterborough team to train there. Chances are they will, for Abbie offers them expense money, as it is the intention to play a number of games. The expenses for training at Preston would be quite high.

BUYING A HORSE

Practical Pointers for the Amateur—How to Locate Faults

If you are buying a horse never be satisfied that he is thoroughly sound or serviceable until you have seen him in action.

In mild cases of string-halt faulty action is observed only upon the start or backing. The feet should be picked up to show how the animal will stand while being shod. The horse should next be placed in harness, and attention should be given to his behaviour while the harness is being fitted. Observe whether he kicks, strikes or bites when the girth is tightened. He should be driven in his accustomed manner—single or double if for driving, and in a cart or waggon if for heavy work. The reins should be taken so as to determine whether he has a hard or tender mouth, and to note his manner of responding to the pull. Also observe whether he shies or frightens at strange objects when being hitched to the cart. One should be certain that this is not due to improper fitting harness before rejecting him. A tight fitting collar may make the difference between a proper acting animal and one that is wholly objectionable.

The wind should be thoroughly tested for whistling, for roaring, and for heaves. The ear of the examiner should be placed to the nostrils, to the throat and to the sides of the chest and the hands placed upon the flanks to detect any unnatural sounds in breathing.

In One Office 62 Years

It is doubtful if there is another town in Canada whose postmaster has served in that capacity for as long a period of years as has Thomas Armour, of Dunnville. Mr. Armour, who is still the town postmaster served first for a period of twelve years as assistant postmaster. He was then appointed to the chief position which he has held for fifty years, making in all a period of sixty-two years in the one office.

He was appointed to the position before Confederation, and is the third postmaster the town ever had

Flag for Lundy's Lane

Steps are to be taken to have the historic battlefield of Lundy's Lane marked by a suitable flag-pole and British flag. On several occasions American tourists have expressed surprise at the indifference manifested towards the upkeep of the place, and have offered to erect a flagpole. These offers have always been refused by the loyal Britishers in the neighborhood.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the head of an opium dope under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman found drifting helplessly in a boat. He gives the name of Johnson. Cameron disappears from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature, who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries: "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

CHAPTER XXI.

When the Doors Parted.

What immediately followed must have occupied a second or two at most. Yet it seemed to me that for many minutes I sat mute and motionless, starting at the leveled weapon and at the rude black mask behind it; for my brain was superactive and my thoughts were racing.

Instantly I comprehended all that had happened, and the situation, climaxing in our peril, was as clear to me as though I had witnessed the whole chain of events from inception to final execution. The assassination of Ling Fo was to be succeeded by the abduction, perhaps the murder, of Evelyn and myself. Already while we were conversing with Miss Clement our driver had been spirited from the box and one of the enemy mounted in his place. In the rush of my review I recalled that in hurrying Evelyn into the brougham, anxious to be started and away, I had not cast even so much as a glance towards the man in front. At first, in our absorption, and later behind lowered silken shades, we had made no effort to trace our course. Hence our present location was maddeningly unguessable. We might be far on the East side or far on the West, or we might merely have circled back to within a block or less of the Mission from which we started.

All this, I say, flashed through my brain with inconceivable swiftness as I sat rigid, with eyes on the revolver barrel and the masked face of the shadowy, sinister creature that held it. All this, and more. For in that brief space I considered one possible course of action after another, groping desperately for a plan of rescue and escape.

In that passing second or two there had been no sound—no word from him at the door; no whisper even from her at my side, who, like myself, sat dumb and inert, stricken to stone by the suddenness of the attack. But for a second or two only this silence and inertia lasted.

That which ensued was coincident. As though the step had been prearranged, the three actors moved in concert. The hand which held the weapon advanced a dozen inches or more. Synchronously my foot, lifted with all the accuracy and power of my undergraduate football days, met the intruding revolver and sent it spinning against the cobbles upholstered top. Simultaneously, Evelyn screamed. And even as her voice rang out, high and shrill; even as that lethal object of chill-hardened steel spun upward, the light was switched suddenly off and we were in grumous darkness.

It was she who, pressing the button at her side, had dropped over us this mantle of invisibility no less obscuring than the fabled Hel Keplein; and it was she, too, who now opened the other door of the brougham, and with a murmured: "Come! Hurry!" drew me after her into the dread uncertainty of an environment of which we knew nothing.

The gloom without was scarcely less thick than that within. Of my five senses, therefore, all keenly alert, that or sight told me nothing; but my ears and nostrils, aided and abetted by my perception of sodden planking beneath my feet, informed me that we had alighted in a stable. The sound of pounding hoofs echoed from nearby stalls and unmistakable equine odors were strongly pervasive.

Upon my hearing there fell, too, as we fled, the high-pitched nasal cackle of excited and perplexed celestials, whose eyes, dazzled by the brougham's lamps, failed to follow us into that obscurity which lay in the wake of the conveyance, and through which, hand in hand, Evelyn and I crept crouchingly toward the street, our hearts hammering but our breathing smothered lest it betray our whereabouts and precipitate pursuit.

If in our fond fancy we expected an unimpeded way, however, our expectations were not realized. Where the darkness was densest there rose an obstruction. From out of the black a pair of arms encircled me—a pair of arms, long, sinewy and muscular, which tightened about me with a sudden vise-like pressure, holding me powerless. My hold of Evelyn's hand was thus abruptly sundered, and though she could not see, she sensed the encounter. Once more she screamed. High and shrill her young voice rose above the noise of the stamping horses and the quaintly strident chatter of the confused Mongolians. It was not so much a mere cry of affright as it was an appeal for help. And it met with surprisingly prompt response.

Before its echo had died, the double sliding doors which separated our stable dungeon from the sidewalk were swept swiftly apart, admitting the revealing gleam from a street lamp across the way, and admitting, too, the husky, commanding figure of a man with raised revolver, followed by a mob of neighborhood denizens attracted by the unusual and excited by the girl's penetrating vociferation.

Quickly as I had been seized, even more quickly was I released. The encircling arms fell away instantly, and the giant who had held me turned with an oath of defiance and confronted the invaders. In both oath and attitude there was a reminder of something heard and seen before; and treading upon the heels of reminder came recognition. It was Philetus Murphy, red and burly, who now towered menacingly above our armed savior. It was Philetus Murphy who, swinging viciously for his adversary's jaw, staggered back the same instant, his arm dropping and a bullet in his shoulder.

For a moment following the shot there was dead silence. Then came pandemonium. The mob, already augmented from a score to a hundred, surged into the stable as a spring flood surges over broken dams. With Evelyn in a corner behind me I fought off the crowding, bellowing throng, while Murphy lay groaning at our feet, and his assailant, who, when once his face met the light, I discovered was O'Hara, my own detective, smashed heads right and left with the butt of his revolver, and hoarsely commanded room for his fallen enemy.

What might have happened, what fatalities might have ensued, had it not been for the fortuitous arrival of three uniformed members of the metropolitan police force I shall not attempt to conjecture. Their clubs, I know, did good service; and a shot or two fired over the heads of the rioting crowd had a wonderfully pacifying effect.

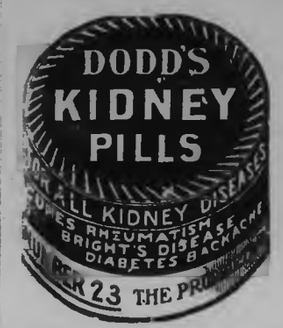
Poor Evelyn, in spite of an heroical-ly stubborn insistence to be courageous, was as thoroughly frightened as I have ever seen her. When, at length, the stable was cleared, and lamps were lighted, she was still pallid as marble, and her lip quivered with an obstinacy that no restraining teeth nor hiding hand could disguise.

"Oh! Wasn't it exciting!" she exclaimed, with an effort at nonchalance that was almost pathetic. "I wouldn't have missed this experience for anything in the world." And then, discovering a little trickle of blood on my cheek, which a diligently plied handkerchief had not fully succeeded in keeping out of sight, she was at once all solicitude. "Oh, Philip!" she cried with wide eyes, swimming. "You're hurt! It was awful. It was heathenish! I wish we had never dared—who did it? Do you know? Was it a knife cut? Was it—" And so she rattled on, her own ills swallowed up at length in her anxiety over my insignificant injury.

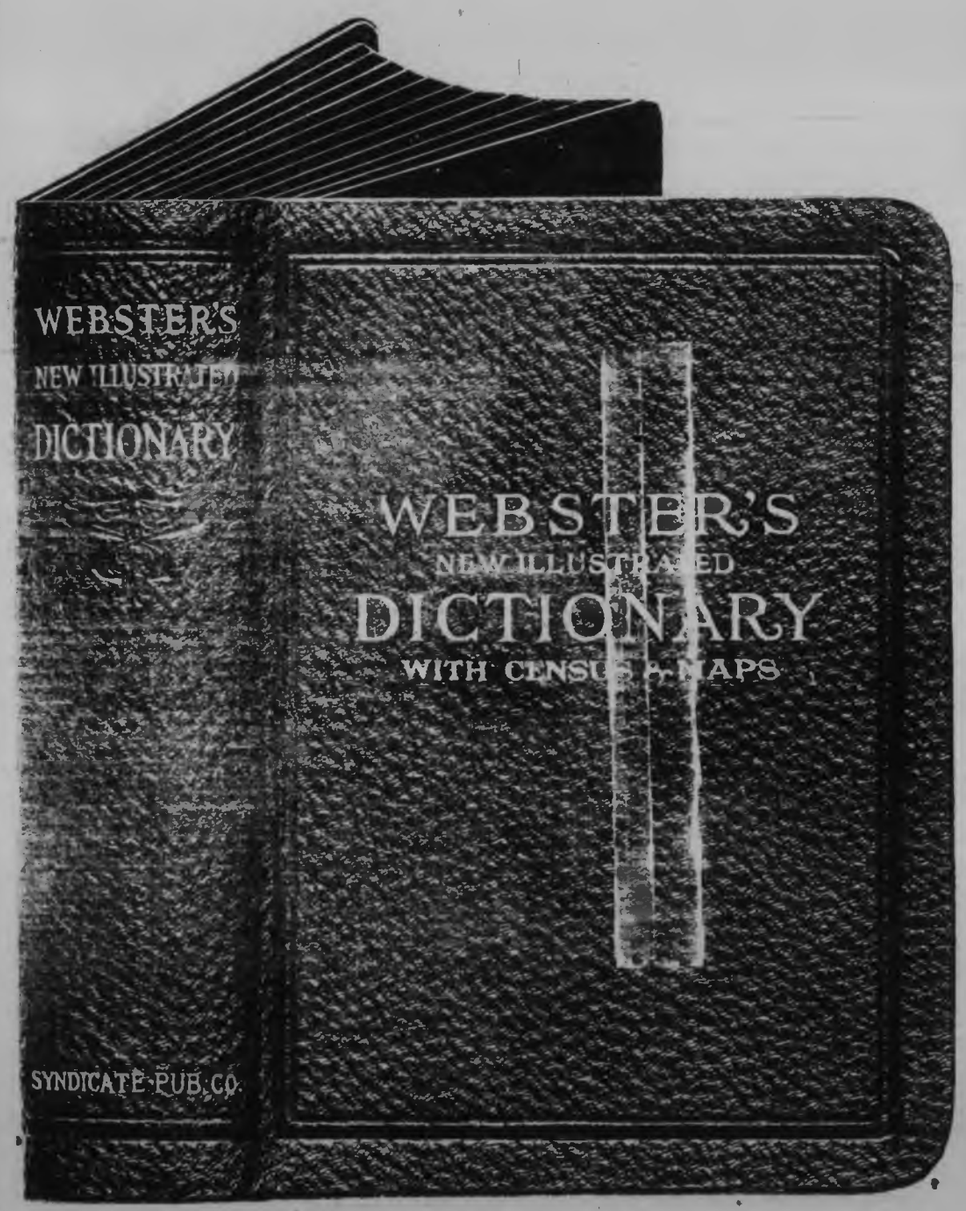
Murphy, meanwhile, had sunk into insensibility through loss of blood, and lay now, breathing stertorously. One of the officers had already telephoned for an ambulance and the other two were making a diligent search of the stable. As for the Chinamen, they had fled at the first alarm, and it looked very much as if every one in any way connected with the outrage, save only Murphy, had gone with them.

O'Hara, who had been put, nominally, under arrest, and who was now awaiting the pleasure of his captors, availed himself of the first moment of Evelyn's silence to address me.

"It's been a long chase," he said—and there was something of pride in his tone—"but you see I got him dead to rights at last. He's mixed up with the most lawless gang of highbinders New York has known for years. I haven't got down to all his history yet, but I've been handed a good stack of it, and it won't be hard to put the screws on him now for killing that Chink that used to work for Lin up to Cos Cob. I didn't know it was you he was after tonight, but I do know that he had a hand in the plot that fixed another Chink this very evening—a young fellow named Ling Fo, who was pumped full of lead just as he was turning from the Bowery into Pell street."



It was from O'Hara that I learned our present whereabouts. The stable was not more than a half dozen blocks from the intersection of the two streets he had just named.



The fate of our driver we could only conjecture. Before the policeman I laid the fear that they promised me that he should be found. And then, after half an hour's waiting, a substitute driver was secured from a neighboring garage, and Evelyn and I were permitted to continue our interrupted journey homeward.

At the Cameron house, as though our cup of excitement were not already filled to brimming, a fresh experience awaited us—an experience of such vital significance as to overturn entertained conclusions and shed a wholly new light upon our darkest perplexities.

WEDDING BELLS.

Hogg—Buck.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 9th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hogg, Hastings Road, when their only daughter, Gladys Winnifred became the charming bride of Thomas Henry Buck, also of Hastings Road. Among the numerous guests were friends from Toronto, Cannington, and Peterborough.

George St. Church Sewing Circle.

At the last meeting of the sewing circle of the George St. Methodist church, the wind up meeting for the season, the treasurer gave her report, showing a balance of $9.50 on hand. Two of the members, Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs. Hill, served refreshments, which were much enjoyed by all present. After a hearty vote of thanks to the hostesses, the meeting adjourned until October.

C.N.R. Line Postponed.

Mayor Bradburn has received a letter from Sir Donald Mann, of the C.N.R. which states that it is not the intention of the company to build into Peterborough this year. Operations are being concentrated on the Montreal to Vancouver line. "We hope," writes Sir Donald, "to have this finished by the middle of next year, when we will turn our attention to other lines, including the one to Peterborough."

Lieut.-Col. Rees to Speak.

Lieut.-Col. Rees, from Toronto, who is in charge of Salvation Army Social and Prison Gate Work, throughout the Dominion, will conduct special services at the S.A. Temple on Simcoe street at 8 o'clock to-night, by conducting an enrolment of Recruits as Salvation Army soldiers. To-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, he will conduct a dedication service. At 3 p.m. the Colonel will commission the Band and Songsters' Brigade. At 7 p.m. he will deliver a Salvation address.

Old Lindsay School Sold.

One of Lindsay's oldest buildings, a building which has been interwoven with the lives and ideals of thousands of Lindsay citizens, has passed out of the public control, and will probably be torn down at an early date. Many a man powerful later in his elected sphere, has received at least a portion of his impetus from his early training at the old school, or, previous to that, through his associations in the old Kirk of Scotland, which the building was until 1886. The building was erected in 1863.

The Prisoner's Peers.

Sam Steele, who was whitewashed by a "jury of his peers" on a beastly charge, that Judge Latchford openly stated had been proven, was released from custody yesterday morning. Steele, who comes from Chandos, and who, in appearance reminds one of the Darwinian theory, asked for accommodation in the County Jail until friends sent for him. The girl is thought to be dying. It is said that a warrant will be issued for the arrest of Benjamin Howell, said to be of Lindsay. If apprehended he will have to face a charge similar to that which was laid against Steele.

Gun Club's Annual Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club, held in the offices of Mr. Adam Hall, Simcoe street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—L. Hall.
Vice-President—W. M. Lang.
Captain—H. Cook.
Secretary-Treasurer—C. Wood.

Mr. C. E. McGaw was elected Hon. member.

The secretary reported the club's finances in good condition, with a substantial balance on hand, after an expenditure of about sixty dollars for an automatic trap and attachments last season.

A number of prizes have been contributed to be competed for during the coming summer.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Move Acids, Gases and Clogged-Up Waste From Stomach, Liver, Bowels—Cure Indigestion.

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowles. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

PUT TIP OF HIS NOSE SAFE INTO HIS MOUTH.

Berlin, April 10.—How a severed nose tip was speedily restored to its place is related by the Munich Medical Monthly.

A student, it is stated, had the tip of his nose clashed off in a duel. The wounded man coolly picked up the piece of flesh, and, placing it in his mouth, hurried to the hospital.

There he was complimented by the surgeons, who declared that the patient's procedure was scientifically correct, for the warmth of the mouth had prevented the cellular death of the severed organ.

The nose tip was duly washed, and there and then sewn on the student's face, and he departed smiling.

An Opportunity YOU Cannot Afford To Miss

A "Fair" Profit Without Speculation

As we have been endeavouring to explain—and with a large measure of success, judging from the number of applications for shares—the man who is in the position to invest a "medium" amount of cash is faced with two alternatives, either he must be content with 3 per cent. in a bank, or he must take the chance of losing all in some speculative investment.

Now this is not as it should be. The rich man can speculate in real estate and be CERTAIN of a profit — why not the "smaller" investor? Because he has not that absolute necessity for successful real estate speculation — a long purse. That is where WE come in—and where YOU come in.

This Company (you'll find the full name and address below) has been formed with a view to the grouping together, the gathering—the co-operation of many "small" real estate investors, so that, to use the old proverb "Union may give strength."

As one capitalist may invest with an absolute certainty of success, so may a COMPANY of "small" men—together as powerful as the capitalist—do likewise.

They are as strong, in their united capital, as ANY financier.

That's what we want you to grasp—to be interested—and to come to us with your enquiries.

Ask us anything you wish to know, from the name of the Company's lawyers and consulting surveyors to the future prospects for business. Why—our Notary is a Shareholder, and surely HE should know. OUR money is down, that's what WE think.

Do you remember what we said in our last advt.? There is a subdivision going on the market immediately which ALONE will make sure of a good dividend this year — and that's only one of the good things.

Now don't delay too long until all the shares are subscribed. It's the best and safest thing you've ever heard of. Write NOW, at once, while you've time.

Let us tell you EVERYTHING, you can still please yourself, and you will thank us for giving you such an opportunity.

The prisoner was committed for trial.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BELGIUM

To Enforce Granting of Manhood Suffrage.

Brussels, April 11.—The last hope of the Socialists of intervention of the King to prevent the great general strike, called to enforce the granting by the Government of manhood suffrage, now appears to have disappeared. It is pointed out that such action in the existing circumstances would be unconstitutional and would be regarded by the clericals as a coup d'etat.

"VIOLENT" CURE FOR DRUG HABIT.

Philadelphia, April 10. After experiments which have been carried on secretly for nine months physicians at the Hahnemann Hospital have announced a cure for the most confirmed users of morphine, cocaine and other drugs which is effective within 24 hours. The new cure has been tried on the most confirmed and apparently hopeless cases obtainable at the hospital with wonderful success.

The cure, which is also effective for alcoholic victims, is a violent one, but absolutely safe and positive, according to the physicians. It is an elaboration of an old idea to rid the victim's system of every vestige of the drug which he has used.

HOW AMERICAN WOMEN MAY KEEP FACES YOUNG

"The American smart woman ages early, far earlier than the English woman," says Christian Miller, F.C.I., the famous English health expert. She adds that our climate "so exhilarates that you over-exert yourselves and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and withered looking and soon forms wrinkles.

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure mercolized wax, which causes the faded, lifeless cuticle to flake off in minute particles a little each day, until the fresh, young skin beneath is wholly in evidence. Every druggist has this wax; one ounce is sufficient. Spread on at night like cold cream, washing it off next morning.

For wrinkles, dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel; bathe the face in this. Immediately every wrinkle is affected, even the deeper lines. Both treatments are remarkable facial rejuvenators.

VOL. XL, NO. 87. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1913 PRICE, TWO CENTS.

MAY VOTE CLOSURE TO-DAY LIBERALS LIKELY TO GIVE UP

They Have Gained Nothing on The Debate--Hope Against Hope

Ottawa, April 12.—It was stated this morning at Conservative headquarters on Parliament Hill that a vote upon the closure resolution might be reached as early as Tuesday night. This is upon the assumption that the Liberals will not obstruct the measure.

Hon. Frank Oliver, Hon. William Pugsley and Dr. Clark of Red Deer, will be among the speakers in opposition to the closure, and it is quite likely that the prime minister will avail himself of his privilege to close the debate.

It is now generally conceded that the Liberals made a mistake in not walking out of the Chamber in a body when Sir Wilfrid was prevented from speaking and all amendments cut off by the clever team play of Mr. Northrup and Hon. J. D. Hazen.

They have gained nothing by the debate carried on since. Here and there you may find an optimistic Liberal, who hopes against hope that the fertile brain of Mr. Pugsley will find a weak joint in the closely woven network of steel which now encompasses the opposition, but generally speaking, everyone here is of the opinion that the fight in the house is at an end

GERMAN FINANCE BILL PASSED FIRST READING

Berlin, April 12.—The German Imperial Parliament yesterday passed the first reading of the financial bill providing for the increased expenditure on the army.

The measure calls for the expenditure of $250,000,000 and this will be covered by a non-recurrent tax amounting to $240,000,000 or $250,000,000, spread over two years, and a permanent yearly increase in taxation of from $45,000,000 to $47,000,000.

The entire question of the increase in the army is now transferred to the committee.

GRAVE SITUATION DEVLOPEED IN BELGIUM THROUGH STRIKE

All Workers in Kingdom to Lay Down Their Tools To-Day

Charleroi, Belgium, April 12.—Billboards all over the city have been covered to-day with great red posters, on which is printed the Socialist call to the workmen to strike for manhood suffrage by laying down their tools on Monday, when it is expected that from 300,000 to 400,000 men will quit their work.

The placards are printed in large type and point out to the workingmen:

"This is a strike of folded arms and not of raised fists. Respect the liberty of those who wish to work and the authorities will also respect in like manner the freedom of those who wish to cease work."

Complete passiveness is urged upon the strikers by the Socialist unions which tell them that "injury done to our opponents is injury done to our cause."

Government posters have been hung by the side of the Socialist placards, and these quote in full article 310 of the penal code respecting those interfering with the right to work, and calling attention to the penalties inflicted by the law for any infringement.

Situation is Grave.

Brussels, April 12. Premier de Broqueville, speaking to the journalists did not disguise the gravity of the general strike situation.

He said he believed the strike is being promoted principally by secondary labor leaders, who hope for promotion through it at the expense of M. Vandervelde and other eminent labor leaders, who always had disapproved of a general strike, believing that manhood suffrage was bound to come if the workmen had only a little patience.

The premier said he hoped the strike would be a peaceful one, as had been announced. The spectacle of the labor party calmly and dignifiedly demonstrating its strength and discipline could not fail to make an impression upon the nation. The premier said, however, that he had made every preparation to stop disturbances and defend the freedom of labor.

M. De Broqueville reaffirmed that the government's position is that the vital question of the moment was national defence and said it declined to submit to threats and abandon its stand in favor of a discussion of the constitutional revision.

WOMAN ROCKED HER DEAD BABY

Refused to Believe That Life Had Ebbed—Father Said to Have Refused to Call Doctor.

Hamilton, April 12.—Coroner Hopkins found a pathetic case to-day when, on the advice of neighbours, he went to the house of Mrs. George Kemp, King William street, and found the mother crooning over her infant which had been dead some time.

She refused to believe it when the doctor gently broke the news to her, but continued to rock and sob her grief. The authorities have ordered an inquest. It is alleged the father was told to get a doctor, but did not do so.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Generally fine with showers in some localities.

TITANIC DISASTER

ONE YEAR AGO TO-DAY

SISTER SHIP TO SS. TITANIC.

To-day is the anniversary of one of the most horrible marine catastrophies on record, the day when the largest steamship in the world, the leviathian Titanic, sank with 1635 souls aboard. It will be remembered that this grand and brand new floating palace, owned by the White Star Co., whilst running at full speed, in a desire to break all records, ran into an iceberg of the Banks of Newfoundland. Among the passengers were such noted men as John Jacob Astor, whose body was afterwards recovered in a position denoting that he was seated when death came; J. Bruce Ismay, a director of the owning company, afterwards whitewashed by the English courts; Benj. Guggenheim, worth $95,000,000; G. D. Widener, traction magnate, worth $5,000,000, and Mr. Charles M. Hayes, president of the G.T.R., who lost his life, and many others.

ENGLISH VIEW DEMOCRATIC WITH VERY OPTOMISTIC EYES

Europe Expects Its Trade With America Will be Considerably Increased by New Legislation

New York, April 13. The London correspondent of the Evening Post cables the following comment on the financial conditions:

Influences bearing on the stock exchange and money market outlook are considered here to be evenly balanced. A portion of the outside public is showing a disposition to take a hand in the market; consequently definite announcement of peace may spell a rapid rise in prices and also emphasize the returning ease of money. The best financial quarters are possibly over-cautious, but are at any rate disinclined to trust a movement very far in either direction.

It is thought here that the price at which your new Pennsylvania stock and St. Paul bonds are issued marks a new epoch in American railroad borrowing, which recognizes that a higher yield is now required by the investor, as a result of the operation of economic forces like the rise in the cost of living and the enormous demands on capital. Only incidental participations in the St. Paul issue have been invited from here, which is considered a tactical error, because the definite assignment of a portion of the issue in sterling form would have attracted the English investor more, and would have paved the way towards general revival of English interest in the high-grade investment portion of American securities.

The New Tariff.

In its general outline and principle the new tariff bill is regarded here as a sound measure. The Economist calls it the heaviest blow made against the high protection system in general since the British legislation of Sir Robert Peel in the forties.

BLIZZARD SWEEPS ENGLAND, 8 HOURS, SNOW INCHES DEEP

New York, April 12. A cable to the Tribune from London says: Winter has returned to terrify April and yesterday a large part of England was swept by a blizzard which in some districts lasted over ten hours, and brought several inches of snow. In London, during the afternoon snow fell for some time, but, fortunately, it melted as soon as it touched the ground. Almost the whole day was rainy.

Elsewhere conditions were far worse. In the Derbyshire Peak district a snowstorm raged over ten hours, growing heavier hour by hour. Several inches fell in dales and upon hills. The fall was very heavy around Doncaster and in West Ring.

Snow fell all day in Scotland and especially along the western seaboard the fall was very severe. Starting at 7 o'clock in the morning, snow fell without intermission all day and was still falling late last night. The storm will be destructive to young lambs on the hill farms, and heavy losses are expected.

MR. BORDEN—"I haven-t time to fight with you every time you get peevish."

A BAD PRECEDENT

The action of the Roman Catholic Church in fencing in and occupying a public street in the city cannot be permitted. If this were allowed every other church may reasonably claim the right to do the same thing. The local papers make no protest against the grab, or has the Council taken any action to protect the public in this matter. This is hardly what we should expect from that body, which only too quickly interferes in the passing of a useless street over to a well known manufacturing concern, on a leasehold basis. The Catholic Church not only has fenced in the highway between Macdonnell and London streets, but has erected a building thereon, showing its intention to hold the property permanently. It may be said in extenuation that the street in question is of little use as a public thoroughfare, and that the building erected thereon is a charitable institution. This should make no difference. The City Council or the ratepayers cannot for a moment afford to set up a precedent of this kind. It would lead to serious trouble in the future. No institution, be it Protestant or Catholic, can be allowed to "swipe" a whole street in the good city of Peterborough and get away with it.

LOCAL CHILD WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

As the three year old girl of Mr. and Mrs. William Huffman, of 340 Queen street was leaning over the upstairs iron balcony in front of the family residence, the iron gave way, and hung suspended from the woodwork. The little one was hurled to the cement pavement below. In her fall a full storey, the little one turned in midair and alighted on her hip. Mr. McClellan was called in. No bones were broken, but it is feared that the child's spine is injured. This accident is particularly distressing, as the little one's father recently had a foot amputated as a result of a railway accident.

SWEDISH PRINCE FOR ALBANIAN THRONE

European Powers Favor Second Son of King Gustave of Sweden.

Vienna, Austria, April 12.—The candidature of Prince William of Sweden, second son of King Gustave for the Albanian throne is favored by the European Powers, belonging to the Triple Alliance—Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy—according to The Neue Freie Presse.

STREET CAR SERVICE RESUMED IN BUFFALO

All Soldiers Are Now Withdrawn From Strike Duty.

Buffalo, April 12.—With the signing of the order by Justice Brown of the supreme court on Saturday morning the withdrawal of the 3000 state militia of the fourth brigade, N.Y. N.G., from duty in connection with the strike of the car men of the International Railway Company, Brigadier-General Welch perfected arrangements for the prompt return of the companies to their respective stations.

Street car service on regular schedules was resumed on all city and suburban lines to-day.

EDITOR OF LONDON STANDARD GREATLY ANNOYED THE MILITANTS

Windows of "Standard" Building Smashed Through Reference to Mrs. Pankhurst

London, April 12.—Suffragettes attacked the Standard Building, in Shoe Lane, and two plate glass windows in the timekeeper's office were broken.

The timekeeper states that he was standing by his desk when he suddenly heard two loud reports. Then a shower of glass flew about his head. Turning to the windows about four feet from where he was standing, he saw that both panes, each about 48 inches, by 18 inches of the plate glass were broken.

A woman admitted that she had broken the windows, "because of your reference to our leader, Mrs. Pankhurst."

The Standard expressed approval of the sentence passed on the militant leader, denounced the campaign of reprisal threatened by the militants, and contended that the present intolerable situation must be terminated by breaking up the militant movement.

TURKS BUTCHER MANY CHRISTAINS

Athens, Greece, April 12.—A body of Turks coming from the coast of Asia Minor yesterday, massacred the Christians among the inhabitants on the Island of Kastelbryz, to the southeast of Rhodes, on the Asiatic coast, according to despatches received here during the night.

Details of the occurrence are still lacking.

FREIDMANN'S FIRST PATIENT DANCES BEFORE THE GOVERNOR

A Sixteen-Year-Old Girl Appears to Be Completely Cured of Tubercular Knees

Providence, April 12.—Sophie Berger, the 16 year old girl, who was Dr. Friedmann's first tuberculosis patient in the United States, danced before Governor Pothier to-day to show how her tubercular knees have benefitted from the turtle serum.

The girl went on crutches for three years. She is the niece of Dr. Ille Berger of this city. Governor Pothier and State Senator R. Livingston Beekman interested themselves in her case, with the result that she received the first injection of the serum on March 6. The second injection was given yesterday. Meanwhile the girl was able to dispense with crutches.

To-day she went to the State house with her uncle and Senator Beekman. Sophie shook hands heartily with the Governor and told him how much better she is.

"See," she said, "I don't have to use crutches. I can dance." Forthwith the girl tripped in buovant dance steps.

BOMB DISCOVERED IN "MOVIE" PICTURE THEATRE BASEMENT

Terrible Disaster Might Have Resulted But For Quick Action of Fireman

New York, April 12. A bomb thrown on the basement steps of a moving picture theatre on 14th street late last night was discovered just in the nick of time to prevent a panic and possible disaster to 2000 persons who crowded the theatre.

A fireman, detailed to the theatre, saw what he thought was a damp match sputtering at the foot of the stairs. He found it was the end of a fuse attached to a bomb. He pinched out the spark and summoned an agent of the bureau of combustibles, who placed the machine in water and after it was thoroughly soaked it was opened.

It was carefully constructed and contained a liquid which resembled nitro glycerine and a quantity of powder. The spectators at the moving picture show were kept in ignorance of the discovery.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaprilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 304 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

LOTS OF MOOSE

The Fraser Valley Has an Abundance of Big Game

Mr. John Egger, a well known trapper and homesteader, who made the journey from Tate Cache to Fort George in a dug out, reports that there are 25 moose to the square mile throughout the entire Fraser River Valley. Along the river the banks show innumerable runways which the deer use to get to water. Fort George, Mr. Egger states, is a rapidly growing town with every prospect of becoming the centre of its district. There is a population of 500 or 600 people there at the present time and more are coming in rapidly.

The Dog in Politics

An Italian paper has been collecting instances where dogs were used to influence politics or express the political feelings of their owners. We are told that in 1894, when bilingual teaching was imposed on Istria, dogs were painted black in sign of mourning; in 1897 a candidate for the town councillorship of Milan decorated his Newfoundland with a scroll inscribed: "Vote for the Socialist." The following year this was "imitated" in London, where numbers of dogs wore mantles on which were written "Vote for Chamberlain."

PLACE APPOINTED

Mistake in Posting Letter Proves Right Thing.

By HAROLD CARTER.

John Brett was in the seventh heaven of happiness on Saturday morning, and there were three distinct contributing causes. First, it was Saturday, and he did not have to go to work that day; second, his new suit had come home; third; and immeasurably greater, though in a measure bound up with reason two, he had received a letter from Georgia Gaines.

"Yes, I shall be in town Saturday, but only for a couple of hours," she wrote. "And then, perhaps, I shall answer the question you want to ask me—if you decide to ask it. I shall arrive about 10 o'clock, shall do my shopping at ——, shall expect you outside——"

Brett skimmed the letter hastily. Later he would read it at leisure, lingering over each letter of every word of that handwriting which always thrilled him, even before he had torn open the envelope. On such occasions the address—even the simple superscription, "John Brett, Esq.," overwhelmed him with emotion.

Reason two turned to gall and wormwood. The suit did not fit. It did not fit approximately. It might have fitted the Living Skeleton or made a passably good garment for the Elastic Man, but it was not built for John Brett. And there was no possibility of changing it.

"I'll take it to the circus—I'll give it to Marcelline, the clown," he soliloquized, when the first burst of anger had spent itself. "No, I won't, either. I feel so fine today—here, Bill!"

The janitor looked up from the yard at the man in the window.

"Here's a new suit for you," cried Brett, and flung the garments down to him. Then, after donning his ordinary attire, with a little sigh for a lost impression, he finished his breakfast and went downtown.

"Now, where are we to meet?" he asked himself a little later, and felt for the letter. His pockets were empty. Suddenly the appalling consciousness came to him that he had left the letter in the discarded suit.

He rushed back and summoned the janitor. "I've got to have the letter

"Postman, There's a Letter In There, Posted by Mistake."

The janitor looked sheepish. "Why, Mr. Brett," he stammered, "I—I haven't got it now. I let it go—"

"You sold it, you mean," cried Brett. "Where?"

"Why, Mr. Brett, I've had some dealings with Mr. Peterman's Misfit Parlors on Fourteenth street, and—"

John Brett waited not an instant but, hurrying out of the house, leaped aboard a moving car, and 15 minutes later found himself at his destination.

"You bought a suit this morning," he explained. "A brownish tweed. It—"

"Our purchases run to five dozen suits a morning, mister," said Mr. Peterman. "Among so many—"

"But surely you'll remember it," persisted Brett. "It had an important letter in the pocket. It was brought in by a colored janitor—"

"O, sure, I remember," said the proprietor affably. "That suit I just sold not three minutes ago to—say, young feller, you hurry down that street and you'll meet it walking away on a biggish man, but thin—"

"I bet he was thin," muttered John, hurrying out of the store.

He ran like a madman in the direction which Peterman had indicated, looked here and there and round the corners—then, to his indescribable joy he saw the very suit in question, hanging on—or draping, rather—the back of a tall, ascetic-looking man who was leaning against a street letter box. John Brett ran up to him.

"You've just bought that suit at Peterman's," he panted. "I want to get a letter out of the inside pocket. I—"

"Letter?" inquired the ascetic cheerlessly. "Why—I thought that was the letter my wife gave me to post. I'm sorry, but it's in that letter box. Better ask the postman." And he sauntered away, enveloped in the coat's voluminous folds.

John felt like murder, but at that very moment a postman stepped across the street, whistling briskly, and unlocked the box. John intervened.

"Postman," he said, "there's a letter in there posted by mistake. It's addressed to John Brett, in a slanting feminine hand. I want it back."

"You'll have to go to the postoffice department if you want it before it's delivered," the postman answered. "That'll take three days. You'll get it tonight if you go home and sit down and cool off a little."

"Does money talk?" inquired John, waving a ten-dollar bill in the air.

"Well, I ain't against free speech," answered the other, taking the bill and handing John the letter. He seized it, and then, so great was the reaction, he was unable to open it for several moments. At last he did so.

Inside was a communication from an unknown man. John made out signature with difficulty. Clo—Clo—Closefit! Then his senses reasserted themselves. It was the bill for the suit, which the tailor had enclosed in the inside pocket. And he must have left Georgia's letter at home after all!

There was no time to get it now—not the ghost of a chance that he could return within a half hour of the time, for he knew that Georgia must have made it 11:30 or 11:45. And it was 11:25 now. He tore the letter into a hundred pieces and then, very slowly, with down-hanging head, he walked down Fourteenth street.

He would go home, he would write to Georgia and tell her what an ass he had been—no, he would take the first train to her home and crave forgiveness. At the thought he swung round, nearly colliding with a young and attractive lady, and started in the direction of the terminal. But before he had gone three steps he felt a touch on his arm and looked around.

"Well, you are rude, running away from me like that!" she said petulantly. "I—"

"Georgia!" exclaimed John Brett. "Well, didn't you expect to meet me? Didn't you come here for that purpose? And didn't you get my letter appointing this place?"

"What place, Georgia?" John muttered.

"Why, this place," said Georgia sharply. "Peterman's Misfit Parlors. John, if you don't prove to me instantly that you haven't been drinking I may change my answer."

TRAMPING AROUND WORLD

"Flying Dutchman" Had Adventures In Many Lands

Arrested as a spy in two lands, attacked by brigands in another, thrown into icy northern waters from a canoe—these are a few of the adventures of Lieut. Nordwall, the "Flying Dutchman," who spent a few days resting in Montreal preparatory to the next lap of his walk around the world.

He walked forty thousand miles through all the countries of Europe, through the western United States through Alaska, and across the continent to Montreal. Thence his route lay to Boston and across the Atlantic to his home in Holland.

The big Dutchman's experiences would fill a book. He was set upon by bandits in Spain, and beaten nearly to death, and all his clothing taken from him. He was upset from a canoe in the Yukon river and had to swim to shore for his life, through swift rapids. Then his guide left him and, not knowing the dangers of the river, he ran all the rapids, including the Five Fingers, one of the worst on the Yukon. He was told it was a miracle he got through it.

He was arrested on all sorts of charges from blocking the streets (because of the crowds who followed him) to assaulting street car conductors.

He was arrested in Smyrna, suspected with being a spy. He had been travelling in Dutch costume, wooden shoes, etc., through Europe.

"In England and France," he said "they had me arrested for obstructing the sidewalk. In Turkey, however, they thought it was a disguise, and arrested me for a spy.

Lieut. Nordwall is about five feet nine inches in height, tanned a rich brown by his five years of life in the open air. He tramped not to win a wager, not to break records, but merely for the education of "walking around the world." He gave lectures to pay his expenses.

ADDING TO EXHIBIT

Interesting Additions to Specimens at Victoria Museum

Human bones shaped into instruments used by the Indians, most probably before the advent of the white man into North America, is the latest interesting and educating exhibit at the Victoria Museum, Ottawa. Arm bones have been whittled at the wrist end to a point, resembling a large spike nail. What these were made and used for is not known.

Another addition is the erection in a glass case of a pair of fine specimens of Arctic musk oxen, in the lobby. Twenty-five cases of archaeological specimens arrived recently from an old Indian village near Prescott.

Mr. Harlan I. Smith, who has charge of the antiquities department of the museum, states that Canada is rich in these classes of specimens. For instance, he said, from the township of Blandford, near Toronto, in a very short time 26 archaeological sites and five Indian burial places were found.

THOMAS W. LAWSON

the Boston financier. He declares that Stock Exchange gambling is the direct cause of the high cost of living, and advocates the closing of the exchanges.

BURIED TOO QUICKLY

Montreal's Health Officer Confident Many Tragedies Occur as a Result

That many people are buried alive in Montreal was the belief expressed by Dr. Louis Laberge, Medical Health Officer. This, he claimed, was because of the habit of quick burials. Many people are interred inside of twenty-four hours after they are pronounced dead, and there is no means of knowing whether or not they are in a state of lethargy.

He called attention to a case in point in Winnipeg and advocated that a law be passed to force the relatives of the deceased to wait until all possibility of the supposed dead person being alive is past.

The Bluejacket's Kerchief

It is not generally known that the bluejacket's black neckerchief, a survival of the service mourning for Nelson, is the best British silk obtainable, and that the Admiralty is a very fastidious customer. Two per man are issued annually, and many thousands of these discarded scarfs are subsequently worn by Jack's femininity. A pair of them make an excellent blouse.

Bagged a Bull Moose

A remarkable feat was accomplished in the woods some twenty miles north of Quebec by Miss Langelier, daughter of the Lieutenant-Governor of the province. The young lady, only eighteen and just out of the convent, shot and killed a magnificent bull moose while on a hunting trip with a party organized by Mr. Gustave Langelier, her cousin.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

With these timely press reports, how many of the (5000) barrels of whiskey washed away from Louisville will reach the gulf?

For nformation of the proposed suffragette club of Peterborough, we will say that the position of The Times on the issue of woman suffrage is that too many fools are voting now.

In expecting physiological impossibilities, human nature remains about the same. We still believe in elixirs of life and philosopher's stones; we call them curative serums and healing radiations.

It is officially announced that General Sung, the distinguished Chinese patroit, was assassinated by mistake for someone else. Let us hope that the announcement may serve as a balm to the general's outraged feelings.

With Germany's three years' notice, almost any one can get ready for the next Olympics. It will be noticed that in the tentative program fencing is made a main event, while golf, hockey, and horse contests are appended as "additional items."

Our friends the enemy can rest assured that the great Conservative party is willing to assume responsibility for the naval policy, and to accept praise or blame for the work they have undertaken in the interest of the Canadian people.

Some New York philanthropists propose to establish a large family farm where women employed in factories and offices can leave their children while they go to work. This is additional proof that modern industry is more important than babies and has a prior claim on mothers.

According to a despatch from Phoenix, Ariz., the chaplain of the state senate prayed that God might chasten newspapermen and "other busybodies," who, he declared, were stirring up strife between the two houses of the legislature. Talk about the drum ecclesiastic!

FOSTER IS RIGHT.

"Brought down to the final analysis you should do one thing or the other. Either do what is absolutely necessary to make your ports defensible against any power, or, if you are going to help the British navy, and save the British Empire, put your force where the British Admiralty wants it. They are the judges, they are the men whose views should guide us." Hon. George E. Foster

ONE SOLUTION.

The latest thing in the agricultural world is tillage by dynamite, which, according to the London News, has been successfully practised in several places in the south of England. Probaby someone will suggest that imprisoned suffragettes be placed in a labor colony where all the farm work can be done by dynamite, thus giving full scope to their (at present) misplaced energies.

FARM WAGES.

The money wages of farm labor of the United States increased about 3.2 per cent. during the past year and seven per cent. during the past two years. Since 1902 the increase has been about 34 per cent. Wages had an upward tendency during the seventies (considered on gold basis); they changed little during the eighties, and declined from 1892 to 1894, since which year they have been steadily tending upward. Wages are now about 53 per cent. higher than during the eighties, and about 66 per cent. higher than during the low year of 1894.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMAH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends Indigestion, Gas, Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth, and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

his elected sphere, has received at Mr. Fielding on the eve of sailing from England for Canada which country he sought so long and earnestly to make a mere "adjunct" of the United States,—is reported to have given out an interview in which he regretted that politics had been imported into the naval question. It might be well to ask who is responsible for that? The government's proposals did not contain the element of politics or party advantage. They were the first real effort to discharge a portion of the debt Canada owes the motherland, for the protection of Canadian rights and Canadian interests on the high seas. Politics were brought on when Laurier and his band of Separatists made the naval proposals a political football. These men are frankly adverse to any policy which will help old England. They wish Canada to drop "like the ripe fruit from the parent tree."

MAKES THEM SHIVER.

The new Wilson tariff causes a shudder of fright in industrial circles across the boundary. The Detroit Free Press sees "ruin" for some of the manufacturing firms that have enjoyed surplus protection. It is moved to utter the following lamentation:

"In Michigan especially the outcome of the lamentable Republican quarrel of last year will be regarded gloomily.

"Our profitable sugar beet industry, located on the outposts of that domestic business and directly at the meeting-point of the beet and cane sugar markets, must be the first to feel the shock of the blow that has been delivered. Our sheep-growers will find it difficult to meet keener competition than their existing struggle imposes.

"Our farmers, wrathful over the reciprocity pact because it would open the door for imports of their produce from Canada alone, will shiver when they find themselves before an open door through which all the world may pour its farm crops.

"Our manufacturers must cut somewhere to adjust their business to serve foreign competition, and our wage-earners must tremble lest their incomes be reduced to the level of laborers abroad.

"Low duties may bring low prices. But what will it avail the consumer that prices are reduced if he has not the money to buy the cheaper goods? And how can the employer buy even bargain-price articles if he is not making profit from his business, or the employed if his wages are stopped?

"We must trust that in this experiment of pure theory the misgivings of the fearful will not be realized, but vivid recollections of a similar experiment 20 years ago are anything but re-assuring."

ENGINEER'S WAGES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Kindly publish through the columns of your valuable paper who the engineers are on the dredges in the vicinity of Peterborough, and their salaries, and oblige.

One Interested.

Peterborough, April 10.

Reply.—From enquiries made at the Superintendent's office, we learn that the engineers on the dredges are only employed by the season. Salaries run from $85 to $100 a month for 12 hours daily. Last summer, the engineers employed were John Martin on dredge Fenelon, $90; John Smith, on Conroy's dredge, $90; John Larkin, on Little Lake dredge, $100. The only engineer employed so far this season is George Spilsbury, on dredge Fenelon, now at Lakefield, $90 a month.—Ed. Times.

LAURIER NOT HOWLED DOWN

Interesting Letter on the Subject From Mr. J. H. Burnham M. P.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, The statement in The Globe that Sir Wilfrid was howled down by the Conservatives is not true. The rule of which the Government took advantage was put in the Rules by Sir Wilfrid himself a few years ago. If the "question" had not been moved by Mr. Hazen, and Sir Wilfrid had been allowed to put in an amendment, it would have been possible to block the closure with amendments. There was great sympathy for Sir Wilfrid, but it could not be helped, and when a few minutes afterwards (just 1¼ minutes) he arose to speak he was accorded a most respectful hearing. We surely cannot be blamed for taking advantage of Sir Wilfrid's own pet rule put into the procedure by himself. It was put there, as everybody connected with public affairs knows, to head off blocking, and it did. There is never the slightest disposition to be disrespectful to Sir Wilfrid—quite the contrary. We all recognize in him the great leader of a great party, and a man worthy of his position.

The Quiet of the East

Writing of the rush and turmoil of city life in the Occident, a Japanese woman, Madame Osaki, says:

"What room was there for the love of the sunlit heaven, the song of birds, the leisurely cultivation of a favorite flower, or the reposeful enjoyment of friends and of nature? As I gazed at the men and women rushing past me, I felt that the simple-lived Japanese, in his one-storied house and bamboo-fenced garden, watching for the first plum blossom in the moonlight, or tending his little pot of morning glories at summer dawns knew more of the secret of happiness and contentment than many a millionaire in his palace home."

SCHOOLBOY KNOWLEDGE

Even after ten years of Canadian publicity in Great Britain it is surprising just how little the British public know of the true conditions of life in Canada. This being the case, it comes less of a shock to read the questions and answers that were asked a seventh standard boy at Norwich Norfolk, England. They are as follows:

"You have learned a good deal of geography?"—"Yes, sir."

"What do you know about India?"—"It's a very hot country, sir."

"And the Ganges?"—"A big river, sir."

"Anything about it?"—"It has many mouths, called a delta."

"Have you ever heard of the Saskatchewan?"—"A little, sir."

"Where is it?"—"In India, sir."

"Do you know the difference between British Columbia and New Brunswick?"—"Yes, sir."

"What is it?"—"British Columbia is a very large place with a few houses in it, sir. New Brunswick is a place with a lot of houses."

"And where is New Brunswick?"—"Close to London, sir."

An Opportunity YOU Cannot Afford To Miss

A "Fair" Profit Without Speculation

As we have been endeavouring to explain—and with a large measure of success, judging from the number of applications for shares—the man who is in the position to invest a "medium" amount of cash is faced with two alternatives, either he must be content with 3 per cent. in a bank, or he must take the chance of losing all in some speculative investment.

Now this is not as it should be. The rich man can speculate in real estate and be CERTAIN of a profit — why not the "smaller" investor? Because he has not that absolute necessity for successful real estate speculation — a long purse. That is where WE come in—and where YOU come in.

This Company (you'll find the full name and address below) has been formed with a view to the grouping together, the gathering—the co-operation of many "small" real estate investors, so that, to use the old proverb "Union may give strength."

As one capitalist may invest with an absolute certainty of success, so may a COMPANY of "small" men—together as powerful as the capitalist—do likewise.

They are as strong, in their united capital, as ANY financier.

That's what we want you to grasp—to be interested—and to come to us with your enquiries.

Ask us anything you wish to know, from the name of the Company's lawyers and consulting surveyors to the future prospects for business. Why—our Notary is a Shareholder, and surely HE should know. OUR money is down, that's what WE think.

Do you remember what we said in our last advt.? There is a subdivision going on the market immediately which ALONE will make sure of a good dividend this year — and that's only one of the good things.

Now don't delay too long until all the shares are subscribed. It's the best and safest thing you've ever heard of. Write NOW, at once, while you've time.

Let us tell you EVERYTHING, you can still please yourself, and you will thank us for giving you such an opportunity.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L. 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16853½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co., Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.
$600.00 buys .....1000 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

SPORTING NEWS

BASEBALL.

Manager Stovall, of the Browns, has a new hard and fast rule. Henceforth he will not take any man who has had a previous trial with another big league and failed to make good.

Now that the champion Boston and New York teams have been downed on their own grounds on opening day there will be some excuse if the champion Toronto Leafs go down to defeat in the first encounter at Newark on Wednesday next.

The Minneapolis ball team has a small pox case in its midst, but the health authorities say there is no danger to the players, as none of them was ever known to catch anything. Pretty rough on the champions of the American Association.

The Tigers are said to have shown a total lack of ginger in the spring workouts. Which prompts the query "If the team doesn't possess such a quality in the beginning of the year, when the men are coltish after a winter layoff, what will it be like after the pennant season wears on?"

CRICKET.

The Guelph O.A.C. Cricket Club is open for dates on June 7th, 14th, and 28th, July 12th, 19th, August 2nd, 23rd and 30th. Also for Civic holiday or Labor Day.

LACROSSE.

Harvard lacrosse team has started on its southern trip. They played their first game with the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, on Saturday.

YACHTING.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Alexandra Yacht Club the Management Committee reported a very progressive program for the coming year. They also handed in the cancelled mortgage on a large beaten brass tray to Commodore Scott, who applied a match, and as the document burst into flames three rousing cheers were given for the future success of the A.Y.C.

AUTO RACING.

Indianapolis, April 12.—Miss Vivian Prescott, who announced in Philadelphia that she had been granted permission to drive a car in the 500-mile race at the speedway here next month, will not be permitted to enter the gruelling contest, according to an announcement of the speedway management to-day.

LAWN BOWLING.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Guelph Lawn Bowling Club, which was held at the Canadian Cafe proved to be a most enjoyable affair and was very largely attended by the members. The financial condition of the club was reported to be very healthy and prospects are exceptionally bright for a successful season during the coming summer. The following officers were elected for 1913:

Hon. President, Jos. O. Rose; hon-vice-pres., W. A. McLaren, president, R. Mahoney; vice-pres., Ald. R. H. Brydon; sec'y-Treas., E. H. Johns; assistant sec'y-treas., Geo. Chapman.

CINDER TRACK.

New York, April 13.—There promises to be an invasion of England by American Professional runners this year. William Queal, who is considered one of the champions on this side of the water, has already made a match with George Dinning, the English professional, who beat him in the last Powder Hall fifteen mile race, for a ten mile race at Edinburgh at $1,000 a side. William Kolehmainen, the Finn runner, who recently joined American ranks, will sail later to compete in a half mile handicap at Cardiff, Wales, for one of the richest purses ever offered at this distance. Harvey Cohn has also arranged to compete, and Hans Holmer will also appear this season in English races.

TURF.

New York, April 13.—Official sanction for the three horse race meetings on New York State tracks this summer that were agreed upon by the track managers, several days ago as an experiment in renewal of the sport, was granted at yesterday's meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club. The dates sanctioned are May 30 to July 5 at Belmont Park, from July 7 to July 31 at the Jamaica course, and August 2 to 31 at Saratoga.

RING.

San Francisco, April 12.—Jack Lester, the Washington heavyweight offered to the public two years ago by Tommy Burns, was introduced to an audience of San Francisco fight followers for the first time on Friday night, when he stepped into the ring to meet Al. Kaufmann, the local blacksmith, in a four-round bout. Jimmy Howard, the Chicago middleweight is scheduled to meet Willie Meehan of San Francisco.

Windsor Man Thinks Foul Language on the Increase—"Polite Cussing" Not Now Tolerated

Dr. James Samson, of Windsor, Ontario, speaking of the language heard on street cars between Wilson and Tecumseh, declares that "a half hour on a late car crossed in savage hideousness any other that I can recall in my entire life." He calls it a "damnable state of affairs" and goes on to say that "for brutal coarseness vulgarity, blasphemy, drunken lewd ribald songs, filthy language, and licentious conduct, no place this side of Hades could have furnished a more disgraceful exhibit."

The protest made by this physician recalls the fact that a Halifax man died recently who made it his business to campaign against bad language. He wrote hundreds of letters to the press calling attention to the evils of blasphemy. And a great many people described him as a crank, and alleged that he did not know what he was talking about. His crusade, they said, was unjustified, because unnecessary. Bad language, they were sure, was less frequently heard than when they were boys.

In a measure that is so. In many quarters it used to be the "correct thing" to swear, just as it used to be the "correct thing" to drink. But like the every-day beer on the Englishman's table, the indulgence was mild in its form. It was unnecessary but hardly intemperance. Fewer people may now days say "damn" when they prick their fingers, but there is a type of ribald swearing which shows no signs of diminishment.

CHANGES AT OTTAWA

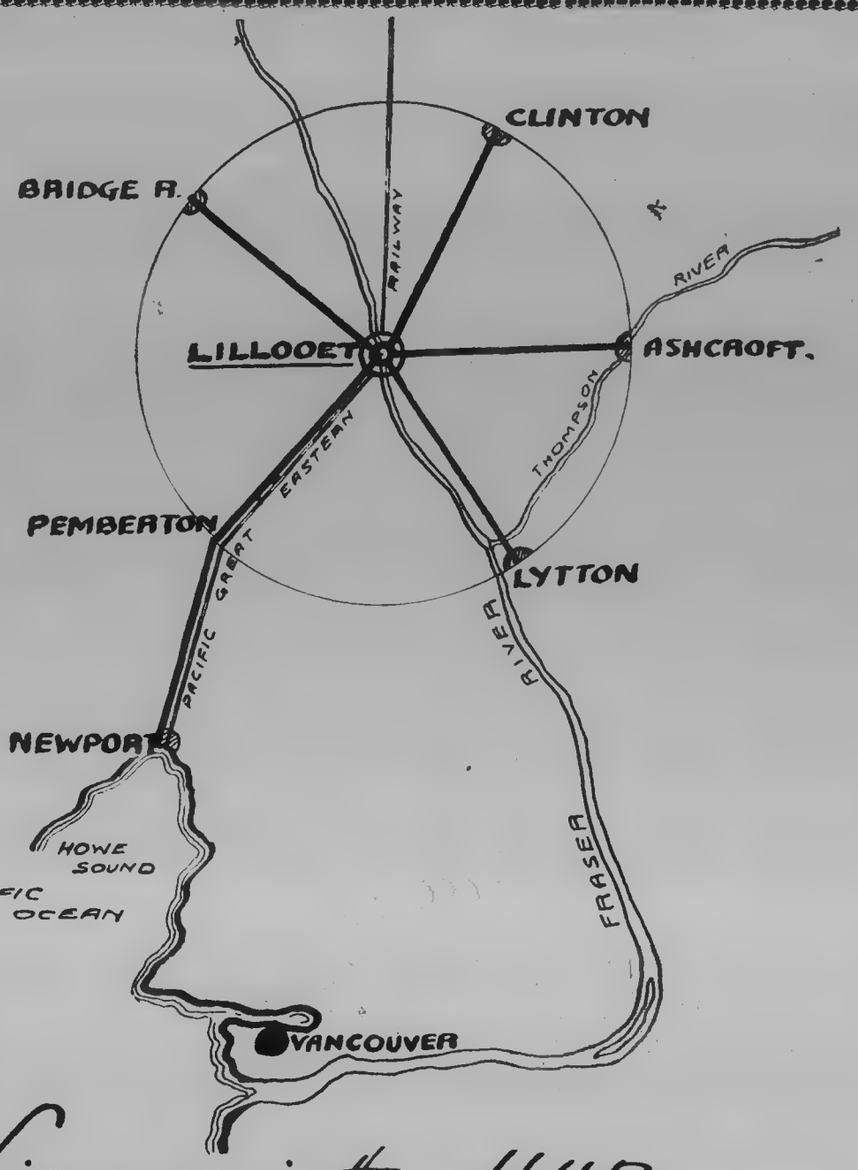
Fire Alarm Installed in Parliament Buildings

Hereafter the House of Commons at Ottawa will have its own fire alarm. In all the years that are gone there has been no fire alarm. There have been little extinguishers stationed here and there, and at intervals the member traversing the corridors has come upon lengths of sinuous rubber hose coiled in snake-like piles.

The new alarm will ring in the lobby not far from the main entrance, and is connected with a dozen different points throughout the building, being also connected with the city fire department.

The old Commons chamber has also undergone a change. It is still the Green Chamber, but not so light a green. The ancient panels with the somewhat startling borders in black and gold were removed, and the walls tinted instead. Moreover, there has been some artistic padding done in the region of the ceiling to improve the acoustics.

Fruit Salad



Soak half a box of gelatin in a generous pint of water, add the juice of two lemons and two cups of sugar. Bring to a boil and strain. When cold pour over two sliced oranges, two bananas, half a cup of cherries, half cup of English walnut meats as nearly whole as possible. Stand on the ice until it sets. Serve with whipped cream.

Removing Grease Spots

To remove grease from a light blue serge dampen a circle just outside the spot with turpentine and continue wetting until the center of the spot is reached. Never begin from the center of the spot or a ring will be left after the spot is out. When the place is saturated, put a piece of blotting paper under the material and another over it and press with a warm iron until the spot is gone.

Fat on Soup

When one has not time to let the fat on soup cool and harden, the skimming can be done very quickly by thoroughly with an ordinary kitchen ladle. Pass the ladle very close and firmly into the soup until one side of the rim is barely below the surface and the floating fat will run into [illegible] begining the ladle very near the surface [illegible] and almost [illegible]

HOW TO MAKE RAIN

Dynamite in Large Quantities Necessary to Produce Results

Successful experiments in rain-making were tried at Battle Creek, Michigan, where 4,500 pounds of dynamite were exploded, in 1,500 shots, and a downpour of rain followed, without wind, thunder or lightning.

There was a firing station every one-eighth mile. The dynamite was laid on the ground in 3 pound charges and exploded every few minutes at each of the fifteen stations. The battle started at 10.30 in the morning and continued until 3.30 in the afternoon. The detonations could be heard for a distance of 20 miles.

About 1.30 a slight precipitation was noticed, but this was more like a mist than a rain. When the firing ceased, the sky was overcast with clouds. About 4.30 the rain began to fall and continued in showers until eight o'clock. the government rain gauge showed a fall of nearly half an inch—.44 being the official report.

SUFFRAGISTS DARN SOCKS

Show They Are Good Housewives as Well as Politicians

Minnesota suffragists decided upon a measure whereby they hoped to counteract the impression that women who long for the ballot are not good housewives.

At the State Fair they maintained a booth where men, single or married might have their socks darned. Having chosen the darning needle as their emblem, the following war cry was adopted:—

Darn the Government, darn the socks
That's the way to the ballot box.
Patch the holes in hubby's hose.
March to the polls and voice our woes

Long Engagements

Young ladies in Russia are not at all averse to long engagements, and use all sorts of artifices to save off the wedding day as long as possible, but in no country in the world are courtships so abnormally long as in Bohemia, where engagements commonly last from fifteen to twenty years. In fact, there recently died there, at the age of ninety-nine an old man who had been courting for seventy-five years, and who was married on his death-bed.

To Remove Mildew

To take out mildew, moisten the mildewed spot with clear water, then spread over it a thick coating of castile or other good white soap and powdered chalk. Let stand an hour, then wash off. Sometimes one application suffices; but if not, repeat once or twice.

BIRCH BARK CLOTHING

Port Arthur Finlander Sets a New Fashion in Men's Apparel

The latest novelty in men's wear consists of a coat constructed of birch bark. The coat was worn by a Finlander who passed along the thoroughfares of Port Arthur, Ont., seemingly unconscious of the curiosity aroused by his novel upper covering.

The material was strips of the inner bark about an inch wide and of indeterminate lengths. These strips were interwoven after the manner in which a basket is made, but were shaped to the form of the body.

From the neck, part of the strips were carried down to the shoulders and continued to the wrist for the arms. The strips were woven diagonally down the front and back and turning up at the bottom of the coat were carried on the same plan up to the collar thus forming what tailors call a self-lining.

The coat was made double breasted held together by hooks and strings. The only part of the garment that was not knitted together was that under the arms, where strings were used to form the union. The reason for this probably was to make the arms more pliable, for while the coat was not exactly board-stiff it was not what one could truthfully designate as wholly pliable.

Fellow countrymen who accompanied the Finlander said that three hundred feet of birch bark strips were used in the construction of the coat and that it took three days' time to complete the garment.

Fritter Batter

The general rule for fritter batter is as follows: Put one-quarter teaspoonful of salt into one cup of flour, beat the yolks of two eggs and add to them gradually half a cup of milk. Stir this slowly into the flour, beating until smooth. Add a tablespoonful of melted butter and stand aside for an hour or two.

If the weather is cold the batter can be made over night. In fact it will be improved by long standing.

Spiced Roast Mutton

Take any cut of young mutton suitable for roasting and prepare as follows: Rub well with a teaspoonful of salt, an even teaspoonful of pepper and place in an iron baking pan with six whole cloves, one dozen whole allspice, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, a third of a pint of water. Cover with another pan and bake in a moderate oven until half an hour before serving, then increase the oven heat and let it brown quickly. Baste often and add a little more water if needed.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree, where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the bowl of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman found drifting helplessly in a boat. He gives the name of Johnson. Cameron disappears from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature, who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anaesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries: "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde call on Miss Clement for promised information and find that the Chinaman who was to give it has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read it after he leaves the mission and then destroy it. It tells of the abduction of a white man by Chinese who shipped him back to China. The man is accused of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha" in which 100 Chinamen were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they supposed they had shipped to China throws consternation into the Chinese. The brougham in which Clyde and Evelyn are riding is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is seized by Murphy and a fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde are rescued by the police and return home.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Scuttled Ship.

Checkabeedy met us in the hall—an unusually agitated Checkabeedy, with his full-jowled, rubicund face ruddy beyond the common, and his tiny gray eyes twinkling like twin star sapphires.

Our adventure, thrilling as it had been, was subjugated, if not indeed for the moment forgotten, in the presence of this unwonted suscitation. For the butler's aplomb was a sort of family fixture which nothing short of the most extraordinary happening could either unsettle or upheave. To find him in such case, therefore, argued either cognizance of exceptional developments or possession of monstrously important tidings; and at sight of him we both paused in mute expectancy.

"There is a person, sir," he began, making vain effort to control his voice to dispassion, "a foreign person—what is called a Chinee, I think, sir—in the reception room. If I understand him, sir, he is a consul or something like that. And he has brought with him a tall, thin, elderly man, as yellow as himself, sir. I was in doubt about allowing them to wait, but they told me they must see you, sir, tonight without fail; that it was a matter to your interest, sir. They have been here over an hour, now, and I have never taken my eye off the reception-room door. Seeing as how those mysterious things happened at Craghoit, sir, I was fearful lest something more of the same sort might be contemplated. And poor Mr. Cameron lying up there with that nurse, Bryan, who, between you and me, sir, I don't trust, nohow."

Evelyn was scarcely to be blamed for a trepidation equaling, if not surpassing, Checkabeedy's.

"Don't see them, Philip," she urged with nervous vehemence. "Please don't see them! It is some trick. I feel it is. Checkabeedy will see them out of the house at once. Won't you, Checkabeedy?"

But I was in far different mood. Of late matters had been shaping themselves, apparently, towards a climax. In a quiet way, avoiding the spectacularly aggressive, and aided not a little by chance, we had drawn nearer and nearer to the veil which hid the truth. If there had come to me now the opportunity for another step, it must not be disregarded. My whole inclination was to welcome it. Therefore I smiled, reassuringly, at Evelyn, as I said:

"Really, my dear girl, you are unnecessarily alarmed. There is not—cannot be, in fact—the slightest possibility of danger. On the contrary their visit, whoever they may be, is in all likelihood pacific. But if it would make you any less uneasy, Mr. Checkabeedy shall wait near the open door, and you yourself shall stop within the hall, where you can practically hear all that goes on."

That she yielded promptly to my argument, pretended, at least, to put aside her fears, and returning me smile for smile, confessed to a consuming curiosity which she had merely endeavored to disguise, was an episode as characteristic of her as any that I can remember.

On entering the reception-room—a somewhat formally furnished, square room, which jutted from the hall, on the left—I was mildly surprised to discover that one of my visitors was none other than the Chinese merchant, Yup Sing. At sight of me he rose and came a step forward, the same tall, spare, dignified Asiatic I had met in the Mott street warehouse, save that he no longer wore the dress of his country, but a dark, well-cut suit of American clothes.

"Permit me, Mr. Clyde," he said, in that chill leisurely tone I so well remembered, "to present to you the vice consul of China at New York, Mr. Chen Mok." And then I saw that his companion, a much shorter man than he and younger, had risen too, and was holding out a hand in tentative greeting.

My first impulse was to ignore the proffer, for of late I had come to abhor the race he represented, but on second thought I acceded to the most formal of hand-clasps.

"We are here," Yup Sing continued, "because we believe we have secured for you, Mr. Clyde, the explanation which you recently did me the honor to request of me. And because we are in hope that, through you, some agreement may be reached which will put an end to the present deplorable outbreak amongst certain of our people in this city."

Vice Consul Chen bowed gravely, and I, in my turn, gestured my visitors to resume their seats. So far I had not spoken, but mentally I had been busy. Frankly, I distrusted Yup Sing, and I questioned how much of his explanation, whatever it might be, I could afford to accept. Fortunately, however, I now had some basis for judgment. I felt that, so far as it went, the letter from Miss Clement could be relied upon absolutely. If the merchant's story coincided, then it would perhaps be safe to assume the correctness of added details. If it did not coincide, I was in possession of valuable material for cross-examination.

"I am an advocate of the policy of reciprocity, Mr. Yup," I said at length. "If, in return for your service, I can render a service to you, you have only to command me."

I chose a chair between them and the door, and sitting down assumed an attitude of attention.

"What I tell you," began the merchant, his body erect, his shoulders squared, his chin lifted, "Mr. Chen will verify." And once more Mr. Chen endorsed his friend's assertion by a grave forward sweep of his head.

"When you came to me, Mr. Clyde, with the story of your friend Mr. Cameron's annoyance and subsequent abduction, I was inclined to the view that you were, yourself, in some way deceived. What I have learned since, corroborates that impression. As you say here in America, your friend, Mr. Cameron, did not play fair with you."

Under ordinary circumstances I might possibly have permitted this assertion to go unchallenged. I am not as a rule truculent; more often than not I find it advisable to ignore preliminary inaccuracies of narration, the quicker to reach the vitals of the narrative. But on this night I was contrarily disposed. The inscrutable countenance and the superior, almost patronizing manner of the speaker chafed and irritated me to the verge of endurance; and so, without hesitation, I interrupted him with a contradiction.

"If all that you have learned is no more reliable than this corroboration," I declared, warmly, "we might as well end the interview here and now. Of Mr. Cameron's fairness at all times and under all circumstances there can be no question. He is my friend, tried and trusted, and incapable of deceit. On that I would stake everything I hold most dear; and we may as well have it clearly understood at the outset."

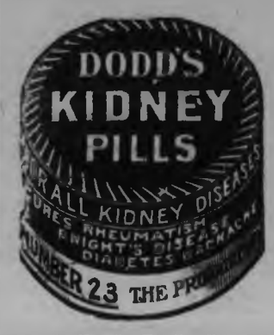
A white man would either have insisted or apologized. But the yellow man has a way of his own. Yup Sing remained silent until I had finished. But whether or not he heard me was manifested neither by word nor sign. Without change of facial expression or alteration of tone, he placidly proceeded, choosing his phrases with infinite care and rounding his periods with a faculty that for an Asiatic was little short of marvelous. Had he been any one else in the world I should have admired him. As it was, his cleverness only added to my aversion.

"There is a story," he went on, "a true story familiar to all Chinamen; to some Chinamen especially it is a very bitter, a very pathetic story, because it has to do with the passing of their kinsmen—their fathers, their brothers, and their sons. Death sometimes is glorious, as we all know. To die for one's country, or for one's honor, is to be privileged. To die of pestilence or famine is deplorable. But to die by treachery is to leave a poor legacy to those who follow—a legacy of unrest, until vengeance has been wrought."

He paused for just a moment and I moved impatiently. But if I thought to disconcert him by my action I was not rewarded.

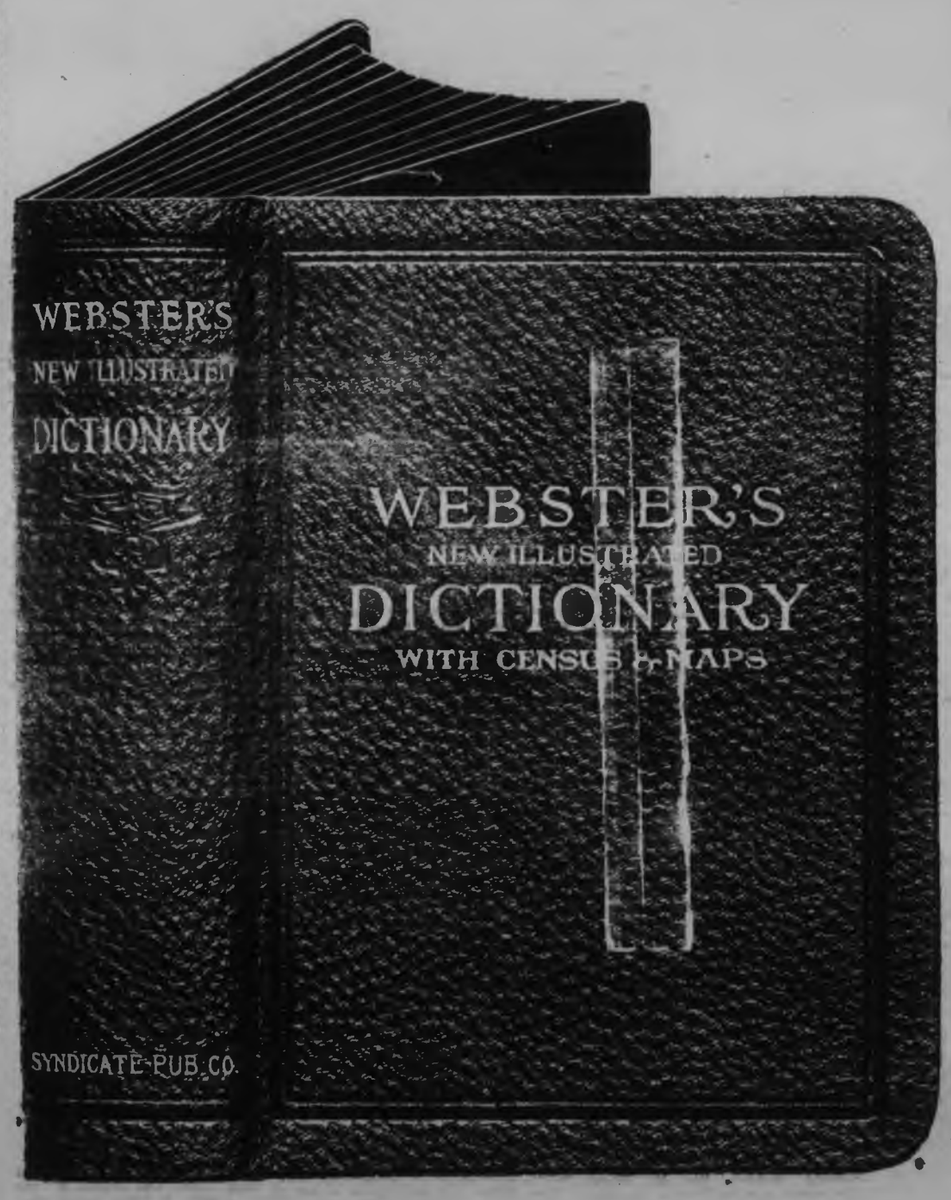
"It is possible, Mr. Clyde," he continued, "that you are familiar with the history of the trade in coolies between your country and mine?"

I nodded. "Yes," I answered, "passably familiar. I know that at one time it was black with outrages. I know that in 1882 a Chinese exclusion act was passed, and that in 1892 the Geary law followed."



"But you did not know, perhaps, that in spite of your laws, the smuggling of Chinamen—of Chinese laborers—into this country, has been almost continuously practiced?"

"It is quite possible, I dare say. I do not know the facts, however."



"The facts in a general way are not material," Yup Sing assured me. "But I shall inform you of a single specific case. Sixteen years ago there appeared in Canton a white man, supposedly a Scotchman, calling himself

A Boy's Narrow Escape.

On Saturday, a small boy about seven years of age, had an almost miraculous escape from serious injury. The lad coming from the Munro House yard, at noon, drawing a little express cart, did not see Mr. D. Porter's automobile also leaving the yard towards Hunter street. The front wheel of the modern juggernaut just caught the boy's foot, but was stopped before the foot was crushed beneath the immense weight.

Haliburton People Scared.

Minden Echo: Considerable uneasiness exists in the village over the shaky condition of Mud Lake Dam. This dam holds a head of 14 feet of water on Mud Lake, Spruce Lake, and Drag Lake, and has been considered hardly safe for years. The flood would make a sorry mess of Haliburton, as most people consider it would wipe out practically the whole main street and all below.

Monaghan Farm Sold.

On Saturday afternoon an important auction sale of farm property was held at the Munro House, by auctioneer W. J. Howden. The farm disposed of is situated in Lot 2, Con. 7, North Monaghan, about 8 miles from the city. It consisted of 200 acres. The purchaser was Mr. Rich Moncrief, whose farm adjoins, and the price paid amounted to $4,500.

Anglican Church Chimes.

Rev. R. A. Hiltz, M.A., of Toronto, the general secretary of the Sunday school work of the Church of England, in Canada, preached in St. Luke's yesterday morning, and addressed St. John's Sunday school in the afternoon. This evening he will address a meeting in St. John's school room and will conduct a conference, to which all are invited, especially those who are interested in Sunday school work.

A COMING ATTRACTION

For three days, commencing Thursday, April 17th, the attraction at the Grand will be "The Advanced Vaudeville Company." The perfomers for this splendid company were personally selected by Richard Pitrol, the famous vaudeville manager, and comprise the Four Banta Brothers, who are known as the musical marvels. During their act they use no less than twenty-six musical instruments, over all of which they seem to have perfect control, in addition to which the quartette rendered during their act, vocal selections which never fail to captivate the audience.

The Marriott Twins offer many startling juggling features. Though very slightly built, they juggle bicycles, tandems, and other vehicles with astounding ease and grace.

The Juinita Brothers, European Hoop Rollers and Novelty Baton Swingers.

In addition to these there are many other acts of more than ordinary merit making up a splendid evening's entertainment.

Speaking of the Harriott Twins, the Chicago Tribune says:—"A feature of the bill at the Garrick last week was the sensational heavy juggling and acrobatic act of the Marriott Twins and in addition to juggling bicycles and a runabout one of the Marriott's holds two bicycle riders in mid-air while they race. The strangest part of it all is that these strong men weigh only 115 lbs. each and are accordingly very slender. The act was especially well received." Popular prices will prevail.

St. Paul's Church Paragraphs.

Yesterday Rev. D. C. McGregor, who is associated with Rev. Dr. Shearer on the committee of social service and evangelism for the Presbyterian church in Canada, preached at the morning service in St. Paul's church. Rev. Mr. Keith took the evening service. ABSINTHE SWISSE TOO STRONG FOR ARMSTRONG

Those of our readers who have read Marie Corelhes' "Wormwood," know that absinthe, or as they call it in its native jungle, "Absinthe Swisse," have learned that this decoction of wormwood, is about as safe to dally with as a box of thawing dynamite.

E. Armstrong, aged 19, up in the police court as drunk, on Saturday, evidently had not taken a lesson from Marie B. He had sampled this soul destroying, body wrecking alcoholic that shows its results on every one of those you may pass on the Boulevard des Italians or any Parisian thoroughfare. The absinthe obtained at a local hotel was too strong for Armstrong.

The wedding was very quiet, with only a few relatives and friends present. The bride, Miss Emma Bullen, daughter of Mr. William Bullen of this city, and for several years also one of the Review staff.

Women's Ailments Caused by Neglect

Proper Treatment Will Quickly Bring Back Robust Health and Good Spirits.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted—the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, no medicine for women can compare with Dr Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly responded to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result is as you would expect—pain in the back and side, shortness of breath, and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, and finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers 25c per box, five for $1.00 postpaid The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

THOSE WHO DO NOT THINK

Eskimos Believe It is Not Necessary If They Have Enough Meat to Eat.

Where the physical struggle for life is at its keenest, as it is among the Eskimos, the years glide by free from the more subtle cares and worries of the civilized man. The Eskimo, says Mr Knud Rasmussen in "The People of the Polar North," does not count the days, and keeps no record of time. All his thoughts are centered on hunting.

Once I asked an Eskimo who seemed to be plunged in reflection, "What are you thinking about?"

He laughed at my question, and said: "Oh, it is only you white men who go so much for thinking! Up here we only think of our flesh-pits, and whether we have enough for the long dark of the winter. If we have meat enough then there is no need to think. I have meat and to spare!"

I saw that I had insulted him by crediting him with thought.

On another occasion I asked an unusually intelligent Eskimo, Panigpak, who had taken part in Peary's last north polar expedition.

"Tell me, what did you suppose was the object of all your exertions? What did you think when you saw the land disappear behind you and you found yourself out on the drifting ice-floes?"

"Think?" said Panigpak, astonished. "I did not need to think. Peary did that!"

Eating becomes the great thing with the Eskimos. I once excused myself, when paying a visit, with the plea that I had already eaten and had had enough. I was laughed at, and the answer I received was:

"There thou talkest like a dog! Dogs can be stuffed till they are satisfied and can eat no more; but people—people can always eat!"

VOL. XL, NO. 88. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1913 PRICE, TWO CENTS.

LIBERALS NOW ADMIT THAT THEY ARE BEATEN EVERYWHERE

Opposition Rank And File Express Pleasure That Fight Is Over

Ottawa, April 14. The house will resume debate to-day on the closure rules with Hon. Frank Oliver on the floor. That Oliver will make the bitterest kind of a bitter speech can be taken for granted. It is not likely there will be any more conservative speakers as about all that can be said aqout the new amendment to the rules has already been said. The complete speech of Arthur Meighen, member for Portage La Prairie, was about the last word on the subject.

Sensational Rumors.

There have been many rumors afloat that the Liberals are preparing to pull off some final grandstand plays this week and the Liberal members talk in a very mysterious manner of some coup which is to be sprung as sensationally as the moving of the previous question by Hon. J. D. Hazen, which shut the Liberals out of proposing any amendments.

Hon. William Pugsley, who has been the cause of most of this session's troubles, has not been in the House since last Wednesday. It is said that his fertile brain is endeavoring to devise some counter coup. Whether he has been able to find a way out of the present difficulties remain to be seen, but old Parliamentarians state that whichever way the Liberals turn they run into a blind alley.

May Have Laurier "Named."

One rumor has it that the Liberals are planning to raise another noisy disturbance in the House and that the scheme is to have none other than Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself named as the speaker with a view to working up more sympathy for the Liberal leader. The other rumor is that the Liberals as a protest will walk out of the House and refuse to vote when the closure resolution is put to the House.

Whatever Mr. Pugsley's coup, if he has any, the Liberals are evidently not taking it very seriously, for a number of western members of the Opposition, who have taken a prominent part in the Liberal fight, including J. G. Turriff and W. E. Knowles, have asked for pairs for the end of this week. There is nothing official yet as to the day of the vote, but it is rumored that it will come on Thursday.

NEW HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE HAS BEEN COMPLETED

The new and handsome addition to the local House of Providence is now completed and ready for inmates. Yesterday afternoon a Times scribe had the pleasure of a thorough inspection of this recent addition to a most commendable local charity. Rev. Father McColl welcomed our scribbler and most courteously showed him through the building.

As is generally known, the old building was erected in 1899, when his late Lordship Bishop O'Connor was in charge of the Peterborough diocese, which embraces the counties of Durham and Northumberland, Victoria and Peterborough. The old building accommodated some 50 inmates, who, until the inauguration of the House of Refuge at Lakefield, embraced many Protestants. The lady in charge of the old and new buildings combined is one of high executive ability, with a deep sympathy for the natural failings of her aged care. The inmates are well cared for and as happy as their their individual idiosyncries could permit.

The splendid new addition to the east of the old structure, is adapted to the housing of 50 inmates. The structure, three storeys, with concrete basement and attic will take in 50 more inmates of both sexes. A fine chapel, 30x40, with handsome ash seats and altar, is included in the new structure. This encourages old people, too infirm to walk to services or mass in the church to take private apartments in the home. The whole of the new building is efficiently heated by steam. There are lavatories, with plunge and shower baths on each floor. Among the many modern conditions existing in the new building, two rooms for the Sisters, each 30x15 for devotional and other purposes.

The view from the building is a comprehensive one: there are balconies at the south looking over Little Lake and the blue topped hills between the city and Rice Lake. The whole building is provided with up-to-date hardwood floors and every room and hall is handsomely furnished in hardwood. The ward rooms are light, cheerful and airy. The addition is provided with two rooms specially arranged for accommodation of the insane, so that such people may not be thrust into jail, a so common reproach to this fair county.

Messrs. Rutherford Brothers, the contractors, are to be complimented on completing such a splendid structure. Good work, good material and intentions are visible in every feature of the building.

CITIZENS ENDORSE BYLAW TO AID VERMONT MARBLE CO

Enthusiastic Gathering of Representative Citizens in Council Chamber Last Night--Committees Appointed to Get in the Vote Next Tuesday--Can't Afford to Turn Down This Proposition

At the call of the Mayor, a Citizens' meeting was held in the City Council Chamber last night to discuss the by-law to aid the Vermont Marble Co., which measure will be voted on by the ratepayers on Tuesday next, April 22nd.

The meeting was attended by a large and representative gathering of citizens, including Mayor W. H. Bradburn and Aldermen.

Under agreement with the Council it is proposed that this company shall establish a branch in East Peterborough where they are to be granted a free site. They will also be exempt from taxes on their plant and buildings, except for school rates and local improvements, for a period of ten years. They are to erect buildings and install a plant at a cost of at least $20,000 and to employ 20 or 30 hands, all of whom will be skilled labor. The company is capitalized at $6,500,000, employ over 3000 hands in Vermont, besides a large number in Alaska and on the Pacific Coast, where they work several big quarries.

The securing of this industry will cost the city $8,500, which means that $710.44 will be needed to be raised annually to provide for interest and sinking fund on and for the same. This is really but a trifle on the whole, and only represents an annual payment by the ratepayers of 7 3-10 cents on each thousand dollars of assessment for 10 years. The site selected by the company is only paying $25 a year in taxes, whereas the school taxes alone on the company's plant will amount to $150 a year.

The company's object in establishing a branch here is to cater more satisfactorily to their increasing Canadian trade, and to save 20 per cent. in duty. The duty on finished marble from the States is 35 per cent. and on the raw material only 15 per cent.

The Discussion.

The meeting was enthusiastically in support of the Council's agreement with the Vermont Marble Co. and expressive of confidence in the City Fathers' recommendation.

Mr. Cogblin said he knew the Vermont people exceedingly well, and could vouch for them being one of the most solid industries in the United States. He approved of the agreement between them and the city, and is optimistic that if located here the industry would develop into a very large one.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, manager of the C.G.E. Co. also endorsed the provisions of the by-law. He said he did business with the Vermont Marble Co. and could recommend them as financially sound and solid in every respect. He thought the industry a very desirable one for Peterborough to secure. Advisedly, from unquestionable authority, he should say the Canadian trade the company at present enjoys would employ one hundred men. The company is capitalized at $6,500,000.

Mr. E. J. Hartley, also spoke in favor of the by-law. The company is asking for very little encouragement to locate here, and he had no doubt but what they would employ many more hands than committed to by the agreement. As in the case of the C.G.E. Co., reliable industries usually underestimate in a documentary way the extent of their expected operations where seeking location.

Mr. D. W. Dumble strongly supported the proposition, and offered that Peterborough cannot afford to turn down this industry, which is the biggest of its kind in the world. He had every faith in the present city council, and contended that citizens can safely trust to anything in this direction they recommend. Peterborough has some of the best industries in Canada as a result of an agressive policy for securing new factories with a view to ultimate expansion into an industrial city, and citizens should line up with the council and see to it that the very desirable industry under discussion is not lost to us. He was exceedingly optimistic that present and future industrial prospects indicate for Peterborough a growth in a few years to 50,000. Mr. Dumble bespoke for the Vermont Marble Co., a big and rapidly increasing business in Canada as a result of their location here. They are too solid a company to be actuated in their choice of location by the small inducements offered them by this city. Peterborough is a desirable spot for their business operations: it is on the Trent Canal and barges going down ladened with grain return with raw marble.

To Mr. F. D. Kerr, his worship replied that after investigation council are satisfied with the financial standing of the company and of the desirability that Peterborough secures its Canadian branch.

Then, said Mr. Kerr, it is the duty of citizens to support the council in their bid for this industry. If we lose this opportunity 99 per cent. of the people will feel that we have had a setback in our industrial growth. The life of a city hinges upon its industries, and we now have to choose between a live city exporting tombstones and a dead city importing tombstones (the Vermont Marble Co. manufacture tombstones).

Ald. Butler contended that the new residents brought to Peterborough by this industry will more than make good in increased taxes what the acquisition of the Vermont Marble Co's Canadian branch will cost us.

Mayor Bradburn contended that live industries usually expect to employ more hands, erect larger buildings and install a bigger plant than bound to do under agreement with the city. In evidence of this, the Henry Hope & Sons, to locate here this year are planning far more extensive operations than agreed upon, and the Bonner-Worth Co. are employing 50 hands instead of 30 and are now going to double the size of their building.

Unanimous Approval.

Mr. E. J. Hartley moved, seconded, by Mr. D. W. Dumble, that this meeting heartily approve of the agreement between the Vermont Marble Co. and the city, and that the council and citizens put forth every effort to secure this industry. Carried unanimously.

Committees Appointed.

Committees were here appointed for each ward to get the vote out next Tuesday, and in the interest of the by-law. The Aldermen head the committee in their respective wards.

250,000 MEN NOT AT WORK SHOW BELGIUM STRIKE IS ON

Lack of Disorder Chief Feature of Gigantic Walk-Out Led by the Socialists to Gain Franchise for Voters

Brussels, April 14.—The vast political strike for manhood suffrage in Belgium prepared with such skill by the socialist workmen trade unions began at dawn to-day, when the night shifts came out of the many mines and mills throughout the country leaving them empty except for a few caretakers told off by the socialist leaders to keep the property from deteriorating.

At least a quarter of million men laid down their tools according to reports given out in representative non-Socialist quarters. There were numerous exceptions to the general walkout in many districts and only loose estimates are ventured either by the Socialists or by the state ministers as to the number of men affected.

Not Noticable in Brussels.

In Brussels itself the strike must be looked for in order to be found. Probably a quarter of the workmen engaged in the suburbs where the manufactories are located did not go into the shops. The Socialist committee sitting at the headquarters of the People's Party announced at eleven o'clock that 20,000 men had struck in the city. After the report from the Provinces tell of complete stoppage of work at Liege, Charleroi, Mons, La Louviere and other smaller cities. At Mons, it is estimated there are 20,000 and La Louviere 26,000, most of them belonging to the metal building and tobacco trades.

All Quiet at Antwerp.

Antwerp, April 14.—The strike which had appeared not affect this port in any way early this morning, set in during the forenoon, when there was a partial suspension of work by the dock laborers. The movement also extended to other branches. Everything is quiet.

In the interior of the gondola of the airship a gambling room will be arranged, and gambling will take place there at several thousand feet up in the air, and free of police interference.

Notable International Congress On School Hygiene At Buffalo August 25-30

All the leading nations, every state in the union, every college and university of note in this country, and various other leading educational scientific, medical, and hygienic institutions and organizations, will be represented at the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene in Buffalo, August 25-30, according to a preliminary statement issued by Dr. Thomas A. Storey, of the College of the City of New York, Secretary General of the Congress.

Mr. Woodrow Wilson, as President of the United States, has accepted the honorary office of Patron of the Congress. The President of the Congress is Mr. C. W. Elliott, at one time president of Harvard University. The vice-presidents are Dr. William H. Welch, the great pathologist of John Hopkins University, formerly president of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Henry P. Walcott, President of the recent International Congress on Hygiene and Demography, and chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Health.

It is the aim of the organizing committee in charge to bring together at Buffalo a record number of men and women interested in improving the health and efficiency of school children and to make this Congress the first of its kind ever held in America—one of direct benefit to each individual community. A program for papers and discussions is now being arranged covering the entire field of school hygiene. There will be scientific exhibits representing the best that is being done in school hygiene, and also commercial exhibits of educational value.

Nor will the entertainment of delegates in any way be neglected. Buffalo has subscribed $40,000 toward covering the expenses of the congress. The Buffalo citizens committee has planned for a service of social events, a pageant in the park, and excursion trips to the great industrial plant, and to scenic wonders of Niagara Falls.

The Congress is open to all persons interested in school hygiene who may join as regular active members upon the payment of a $5.00 fee. Application for membership should be sent to Dr. Thomas A. Storey, College of the City of New York, New York City.

Special arrangements are being made by officials of the Grand Trunk Railway Company at the request of the organizing committee, to co-operate to the fullest extent in making this conquest successful. The international character and importance of which can be judged from the fact that not only has the president of the United States consented to act as Patron of the Congress, but its Honorary Presidents include the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, the Ministers of Education of Denmark, Sweden, Prussia, France, the Netherlands, Portugal, Spain, as well as some of the most prominent authorities on hygiene from such centres as Vienna, Budapest, Christiana, Polish Austria, Belgium, England, Havana, Italy, and Venezuela; while the Honorary Vice-Presidents includes some of the best known names in Canada and the United States.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Moderate to fresh northerly winds and fair.

TWO MEN WERE ELECTROCUTED AT VILLAGE OF OAKVILLE

Both Met Instant Death When they Grasped Drop Cords Bodies Almost Incinerated

Oakville, April 14.—As a consequence of two electrocutions from house wiring within two days, the town of Oakville will be without electric power for either street or house lighting, probably until Friday or Saturday, and perhaps longer.

The coroner's jury empanelled this morning to investigate the cause of death of George Garfield Till, 285 Crawford street, Toronto, who was instantly killed yesterday morning in the cellar of the Avenue Hotel when he grasped an electric drop cord, recommended that the power should be kept off both the house and street lighting circuits until experts can make a thorough inspection of the entire system and pronounce it safe.

Candles and Coal Oil.

The Town Light and Heat Commission have expressed their willingness to follow the recommendations of the jury and for several days candles and coal oil lamps will form the principal illuminants.

The "power" circuit supplying the factories and providing motive power for the town's water system is excluded, as this system was inspected yesterday, and again to-day, and found to be in perfect condition. To stop the current on this line would be to render the town helpless in case of fire.

The jury this morning examined the remains of the deceased Till and after making its recommendation to prevent recurrence of the unfortunate fatalities, adjourned until Friday evening, when expert evidence will be heard.

KING ALFONZO OF SPAIN IS VERY WARMLY ACCLAIMED

Thousands Cheer His Majesty, Rejoicing that He Escaped Assassin's Bullet

Madrid, April 14.—King Alfonso of Spain took an early ride in the park this morning and was warmly saluted by the crowds of people who had gathered to cheer him. Joy reigned everywhere that the King had escaped the bullets fired by the would-be regicide Rafaele Sanchez Allegro, while His Majesty was returning from a review of troops yesterday.

The anarchist Allegro was in very merry mood during his examination. He forced the guards surrounding him and the interrogating magistrate to laugh at his witty comments. He is married to a woman of very honorable family.

His Glove Blackened by Powder

The King took in the situation at a glance. With lightning rapidity he dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet instead of burying itself in the King's breast, struck the horse on the neck, but so close was it that the King's left hand glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a Secret Service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each other's arms, struggling furiously. The assassin managed to free his revolver arm and fired two more shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullets flew harmlessly through the air.

"It Is Nothing, Gentlemen."

The King, as soon as he saw that the man had been secured, raised himself in his stirrups, turning to the crowd, gave a military salute, and shouted "Long Live Spain!"

He then dismounted and reassured his staff, saying: "It is nothing, gentlemen."

Then up went the mighty roar from the wikdly enthusiastic crowds, which rolled along in great waves of sound all the way as the King rode to the palace, cool, collected and smiling.

A MATTER OF EFFICIENCY

Last summer notwithstanding the extraordinary high water, steamboats bumped seriously in Lake Katchawanooka and also in the locks of the canal. Each time there was a bump the Examiner recorded it with the regularity of a seismometer. The Superintentedent was anxious to see that this did not occur again, and has already reorganized his staff. A new lockmaster will be appointed at Young's Point. The lockmaster at Lovesick has also been allowed to go. It is understood that there are no personal or political charges involved. It is merely a matter of efficiency.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES.

Although the weather was most unfortunate for the Loyalty Club's sale, the receipts were very satisfactory. The club donated the proceeds to the "South House."

The Gymnasium and Elocution closing will be held on Friday evening in the Conservatory of Music Hall. A very attractive programme is being prepared, consisting of an operetta, a gypsy fantasy, drills and readings.

The Girl Guides will not meet on Wednesday, but on Wednesday, 23rd of April, the examination for the Tenderfoot Badge will be held.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are no called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaprilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St., directly opposite Crossman's store.

Liquor Man From Antipodes Says Canadians Most Sober in World

"The Canadian People are the most sober in the world!"

This was the opinion expressed by Mr. W. A. Lloyd, the official lecturer of the Liquor Trades Defence Union of New South Wales, and secretary of the Liquor Trades Defence Association of Western Australia after travelling through the Dominion while on a tour of the world to study the liquor question.

"I visited South Africa and all parts of Great Britain," said Mr. Lloyd, "with the object of making a first hand, systematic study of the liquor laws of the Empire; I visited the Continent of Europe also, and must confess Canada appears to me to be the most truly temperate part of the Empire. I am not prepared to say that your restrictive legislation, as applied to the liquor traffic, is responsible for this eminently desirable condition of affairs, but whatever the cause, Canada is to be congratulated on the sobriety of its people. I think that those countries, such as France, which encourage the drinking of light wines and low fermentation malt liquors, have done more to solve the liquor problem than any other countries."

FORCE OF EXAMPLE

How Exemplification of Domestic Scene Hastens Marriage.

By CONSTANCE BEATRICE WILLARD.

As they sat there in the semi-darkness in what had been a restaurant, but was now the Royal Theater, the home of moving pictures, they gazed upon the figures of a young man and his sweetheart. Violently in love, at first their poverty seems to keep them apart, but eventually they decide to brave the future and marry. It was when this decision was reached that Jim's hand sought Marjory's. Following this, the following sentence was flashed on the screen:

"A month later."

The young couple were shown in a tiny kitchen where the bride was getting dinner with her husband's help, the operations being interrupted by an occasional kiss. It was a pretty little home scene, and Marjory's hand turned slowly so that her palm met Jim's, and she felt her breath come quicker. A hall bedroom and tea and crackers are a poor substitute for a home and husband.

Finally the young couple are shown a year later with the plump, laughing baby which seems to play a star part in many pictures of this class, and with it they demonstrate to the once doubting friends and relatives that their experiment has not been a failure.

This "picture" ended the show, and with the others Jim and Marjory filed slowly out of the close room into the brisk air of a November night.

Thanksgiving was not far off, and already the horrors of a holiday rush were looming up before Marjory, who earned her extremely scanty living in a department store. That picture had brought a lump into her throat, and made her hate her lonely life more than ever before.

"Let's have a soda," Jim suggested, and the two filed into a drug store, both bashful because of their display of feeling, and trying not to show it.

As they sat opposite to each other, eating slowly to prolong the sensation of the frozen dainty slipping down warm throats a little inflamed by the dust of the stuffy theater, Jim said abruptly:

"Which one?" Marjory asked, daintily poising her spoon on the edge of her glass, as though she did not know for there had been only one picture in that show for her.

"I Wonder If It's True."

"You know," Jim returned bashfully, "aw now, you know, don't you?"

"Yes, I guess I do," she assented.

"Boarding houses are bum anyway," Jim continued with his eyes on the table. He had known Marjory for several years, but had never thought seriously of marriage until tonight.

"Honest?"

"Oh, of course, I get enough to eat," Marjory said quickly for fear he would think she was begging for something more; "but I mean real home cooking."

"I know," he muttered gloomily; then brightened a little, "these two didn't have much when they began."

"I guess they were pretty poor," Marjory assented.

"Do they?" Marjory asked indifferently, although her heart was beating rapidly.

For a moment Jim said nothing, but drew little circles in the water dripping from his glass, and Marjory felt the tears gather bitterly beneath her lowered lids.

"I say, that was great, their cooking together, wasn't it?" Jim broke out suddenly. "I never knew girls would stand for having men about in the kitchen."

"I guess she was glad to have him help her just to have him with her," Marjory said softly.

"I say, Marjory, do you think girls feel that way about men?" and there was a break in Jim's voice.

"I wonder if it's true," was Jim's next contribution to general conversation.

Marjory thought a moment, then she remembered reading one evening in the paper which she devoured every night from front to back, advertisements and all, that many of the pictures reproduced at the motion picture shows were taken from real life. Recalling this, and not understanding how anyone could have feigned such true emotions, she said eagerly:

"I honestly believe it was, Jim. Why, they couldn't have had a little flat like that one if it wasn't real."

"That's so."

"Why, do you know that dish pan had a little dent in it just like ours had before mother died and I didn't have any [illegible]

"And his pipe was on the shelf. I say, though, I could have put up a better shelf," and Jim's strong fingers moved as though he felt a hammer in them.

"Can you put up shelves?" Marjory's eyes widened delightfully.

"Yes, I could if I had any place to put one," and Jim drew his brows together. "How much do you think he made?" he added a moment later. Marjory shook her head. There was a weight on her spirits now.

"I wonder," Jim continued slowly. Then he said eagerly, "I know. Don't you remember where he brings his pay envelope home and opens it up before her and she takes out the money?"

"Why, yes," Marjory cried, her eyes shining.

"Well, I saw what the bills were. There were two fives and a one case note."

"Eleven dollars," Marjory sighed softly.

"Madge, I get twelve," Jim said softly.

Marjory said nothing, but her cheeks grew beautifully pink.

"I say, Marjory, I'll get a raise after the first of the year." Still Marjory said nothing, but her hands trembled so that she could not hold her spoon.

"Honest, don't you think we could manage with what I make? I'd like to have a home like those folks had, wouldn't you?"

Marjory raised her confident young eyes to his, and whispered: "Oh, Jim, yes!"

"Would you, poor little dear? Well, we will then, and we won't care, will we, if we don't have much at first?"

"If I can just have you and my own home, honest, Jim, I'd cook over a gas jet in a tin cup and think we were rich," and the light in her eyes showed Jim that love was possible in a two-room flat just as much as though the home were to be in a mansion.

"Then, Marje, we'll do it. Right after Christmas we'll get married, and see if we can't have our own home," and once more his hand sought hers, but this time with a tender, possessive, protective clasp, and she, utterly disregarding possible spectators, returned his pressure with a tenderness that showed in her eyes, although all she said was:

"Oh, Jim."

"And, Marjory, if after a year we—if our story is like the one in the picture, all of it, what then?" and there was a tenderness in his eyes as old as the world. Marjory caught her breath. Something of the mystery of life and its aim unfolded to her, and she did not falter, but said softly:

"I hope it will be just like that, Jim all the way through," and his fingers gripped hers with an intensity that hurt.

TAKING BABY'S PICTURE

Advent of Cheap Camera a Boon to Baby Worshippers

"The average baby of to-day," said the grandfather of one, "is as much pictured as royalty. I don't mean that this baby's picture gets into the newspapers as often as the Prince's does, but there are as many taken of it for home admiration.

"I can remember back to the time when far fewer pictures of babies were made, when the only pictures of anybody other than painted portraits, were those taken in the old time daguerreotype galleries. To take a baby to one of these galleries was something of a task; and when you had got him there might not be awake, or he might not be good humored. In various ways this picture taking was an operation that might involve many difficulties; and then besides, it cost money; and so in those old days if you managed to get four pictures of the baby in its first year you were doing very well.

"But now? Why, now, with the wonderful and inexpensive little modern hand camera with which pictures can be taken whenever the baby is in a happy mood, we take pictures of him in his first year almost daily, and in many situations.

"The baby is photographed at various ages held in the arms of its mother; in the arms of its father; and if, as may happily be, all its grandparents are living the baby is photographed held by each and every one of them. Also, it is photographed held in the arms of each of its aunts and uncles.

"And then the baby is photographed in all its various apparel; in its first short clothes; and with hat on and hat off; and in its carriage. When I come to consider the many times and occasions on which we take the baby's picture I am inclined to think that in that first year we take a hundred pictures of him."

Home

No house is mine in the north or south;
No lands in the land of my sires.
Roofless, the careless winds that o'er spent
The smoke of my vagrant fires
No name have I in the clanking mart,
No seat with the grave and wise
The snows and the dusts of the trail forget
That have blinded my foolish eyes.
But safe and warm and steadfast true
(God how was the wonder done!)
The heart of a woman shelters me
From the lonely winds and the sun.

Simple Hanging Basket

A simple but very pretty hanging basket of greenery can be made from the top of a carrot, which will go on growing if kept moist. All you need to do is to cut the top fairly closely and scoop it out a little just enough to hold water, when hung upside down. It should sprout in all directions, and be quite a mass of feathery green with very little care and attention.

Taught Half a Century

Mr. B. A. Gardner of Belleville retired from the teaching profession after over half a century's service without a break. He began to teach in January, 1861, at West Huntingdon. Later he taught at Madoc and Sidney. In September, 1873 he moved to Belleville and for the past 22 years was principal of Queen Victoria School in that city.

DANES IN CANADA

Vice-Consul at Ottawa a Great Factor in Bringing Out Fine Settlers

Perhaps the only Danish family in Canada that can boast of being represented by four generations residing in the same locality, is that of Vice-Consul Meyer, of Ottawa. The eldest, Mrs. Anne Jorgensen, is still hale and hearty; then come her son, Carl Conrad Meyer, her grand-son, C. Robert Meyer, and her great granddaughter Baby Anne Meyer.

Mr. Meyer is one of the most distinguished Danes in this country. Ever since coming to Canada in 1885 he resided in Ottawa, where from comparative poverty he rose into the limelight of responsibility and nation-wide esteem. Physically the consul is a typical Scandinavian.

Besides his diplomatic duties, Mr. Meyer is proprietor and editor of The Danebrog, a weekly paper that he established in 1893. Through this medium he has been responsible for bringing many thousands of Danish immigrants into the northwestern provinces of Canada where, as agriculturists, they have prospered splendidly.

"I am a British subject," said the consul in an interview, "and a great believer in the naturalization of all who come to this country to make their living. There were very few Danes here when I came out and Ottawa had only 28,000 inhabitants, but I stuck to the ship, did all that I could for the benefit of my people, and I feel that I have pretty good results to show for it."

EDITORIAL NOTES

That the women of New Orleans are law-abiding is indicated by the rapid disappearance of the long range hatpins.

It appears that the Canadian winter is insisting upon giving a few farewell performances, with the result that the early spring robins are dining on frosted snowballs.

Doubtless it was due to the fact that J. Pierpont Morgan was a Napoleon of finance that the French government showed respect for his memory with military honors.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley, one of the leaders of the Obstructionists at Ottawa, says he hates praise, and if you read the leading newspapers, you will see that he doesn't get any.

It is said that some of the farmers near Ottawa are using wind power to run their farm machinery. Evidently they have discovered a way to harness the wind of their political orators.

As an expert in hydraulics we recommend a writer in The Review, who explains that floods are caused by the low beds of the rivers. Persons who were foolish enough to imagine that the floods were due to high water will please acknowledge their error.

The reams of paper which have been wasted over the discussion on Lipton's challenge for the America's cup would sink a Dreadnought. What is really desired by all true friends of yachting is a race, not a literary controversy.

That the aeroplane has become an important factor in warfare was exemplified at the bombardment of Yanina. The Russian aviator, M. Sakoff dropped six bombs into the principal fort causing panic and disaster. This paved the way for the taking of the city.

A suggestion is made that moving picture houses should be forced to close at ten o'clock every night. This does not meet the approval of the proprietors, who fear that their patrons might go to bed before they had been thoroughly trimmed of their money.

A London exchange states that Baron Henri de Rrothschild has written a play called "Croesus," which will shortly be produced there prior to its performance in Paris. There is much speculation as to whether the drama will be in some measure an autobiography. At least we can imagine that Baron Rothschild had a congenial task in writing it.

In view of the fact that the various Protestant churches are seeking special workers in the various women's organizations, The Times takes the liberty of calling attention to the Methodist Minister in Winnipeg who has discovered an excellent way of securing singers for his choir. When the Sunday school is dismissed he announces that all the pretty young women are expected to remain for church and assist in the singing. He has a full choir every Sunday. Some diplomat you bet.

Montreal Man So Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

THE ABUSE OF CHURCHILL

It is amusing to note how quickly the abuse of Mr. Churchill by Liberal politicians and newspapers has died. Mr. Churchill merely politely answered a polite question of the Canadian Government. That is all. And the Separatists are finding it is a dangerous thing to abuse the Englishman, even if he is three thousand miles away!

WOMAN'S FASHIONS

A return to the rational in women's attire is predicted by those who have the last word in the world of fashion. Mme. Paquin says the styles of the immediate future will be "those of an "elegante' of the Directoire period, who has coquetted with the Orient." They will contain a good deal of fantasy particularly in regard to collars. The fashionable colors will be "ecru," grey and rose. For evening wear white is of the highest elegance generally relieved with a splash of vivid color. The fabrics of the moment are practically anything that is supple and clinging.

AN ILLUMINATING INCIDENT

There was an illuminating incident in the house the other day which illustrates just how practical is the sympathy the Liberals are willing to extend to the western farmer and also how the Liberals are still engaged in the old tactics of having one trade policy for the east and another for the west.

Last summer, owing to the fact that Canadian mills could not meet the demand for steel rails, the Government took off half the duty on 75,000 tons in order that the western railways could complete their lines on the prairie provinces in time to move the fall crop and to meet the urgent demands on the part of the farmers for more transportation.

The Liberal leaders brought the question up in the house and strongly attacked the government for having remitted the duty. A. K. MacLean, member for Halifax, who is the Opposition financial critic, introduced the question and he was supported by Sir Wilfrid Laurier who said that he could not see much in the argument that the farmers were in such need of transportation that the duty should be remitted.

It was shown by Hon. W. T. White and Premier Borden that the case was most urgent. The Grand Trunk alone had five hundred miles of track ready for steel but could not get the rails. The farmers were pleading for the transportation facilities.

The Western Liberals led by Dr. Clark, of Red Deer, hastened to give the government strong support in its action and rebuked the Eastern members of the party for their action. The incident emphasised the growing split between the western reciprocity Liberals and the eastern protectionist wing.

THE MOVIES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think the local police could take a lesson from Toronto in regard to our moving picture houses. We all know how the law regarding children, unaccompanied by adults, entering such places, is observed here. I saw in the Toronto Telegram last night that a Toronto moving picture house had been fined $50 and 'costs for breach of this law. If moving picture houses, which from a sanitary point of view, are distinctly unhealthy and, in my opinion, unfit places for little ones, cannot make money without breaking the law, they should be closed up.

Father.

THE HEALEY FALLS PARK

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I must compliment you on the manly and above board manner which your paperpublished the news of that iniquitous Healey Falls's park matter. I wonder why the rest of our local press is afraid to give publicity to so open a violation of right and law, as was shown at the Falls when the Roman Catholic Church there forcibly takes possession of a public park heretofore used by Protestants and Catholics alike! There must surely be a Lord Nelson among the Trent Canal officials who puts the telescope of justice to an eye darkened by religious favoritism.

An Old Settler Finds Quick Relief

CHAS. MARSHALL CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mrs. Marshall Tells How Her Husband Suffered, and of His Speedy Recovery When He Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Parkinson, Algoma,. Ont., April 14 (Special)—Living far from towns and with doctors not within easy reach, many of the settlers have found Dodd's Kidney Pills an inestimable blessing. One of those is Mr. Charles Marshall, Sr., whose recovery from a severe case of kidney disease has recently been the cause of much satisfaction to his family and friends.

"My husband was suffering very much with his back and legs," Mrs. Marshall says, speaking of her husband's cure. "He went to see the doctor, and he told him he had urinary trouble, but he did not seem to get any better.

"Then I sent for some Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since taking them, he has no more pain in his back and legs, and his other troubles are all gone.

"I am indeed thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for my husband, and I hope other sufferers from kidney disease will benefit by his experience, and use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

FISH WEALTH OF CANADA

Important Industry of the Lakes—Salmon as an Experiment

The fishing industry of Canada is an important asset in our national financial statement. It is one of those subjects on which little has been written in a form which is interesting to the general public, although much valuable information may be found in Government blue books. The average yearly catch for the Dominion is valued at about $30,000,000, about half of which is exported and the other half consumed at home—about $2.00 worth of fish per year being the average consumption for each Canadian.

The Port Arthur Hatchery

The latest fish hatchery is the one at Port Arthur on Lake Superior. This hatchery has an annual capacity of turning out fish fry, which, at maturity, will represent a catch of the enormous total of $10,500,000 yearly. The hatchery is equipped for the propagation mainly of lake trout, as owing to the rocky and clay formation of Lake Superior, trout find their native haunts on the shores of the Lake. A certain percentage of white fish are also being hatched out, as there are a few handy spawning beds in the smaller bays, which form the native haunt of the white fish. A very interesting experiment is also being tried out in the placing of salmon fry in the lake as it is believed that a very valuable salmon fishing industry can be established at Port Arthur.

Fishing as a sport is also being given serious attention at this hatchery, and brook trout and salmon fry are to be placed in the streams and brooks surrounding the city.

In the Hatchery

A walk through the fish hatchery is a very istructive and interesting sight. The spawn, after being taken from the mother fish in the fall—and this is usually collected by the officers of the Fishery Department from the fishing tugs—is brought to the hatchery and distributed in trays, over which there is a constant stream of cold water running. It takes, on the average, 195 days for the spawn to germinate into living fish. It is very interesting to pick up the little round globes, which look like balls of gelatine, and holding them up in the light see the eyes and the dim outline of the form of the minute fish inside. Only a small percentage of the spawn die. The dead cells are readily detected as they turn white upon the atom of life within becoming extinct. After the baby fish extricates itself from its globular cell it is fed for two weeks on grated beef liver. By this time it is not more then a quarter of an inch long, and is then taken out and placed in the spawning beds where the older fish always gather at certain times to foster the young and growing fry. Three years is the usual time taken for fish to mature.

New Idea For Street Care

Several Canadians were passengers on the first train in the world to be operated by electricity generated by a portable storage battery. The trial took place at New York, and Thomas A. CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16853; GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

48 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys	100 shares.
$300.00 buys	500 shares.
$600.00 buys	1000 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Annette: (1) Sometimes a druggist endeavors to discourage the making of home-remedies because he thinks it interferes with his business. I never suggest the use of anything that is not sold in first-class drug stores. (2) To make kardene spring blood-tonic and liver-remedy get 1 ounce of kardene, mix it with ¼ cupful of sugar and add ½ pint of alcohol and 1½ pints of hot water. This formula makes a full quart of tonic, of which you should take 1 tablespoonful 5 minutes before each meal and before retiring. As an all-round tonic this has no superior. It will restore your lost appetite and tend to strengthen and build you up. It purifies blood and your pimples and ugly blotches will soon disappear.

Virginia: A good "liquid-powder" or face-wash which when on seems a part of the skin is made by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint of hot water or witch hazel and adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This home-made complexion-beautifier whitened the skin without the use of powder and is particularly recommended for the use of anyone who has a sallow, dark or oily skin.

Constance: To remove dandruff and stop falling hair, apply once a week a quinine hair-tonic, made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinzoin in ½ pint of alcohol, adding ½ pint of cold water. Rub into the scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed. This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuriant and glossy. (See answer to Molly).

Molly: It is not necessary to shampoo the hair oftener than twice a month if you use a shampoo that will thoroughly cleanse the hair and scalp. An inexpensive shampoo that makes the head feel good and helps the hair is made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cupful of hot water. Pour on the hair and rub well. You will find that this makes a good lather—and plenty of it—thoroughly cleanses the hair and scalp and relieves irritation and stimulates roots to helpful action.

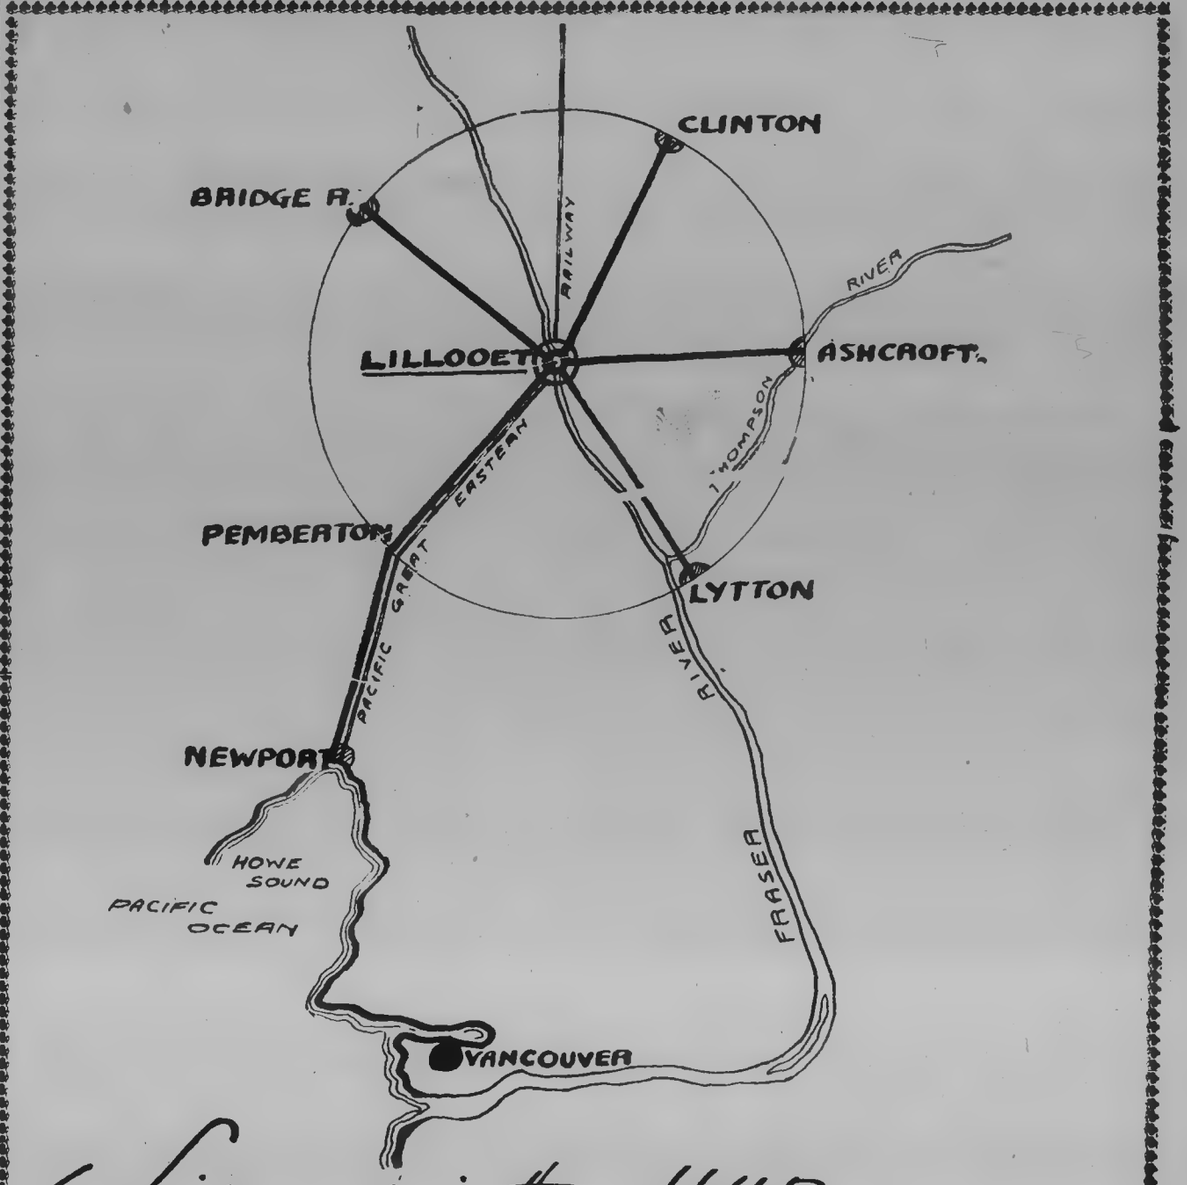
Viola: Yes, healthy eyes are clear and sparkling. If yours are dull, red and inflamed you need an eye-tonic. Get an ounce of crystos from your druggist and dissolve it in a pint of water. One or two drops in each eye every day is all that is required. This eye-tonic will not smart or burn and will give relief when the eyes are tired, inflamed or sore. It strengthens the eyes and will benefit you if you wear glasses.

Laura: Your friend is right in saying that I know a certain wrinkle-remover which can be made at home at very little expense. It is a vegetable product and is unlike creams containing oils or animal fat as it neither grows hair nor makes the flesh loose and flabby. Just dissolve an ounce of almozoin, which you can get from any druggist, in one-half pint cold water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand for one day. To remove wrinkles apply a thick coat of this cream-jelly and leave on over night. This protects the skin and allows all the blood action to be used in constructing new texture. Then wash it out of the pores and massage thoroughly with more of the cream. It makes the skin soft and velvety, while it is unequaled in reducing large pores.

Student: It will be good news to you to learn that what you eat is now thought to have little to do with obesity and that if enough exercise is taken, a fleshy woman may eat what she wants. To half starve oneself means to look haggard and altogether unlovely. Don't drink while eating, even water, and don't drink alcoholic beverages at any time. The best flesh-reducer I know is parnotis. Get from your druggist an original 4 ounce package of parnotis, take it home and dissolve it in 1½ pints hot water. Take one tablespoonful 3 times a day, before meals.

Olga N.: The disfiguring hairy growth can be permanently banished by using a delatone paste. Get a small, original package of delatone and mix enough of the powder with water to cover the objectionable hairs. Let remain 2 or 3 minutes, then remove and wash the skin. This sample treatment dissolves the hairs and leaves the skin free from blemish.

AIRMEN'S TELEPHONE



Special Device Needed on Account of the Noises up Aloft

A telephone apparatus has been invented which makes it possible for an aeroplane pilot to talk to his passenger. Owing to the roar of machinery and the rushing air, conversation between pilot and passenger is exceptionally difficult without a telephone apparatus of some sort. Two receivers, made especially for the purpose, are mounted in the ear laps of each cap or helmet in such position that they are held snugly and comfortably against the ears when these flaps are fastened under the chin. Constructed to fit properly with the rest of the apparatus is a special lightweight transmitter which is held in place over the mouth by a band of soft leather, the ends of which are attached to the ear flaps. The batteries and speech magnifying apparatus are contained in a box attached to the framework of the aeroplane. Communication is established by plugging the box with the flexible cords with which each helmet is provided. The apparatus it is expected, will also be used as part of the equipment for wireless communication with stations on the ground or with other aeroplanes. On one end of the box are two binding posts for connection with the receiving side of an aeroplane wireless set.

TO PROTECT SHEEP

Lantern and Gun Keep Wild Animals at a Distance

A device to protect sheep from the inroads of wolves, coyotes, and other animals is the invention of a Westerner. The machine consists of an automatic gun which shoots a blank cartridge every thirty, forty, or sixty minutes, as arranged, while a bull's-eye lantern is so adjusted as to revolve and flash its light in every direction. It makes more than one revolution a minute, operating by means of a coiled spring and cog wheels, a sort of clockwork, in fact. The mechanism is inclosed in a storm and dust proof metal case and mounted on four adjustable legs. It has a weight of 25 pounds, so that it can be carried with the sheepman's outfit with no difficulty.

HAITI'S QUEER WAY...

Its President's Office Very Unstable Army Mostly Generals

Haiti is probably the most turbulent country in the world. Out of its twenty-eight presidents three have had either to flee for their lives or were assassinated or killed in battle. That is, if the death of President Cincinnatus Leconte may be considered a murder, for there seems to be little doubt that the explosion of the powder magazine which caused the palace to burn and brought death to Leconte in his bed, was a revolutionary act, carefully planned and carried out.

It used to be a French possession and a mangled French is still spoken there; but for the last century or so it has been an independent black republic. The Haitians believe themselves to be the most civilized nation on earth, but it is a comic opera kind of civilization. The cities, for instance, are fitted up for electric light, but the electricity does not work, and nobody tries to make it. Haiti is so shiftless that it has no foreign trade to speak of, so there are very few whites on the island. No white person is allowed to land.

Haiti used to be known as the land of the dukes with the absurd names. Some sixty years ago it started a peerage, and every peer chose the name whose sound struck his fancy. One black nobleman was the Duke of Marmalade, another the Duke of Lemonade. There was also a Marquis of Ginger Pop.

But the peerage has been abolished. Nowadays Haiti is chiefly known as the land of generals. The latest statistics—which, Haiti fashion, are twenty years old—show an army consisting of 6,500 privates, 7,000 regular officers and 8,500 generals. Those generals who have no horses ride on mules, and the army is clad in the cast-off uniforms of half the regiments of Europe. Some of the men parade without boots, some with cigarettes in their mouths, some with long sticks of sugar cane there, some rusty swords, the rest walking sticks.

There are many civilian generals as well. Country squires are usually generals. As every respectable Haitian has a passion for frock coats and silk hats, perspiring generals are often to be seen working in the fields frock coated, under a burning tropical sun.

Jabot fronts that fall far below the waist are a novel feature of a blouse much worn.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a ride from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the stem of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VI.—While visiting Cameron in his dressing room a Neil Gwynne mirror is mysteriously shattered.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn nothing and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman adrift helplessly in a boat. He is the man of Johnson. Cameron differs from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER IX.—A fruitless search is made for Johnson, who is next seen by the captain just as Cameron is murdered.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being questioned. Evelyn takes the letter to an expert in Chinese literature who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese college student who recommends to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of meeting Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently referred to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron. Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries: "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde call on Miss Clement for promised information and find that the Chinaman who was to give it has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read it after he leaves the mission and then destroy it. It tells of the abduction of a white man by Chinese who shipped him back to China. The man is accused of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha" in which 100 Chinamen were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they supposed they had shipped to China throws consternation into the Chinese. The brougham in which Clyde and Evelyn are riding is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is seized by Murphy and a fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde are rescued by the police and return home.

Donald McNish, and representing, according to his own statement, certain large American interests. Through a native agent it became known that McNish was in search of coolies. Very soon, circulars appeared throughout the district, worded somewhat after this fashion: "To the countrymen of Ah Shoo. Laborers are wanted in the land of California. Great works to be done there, good houses, plenty food. You will get $20 a month and good treatment. Passage money required, $45. I will lend the money on good security, but I cannot take your wife and child in pay. Come to Canton, and I will care for you until the ship sails. The ship is good.' The circular was signed by Ah Shoo, the agent. In response to it, exactly ninety-seven of my countrymen, having left good security for the required passage money, were led stealthily aboard a small coasting vessel one night, and the vessel slipped quietly down the Chu-Kiang to the open sea, with McNish himself at the helm, and a Eurasian named John Woo, in the galley."

The Vice Consul was now consulting a slip of paper bearing, as I could see, certain Chinese characters.

"If I am in error," said Yup Sing, addressing his companion, "I pray you to correct me." Whereat Mr. Chen Mok smiled reassuringly.

"You are in all particulars accurate," he announced; and the Mott street merchant, thus encouraged, proceeded.

"The vessel, you understand, Mr. Clyde, was what is known in those waters as a lorcha. It was not so large as a junk and it differed in other respects as well. It—"

"I think I have seen a rude, but more or less effective representation of it," I interrupted.

"I know to what you refer," was the speaker's rejoinder. "But that was more or less conventional. As I told you, every child draws boats like that. However, the lorcha was to be used merely to convey the passengers to McNish's steamship, which had already cleared from Hong Kong, and which waited off the coast well out of sight of prying cruisers. Such, at least, was the explanation. Whether McNish ever had a steamship is a matter for conjecture. Whether a United States cruiser of the Pacific Squadron, having received a hint as to his purpose, bore down upon him, as has been said, is likewise open to question. But of the truth of the incidents which followed there can be no dispute."

He hesitated long enough for the Vice Consul to echo: "No dispute, whatever, Mr. Clyde," and continued:

"On the second morning after leaving Canton, an hour after dawn, when he at least pretended to see the cruiser in full chase, he ordered his passengers below, declaring that their safety depended upon their keeping out of sight. No sooner, however, were they below decks than he battened down the hatches, and imprisoned the cook in his galley. A white fog prevailed and the sea was very calm, both of which were conditions favorable to McNish's purpose. Lowering the lorcha's two boats he cut one adrift, and entering the other, which he had previously stocked with stores, he made his way in it along the lorcha's side to her prow."

At this juncture, Yup Sing slowly rose to his feet.

"And now," he said, "I want you to picture what followed. Standing up, axe in hand, Donald McNish began his diabolic work. With strong arm he swung, and close to the water line the blade bit deep into the timbers of the lorcha's bow. He swung again; and again the blade bit deep. Once more, and still once more the axe rose and fell. Frantically, with fiendish purpose he plied his weapon, until there opened a gaping hole through which, upon those ninety-seven trapped souls, rushed the bitter waters of death."

It was a very dramatic recital. Unaccompanied though it was by a single gesture, the speaker's voice lent itself most effectively to the tragedy. And though I disliked and distrusted him, I was certainly more or less impressed by the scene he painted.

"McNish escaped, I presume?" I asked the question more to relieve the tensity of the silence which ensued, than because of any doubt on this point.

"McNish escaped," he echoed.

"And no one else?"

"The Eurasian cook escaped, too. He broke out of his galley. Hastily he patched together a raft and reached land a week later, more dead than alive."

"And all the rest—those ninety-seven deluded, tricked countrymen of yours—perished?"

"To a man."

"Then the graphic description you have just given me, came—how? From whom? Certainly not from the cook, who was locked in the galley?"

"Partly from the cook, yes," he answered, unmoved. "And partly from one to whom McNish, himself, described his own crime."

The Vice Consul here added a word.

"Moreover," he said, and his accent was in marked contrast with the merchant's perfect English, "we have corroborative evidence. It happened that the lorcha sank in what you call shoal water. Six months later, she was declared a menace to shipping. Under ordinary conditions she would have been dynamited where she was. But because of the tragedy, she was raised, and examined; and the hole in her bow proved the truth of what we had heard."

In spite of the seriously impressive manner of my informants I was far from credulous. Such a crime might have been perpetrated, but I questioned that the perpetrator, for his skin's sake, if for no other reason, would ever have admitted the deed, much less have truthfully detailed the manner of its commission.

But, even admitting that there was neither invention nor misrepresentation in the narrative, I was now more than ever convinced that Cameron had no part in it, and that in placing even the slightest blame upon him an egregious error had been committed.

"What you tell me," I said, at length, "is very interesting, but I do not see just how it applies to my tortured and now missing friend."

The Vice Consul in an unguarded moment forgot himself.

"You no can see?" he queried, lapsing for the nonce into the vernacular.

"I certainly can not."

Mr. Yup Sing indulged in the shadow of an icy smile.

"Your friend, Mr. Clyde," he said with a brief impressive pause between each word, "and Donald McNish are one and the same man."

Up to this point I had maintained my poise. I had listened with feigned respect and denied myself the satisfaction of interruptions. But at this preposterous claim, I could contain myself no longer. Before the slowly spoken sentence was complete I had sprung up, restless with impatient indignation, my blood throbbing in my temples, my hands itching to throttle an honest man's traducers.

"That," I cried, hoarse with exasperation, "is a damnable lie!"

If I expected retaliation I was disappointed. Yup Sing's seamed yellow face continued an immobile mask for whatever emotion he may have felt, and Chen Mok placidly consulted his memoranda.

"Robert Cameron," I went on, my passion whetted by their indifference, "has been a gentleman of leisure and fortune always. Of all men in the world he is the last to be accused of such a crime as this. A seafaring man! A smuggler of coolies! It is too preposterous even for discussion. And I want to tell you now, Mr. Yup, and you too, Mr. Chen, that I shall leave no stone unturned to bring to justice [illegible] who are guilty of having made [illegible] Hitherto I have been unable to get a clew. But [illegible] with that difficulty. Both of you shall answer, now, to the authorities."

As I spoke I edged toward an electric push-button, at the side of the chimney-piece, and at the last word, I pressed it.

That Checkabeedy, following my instructions, had remained within close call was demonstrated by his prompt appearance.

"Telephone the police station," I commanded, "to send two officers here at once."

I had expected protest[illegible] I should not have been surprised [illegible] I been forced to restrain them—to make them prisoners, in fact, until the arrival of the police. Bronchitis Cured By Medicated Air

Every Breath Carries Healing Balsams to the Sick, Sore Places in the Nose and Throat.

Montreal this time gives splendid praise for the modern way of curing colds, catarrh and bronchitis.

Instead of taking sickening drugs into the stomach, or using an old-fashioned spray, the sensible man nowadays breathes the soothing vapors of Catarrhozone and gets well right away. This is exactly what Mr. Joseph Daouse d.d, and writing from his office at 57 St. Paul street, he says:—

"I suffered for years with the worst form of chronic bronchial throat and nasal catarrh. I tried all kinds of syrups, ointments, tablets and washes, but they proved ineffective. In fact I could get no relief. I read in the Montreal Witness of Catarrhozone and bought an outfit. In a few hours I got relief. The air passages of my nose were cleared out, and I was able to breathe freely. My throat was strengthened—my voice improved—and no longer gagged and coughed. The effect of Catarrhozone was wonderful. Now I am well—no bronchitis—no throat distress. I urge everyone with a weak throat, with a cough, a cold or a touch of catarrh to use Catarrhozone freely."

Advertising Pays.

At the urgent request of the advertising manager of this great family journal, we publish the following bit of logic:

"When a duck lays an egg she just waddles off as if nothing had happened.

"Then hen advertises. Hence the demand for hen's eggs instead of ducks' eggs."

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean, stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

No Menace to Shipping

The Department of Marine and Fisheries did not find it necessary to take any action toward breaking up the steamer Helvetia, which sank in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, off Gaspe as the result of her collision with the Empress of Britain. The depth of water in which she lies prevents her from being a menace to shipping. The depth is 150 feet, and since 50 feet is sufficient depth for a waterway the wreck is thus far from the reach of the deepest draught vessel!

HYDRO-ELECTRIC BILL PASSES

SPEAKER RULES OUT ATTEMPTS TO AMEND CLOSURE RESOLUTION

A. K. Maclean Weak on Points of Order Despite Active Research Into Parliamentary Procedure by Pugsley--Turgeon Urges Senate to Destroy Navy Bill

Ottawa, April 14. Dullness continues to envelope the closure debate. Liberal follows Liberal with labored speech and elaborate invective, bu there is no stir, no excitement. Th language used is wild and fierce when you see the words set down on paper; but when you hear them the effect is merely depressing. A Tennyson would say, it is:

"Like a tale of little meaning, thoug' the words are strong."

Or, in the homelier language of the farm, it is like shouting down a rain barrel. The situation has collapsed, and there is nothing to do but wait to see what happens when the Liberals have had enough of talking and the vote takes place. Vague rumors pervade the premises that they have devised some superb stroke of strategy which will be sprung up on the Government, but so far no thing has developed but a few very dull speeches.

DIFFERENT SIDES OF CLOSURE.

Closure is a narrow subject, and few men have written upon it. When you once have quoted the whole of on chapter in Redlich's Parliamentary Procedure, there is not much else to quote, and when you have quoted it three times the thing gets monotonous To-day Mr. Oliver gave a very notable example of it. He talked very, very slowly; he paused long, long after every paragraph, he consulted his notes very, very deliberately; oh, it was so slow. At that it was hard for him to keep it up, and he found it necessary to dwell upon a number of things which it was a trifle hard to link up with closure.

SPEAKER ANNOYED.

The speaker mildly murmured at these deviations from the strict and narrow way of relevancy, and the Hon. Frank candidly confessed that he found it very hard to stick to the subject. However, he managed to work up the subjects into a homogeneous whole. A Government which had been guilty of all these things, he said, could not be trusted to administer closure fairly.

Mr. Lemieux is one of the Laurier Cabinet Ministers who told the electors in 1911 that if they won the reciprocity election the Liberals would enact closure. He admitted that he had, and said that he stood by it; but the proper way was for the Government to move for a committee of the House to consider the matter of revision. He did not like the form of the new rules. Also he was grieved, and sorely offended at the affront put upon the Nestor of the House--meaning Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

WOULD DESTROY NAVAL BILL.

Mr. Turgeon spoke for an hour and was distinctly heard to advise the Government to adopt the Laurier policy and to abandon the naval bill. Also to urge the Senate to destroy the naval bill. Mr. Devlin was of opinion that the phraseology of Mr. Hazel's motion was bad. He agreed that revision of the rules might be desirable, but objected to the time and manner of revision.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC WILL HAVE FULL MONOPOLY

A Toronto despatch says Hydro-Electric shall operate exclusively in Peterborough, that municipality expropriating the power plant and taking over the thirty years' franchise of the Peterborough Light & Power Co. Such was the ruling of the Private Bills Committee at the Parliament buildings, yesterday morning. This means that there will be no two companies operating in Peterborough.

POLISH SERVANT GIRL GETS $425,000 FORTUNE

She Gets Telegram While Washing Dishes and Promptly Faints.

Montreal, April 15.—Hanka Etrepalnik, a hard-working polish domestic servant, was placidly washing dishes last night, when a messenger handed her a telegram. She read it and fainted. When she was revived, she read the telegram and fainted again. Her employers at 101 Colonial avenue took the message away from her then and read it themselves They nearly fainted, too, for the cable tersely informed Hanka that she was the heiress to $425,000 from relatives in Russia

STRIVING TO FORCE OUT SIR WILFRID

Indications of Strife in Liberal Ranks. Insincere Attitude of the Toronto Globe Revealed.

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, April 15.—There is every indication of strife in the Opposition ranks, and all on account of the deputy leadership. Hon. George Graham is Sir Wilfrid's choice of the rank and file. If Sir Wilfrid should resign the leadership, there would be a scramble for it in which a dozen men on the Opposition benches would participate as claimants. Besides the honour there is also a salary of $7,000, to whet the appetite. By the way, why does not the Globe keep up its agitation against the Opposition Leader receiving a salary? It used to inveigh against Mr. Borden for placing himself in the position of a paid servant of the Laurier Government. Does it regard Sir Wilfrid now as the paid servant of the Borden Government?

C. H. PENNEFATHER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BOARD OF TRADE

This Year's Board To Inaugurate an Aggressive Policy--Action of City Council in Regard to Vermont Marble Bylaw Heartily Approved of-- Will Work With Council and Citizen's Committee to Get Out The Vote

The Board of Trade met in annual session last night.

There were present: Y. Eastwood, president; Jas. Hamilton, J. John, C. H. Pennefather, W. H. Meredith, F. H. Dobbin, W. R. Morris, John Crane, G. O. Cameron, F. D. Kerr, Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie, S. R. Armstrong, Ald. Duffus, Ald. Anderson.

To the President and Members of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor of presenting to you, as Secretary, the 23rd Annual report of this Board.

During the last year we have held three meetings, viz.: 14th May, 25th November, and 29th November, 1912.

The following subjects were discussed:—"Civic Department," when the members were addressed by the well known Board of Trade expert, Mr. Ryerson Ritchie. Petitioning the Government to complete the Trent Waterway at an early date. To arrange to send a deputation to Ottawa in this same matter on 3rd December, 1912, by wired request of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.

The thanks of the Board are due to His Worship, Mayor Bradburn and the members of the City Council, for the use of the City Council Chamber during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

T. Q. Quartermaine,
Secretary.

Treasurer's Report.

Mr. Jas. Hamilton read the treasurer's report which showed a balance of $18.49.

Auditors.

Messrs. Crane and Pennefather were appointed auditors.

President Eastwood Retires.

Mr. Y. Eastwood, retiring president, in a few timely remarks, said the time had arrived when the board must either adopt an aggressive policy or disband. Referring to the two years of his presidency he said, The board had been handicapped by the public disapproval engendered three years ago in the appointment by the then board of Trade of Industrial Commissioner Duggan, involving a large expenditure of citizens' funds to no purpose. He considered the criticism showered upon the board in that connection by ratepayers to have been fairly justified, and on assuming the presidency two years ago he had determined that during his term of office no unpopular measure should be foisted upon the city. Mr. Eastwood here gave the city council considerable well deserved

Manitoba Grain Grower Heartily Approves of Hon. Mr. White's Proposal--Mr. R. Mackenzie on the Bank Act

Ottawa, April 16.—The Banking and Commerce Committee resumed session yesterday morning with R. MacKenzie, secretary of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, and Fred Green, secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association. At the opening, W. F. Nickle, Kingston, said that he understood that Lawrence Murray, superintendent of the American inspection system, was unable to be present and give evidence. He would like to see some other member of the American inspection system called.

Chairman Ames said that Mr. Murray was not able to leave Washington. He has taken no action in getting a substitute. Mr. Ames said there were several other witnesses whom members wished to call, and it was decided to discuss to-morrow morning what other witnesses were to be called. Sir Edmund Walker, who is to be heard to-morrow, is the last witness at present.

Call Loan Basis.

Mr. MacKenzie was the first witness and wanted receipts placed on the same basis as call loans. This would help to finance the grain in the fall. If this could be classified as a liquid asset it would help matters. Bankers say now they cannot put any money they now invest in call loans in warehouse receipts.

Mr. MacKenzie favored the clause permitting farmers to secure loans on grain. It was very difficult now, he said, for farmers to get all their grain marketed before the close of navigation. The farmer often had to sacrifice his crop in order to meet his indebtedness. If he could secure loans he could hold his wheat. The present situation forced annual blockade. It was in the interests of the country to encourage the farmer to hold his wheat.

Should Assist Farmer.

A farmer, if he could sell his wheat early, would be better off, but this was a physical impossibility. Some farmers must hold, and it was usually the man less able to stand it. Parliament should thus take steps to assist the farmer by encouraging him to build granaries and look to his grain

KEEP OUT THE JAPANESE WARM FIGHT IN FRISCO

Sacramento, Cal., April 15.—A sharp conflict between the two Houses of Legislature over the proper wording of the proposed anti-alien land law is in prospect as a result of the protest raised in Japan against the measure during the past ten days

By its terms an alien may hold title to real property for one year, whereupon the property shall escheat to the State. The Senate Bill provides that at the expiration of the year, the property only becomes "subject to escheat" which gives a longer period for the alien to qualify for ownership, or to dispose of his holdings advantageously.

"We have drawn our bill with a view to preserve existing treaty rights of all foreigners," said Senator Thompson, author of the second bill, last night, "and it affects them all alike. That seems to be the only way to check the Japanese without offending the Government at Tokio."

COW ATE POISONOUS WEED; THE BABES DRANK MILK; DIED

Double Funeral in North Frontenac, Leaves Plevna Home Desolate.

Kingston, Ont., April 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Broux, of Plevna, in North Frontenac, rendered desolate by the death of their two children, a girl of two and a half years and infant son of four months, say their deaths were caused by milk from a cow which eat poisonous weeds.

The children died within a few hours of each other, and there was a double funeral in the little village on Monday.

WIFE SOLD IN TORONTO

Toronto, April 15.—Revelations of a rather amazing character occurred in the Women's Court this morning, when Anna Gysingh, an Austrian woman, faced a charge of having stolen a $100 bill from Peter Georges, one of her countrymen.

Mrs. Gysingh coolly informed Magistrate Denison that her husband had sold her to Georges for $500 and that the $100 bill in her possession had been paid to her on account.

His worship ordered the money to be returned to Peter and dismissed the parties.

SUFFRAGETTES DESTROYED A HANDSOME SEASIDE MANSION

Entered Arthur Philip Du Cros' Home by Burglar Methods Placed Exslosives in Many Rooms, and Then Fired It--A Fireman Hurt

Hastings, Eng., April 16. — Militant sufragettes yesterday destroyed a handsome seaside manion at St. Leonards-on-Sea belonging to Arthur Philip DuCros, Union member of Parliament for Hastings. The women not only set fire to the house but placed explosives in many of the rooms. The residence had only recently been vacated.

The women adopted the method used by burglars for entering houses. They first spread papers covered with jam over the window so as to deaden the sound and then smashed the large panes of glass with hammers, the jam preventing the broken glass from falling.

When the flames were noticed by a passerby the fire brigade was summoned, and soon after the firemen had begun work of extinguishing the flames, a loud explosion occurred in one of the rooms, and a fireman was struck on the head with a piece of metal. Other explosions followed in various sections of the house.

CLOSURE WAS NECCESSARY

The present rules of the House of Commons were intended to apply to fair and reasonable men, but are utterly inadequate when a different class of men come into the House determined to rule though in a minority. Men like Sir Allen Aylesworth, Hon. Sidney Fisher, and Hon. Wm. Paterson, backed by the Chief Liberal organ, came to the conclusion that closure was necessary. Now the Conservatives have come to the same conclusion, driven to it by the suffragette tactics of the wild men who took charge of the Opposition during Sir Wilfrid's absence, and afterwards compelled Sir Wilfrid to back them up. Closure is necessary, not for the purpose of passing the naval bill alone, but for the future. Under the direction of so moderate a man as Mr. Borden it will never be abused, but it is necessary to insure the execution of the people's will, and for the business-like execution of public business.

270,000 STRUCK YESTERDAY RESPECT "FOLDED ARMS" LAW

With One-Third of the Belgian Toilers not Doing a Tap of Work Lack of Disorder is Remarkable--Gigantic Fight on Against Plural Voting

Brussels, Belgium, April 15.—Over a third of the total number of workmen in Belgium have struck work and joined in the Socialist protest against the system of plural voting, which effectually prevents them from obtaining a majority at the polls, and which has permitted the clerical party to remain in power for the past twenty years.

Virtually complete figures gathered from all the provinces except Antwerp and West Flanders, show that there was a total of 256,000 strikers this morning and the estimates from Antwerp and West Flanders where the Socialists are weakest, indicate that there are another 14,000 strikers making in all 270,000 who have quit work in the entire country. The Socialists, however, assert that the total reaches 350,000, while the clericals and the government say they number only 120,000.

Despite the fact that so many of the laboring classes are idle, there has been a notable lack of violence, and tranquility is reported everywhere except that three or four men have been arrested for interfering with non-strikers. The strikers are evidently determined to respect the decision of their leaders that the strike shall be one of "folded arms and not raised fists."

THE LIBERAL PRESS RESORTING TO REPREHENSIBLE TACTICS

Do Not Hesitate to Falsehood in Order to Injure The Government

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, April 15.—The most reprehensible tactics are employed every day by a section of the Liberal press to poison public opinion by the dissemination of downright lies and slanders against the Borden Government. Usually they appear in glaring headlines, and sometimes the truth is concealed in the small type at the bottom of a long article. The "pious" editors realize that a large number will never read the whole article, or, if they do, will never detect how the body of the article contradicts the heading. A glaring instance appeared in "The Globe" of April 2nd. In black letters across three columns are the words! "Worst Case of Boodling Ever Before Parliament." The "Toronto Star's" heading is the same, and the sub-heading is: "Pelletier's Purchase of $250,000 mail bag locks said to be sufficient for Forty Years."

The Facts of the Case.

The fact is that no such purchase was made, as the contract shows. The Department agrees to buy those locks and keys at $1.00, the same price as was fixed by Mr. Lemieux six years ago, but neither in that contract nor in this is any number of locks and keys specified. The man who came out of the fracas discredited in the man who made the statement that there was boodle in the transaction, viz.: Mr. Lemeiux. He presented to have got his information from a letter received from Quebec. He alleged that the letter conveyed the information that three friends of Mr. Pelletier (one of them his nephew) shared in the "graft." When challenged he declined to produce the letter. Mr. Pelletier declared that the name of his nephew was not in the letter, if such letter existed, and Mr. Lemieux remained still.

Offered An Investigation.

When the Prime Minister said he would order an investigation if an intelligible charge was made, Mr. Lemieux let the opportunity go by. He will not make a definite charge. He does not want an investigation, for if there were one he would find some difficulty in producing the letter from which he pretended to quote.

PAINTERS' STRIKE CALL.

Nearly 400 in Montreal Invited Out and Fifty Respond.

Montreal, April 16.—A call to strike, issued yesterday morning to union painters of the city who are not receiving a minimum wage of 35 cents an hour, will affect from 300 to 400. Fifty men quit work to-day and the remainder will come out to-morrow

THE MEANEST MAN IN TOWN.

WANTS FOURTH OF JULY

Sneers At Dominion Day By Obstructionst Member

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa April 15.—That the idea of the Liberals is a Separatist navy and that many of the Liberals believe in independence is undoubted. The whole tendency of their speeches has been in that direction. Hon. H. R. Emmerson even went so far as to read the Declaration of Independence in the house and talked of a second Boston Tea Party. F. B. Carvell, Liberal member for Carleton went almost as far in the debate this week when he sneered at the first of July, Dominion Day, and said he wished Canada had a Fourth of July. Here is Hansard report of Mr. Carvell:

Wants Fourth of July.

"There is nothing we need so much in Canada as a national sentiment. I wish we had something which would correspond with the Fourth of July in the United States. I think I have more respect for the Fourth of July celebration than for anything else in the United States, and I wish we had something to correspond with it here."

Sneered at Dominion Day

"We have the First of July" was the response of a member.

Then, with a sort of sneer of which Mr. Carvell is capable, he added: "The First of July —— a day that scarcely a boy or girl knows anything about excepting that it is a holiday. I repeat that there is nothing that we are suffering so much for as the want of a national sentiment."

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store, we make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 336 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

OUT UNDER THE STARS

After He Had Told Helen Whole Truth.

By S. E. KISER.

For three hours Helen Sibley had been waiting at Northport Junction. Luckily the evening was pleasant, so that she was not compelled to sit in the stuffy, dingy little station. There was just one pretty thing about Northport Junction, and that was Helen. If the train for which she was waiting ever came and ever departed again, Northport Junction would resume its habit of being about as unlovely a spot as one might find within the temperate zone.

While Helen remained the place would possess one attraction that would have lent distinction to a far more important and a far more splendid center of activity than the Junction was ever likely to become.

The operator in the bay window that jutted out into the point of land between the branching tracks evidently had an eye for beauty as well as an ear for Morse. As Helen walked up and down the platform he watched her and became thoughtful. He wondered why it was that nature bestowed her gifts so lavishly upon some girls and treated others so shabbily. The beauty that Helen possessed might have made a dozen plain girls fair if it had been distributed among them. Such was the operator's reasoning. The operator at Northport Junction was a philosopher.

But Helen was not thinking of philosophy, and if she had noticed that the operator was eagerly watching her the fact neither added to her pleasure nor caused her annoyance. For some reason she was thinking of Tom Harlow. Perhaps it was because of the loneliness of her surroundings. It was nearly a year since she had refused to listen when Tom had said that he could "explain everything in good time," and for months she had thought that she was never going to have any interest in him again.

Thinking of Tom naturally caused her to think of Mrs. Danforth, the pretty, young grass-widow who had come between them. There was something mysterious about Mrs. Danforth. People talked about her, but nobody seemed to know just why. She had come to Springfield a stranger and she had been careful to leave her past behind her. It had not taken her long to find friends, and she was quickly admitted to the best social circles. With plenty of money, she lived at the most fashionable hotel, she entertained lavishly, and her clothes were the talk of the town. Then, one day, she disappeared, and on the following morning Tom Harlow told Helen that it had become necessary for him to go to Chicago.

She Was Thinking of Tom Harlow.

A week later he returned, but a substantial citizen of Springfield had returned before him. The substantial citizen had seen Tom and Mrs. Danforth together in Chicago. Of course Tom had assured Helen that it was all right, but he had not explained. He had merely promised to do so "in good time." And Helen had naturally decided that the "good time" could never come. So Tom went away.

She thought over all this as she impatiently waited at Northport Junction. A dozen times she tried to fix her thoughts on other things, but always they turned back to the old subject. She became angry with herself, at last, and more for the purpose of trying to forget Tom Harlow than with the hope of obtaining information she went into the station and asked the operator if it was likely that the train for Medford would arrive on time.

"She's just reported fifty minutes late," the operator informed her. "There's a washout up the road."

Helen turned away with a feeling of hopelessness and went outside again. If Northport had looked dismal to her before, it now seemed desolate. While she was trying to count the appalling number of minutes that she would have to wait, she heard the whistle of an engine away up the curve around the hill on the main line.

When the long train stopped at the Junction Helen saw a man step down from one of the Pullman cars away at the rear. She paid no attention to him, supposing he was a passenger who had merely stepped off to get a breath of fresh air, but after the train had gone on she noticed that the man was walking slowly down the cinder path beside the track toward the station. For a moment she gazed at him, and then hurried inside. It was Tom Harlow, carrying a suit-case.

Selecting the darkest corner in the station, Helen sat down, turned her back toward the door, and waited, hoping that no one would come in and fearing something that she could not have explained. Her corner was so dark, and she remained so silent that Tom entered without noticing her.

"When does the train leave for Medford?" he asked at the ticket window.

"It's pretty hard to tell," the operator replied. "She's reported fifty minutes late, but there's a washout up the road, and she may be held up all night."

"That's encouraging," Tom remarked. "What I've seen of this place doesn't make me yearn to spend the night here. Where's the town?"

"This is it."

"Isn't there a hotel of any kind?"

"No, nothing in that line except the farm house half a mile down the track, here the night operator and I board."

"I suppose there's no hack?"

"None that I've ever heard of."

"What time do you light up here? They ought to let you use plenty of oil in such a lonesome place as this. It's getting pretty dark."

"Just a minute. Here's my call."

The operator turned to his instruments and Tom Harlow waited at the ticket window, hoping there might be encouraging news concerning the train for Medford; but he was doomed to be disappointed.

"I guess you may as well make up your mind to hang around here all night," said the operator after the instrument had ceased clicking (he spoke rather loudly for Helen's benefit); "they say the track is washed out in half a dozen places. There's been a cloud-burst."

While Tom drummed with his fingertips upon the ledge of the ticket window the operator lighted the lamp in his office and then proceeded to illuminate the waiting room, which served for both men and women.

For a moment after the light had been turned on Tom Harlow looked silently at Helen, who sat with her back toward him, her head bent and her face hidden in her hands. The operator turned to his instruments, which were clicking frantically.

"Helen," Tom said very tenderly after he had paused beside her.

She looked up at him, and he saw that there were tears in her eyes. He reached for one of her hands, but she drew away from him and shrank a little farther into her corner.

"Helen," he said again, "I've come to explain to you. I supposed you were already at Medford. I was going there to tell you."

She stood up, and when he again attempted to take her hand in his she did not object.

"Let's go outside," he suggested, "outside, under the stars, where I can tell you everything—where nothing will be between us and heaven."

The operator was busy, and did not notice that the waiting room was empty.

"You see, Helen, it was necessary for Mrs. Danforth to take somebody into her confidence," Tom said. "For some reason she selected me. Her former husband, who was a scalawag, had informed the secret service agents that she had been smuggling jewelry. It was merely a case of blackmail. She had refused to support him and he tried to get her to buy him off. She needed somebody to help her establish an alibi, and at the same time she didn't want the story of her trouble to get out. So she drafted me into her service, and I couldn't very well beg off. She was a woman in distress, that was all."

"But why didn't you tell me before?" Helen asked.

"She had asked me not to tell anybody until she gave me permission to do so."

"Then she has given you permission—and you have seen her again?"

"No, I have neither seen her nor heard from her. The man has made a confession, and the whole story is in the papers."

She walked away from him, crossed the platform and stood for a long time, looking at the silent hills that lay deep in the gathering shadows of the night. At length she turned, came half way back to him, and then stopped. He approached her, held out his arms, and asked:

"Don't you believe I have told you the truth, Helen—that I have told you all there is to tell?"

She did not speak, but put her arms about his neck and laid her neck against his breast, while his arms closed about her. Thus for a long time they stood beneath the stars.

When they returned to the waiting room the operator informed them that the train for Medford would arrive in ten minutes.

At Medford Helen had friends, and at Medford there were preachers.

SPORTING EPITAPHS

Famous English Jockey's Stone Says "It's the Pace That Kills"

"Sporting" epitaphs are much more common than is generally supposed. In the venerable church of St. Michael's, Coventry, the memory of John Parkes is kept green. John, we are told, was "a man of a mild disposition, a gladiator by profession, who, after having fought 600 battles in the principal parts of Europe, with honor and applause, at length quitted the stage, sheathed his sword, and with Christian resignation submitted to the Grand Victor, in the 62nd year of his age, Ann. 1733."

A tombstone in Harborne churchyard testifies to the unique skill with knuckles and feet of Robert Bretiel, a worthy prize fighter, and the old sexton states that there are annually thousands of pilgrims and admirers from the Black Country.

In the churchyard of St. Gregory the Great, at Canterbury, there is a monument of Fuller Pilch, the one-time famous cricketer. He is represented in his professional costume, with bat in hand, the middle stump being down to symbolise that he has been "bowled out."

George Fordham, the famous jockey, of whom Hodgman, the Turf chronicler, wrote,—"Taking him all in all his superior has not appeared in my time," chose his own epitaph. "It's the pace that kills."

Built by Guelphites

The Anderson Memorial building in connection with the Claire Lepar Asylum at Clandkuri, India, of which the superintendent is W. H. P. Anderson, a son of the deceased Guelphite for whom the building was dedicated, has an inscription stone built into the wall bearing the name of the building, and stating that it was erected by friends in Guelph, Canada.

Electricity in Arabia

A modern electric plant has been installed in the palace of the Sultan at Oman, Arabia. This is the first instance of the operation of electricity of any sort in that country. The innovation was brought about by an electrical promoter from Hyderabad, India.

ONTARIO'S VASTNESS

Few people realize what a tremendous province Ontario is. It extends for nearly twelve hundred miles from east to west and over a thousand miles from south to north. The northernmost point of Ontario is as far north of Toronto as New Orleans is south. Ontario is over three times the area of Great Britain and Ireland, is almost exactly twice as large as France, and is almost twice as large as the Empire of Germany. Inside of the territory of Ontario could be got all six of the New England states—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, the empire state of New York, the great states of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and North and South Dakota, and yet room would be left for the State of New Jersey.

Oldest City in World

The great archeological authority, Sir William Ramsay, considers the oldest city in the world to be the city of Iconium, or Konia, in Asia Minor. The traditions of the place go back even beyond the flood to the time of King Nannakos, who was told by the oracle that when he died there should come a mighty deluge in which all men should perish.

NEW BOOTS AND COMFORT

The business girl who is walking or standing more or less all day, and has no opportunity of resting her feet by wearing cosy slippers, is very dependent on her street shoes for her comfort. Much walking or standing enlarges the feet, and as soon as the days grow warmer the feet are likely to swell. If possible, then, new shoes should be bought at this season and worn a little, so that they will not pinch when they come into daily wear. It is very uncomfortable and a frequent source of blisters as well as of worn stockings when shoes are too large, but they must not be too small, and so the trying-on should always be done with thick stockings and when the feet are at their largest—towards evening. If the stockings fit badly the shoes may be blamed for the consequent discomfort. To ease new shoes stuff them with paper and sponge them for some time with hot water. If they press on any special spot wring a cloth out of hot water and apply it to the leather at the part that is strained.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The proposal of the Senate to reject the Naval Bill looks like a plot to slip a bunch of firecrackers with the tail pocket of Jack Canuck.

"Sweet are the odors of spring," remarks a poetical writer in the Examiner. Well, depends entirely on the character of the rubbish the neighbors burn in their back yards.

Sir Wilfrid makes a great boast about the preservation of Canada's "autonomy." What about his indecent haste to make Canada an "adjunct of the United States?"

The burning of a threater in Montreal during the performance a few nights ago was progably the result of the management putting on an usually hot play

It is not yet known what the personal fortune of J. Pierpont Morgan amounts to, but the feeling prevails in Wall street that he will continue to add to it, despite the fact that he is dead.

Sir Wilfrid's recent conduct and his apparent attitude to the Mother Country have been such that in Canadian histosy he will fill a much less honourable niche than Canadians generally were hitherto willing to grant him.

President Wilson, of the United States, has made anothes strong bid for popularity by delivering to Congress a message of only about twelve hundred words. In the past the people were compelled to read presidential messages on the installment plan, hence they greatly appreciate the relief he has given them.

The Ottawa Free Press, Liberal, which for weeks has been hysterically demanding a general election now admits the Liberals are now anxious for one. That savours for a crawl. The fact is the Liberals are afraid to face Canadian public opinion at the present. All talk otherwise is merely bluff.

POLICY IS VINDICATED

During the election campaign of 1911, the Conservative politicians and newspapers stated that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had selected a most inopportune time to make a reciprocity bargain with the United States, in view of the fact that the Democratic Party in the United States was likely to come into power on a policy of tariff revision downwards, and that Canada would get much of the advantage claimed by Liberals for the reciprocity pact without the disadvantage of interlocking tariffs. The prediction has come true. The Democrats swept the country, and the Wilson Tariff Bill is now before Congress. It contains sweeping reductions in the duties on many articles, while others are placed on the free list.

Even ardent Liberals must be prone to admit, if only by themselves that Sir Wilfrid was an unsafe guide so far as reciprocity was concerned. Why, therefore, should they regard him as a safer guide on Naval matters than Mr. Borden is?

MILITARY AIR FLEETS

Just after Mr. Churchill had made his suggestion of a year's holiday in regard to naval activity, and following close upon Germany's enormous increase in her military budget, comes the announcement that Germany's new budget provides for an expenditure of about $35,000,000 upon military and naval aviation. Under the new scheme Germany is to have two naval squadrons of four airships each, and fifty aeroplanes, divided into seven fleets; while the military air-craft increases will provide thirty new airships and two hundred and fifty aeroplanes. Britain thought that her proposed expenditure of about $4,250,000 upon air-craft was large enough, but in view of Germany's action there has been a sudden change of opinion. It is true that only a few days ago Colonel Seely, the British Minister of War, declared that the British army had developed the most perfect aeroplane in the world, and one which can go anywhere from forty to ninety miles an hour. But there are not wanting those who question very much whether Great Britain is a breast of Germany and France in airship construction, and who declare that, as far as can be ascertained, there are few good aeroplanes or aeroplane pilots in England at present. Aeroplanes cannot well be concealed, and if there are plenty of them in England the public wonders where they are. It is rather peculiar that just at this juncture a large German dirigible should have become damaged and been forced to descend in French territory, where, no doubt, a most thorough examination was made of it, and probably by this time the secret of its construction is fully known to the French Government. And now begins another national race as to which nation shall own the most and the best airships—and the taxpayer will foot the bills as usual. Truly keeping the peace seems almost as costly as war.

KEEP THE CHILDREN'S BOWELS CLEAN NOW

If Tongue is Coated, Stomach Sour, Breath Feverish, Bowels Clogged, Give "Syrup of Figs."

Children dearly love to take delicious "Syrup of Figs" and nothing else cleans and regulates their tender little stomachs, liver and 30 feet of bowels so promptly and thoroughly

Children get bilious and constipated just like grown-ups. Then they get sick, the tongue is coated, stomach spur, breath bad; they don't eat or rest well; they become feverish, cross, irritable and don't want to play. Listen mothers—for your children's sake don't force the little one to swallow nauseating castor oil, violent calomel or harsh irritants like Cathartir pills. A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs will have your child smiling and happy again in just a few hours. Syrup of Figs will gently clean, sweeten and regulate the stomach, make the liver active and move on and out of the bowels all the constipated matter, the sour bile, the foul, clogged-up waste and poisons, without causing cramps or griping.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging or injuring your children. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

TO IMPROVE OVAL.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—You are giving good sporting dope now: keep at it. I would suggest that the many ball players who now frequent the diamond at Nicholl's Oval, would appreciate it if a wire netting were placed behind the home plate, to prevent loss of time and lost balls which cost money. This would not cost much and would save Mr. Kitney's grass from being trampled down.

THE POWER OF THE JESUIT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, The present Pope is in every real sense a Jesuit. It took a Jesuit in character to enforce the decree against modern liberty. If that decree had come out at the time of the Reformation there would have been no Reformation. But the Jesuits were not in existence then. They were not created until it was found that liberty was gaining a dangerous foothold. It has taken them a long time to get fairly on their legs, but they think that they have at last got dominion over the world—at any rate, over the world of religion.

The Jesuit has regained ascendancy in his own communion. He is once more the accredited agent of the Papacy. He believes in no half measures. He is the equal of any man in education, and the superior of most in untiring zeal and devotion. He is the pretorian general who makes and unmakes emperors, i.e., popes. With 265 millions of Roman Catholics behind him, the Jesuit is an opponent to be feared. He is putting his emissaries in all controlling positions. He is making up for lost time. The recent decision by the courts in the marriage case was against him, but what he failed to accomplish in the House of Commons he is trying in the Legislatures. If he fails in the Tremblay case he will get a setback even in Quebec. This is wholly a provincial case, but it interests every man and woman in Canada.

C. H. PENNEFATHER ELECTED PRESIDENT

credit for their excellent work in connection with the industrial department of this city, and offered that the time had arrived for the Board of Trade to give the City Fathers its wholehearted support in promoting the progress and welfare of Peterborough. There are, he said, many ways in which the board could advance this city's interests; for instance, now is an opportune time for assisting the Park Commission. In conclusion the retiring president hoped a large and representative membership roll would result from this year's activities, and thought the fee should be $5 or $10.

Vote of Thanks.

On motion of Messrs. Dobbin and Cameron, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Eastwood for his valued services as president the past two years.

Officers Elected.

President—Mr. C. H. Pennefather, manager of the Union Bank of Canada.

Vice-President—Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr.

Treasurer—Mr. Jas. Hamilton.

Secretary—T. Q. Quartermaine, pro tem.

In connection with the secretary's office, Messrs. F. D. Kerr and G. O. Cameron moved Mr. Quartermaine's re-appointment.

Mr. Pennefather, however, while highly appreciating the past services of Mr. Quartermaine, thought that in view of the aggressive policy determined upon for this year, it might be advisable to appoint as permanent secretary a young man, who would devote his whole time to the office, at a commensurate salary. Mr. Pennefather therefore moved that this question be left in abeyance until a more general meeting of the board, and that Mr. Quartermaine be appointed secretary, pro tem. This resolution carried.

Committee to Strike the Standing Committees.

Messrs. Pennefather, J. J. Turner, and James Hamilton were appointed a committee to strike the standing committees.

Hand in Glove With Council.

On motion of Messrs. Eastwood and Morris, the board placed on record its hearty approval of Council's agreement with the Vermont Marble Co. and the members one and all endorsed the by-law to aid the company in establishing its Canadian branch here.

President Pennefather, Vice-President J. J. Turner, and Treasurer, Jas. Hamilton were authorized to name a committee of five members of the Board of Trade to assist Council in getting out the majority vote for the Vermont Marble Co. by-law on Tuesday next.

Thanks to Council.

On motion of Messrs. Hamilton and Eastwood, a vote of thanks was tendered the City Council for the use of the Council Chamber in which to hold the board's meetings

Good Roads.

Ald Duffus here suggested that the board might seriously think of taking action to secure the co-operation of the local Auto Association, the Motor League, Peterborough City Council, and other interested municipalities, in bringing pressure to bear upon the legislature to assist in constructing a good road from Port Hope to Peterborough for auto travel. Were this road put into decent shape, argued Ald. Duffus, many people travelling along the lake front would auto into Peterborough.

Ald. Gillespie concurred in Ald. Duffus' views. Not infrequently, he said, millionaires and representatives of wealthy American industrial concerns auto along the lake front, and a good road from Port Hope to Peterborough would induce them to run into this city. This would advertise Peterborough, and might incidentally be the means of securing the location in our midst of additional new industries.

President Pennefather thought the scheme a good one, and contended that no opportunity for advertising Peterborough and attracting attention to it from industrial magnates should be lost sight of. We have everything here from which to construct a big city, and in these days of commercial and industrial expansion there is no reason why Peterborough should be behind in the race with other Ontario towns and cities for the acquisition of new industries, and general advancement.

The President and Ald. Duffus will go further into this question and report for subsequent action.

The board here adjourned.

CANADIAN MAILS TO BE CARRIED ALTOGETHER BY BRITISH VESSELS

Atlantic Mail Contract for Coming Year Provides for Largely Improved Service With Only Moderately Increased Subsidy.

Signal success has attended the efforts of the Canadian Government to bring together by a better mail service the Mother Country and the Dominion and the announcement made in the House of Commons that Canadian steamers will handle all mail from Canada between this country and Great Britain will be welcomed by all.

There has been inaugurated by the Post Office Department working in conjunction with the Hon. George Perley the Acting Minister of Trade and Commerce, a tri-weekly service in summer and a bi-weekly service in winter. The statement was one of the most interesting and important to the general business interests of the country, that has come this session.

FOUR COMPANIES.

The new contract is with four steamship companies, the Allan Line, C.P.R., C.N.R., and White Star Dominion Line. These companies combined will have twelve steamers at the service of Government in summer and eight in winter. This is all the more important as it will be remembered that there have been but four steamers in the mail service in the past and for that reason it was necessary to send a large part of the mail to New York. But now after the first of May of the present year all mail will leave by Canadian ports, Montreal and Quebec in the summer, St. John and Halifax in the winter. In order that there will be no delays in the winter season a extra boat belonging to the White Star Line will maintain the schedule.

MEANS CLOSEST RELATIONS.

The arrangement altogether is very satisfactory for the Canadian people. It assures not only better business relations with the Mother Country but also better social relations. Letters can now pass more freely and quickly and with the large number of emigrants from England the usefulness of such a scheme cannot be gainsaid. The business relations can also be increased. When it will be remembered that during last winter a better cable arrangement was also entered into by the Government between England and Canada, it is apparent that a business government is holding the reins of power in Ottawa. Canada is developing rapidly and to keep pace with that is the problem which the present Government is solving effectively.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16353½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

BASEBALL

The Montreal club has turned Pitcher Frost back to Cincinnati, owing to lack of condition, and has secured instead Pitcher Burch of Cincinnati, and Pitcher Sullivan of Washington.

According to the Toronto reports Hank Groh, former Bison, who is now with the Giants, will be with the Leaves before the International league opens. It is said Groh will take Holly's place at short.

CINDER TRACK.

E. Meraedith, of the University of Pennsylvania and a member of the American Olympic team, established a new American indoor record for 600 yards at the games in the Loughlin Lyceum in the First Regiment armory in Brooklyn. Meredith did the distance in one minute, 13 4-5 seconds, clipping 1-5 of a second off the record held by Abel Kiviat and Harry Giesing.

FOOTBALL

New Haven, April 15.—Friends of Maurice Bennett Flynn, the former Yale fullback, who eloped with Irene Leary, a New York chorus girl, shortly after the football season, said tonight that they were certain he was now in Italy, that he had left his bride and that his parents would make formal application for the annulment of his marriage soon on the ground that he was under age.

For several weeks he refused to leave the girl, but his father, who is president of a New York construction company, learned facts which caused Lefty to change his mind.

Yale friends of the young man expect that he will return to Yale next fall, after the marriage annulment has been secured. He was one of the best athletes in Yale and his return will be joyously celebrated by the undergraduates, coaches and captains.

Tim Flood, the former Brooklyn and Toronto infielder, has been signed to manage the Winnipeg team in the new Northern league.

It is expected that Pitcher Her- a six footer, who twirls from the right side, will earn a place on the Toronto staff of flingers. He uses lots of speed and is already curving the ball in practice. Manager Kelly is greatly impressed with him.

Chief Meyers, catcher for the New York Giants, has perfected a snap throw to first base, in imitation of the squat throw which has made Jimmy Archer of the Chicago Cubs famous. Meyers expects to keep opposing base-runners hugging the initial sack this season.

Unusual complications are possible under the new ownership of the Grand Rapids Central League Club. Both President W. F. Essick and Manager Ed Smith of the club are pitcher and expect to take their regular turns on the slab.

Some day the president may be yielding too many hits to suit the manager. Then Smith will order Essick to the bench. Will the president submit or will he hand Smith his release?

WHY A "FAN?"

The word "fan" has created much dispute in the past. Many have wondered what the word meant. To some there is a hazy idea that it refers to a fan such as ladies carry to the theater. So a writer sought out the originator of the expression—Ted Sullivan, scout of the Chicago White Sox and incidentally a lecturer of note.

"I coined that word twenty years ago in St. Louis," said Sullivan. "I was managing St. Louis Browns at the time and had under me such celebrated players as Charlie Comisky, Arlie Latham and others.

"We were continually pestered with a man who kept hanging around and trying to butt into the private life of the players. We simply couldn't rid ourselves of him. He would try to get into the club house to chat with the players, and got so he wanted to come into my office to chat about baseball, its history and the like.

"One day an attendant came into my room and stated, 'That fellow's here again. What shall I do with him?'

WHAT FAN MEANS.

"'That fanatic again?' I exclaimed. So after that we began calling him the fanatic. This was too long so finally shortened it to fan. The newspapers got onto it and started by using the word. It spread to other cities and before long came to include all those interested in baseball. To-day a 'fan' would consider himself insulted if you called him a fanatic. But that's where the word was derived."

President Murphy of the Chicago Cubs also has original ideas about the average fan. He believes that the greater a man hollers against anything connected with the game the more certain he is this man is a fan.

FUEL SUPPLY OF THE WEST

Unlimited Gas Well Wasting its Flow in One Spot and Coal Beds Afire for Century

Over a dozen years ago a party of oil-diggers were sent by the Geological Survey of Canada into what was then an almost unknown part of the North-West Territories, to find if the reported existence of petroleum in the Far North was a fact.

An oil-boring outfit was finally set up at Pelican Rapids, on the Athabasca River, and put to work. When the drill had reached a depth of 320 feet it struck gas. The flow was so great that it drove back iron balls that were dropped down the pipe, and the noise of the escaping gas could sometimes be heard two or three miles away. It did not lessen any, and the men were at length compelled to abandon the effort.

The next year they came back, hoping to find the gas run out enough to allow them to resume boring. But when they had cleaned out the hole and drilled only seventeen feet further the gas escape recommenced with such intensity that again they were forced to stop.

Burning for Years

After they went, some one came along and lighted the jet. It is still burning. Report has it that it has been burning continuously, but it is more likely to have been extinguished now and then during the past dozen years and re-lighted by settlers and passers-by. That the gas flow is undiminishd, however, is quite certain, for there is a flame nearly fifty feet high and of very substantial circumference.

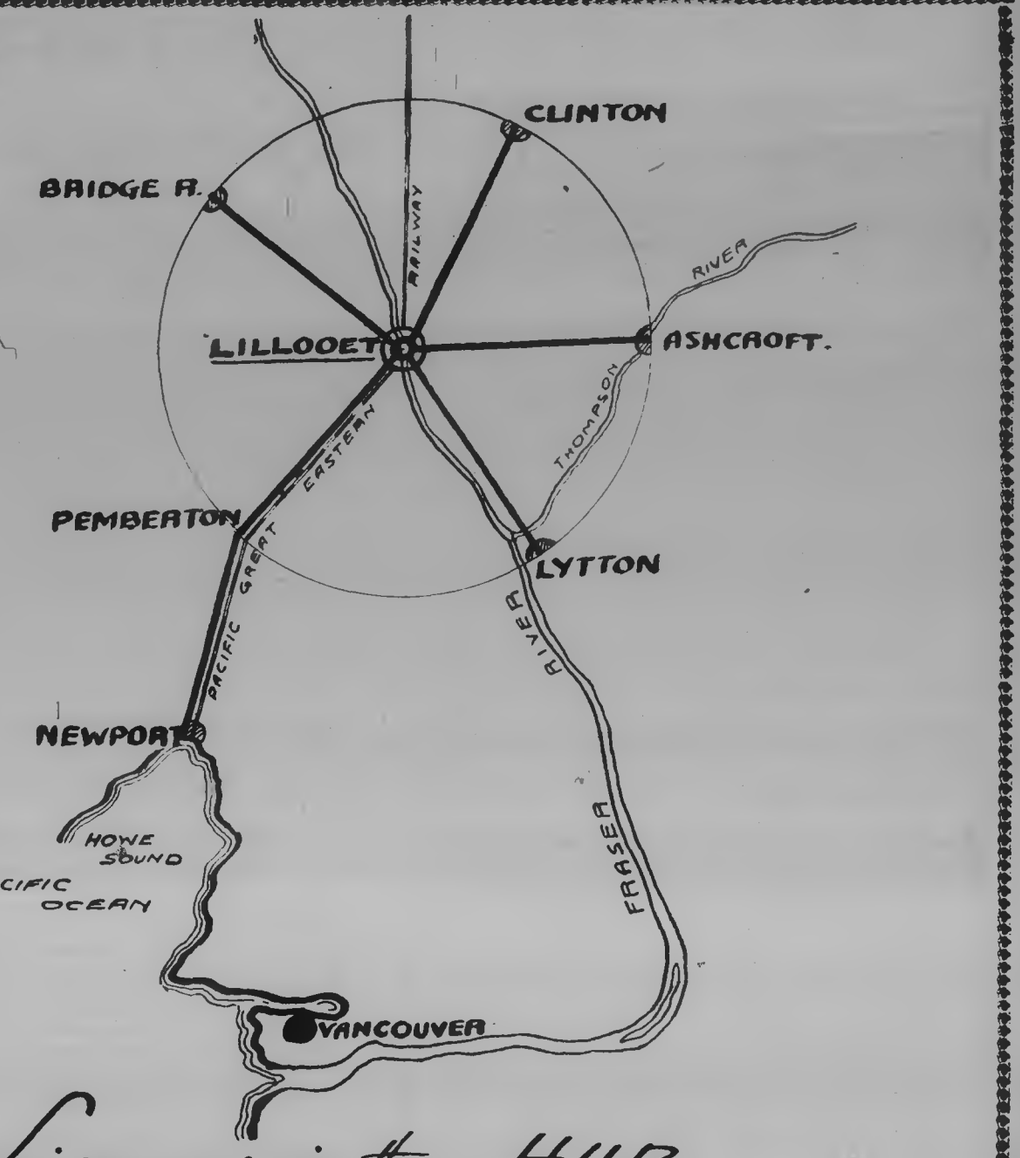
The Athabasca River, in whose vicinity this effusive gas supply is found, is one of the great waterways of the new North. The Peace and Mackenzie Rivers make up with it a trio that mean almost everything to the industrial future of the North-West, and among their good points is the fact that they all run through belts of gas, oil, tar, and coal lands. There is, for instance, in the Athabasca district, a tract of a hundred thousand square miles that is saturated with petroleum.

Gas, Oil, Tar, and Coal

Coal, oil, and gas are the three wonder riches of that far corner of the Empire. It has been supposed to yield chiefly furs and pelts, but these other products are quite as native and far more valuable. Their whole north land above the present line of rail is a region of mineral wealth, which, in its nearer limits, takes the form of the largest gas and oil reserves in the world, and, farther north, of coal beds no one knows how large. About two hundred miles from the Arctic Circle there is a coal area, on the Mackenzie River, that has been on fire for a hundred years. It has been slowly burning from within, and spreading, until now the fire has covered some twenty miles, showing a broken line of low, mysterious earthflame that at night is one of the grandest and weirdest of northern sights.

AN IMMENSE ORCHARD

Fourteen Hundred Acres of British Columbia Fruit Farm



Among the largest individual orchards in British Columbia is that owned by J. D. Anderson, about fourteen miles from Rossland.

Here he owns 1,400 acres, which he purchased when land was cheap, from the Provincial Government. On this tract he cleared 120 acres and 120 of this was planted with 11,000 fruit threes and about 4,000 small fruits including raspberry, blackberry, currant and gooseberry bushes.

A majority of the trees are of the known popular commercial varieties which give the best results in British Columbia. For instance, he has 3,000 Jonathans, 3,000 Mackintoshes, and 2,500 Northern Spies.

Trees are planted with a surveyor's transit and a 300-foot steel tape, and from whatever angle they are looked at present symetrical appearance. A few acres are donated to potatoes and other vegetables, and more to clover which yields an immense crop.

Besides fruit, Mr. Anderson has 500 White Leghorn chickens, a number of pedigree Berkshire hogs, a large flock of ducks and five hives of bees, which number of swarms will naturally increase. Bees are a necessary part of the orchardist's plant, as they aid in fertilizing the blossoms by carrying the pollen from one tree to another. Experienced men are constantly employed in and about the orchard which has been carried along on the best scientific lines, and such a thing as to make a failure almost impossible.

A NIOBE "HANDYMAN"

Sailor Assists Engineman Repair Broken Crank Shaft

It's common knowledge what a handy man the British Jack tar is when occasion demands. One of the crew of H. M. C. S. Niobe, however, during a train trip between Ottwa and Montreal, assumed an entirely new role as handyman in time of need.

The driving crank of the engine broke down. The engineer, who was evidently something of a mechanic too, worked hard but unavailingly to repair it.

As is usual in such cases there were no lack of suggestions submitted to the engineer as to how to go about his work. Amongst the trains passengers was the sailor from the Niobe. He watched the engineer with the rest of the passengers for some time then politely asked if he could lend a hand, explaining that he held the rank of ship's mechanic on the Niobe, which was corroborated by the decorations on his coat sleeve. The engineer said he would appreciate any help that would get the engine running again and the sailor mechanic rolled up his sleeves, got down to work, and very soon the train was speeding on its way.

LARGEST CLOCK IN THE DOMINION

Huge Time-Piece in Vancouver Guaranteed to be Accurate—Twenty two Foot Faces

The clock that claims the title of the "largest in Canada was installed in the tower of the Vancouver Block on Granville Street, Vancouver, B.C. The four faces of this clock are each twenty-two feet in diameter. The glass contained in the dial weighs four ons, and is seven-eighths of an inch in thickness. The minute hands are eleven feet long and the hour hands about eight feet.

The clock is controlled by a master clock, which is situated on the ninth story of the building. This master clock transmits its time to the large clock in the tower. It is fitted with a pilot dial, which shows at all times the exact position of the hands in the tower piece. The master clock in turn receives its time through a synchronizing attachment, which delivers McGill observatory time once every minute, thereby assuring accuracy.

Machinery for operating this huge timepiece is all set in the clock tower. It consists in the main of a motor, which propels the hands. This motor is controlled by a magnet attachment, which only permits it to run for a period of fifteen seconds, this being the time required for the large hand to travel one-sixtieth part of the circumference of the dial. Thus the hands are still for forty-five out of every sixty seconds.

Every point of friction in the clock—from the motor to the crown gear and hands—is fitted with ball bearings. The clock can be set either from the office of the superintendent or in the tower.

The hour marks are a single bar ten inches wide and about four feet long. They are left blank, no numerals being painted on them. The dial is constructed of strucural steel, and not, as in most of the older clocks of the country, of cast-iron. The minute divisions of the clock are five and one-half inches wide and about one foot long. The hands are made of aluminum.

The clock was erected at a cost of more than $10,000.

HOUSEWIVES' HINTS

A teaspoonful of borax to a quart of water will make hard water soft, so that it can be used for washing the most delicate skin.

If grease is spilled upon the kitchen stove throw a handful of salt upon it and it will prevent any disagreeable odor arising.

After peeling vegetables, to remove the stains from the hands, take a piece of the peeling and rub the stains before washing the hands.

When baking cakes or scones, if the soda is dissolved in a little boiling milk it prevents the disagreeable lumps which are so often seen.

If you use an oil or gas stove keep a box of sand at hand in case of an accident. Sand will extinguish burning oil when water will only increase the flames.

Permanganate of potash will cleanse dirty filters of all impurities. A solution should be passed through the filter until it comes out as pink as when it was poured in.

Instead of putting food into the oven to keep hot for latecomers, try covering it closely with a tin, and set over a basin of hot water. This plan will keep the food hot, and at the same time prevent it from drying.

Always read the label on a medicine bottle every time you give a dose, and no matter how well you know the bottle. Bottles bear a great external similarity to one another, but their contents are generally vastly different.

The Sable Lorcha

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promises a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, finds the head of Cameron's portrait nailed to a tree, where it has been used as a target. Clyde pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the bowl of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER VIII.—The yacht picks up a fisherman found drifting helplessly in a boat. He gives the name of Johnson. Cameron disappears from yacht while Clyde's back is turned.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature, who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron'r letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron. Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary crew in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries: "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde call on Miss Clement for promised information and find that the Chinaman who was to give it has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read it after he leaves the mission and then destroy it. It tells of the abduction of a white man by Chinese who shipped him back to China. The man is accused of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha" in which 100 Chinamen were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they supposed they had shipped to China throws consternation into the Chinese. The brougham in which Clyde and Evelyn are riding is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is seized by Murphy and a fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde are rescued by the police and return home.

"By what right, Mr. Yup, do you make the assertion that my friend and your enemy are one?"

With a supercilious arrogance of manner that maddened me to the limit of self-control, he made reply.

"I was coming to that, Mr. Clyde, when you so unfortunately lost your temper. In stating the purpose of our visit I think I informed you that it was two-fold. In the first place, we came to give what you had asked for—information. In the second place, we came to request something from you—assistance. The motive of the threatening letters which Mr. Cameron received, I think I have made clear. For sixteen years my people, the kinsfolk of the victims of the Sable Lorcha, have searched the world for the fiend who brought upon them a sorrow beyond any that you of the Occident can understand. To us of the Celestial Empire the tombs of our fathers are very dear. McNish robbed these men not only of life but of decent burial."

"That is all very well," I exclaimed, impatiently, "but can't you see that a terrible mistake has been made? Why under heaven you should fancy that in Mr. Cameron, a gentleman to his finger-tips, you have found this outlaw McNish is incomprehensible."

Once more Yup Sing smiled his icy smile and the Vice Consul made as if to speak, but thinking better of it, apparently, maintained his stolid silence.

"You were coming to that," I urged.

"The man to whom McNish boasted of his deed was the man who identified him. They had been partners in the Far East in the trade of smuggling coolies. The one, I have no doubt, was no better than the other; yet we believe that our informant was neither directly nor indirectly concerned in the particular piece of brutality of which I have told you. Eventually, he and McNish quarrelled and parted. For some years he lost all trace of him; and then by accident, one day he came upon him, here in America, living in a palace on Long Island Sound and masquerading under a new name."

"A resemblance!" I cried, in a passion of indignation. "A mere resemblance! And on that you and your people conspire to torment and abduct a purely innocent man. Was ever such an outrage heard of! Every one of you shall pay dear for this error."

I might have been the fire wood sputtering on the hearth for all the effect my vehemence had upon that precious pair of Mongolians.

"We understand," the spokesman resumed, "that your friend managed in some way to escape from his captors, and is now in this house."

"Yes," I resumed, hotly. "He's here, more dead than alive unfortunately; but he is coming around slowly and will be quite able to testify when the time comes."

"Mr. Chen Mok," he proceeded, calmly, "has communicated with the State Department at Washington, and the United States authorities are now only waiting our word to put your good, gentlemanly friend under arrest, Mr. Clyde, for the crime he committed on the high seas, sixteen years ago."

For a moment I stared at them in silent amazement.

"You're both mad," I exploded at length, "both crazy. Do you think for one moment I believe such rot as that? Even if what you say were possible—and it isn't—you would have to identify the accused by something better than the mere word of a man who hadn't seen him for years. Of what use would such an identification be against the testimony of Mr. Cameron's life-long friends?"

"Since you doubt our ability to identify," was Mr. Yup's prompt rejoinder, "I may add that there are two marks of identification, which must, I think, convince even yourself."

I laughed grimly. So that was their game! For nearly a month Cameron had been their prisoner. In that time they had examined, inspected, inventoried him. His scars, moles, birthmarks had been listed, and were now to be used to identify him with a renegade murderer of Chinese coolies.

I told my slant-eyed visitors that their trick was transparent. But they only looked at me with an expression which seemed half pity and half contempt.

"Did you ever observe a tattoo mark on your friend's left forearm?" asked Mr. Chen Mok.

"Never," I answered.

"He has one there."

"I am willing to wager something valuable he hasn't a tattoo mark anywhere on his person," I retorted, "and I'll prove it in five minutes."

"We shall be glad to have the proof," said Yup Sing.

Once more I pressed the button at the side of the chimney-piece, and once again Checkabeedy appeared in the doorway.

"You telephoned?" I asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Very good, now send Mr. Bryan to me here, at once." Then turning to Cameron's accusers, I explained: "Mr. Bryan, for whom I have just sent, is nursing my friend. He would naturally know if what you say is true."

To my surprise they made no demur. Yup Sing, however, asked that he might be permitted to put to the nurse the necessary questions, and as I was perfectly confident that no incriminating answers could be given, no matter what the form of catechism, I willingly acceded.

Had I not played tennis and golf with Cameron scores of times on hot summer days when, with shirt sleeves rolled above his elbows, his forearms were bared to view? Could there by any possibility have been a tattoo mark there, and I not have seen it?

Mr. Bryan came quickly, a little puzzled, seemingly, at being called to such an audience. Purposely I kept silence, merely waving an introductory hand toward the two Chinamen.

Yup Sing tactfully explained the situation.

"A question has arisen, Mr. Bryan," he said, with more of suavity in his tone than I had hitherto observed, "whether by any chance your patient has a mark of any character whatever tattooed upon his left forearm. If you have observed such, we shall be glad if you will kindly describe it."

The nurse flung a questioning glance at me, and I nodded reassuringly. I did not wonder that he was surprised at the question.

"Is there, or is there not, such a mark?" the Oriental urged.

"There is; yes, sir."

I think, involuntarily, I started forward. I know that for just a breath I thought my ears had played me a trick. Then, suddenly, there swept back across my memory that expression of Checkabeedy's: "Who between you and me, sir, I don't trust, nohow." Could it be possible that Bryan was in the conspiracy? But only for the briefest moment did this doubt sway amid the welter of my thoughts. Into its place rolled an amazement that shocked and stunned; that checked me all standing, as it were; for Bryan was amplifying, was telling about the mark, which he had first noticed he said, on the night of his arrival, and which he had examined more closely on several occasions since.

"It's evidently a representation of some sort of sailing vessel," he explained, "with a curved hull and a single broad sail. And below it are three letters: D. M. N."

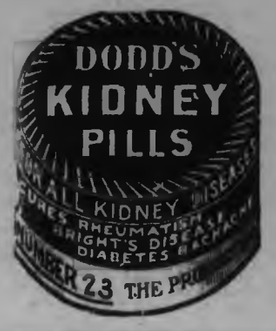
Blindly I clutched the back of a chair with both hands, for a sense of unreality oppressed me, and the room itself became waveringly unsubstantial.

It was not true, of course, this that Bryan was saying. Nothing was true. Nothing was real. It was all a nightmare; and the two gloating yellow masks were horrible dream faces.

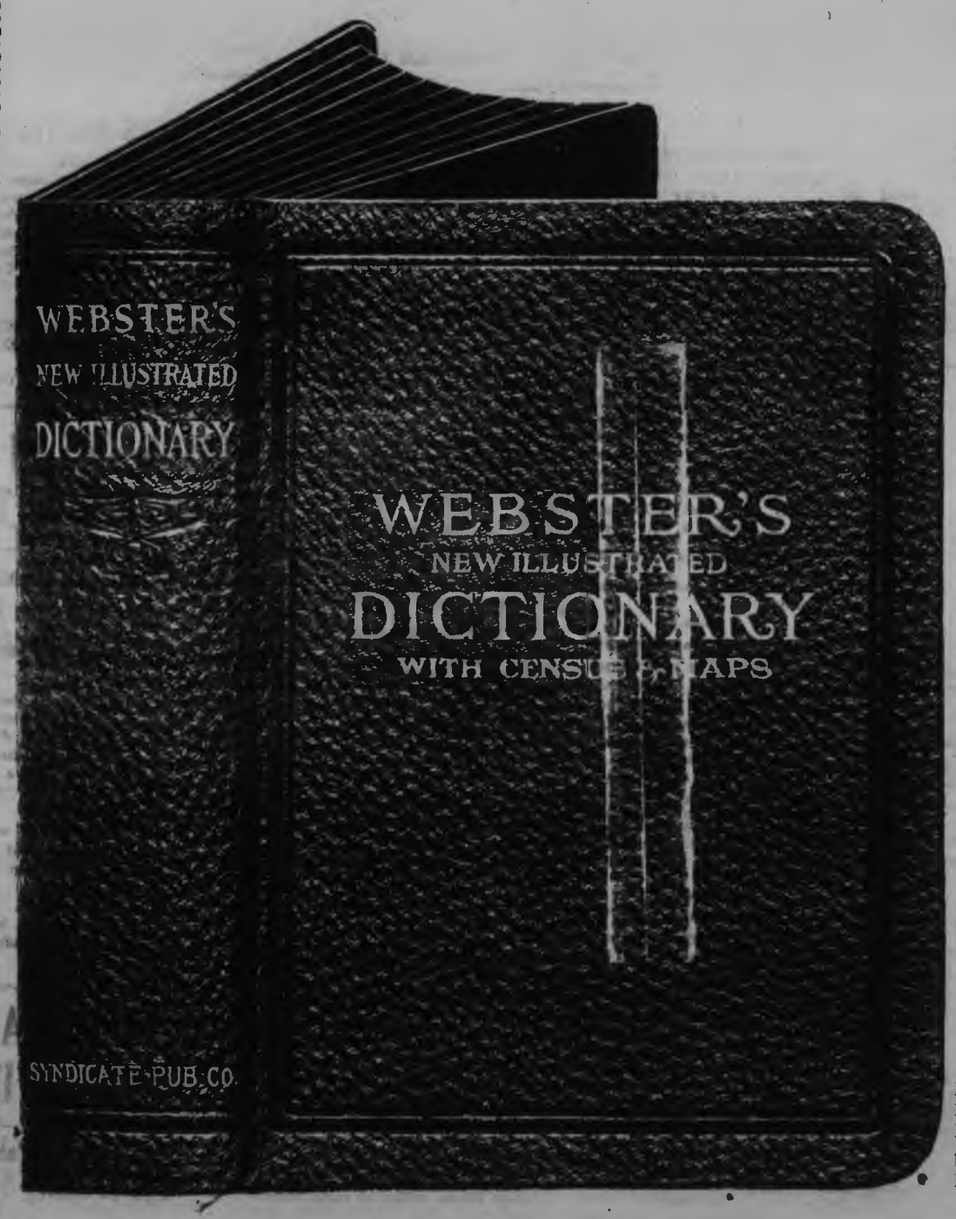
"And you have probably noticed a scar—a long livid scar?"

It was Yup Sing's voice I heard. He was still questioning the nurse. And now Bryan would make another preposterous answer, just as persons always do in dreams. I knew he would do so when he said: "Yes, sir, just between the left shoulder blade and the spinal column. It looks as though it were the mark of a deep and vicious knife slash," I was not in the least surprised.

Checkabeedy brought me back to a realization of time and place. He spoke my name in a half-whisper and I awoke again to realities with a start.



"The officers are here, sir," he informed me, matter-of-factly.



"The officers?" I repeated, and then, memory reasserting itself, I added "Oh, yes, of course. Ask them to wait just a moment, Checkabeedy."

Into the mental marshalling of facts which ensued there came a vivid memory of that weird scene in the sick-chamber when Cameron had raved in a strange tongue, mingled with words of pidgin-English and a few phrases—incriminating phrases, in the light of tonight's revelation—of vigorous vernacular. If what Bryan had said was true—and for him to lie about a matter as readily demonstrable was hardly to be considered—I must conclude myself beaten at all points. From first to last, then, I had been defending a creature unworthy of defense.

I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

ABSORBS SKIN, CHASES WRINKLES — YOUNG AGAIN

"The shock at beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks abed nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colson in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed thirty years older. Now, I thought, I could not attend my chum's wedding, eleven days off, to which I had looked hopefully forward.

"She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at the drug store, which she bade my spread on like cold cream, washing it off next morning. Applied nightly, this apparently absorbed the withered skin, so gently I experienced no discomfort. Upon the wedding morn the pallid complexion had entirely given way to one of youthful color and loveliness.

"And there wasn't a wrinkle. This due to a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. The daily face bath had dispersed every line."

Of Interest to Duck Shooters.

It may interest our readers, especially those who go duck shooting in the Fall, to note that the Ontario Government has just issued an illustrated "blue book" descriptive of the food supply of wild ducks in Northern Ontario. From this we learn that an analysis of the gizzards of "blue-bills," "buffle-heads" and "Whistlers" shows that about 45 per cent of the food of these ducks consists of valisneria seed, root and leaf, with other aoquatic plants in lesser quantities. As regards "merganser" ducks, the main food supply is dragon-fly nymphs, caddis-fly larvae and crawfish.

Navigation is open now at Lindsay. A gasoline launch has gone through the locks there, bound for Lake Scugog.

The Club Chaplain, Rev. H. G. Kingstone preached a sermon before the curlers of Lindsay, taking his text from Daniel 1st chap., 11th v.

Mr. D. A. Bird, deputy collector of Customs at Belleville, has been made an Inspector of the same Department with headquarters at Toronto.

From a blue book, just issued by the Ontario Government, we learn that the average cost of each patient daily in the two local hospitals is—Nicholls, $2.19 and St. Joseph's $1.05.

POISON GAS IN BATH HOUSE DEATH TO TWO WINNIPEG MEN

Attendants Hearing Moans From Cubicles Occupied By Patrons Find Men Dead and Third Breathing Heavily--Police Will Investigate

Winnipeg, April 15.—Kost Berkecz amd H. Skube are dead and Nicholas Wolzniak lies at the point of death to-day as the result of asphyxiation caused by escaping fumes from a vermin exterminator in use in the Ideal Bath building here.

Three of the barbers heard a moan comes from the cubicle occupied by Wolzniak. Getting further help they broke into the three cubicles.

They found Skube dead in his chair, and water running in the bath, and the dead man disrobed ready for his ablutions.

Berkecz was then discovered in the same posture, also dead, while Wolzniak was found unconscious and was breathing heavily.

The police and Dr. Berkovitch arrived and the dead men and the living one were carried out.

It is stated that hydrocyanic gas was being used, which produces a gaseous poison in which no being can live for more than a few minutes.

An inquest will be held.

JAIL EVERY MAN WHO LOOKS LIKE AN INDUSTRIAL WORKER

Says Chief of Denver Police--Passenger Train Had to Be Used to Convey Those Arrested to the Cells

Denver, Colo., April 16.—The supply of patrol wagons of the Denver police department proved inadequate to convey to jail all of the Industrial Workers of the World arrested on the outskirts of the city last night, so Chief of Police O'Neill impressed a passenger train into service.

When nearly one hundred industrial workers alighted from a freight train upon reaching the intersecting boundaries of Englewood, Petersburg and Denver, they were met by two detachments of twenty-five patrolmen.

"I intend to jail every man who even looks like an Industrial Worker of the World in this town," declared Chief of Police O'Neill. "These men have been telling what they are going to do to the Denver police, but I will show them just how tight every cell in this city can be packed and stuffed with their unabashed bodies. There won't be any overflow of prisoners, and all of these fellows who come here can expect stern treatment."

PRISONERS TRY TO ESCAPE ACROSS NIGARA FROM U. S.

Two Military Men Got Away in Small Boat, With Boards as Paddles--Upset and They Were Rescued Half Drowned

St. Catharines, April 16.—There was a deal of excitement on the Niagara River, opposite Niagara-on-the-Lake yesterday. Two military prisoners from the United States' Fort Niagara had been allowed out for an airing, and they decided to try and get away to Canada. The pair seized a small boat. They could find no oars, so they pushed off for the land of the Union Jack, relying for paddles upon some small boards they found in the boathouse.

The guard espied them and raised the alarm. The fugitives finally upset the boat, and found themselves floundering in the icy water. They yelled lustily for help. The life-saving crew picked them up and carried them back to Uncle Sam's land. They will now receive extra punishment for their venture after they get out of the hospital. Both were nearly drowned.

THE BATTING HERO

The batting hero.—None so famed as he,
His name tops off the list from week to week;
Emblazoned on the sporting page we see
His average of which we proudly speak;
We hail him when he swaggers to the plate
With acclamations of concerted glee;
We cheer him as the greatest of the great,
An uncrowned monarch of the game is he.
Behold the hate upon his sunscorched phiz,
The glitter of contempt that lights his eye,
When, swinging wide that great war club of his,
He pops an easy roller or a fly;
See how he struts back to the players coop
And sits him down with indolence and ease,
While some admirer there uncorks a whoop
And hurls at him a laudatory wheeze.
The next time at the bat he smites the sphere
Far out into the pasture for a run
The while his worshippers rise up and cheer
Him to the echo for the deed he's done;
The sporting editor digs out a cut,
And runs it on the overcrowded sheet
With: "We present a likeness of P. Nutt,
Who yesterday pulled victory from defeat.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

PREMEDITATED OUTBREAK MORE OPPOSITION RIOTING ?

Rumored Coup of Liberals May Take Drastic Form--Closure Debate Drags on Grey, Dull, Cheerless and Sleepy

Ottawa, April 16. All yesterday evening, the closure debate drizzled on, grey, dull, cheerless and sleepy. The afternoon was occupied with other business, but when 8 o'clock came Mr. Marcil, the former Speaker, resumed the discussion of closure; he spoke nearly two hours, and was followed by Mr. Michaud; next came Mr. Demers, in French; then Mr. J. J. Hughes; then Mr. Knowles. So far as the closure situation is concerned, it has simply been a day of waiting. The visible situation has undergone no development and the debate has been as languid and dispirited as ever.

The impression prevails that the Liberals are planning some grand stroke, but against this is to be set the noteworthy thinness of attendance of the Liberals. Mr. E. M. MacDonald has gone east. A whole delegation of Western Liberals has sought pairs, and taken the train for the prairies. There are gaps in the ranks in every direction. Still the rumors of contemplated disorder are persistent. The Liberals have to see passed the measures which they have sworn would not be passed, and a premeditated outbreak of cold-blooded rioting may be their way of saving face. It is all speculation, but speculation which is much heard.

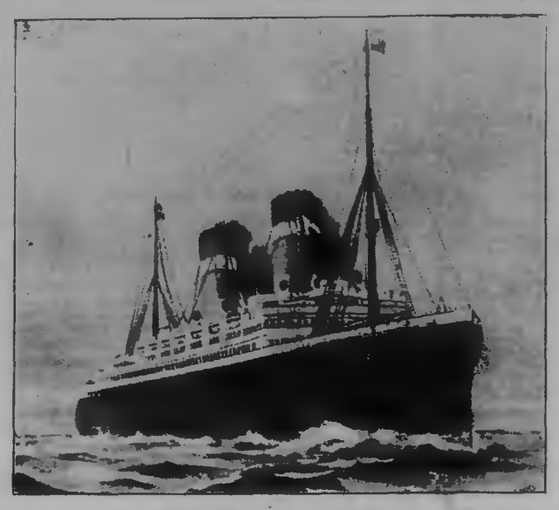
Mr. Charles Marcil made a rather technical speech, enlivened by sundry quotations from Conservative members of Parliament—notably Col. Hughes—who in 1911 vigorously protested against threats of closure, which emanated from Liberals, who to-day view that same closure as the abomination of desolation. None of the other speeches were of any interest.

MAY LEAD TO WAR

Berlin, April 16.—The action of the management of a French theatre in throwing out some German Commercial travelers who hissed at a burlesque of the German army is being made an international question. The French Government have been asked for an explanation, while the German newspapers are devoting columns to the affair. The incident illustrates the extreme bitterness between the two nations.

Noises emanate from Ottawa like unto those mentioned in the poet's autumnal idyl "Hog Killin' Time."

THE WEATHER.



To-day—Fine, with about the same temperature.

TORONTO ITALIAN GIRL SOLD CHEAP BY HER OWN FATHER

Beaten Because She Did Not Get Enough Money for Hurdy-Gurdy Music

Toronto, April 16.—Out of a simple charge of assault preferred by Corsi Genaeffa, a 15 year old Italian girl against her "employer," Mrs. Sabetta Portello, which came up for hearing in the Police Court, there came some startling disclosures this morning from Court interpretor Basso in regard to padrone system. The girl had charged the woman with assaulting her because she had not earned enough money at organ-grinding, and after he had heard the facts of the case, Magistrate Kingsford directed a remand until Monday and gave the young complainant over to the care of the Salvation Army.

Mr. Basso declared that the evils of the "padrone system" had by no means been stamped out in either Italy or Canada. He said that in this particular case, Mrs. Portello had brought the girl here from Italy three years ago, first purchasing her services from her father for a term of five years. The girl was offered a sum of $3 a month and board, and thereafter became absolutely the chattel of her employers.

BIG TRANSPORTATION STRIKE NOW EXISTS IN TORONTO

Four Hundred Teamsters for Transport Companies Refuse to Work--Shippers Feeling a Serious Effect

Toronto, April 16.—Four hundred teamsters, employed by Hendrie & Co., G.T.R., Sheddon Forwarding Co., G.T.R., Dominion Transport Co., C.P.R. cartage agents; Canadian Northern Transport Co. are now on strike.

Demand of the Strikers.

An increase in wages of $5 per month, making it $55 per month.

Hundreds of shipping firms through out the city are affected, while the entire cartage system of the three railroads is paralyzed; not a dray wheel has turned since last evening.

The demand was submitted last night by delegations of the men, and the concerns implicated offered a compromise on a three dollar increase but the workers would not even consider this offer, holding that they would take $5 or nothing. A large number of the strikers were on hand this morning for the purpose of returning to work in the event of the company giving in, but no more overtures were made by the companies. Great inconvenience is being occasioned to shippers.

No Preparations to Meet It.

The strike has not come as a surprise to the employers. For the past couple of weeks there have been rumors of discontent, the men intimating that they would, unless the company voluntarily raised their wages, resort to their present tactics, but the matter was not treated very seriously, or if it was, no definite action was taken towards meeting the trouble when it did materialize. Since seven o'clock this morning not a wheel has turned, the business of the various firms being at a complete standstill.

The concensus of opinion amongst the companion workers of the strikers is that the demands of the men are quite justified. At present they are receiving from $44 to $30 per month. Eight years ago the monthly pay was $38, but in the last decade several similar situations in an effort to secure increases have occurred. Nine months ago the latest one developed when the remuneration of the men was increased from $45 per month to $50. But since then, the strikers claim the cost of living has increased so materially that an increase is absolutely necessary to enable them to procure even the most meagre sustenance.

Often Work Long Hours.

"We work as many as eleven or twelve hours a day," said one of the dissenters, "and yet when we asked the bosses for a ten dollar increase, they laughed at us. They said they would give us $2, and later raised that offer to three, but we want more than that, we want $5 at the least."

Officials of the Hendrie Company, about one hundred of whose employes are out, practically the whole force, gave it as their opinion that the men were not serious when they asked for $60 a month.

"We are willing to meet them more than half-way," one official declared, "as is evidenced by the fact that we offered them $ 3 per month."

SUICIDE PACT WITH SON CHILD PLEADED FOR LIFE

Seattle Engineer Found Guilty of Murder—Stood With Boy In Front of Train.

Seattle, Wash., April 16.—C. N. Johnson, a stationary engineer, was found guilty of murder in the first degree here for causing the death of his six-year-old child by standing with the boy in his arms in front of a speeding passenger train last December.

Witnesses of the killing said the child pleaded with his father not to destroy him. The boy was killed instantly by the train and Johnson received a broken leg and a cut on the head.

Sentence will be imposed later and may be either death or life imprisonment, and the anti-hanging law passed by the last Legislature does not go into effect until June 14.

S. S. EMPRESS OF RUSSSIA ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

The details of the trial trips made by the Empress of Russia, the new C.P.R. steamship, which recently set sail on her maiden voyage around the world with a full complement of passengers, including several Canadians, en route to Vancouver to take her place as one of the flyers on the Oriental service of the C.P.R., have just reached headquarters. It is over twenty years since this service was inaugurated by the three well known steamers, the Express of China, Empress of Japan, and Empress of India, and it is six years since the Empress of Britain and the Empress of Ireland took up their station on the Atlantic service. The Empress of Russia will commence the Oriental service in July and will be closely followed by her sister, the Empress of Asia, which is nearly completed at Fairfield. After adjusting the compasses at the Tail of the Bank, the Empress of Russia was loaded to a mean draft of 26 26 ft. 8 ins., and carrying over 7000 tons of dead weight, proceeded to the measured mile at Skelmorlie where a series of progressive runs were carried out at speeds progressing from 12 to 21½ knots. The contract stipulated that runs up to 20½ knots should be made therefore the maximum requirement was exceeded by three quarters of a knot. The vessel returned to the Tail of the Bank and was balasted for a deeper draft for a further trial of 600 miles at sea. The vessel proceeded to a little south of the Cumbrass and a start was made on the course down the channel and round the south coast of Ireland to Daunts Rock, and a run was made of 610 nautical miles. The whole distance was covered at a speed of 20½ knots or half a knot in excess of the contract stipulation. During the whole thirty hours trial the coal consumption was carefully measured and found to be about 10 p.c. less than the contract requirement which means a large saving of coal per round trip, increasing the vessel's reserve steaming powers or enabling more cargo deadweight to be carried. Throughout the trial steam was easily maintained, a fact clearly shown by the white feather of steam at each of the three funnels which was in evidence when a maximum speed of 21¼ knots on the measured mile. A very notable and satisfactory feature of the trials was the entire absence of vibration in any part of the vessel. On the completion of the 600 mile trip a series of stopping and circle trials were carried out with usually satisfactory results. The Empress of Russia is the first liner to have cruiser sterm and the results both as regards appearance, speed, vibration and steering have fully justified the decision of the owners to adopt the Fairfield Company's latest idea in the design of merchant vessels.

PRIVY COUNCIL LAW LORDS TO NUMBER SIX

Will Be More Satisfactory to Colonies In Matter of Appeals.

London, April 16.—Lord Chancellor Haldane introduced in the House of Lords yesterday his promised measure which seeks to give better satisfaction overseas in matters of appeals to Privy Council. In moving the second reading of the appellate jurisdiction bill, he said it was proposed to increase the number of Law Lords from four to six, who would be qualified to sit in the court of Appeal.

Those judges of the Dominion Court who were added to the Privy Council would become members of the Judicial Committee. The appointment of the new Lords of Appeal would be on the same footing as the existing Lords of Appeal.

FRIEDMANN TO MONTREAL TO SEE AFTER PATIENT

Providence, R.I., April 16.—Dr. F. F. Friedmann, who was in Providence to-day demonstrating the vaccine which he claims is a cure for tuberculosis, said that he intended to return to New York the latter part of the week to look after the patients he has treated there.

Dr. Friedmann said that from New York he would go to Montreal for further interviewed on this question. Blodgett's tender for the west provided that he use two or three hydrants, hence his tender was left in abeyance until the decision of the Commissioners is ascertained. The Board would be willing to pay for repairing the caps were they given the use of the hydrants.

Contracts Awarded.

Northern District—J. P. Francis—$550.00.

Eastern District — A. Valoise—$509.00.

Chairman and Street Commissioner were authorized to have street watering commenced in the northern and eastern districts at once, to hunt up a tenderer for the southern district, and to attempt once more to arrange with the Water Commissioners for the use of hydrants where necessary to properly water the western and possibly some other districts.

Looks Like the D— !

James Stewart wrote Ald. Buller, that the pond and mud hole opposite Boorman's bakery on Aylmer street, corner of McDonnel, next door to his abode, is a perfect eye-sore, and a disgrace to the town (he did not, he said, call this place a city). "I don't intend," he added, "to stand this eye-sore any longer, it makes my place look like the d— I am going to be taxed 25 mills, and as a taxpayer am only asking for my rights, and you, Mr. Buller are the man in the right place." This letter was "received."

Sewers, Sidewalks, Crossings.

Petitions for sewers and sidewalks will be dealt with in the usual way—that is, advertised and then constructed.

A concrete crossing to St. Luke's church will be constructed if recommended by the City Engineer.

Cement and Pipe.

Tenders for cement and tile pipe will be invited through advertisements in the local papers.

STREET WATERING OPERATIONS TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

Tenders For Two Districts Let Last Night--Tenders Slightly Higher Than Those of Last Year-- A Ratepayers Vigorous Protest

The City's Board of Works met in business session last night, Chairman Ald. Buller presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gordon, Duffus, McIntyre and Langford, and the new City Engineer, Mr. R. H. Parsons.

Mr. D. O'Connell and Mr. David Conroy were present to discuss the suit the City Solicitor has been instructed to institute against Mr. Conroy for damages accruing from his violation of his contract to construct the Romaine street sewer. Mr. O'Connell, solicitor for Mr. Conroy was advised that as the matter has passed into the City Solicitor's hands, it should be discussed first between he and Mr. O'Connell and the Engineering Department, then brought up before the Legal Committee and the Board of Works in joint session. This suggestion was acquiesced in.

Mr. Conroy is claiming interference on the part of the Engineer and default in payment of estimates. He also claims that $2000 are due him for extras on the Smith street bridge.

Street Watering.

The following tenders for street watering were to hand:

North District—J. P. Francis—$550.00. Russell Watman—$525.00.

Eastern District—A. Valoise—$509.00.

Western District—J. Blodgett $616.50.

The contracts for this work last year amounted to: For North $540; Eastern District, $500, for Western district, $549.

The Board concluded that more stand pipes will have to be installed in the west ward if that district is to be thoroughly watered this year. It appears that the Water Commissioners object to hydrants being used for street watering purposes, as suggested at last meeting. They say the men continuously unscrewing the caps would put them out of repair. The Commissioners, however, will be

Physicians Successful in Forestalling Death by Artificial Means

Rome, April 16.—The Pope had an alarming coughing spell this afternoon almost causing suffocation. The attack was followed by such exhaustion that those attending the Pontiff feared the worst.

Rome, April 16.—The temperature of the Pope varied frequently during the forenoon. Dr. Andrea Amici visited him again just before noon, when he found another almost imperceptible rise had taken place since early morning.

To-day's morning bulletin on the condition of the Pope was as follows:

"The Holy Father slept tranquilly for several hours during the night. This morning his temperature was under 97. The catarrhal affection is no worse and expectoration continues easy. The condition of the heart is good. (Signed) Marchiafava, Amici."

Lawyer to Draw Up Will.

The lawyer Patriarca, who represents the Holy See, was summoned to the Vatican this morning. The same lawyer drew up at the last testament of Pope Leo XIII., and the inference is that he has been called to do the same for Pope Pius X.

Weaker Than Yesterday.

Private, but reliable information as to the Pope's condition this morning was to the effect that while he was again without fever to-day and better than last night, when his temperature was high, he was weaker than at this time yesterday.

Climax About Midnight.

The aggravation which occurred last evening in the condition of the Pope reached its climax shortly before midnight and then gradually wore off in the early morning hours.

LOST DR. HOPKINS FOUND

Kingston Relatives Hear by Wire That Missing Man Turns Up.

Kingston, April 16. A telegram received here this morning by Dinsmore, Hopkins, father of Dr. L. Hopkins, who was reported missing in New York, from another son, John Hopkins, South Orange, N.J., states that Dr. Hopkins and wife are now at the former's New Jersey home, and will remain with them for some days.

From this relatives here believe that he has turned up.

CAN'T GET AWAY FROM IT

Is it possible to nourish, strengthen, and Rebuild the Brain by Food?

Every man who thinks uses up part of the brain each day. Why doesn't it disappear and leave an empty skull in say a month of brain work? Because the man rebuilds each day.

If he builds a little less than he destroys, brain fag and nervous prostration result sure. If he builds back a little more each day the brain grows stronger and more capable. That also is sure. Where does man get the material to rebuild his brain? Is it from the air, sky, or the ice of the Arctic sea? When you come to think about it, the rebuilding material must be in the food and drink.

That also is sure.

Are the brain rebuilding materials found in all food? In a good variety, but not in suitable proportion in all.

To illustrate: we know bones are made largely of lime and magnesia taken from food; therefore to make healthy bone structure we must have food containing these things. We would hardly feed only sugar and fat to make healthy bone structure in a growing child.

If we desired to keep brain strong and healthy we would use food known to contain the things Nature uses for the purpose.

True, Nature provides these elements in a variety of edible things. We submit the following facts for those who care to know something definite on the subject:

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, Geoghegan, shows of Mineral Salts, Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash) 2.91 per cent of the total, 5.33 of all mineral salts.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows Potassium and Phosphorous (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as Nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies — this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain fag because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which Nature demands for brain-building.

Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, etc., etc., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Ptyalin, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with indigestion.

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumen and water.

Grape-Nuts contain that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts. We must remember that nearly 95 p.c. of the brain is composed of water and albumen, but the little worker Phosphate of Potash must be present in order to blend the more bulky materials into useable form.

So with Grape-Nuts. The Phosphate of Potash is more than one-half of all the mineral salts, but the total volume of those elements is exceedingly small as compared with the greater bulk of other food elements contained in Grape-Nuts.

We should also remember that this small ingredient should not be put into the food in the form it might come from a chemist, because man cannot produce these elements in as digestible a form as Old Mother Nature, when she puts them in the wheat and barley from which Grape-Nuts is made.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required. Brain rebuilding material is certainly found in a very natural and perfect form in—

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR.

A ROLE REPEATED

Let His Friend Down Easy When He Saw the Joke.

By FRANK FILSON.

Confound those storage people," muttered Tom Bryant, as he unlocked the door of his apartment and ushered his friend Wells into—an empty room. He stared round him. "Well, of all the gall!" he exclaimed. "Here's that confounded landlord of mine decorated the walls in saffron when I went over the matter with him a dozen times and he swore by all the gods to do them in red. And the storage men were on their honor to have my furniture in today. I tell you, Billy, it makes a fellow tired."

They entered and sat down upon a board which the painters had left stretched out between two step ladders. Tom lit his pipe and began puffing savagely.

The men were old acquaintances whom fate had driven apart for many years. Recently Tom Bryant had been spending his vacation with Wells in the Adirondacks, and the latter had accompanied him back to his home, to be his guest for a few days. Mrs. Bryant, who had been visiting his mother, was expected on the following morning.

"I'm going round to the storage men the first thing in the morning," said Tom, "and I'm going to tell them some of the things I won't do to them if they don't have my goods here before 11 o'clock." He paused and began wrinkling his brow. "Billy," he said, "if you'll give me your word of honor never to breathe a word of it I'll tell you of an extraordinary thing that happened to me when I got back from my honeymoon four years ago. Mrs. Bryant has never ceased teasing me about it, but it was mighty serious at the time, and this little episode reminds me of it."

"Word of honor," said William Wells. "Go ahead, Tom."

The other struck a fresh match for his pipe and cast the burned end into a pail of half dry paint.

"We'd just got back from a blissful three weeks honeymoon in the mountains," he began, sending out clouds of smoke and leaning back against the ladder. "Previous to my marriage I had rented a little apartment something like this one in the West Fifties. You used to know this town pretty well, Billy; I guess you remember that section, where every house looks just like its neighbor and every street for blocks is exactly the same. Well, the place was decorated for us and our new furniture was moved in and we were both thoroughly pleased. We speculated how happy and cosy we were going to be, and all the way home in the train we talked about it and indulged in housekeeping rhapsodies.

"When we reached our apartment house the janitor met me at the door with a telegram in his hand. It was from the office, asking me to come down immediately I returned in order to explain something that had cropped up during my absence—a matter of which I alone was cognisant. It wouldn't take more than a couple of minutes to straighten out affairs, and perhaps an hour's absence in all. I didn't like it, but there was nothing else to do; so, after escorting Mrs. Bryant to the door and opening it for her, and glancing to make sure that all the furniture was there, I kissed her and took the car down town.

"The matter proved more important than I had anticipated. I called up my wife, explained the matter, and remained at the office until late in the evening, unraveling the tangle. It was half past nine before I got home. I walked straight in, went up the three flights of stairs and unlocked the apartment door.

"It was absolutely bare, Billy, as bare as this one. The smell of fresh paint was about the only thing there was in it. Not a stick of furniture, not a rug, not a cup or a saucer or a dish rag in the kitchen. And Eleanor was gone.

"Well, sir, I nearly went crazy. Of course you can guess what had happened. But the solution did not occur to me at all. There was the apartment, arranged just as before, with the kitchen leading out of the dining room, and the bath-room with its three-quarter length tub, and the gas bracket over the medicine chest, and my key which fitted the lock. I didn't know where to turn. Eleanor's folks lived at Syracuse and even if she had got angry at my delay and gone home, she couldn't have taken the furniture with her. And the janitor was out somewhere and I couldn't find a soul in the basement to ask about her.

"Well, I spent that night pacing through the apartment, and by morning I was as nearly crazy as a man could be. Somehow or other, though, I had sense enough to call up the office to say I couldn't get down, and when I got the answer I found I could get down after all. In fact I got down in record time. Eleanor had been telephoning all the evening before until they closed up at eleven (we were doing a rush business then), and that morning she had camped on the door-step about six and waited till the day watchman came on duty, and then she had a fit of hysteria in his arms. And the police had been notified and were searching the hospitals and looking in all the dark corners to see if I was lying there sandbagged. When I got down and Eleanor fainted in my arms and then came to and had another hysterical attack in the middle of the office floor—well, it was no joke, I tell you. And all because I had mistaken the street and walked into the corresponding house on the same block in the street above it. I tell you, Billy, my sticks and rugs looked pretty good to me when I got back with Mrs. Bryant about nine o'clock.

"But for the Lord's sake don't mention a word about it to her when you meet. You'll be surprised how she has changed from the time when you knew her four years ago. Do you remember telling her she looked as though she would never grow up, that day you [illegible] station? She has, though, and into a fine woman. You see, we've had some pretty heavy responsibilities, old man, during these few years, what with our business nearly going out in the panic and then shooting up like a rocket. When we had to get out of Fifty-seventh street we took a regular tenement place up in the Bronx. But I knew things would get better again, and it wasn't long before we were able to get back into our old quarters again. But we'd always coveted this apartment house—come to the window! That's where we used to live—number 465, across the street. And when we took this place last month we felt that we had begun to stretch our selves at last."

"Where did you say you used to live?" asked William Wells.

"Number 465—across the street, Billy," said the other yawning.

"Fifty-seventh street?"

"Sure! This is Fifty-seventh street. Why?"

"O, nothing," answered his friend. "Only they must have marked it wrong on the corner lamps, because they call it Fifty-eighth. Tom, you thundering fool, you're in the wrong house again!"

PEACE RIVER TIMBER

Proposed Forest Reserves About Lesser Slave to Equalize Water-flow

In his report to the Minister of the Interior on timber conditions around Lesser Slave Lake, D. Roy Cameron, B.A., B. Sc.F., states that "the ever swelling tide of immigration into the Peace River country and vicinity renders it imperative that steps be taken to set aside non-agricultural lands in order that the timber resources of that country be conserved for the need of future generations." Muskeg he found to be omnipresent, associated in some instances with areas of lodge pole pine, black spruce and fir. The aspen, a tree which grows in considerable quantities in the district, is so susceptible to attacks of "heart rot" that 43 per cent. of the total is useless. Figuring on 3.2 cords of aspen per acre which might be used for pulpwood and 4 cords of balsam poplar, Mr. Cameron estimated that the whole area he traversed about the lake would produce 6,750,000, to which might be added about twice the quantity of defective, but not destroyed wood. The aspen and popular balsam trees average about 8 inches in diameter 4½ feet from the ground.

Along the Swan river, so-called "cottonwood" flats are found where this species grows intermixed with some spruce. Here are found trees growing 100 feet high with 65 feet clear and a diameter at breast-height of from 15 to 60 inches. The average will be about 24 inches. The older and larger trees are mostly defective from heart rot, but the younger up to 2 inches in diameter are sound and beautiful timber.

"There are large areas of non agricultural land both north and south of the lake." Mr. Cameron declares in his summing up. "These areas are in general more or less elevated regions and form the head-waters of streams draining in every direction. The question of the preservation of the forest cover, so that as even a flow of water as possible may be insured, is an important one in this district because the main drainage streams are navigable rivers. Of late years, the continual denudation of the country containing the head-waters of the Lesser Slave River tributaries by fire has given rise to alternating conditions of very low and very high water, which has proved very harmful to navigation. Indeed, things have come already to such a pass that every bad storm means a miniature freshet and a week's rain a swollen torrent bringing down trees and drift wood of all kinds, which is a menace to navigation. The principal rivers causing this are the Moose, Driftpile, Sault-teux and Otauwau."

A new device for heating automobiles in winter consists of a brass cylinder which runs from the radiator of the machine to the limousine or body of the car, covering the cylinder heads. The fan blows the air through this tube, in which it is heated by the excess heat liberated from the cylinder heads and manifold. The air is forced back into the body of the car, where a valve regulates the amount of heat desired. In summer time he hot air escapes under the car. This device has a tendency to cool the engine and keep the paint and varnish from cracking.

All the weddings in this district take place on one fixed day. This annual wedding day is made an occasion for a general celebration by the inhabitants of the district, who feast the young couples with the greatest hospitality.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now Uncle Sam's millionaries will be able to sympathize with the Britishers that come under Lloyd Georges pesky income tax.

The Times recently advertised for a circulation manager and amongst those who applied for the position was a Mr. A. Scattergood. Certainly an appropriate name for the job of spreading the Times over the large territory which the paper now serves.

Zelie Emerson, the American suffragette in London, sponged herself with hot water and lay uncovered all night in an English prison so that she might contract pneumonia and die for the cause. According to Mrs. Pankhurst, the zealous Zelie is a real heroine, but she is not. She's a lunatic.

Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, made a pithy remark the other day in discussing the Government's Naval policy: "It is a wise child that knows its own father, but the leader of the Opposition will be a wise father if he recognizes his own child in the various policies which have been put forward by his own followers."

BLOCKING THE BLOCKERS.

The amendment of the rules proposed by the Premier will have the effect of blocking the efforts of the blockers, to make of parliamentary institutions and proceedings a by-word and disgrace. The business of the country must and shall be carried on. The minority has sought to usurp the rights of the majority, and with the assassination of obstruction by the knife of the rules, progress will be possible, despite the peevish pique of a band of discredited politicians.

DR. FRIEDMANN.

Comparisons are odious we are told, but it is nevertheless pleasing to note that Dr. Friedmann was given a much better reception by the medical profession of Canada than he received in the United States. That is as it should be. Dr. Friedmann has been the storm centre of an interesting international discussion during the last few months, and the carping criticism which followed him from the States before the results of his treatment had time to be shown served as a foil for the eminently proper spirit in which the Canadian people received him.

A SUSCESSFUL RAILWAY MAN

Through the resignation of Mr. Thomas Bell, better known as "Tommy," to his intimate associates, the assistant advertising agent of the C.P.R., the company will lose one of its popular officials. Mr. Bell, who is only 34 years of age, joined the C.P.R. eighteen years ago as a check boy in the telegraph office, and he now leaves the Company to become manager for Western Canada of the A. McKim Advertising Company, with headquarters at Winnipeg. He left the C.P.R. for a few months in the early days to work for Evans & Johnson, insurance agents, but returned to the telegraph department of the C.P.R. as chief check boy at Windsor street station. Subsequently he joined the advertising department under Mr. H. R. Charlton, who at that time was connected with the C.P.R. He started in here as office boy and worked himself up to a junior clerkship, and afterwards became stenographer to Mr. George H. Ham, the General Publicity Agent of the company. Shortly afterwards Mr. Bell became chief clerk of the Advertising Department, and in October last was elevated to the position of Assistant General Advertising agent. He is a Montreal boy and will carry with him the many good wishes of his numerous friends for a successful career in the West.

Is Your Back Full of Aches All Day Long?

THAT STAB-LIKE PAIN IN THE BACK IS SURE INDICATION OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia:—"For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse; my limbs become bloated and sleepy. I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes. 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

Givea below is a letter signed (in type-writing) "W. H. Moore." This communication read as follows

Peterborough, Ont.,

"A BAD PRECEDENT."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Surely it was bigotry run mad, that inspired you to publish under the above caption the semi-editorial in your issue of to-day, in relation to the East Half of Rubidge Street from London to McDonnel streets, used by the children of the St. Vincent Orphanages for a playground. You describe this use as a "grab" and a "swipe" and add that the orphanage has fenced in the street and erected a building thereon. These statements are quite contrary to the fact and the truth. The property is exactly in the same condition as it was when purchased from the Thomas Bradburn estate, and as it has been for a number of years previously. No addition to or change has occurred. If the fence were moved back thirty-three feet, the street would still be impassible and it would require a very large sum of money to make it of service to the public, besides, nobody in the neighborhood, I am sure, has any desire to have it thrown into a common for idle people or other undesirables. The selfish and intolerant spirit of the article is not worthy of a place in a public journal.

Yours truly,

W. H. Moore.

Reply.—Mr. Moore, in sending the above letter displays, first, that his memory is, possibly conveniently, short, and secondly, that his lawyer's instinct may have influenced his action in wanting us to print his name without committing himself to a bona fide signature. We would ask Mr. Moore who made the ball he fired? Who dictated that letter? Was it not the suggestion of a near neighbor, whose property would be affected? Does Mr. Moore forget that at the town council meeting of April 16, 1877, strong opposition was made to fencing in this street, which, whilst then fenced in, had a stile to enable the public to have access to it? Does Mr. Moore forget that on that night Mr. Dumble spoke of that part of Rubidge street as one of the few pretty spots of the town, presumably as a public park? Does Mr. Moore forget that that same night, Mr. Dumble, then a councillor, said that Mr. Bradburn had offered $1,000 for the street? Does Mr. Moore forget that on the evening of April 21, he and others advised the Council to sell the street to Mr. Bradburn for $1,000? Is not Mr. Moore more anxious to have this street kept closed, than to have additional traffic passing by his residence? In view of these facts, we would ask Mr. Moore is it bigotry to object to any church, Catholic or Protestant, in so high handed a manner, placing a continuous fence across the public domain, especially as the orphanage in question has three or four acres of playground, without grabbing a public street when he advised $1,000 being accepted for the same?

Does Mr. Moore forget that public opinion in 1877 was so strongly aroused over the closing of this street, that the late Robert Weir, who advocated opening it, was elected on this ticket?

AWAIT THE HAGUE CONFERENCE

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Though the naval question has been the foremost topic of discussion for months, there is no prospect of an agreement between the parties in parliament. Meantime urgent measures of domestic reform and of general administration are being neglected. Meantime, also, the great host of those who desire to see Canada remain a nation of peaceful aims, and who may not agree with the plans of either party, are without effective means of making their inner convictions known short of a referendum upon the primary question whether this country shall commit itself to that Bedlamite policy which is surely bringing distress upon the nations of the old world.

We need not blame the leaders of either party for the misconceptions which started them on the path they have so far trod, but the special industries of armaments and warships, and the malign influence which, under the shelter of patriotism, they exert upon the parliaments of Europe. But the day is at hand when this influence will no longer be permitted to control the legislation of the nations, and I believe the turning point in the reign of international law will be reached when the next Hague Conference meets in 1915. At this conference the first question of importance to be decided will be the abolition of the right to capture private property at sea in war time. For seventy five years private property on land has been held free from seizure from war, and the same principle should of course apply to warfare on the sea. At the last Hague Convention two thirds of the nations represented voted for the freedom of private property on sea, and we know that the present race in naval expansion has been greatly accelerated by the suspicious engendered because Great Britain and Japan, among the minority of delegates voted against this reform. The most enlightened statesmen and jurists now see that Great Britain has herself been the greatest sufferer in moral standing because of her failure to move with the spirit of the age.

Now it is fairly certain that at the coming Hague Convention private property will be declared immune. It will be self-evident that such freedom will take away the chief reason for the present waste of money on big navies, for international law will itself then be the protector of peaceful shipping. It follows that in such case the position in Canada will be radically altered, and that change will of a certainty weaken, if not discredit any party which proposes to exhaust the energies of a young nation like this in preparations for war which would then be associated with the idea of agression, and not defense. Trade being then free and the ocean being then in fact as well as in theory, the common highway of all nations, the arena of defense becomes a land problem.

I would therefore suggest that the Canadian Navy bill be held in suspense till the outcome of the approaching Hague Conference is known. This can be urged with all the more reason since the relations between GreatBritain and Germany have so improved that the suspension of the Canadian bill would be taken as an expression of Canada's faith in the good will of the German people towards us. Such suspension would indeed be a stroke of imperial policy worthy of the traditions of the Canadian people and be grateful to the people of the Mother Land under the present aspect of events.

There are weighty economic as well as moral reasons why Canadians should not without more dispassionate study, make so grave a departure from the path our own statesmen laid out for us, when this confedera-

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT LOOK BEAUTIFUL AT ONCE---25 CENT "DANDERINE"

IN A FEW MOMENTS YOUR HAIR LOOKS SOFT, FLUFFY, LUSTROUS AND ABUNDANT—NO FALLING HAIR OR DANDRUFF.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through our hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies, and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

tion was founded. Neither in Canada or in Great Britain nor in Europe can commercial prosperity last forever, and when depression does come the social unsettlement and distress of the poor will be very grievous compared with past conditions, and the danger of civil war arising out of the oppressive taxation will be open as to add to our distress. How then can the present proposal of either party in Canada be carried out without aggravating, instead of relieving, the coming troubles of the old land.

Beyond all this, we must, as a nation whose government is built upon the Christian Religion, believe that behind these new international movements, whose full significance we cannot yet grasp, there is a Power greater than the adverse combinations of men and governments and that this Power desires not a world of chaos but a better ordered civilization. Should reasonable men work for or against this progress? If for it, then the time has arrived when some nation can show the others the better way, and no nation is so favorably placed to make the attempt as Canada at this very moment. Not to attempt it is to invite the calamities we depreciate.

But lest the world should say the suspension is due to selfishness, let us vote the thirty-five millions, but apply the money to missions of international good will—a purpose which will win the approbation of sane men all the world over.

PRINCE'S UNIQUE HONOR

Prince Arthur of Connaught, who represented King George at the funeral of the Emperor of Japan, met with a unique honor at the hands of his late Majesty when he visited the Island Empire in 1906, to invest the Emperor with the Order of the Garter. After the investiture the Emperor received Prince Arthur in private, and drew from a lacquer box the ribbon and star of the Order of the Chrysanthemum, and with his own hands placed the ribbon over the Prince's shoulder and pinned the star on his breast. The Order is the highest in the Empire, but this is the only instance on record of the Emperor deigning personally to invest the recipient.

SOME RARE DON'TS

Will Crooks whose honesty and strenuousness have won him respect from the highest and lowest classes in the country, gave some sound advice in tabloid form to an audience at Whitfield's Tabernacle. Here are some of his best sayings:

"Don't argue when you are tired; you can't do it.

"Don't take the workshop home with you.

"Don't talk trouble before the children.

"Don't think you can't be 'done'; you can.

"Don't think you are worse than other people, and don't think you're better; you are not.

"Don't think you have a constant job; the man in the cemetery has that.

"Don't talk of being master in your own house. You may be while you are there, but you have to go out.

"Don't get angry; no one cares if you do."

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16853½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1526.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

FREAKS OF THE FILM

Every one must have noticed that in moving pictures the wheels of carriages or automobiles often seem to be turning backward instead of forward. An authority says:—In taking a moving picture there are, perhaps, sixteen exposures made each second. If now the spokes of the wheel of a carriage move with a speed so that the spokes are in the same position at each exposure, that wheel will seem to stand still in the picture. If the wheel is moving slower, then the spokes will seem further backward in the successive views, and the wheel will seem to turn backward, while it will be seen to turn forward when the spokes move fast enough to occupy positions further forward in each exposure. It is a matter of the interruption for the exposure and the motion of the wheel. If there are sixteen exposures and the wheel turns through the space between two spokes in one-sixteenth of a second, the wheel would be in the same position at each successive exposure, and so would not seem to move at all.

A HEAVY DRINK BILL

Lawyer Says Edmonton Consumes More Than its Share of Liquor

Calculating the expenditure on liquors at $10 per head for every person in the Dominion, Alex. Stuart, K.C., in an address at Edmonton, said that in a town of the population of Edmonton it meant that if drink were abolished there would be an annual expenditure of $500,000 available for schools, hospitals and civic improvements. As a matter of fact the expenditure per head on intoxicating liquors in the Dominion was larger than $10 per head, the total expenditure being annually $81,000,000, whereas the population was only something over seven millions. Further, he was of opinion that in proportion to the population there was no place in Canada where there was so much liquor drunk as in Edmonton.

On one afternoon during the same trip Mr. Collier and two friends caught 11 trout that weighed together 35 pounds.

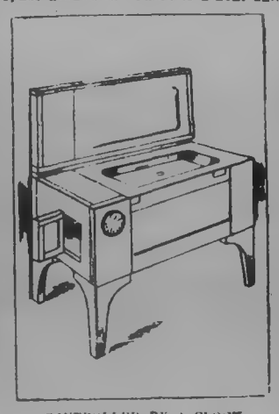
BALD HEADS AND HATS

Men's Tight Fitting Headgear Cause Shining Pate to Appear

Fashion governs women with or without their consent, but it governs men only when they consent to be governed. A notable exception to this rule is the hat, and a distinguished medical authority declares that baldness is due to the hats men wear. Until the stiff hat is banished men may be expected to suffer from baldness. Those who wish to escape this fate should never wear any hats that firmly clamp the head and so shut off the circulation. Hats should be light and easy fitting. If the styles do not permit of an easy fit, men must take their choice between the styles and their hair.



The hat causes baldness by shutting off the circulation of blood that nourishes the roots of the hair. Contrary to general belief, the circulation that reaches the hair does not come from the inside of the head. The veins lie very near the surface, and when a hat is placed tightly on the head it pinches these minute veins so that they can convey only a small part of the blood with which they are charged to the scalp. When the hat is removed the circulation is improved immediately, but when it is worn for several hours each day for years its effect begins to be permanent.

Though tight hats are the chief cause of baldness, they are not the sole cause. There is a family of germs that attacks the hair and causes it to fall out, and for the elimination of these germs the best remedy and safeguard is rigid cleanliness.

INVENTOR OF THE TELEPHONE

Claim to Honor Has Been, and is Likely to Continue, a Matter of Discussion.

Priority in the invention of the telephone is a matter of discussion. The principle of the transmission of sound vibrations mechanically for short distances was known for a long time before the electric principle was applied. The discovery by Dr. C. G. Page of Salem, Mass., in 1837 of the sound given out by an electric magnet at the instant of the closing or breaking of the circuit and of the musical note produced by rapidly revolving the armature of an electro-magnet in front of the poles were made the basis of experiments by many investigators and were important features of early attempts made to transmit sound and speech electrically. The theory that sounds might be made to vibrate a metal plate which would open and close an electric circuit and that a similar plate at a receiving station would be acted on electromagnetically and thus give out as many pulsations as there were breaks in the current was advanced by a French writer as early as 1854. Alexander Graham Bell, an American by adoption, though born in Edinborough, Scotland, in 1847, is the inventor of the speaking telephone, for which he was granted patents in 1876. An imperfect form of his telephone was exhibited at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. Before Bell's practical work Reis and a number of European scientists had evolved a primitive electric telephone which depended upon the interruption of the electric current rather than upon its variation in strength to correspond with the vibrations of the transmitter.

WASHING BY SEE-SAW

Mother of Romping Youngsters Now Lets Them Wash Their Own Clothes

Mrs. Sarah Sewell, an Ohio woman invented a device which can not be called impractical, even if at first blush it does not seem destined to produce an undue amount of cleanliness. Observing her small children at play on a seesaw, the while she worked hard revolving the mechanism of a washing machine, she conceived the idea of making the seesaw do the work, giving her time to enjoy life. She patented her idea and it is a complete success, which shows the beauty of possessing at once several children and an inventive brain by which they may be made to wash their own clothes and at the same time have a good time.

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Robert Cameron, capitalist, consulting Clyde, newspaper publisher, receives anonymous threatening letters and a sample of the first promises a certain day. Cameron's power on a certain day. Cameron's head is mysteriously surrounded by a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room.

CHAPTER II.—Clyde has a theory that the portrait was painted while the room was unoccupied by the head later removed by a string, unnoticed by Cameron.

CHAPTER III.—Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, finds the room. Clyde is in love. Cameron's portrait nailed to a where" has been used as a target pledges Evelyn to secrecy.

CHAPTER IV.—Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philetus Murphy, an artist living nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper.

CHAPTER V.—Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is repulsed. He pretends to investigation, alleged infractions of game laws and speaks of finding the of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy is found dead next morning.

CHAPTER VII.—Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter arrives mysteriously on Cameron's sick bed. It makes direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde tells Cameron the envelope was empty. He tells Evelyn everything and plans to take Cameron on a yacht trip.

CHAPTER IX.—A fruitless search is made for a for boat seen by the captain just before Cameron disappeared.

CHAPTER X.—Johnson is allowed to go after being closely questioned. Evelyn takes the letters to an expert in Chinese literature, who pronounces them of Chinese origin.

CHAPTER XI.—Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow college student, who recommends him to Yup Sing, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen.

CHAPTER XII.—Among Cameron's letters is found one from one Addison, who speaks of seeing Cameron in Pekin. Cameron had frequently declared to Clyde that he had never been in China.

CHAPTER XIII.—Clyde calls on Dr. Addison. He learns that Addison and Cameron were at one time intimate friends, but had a falling out over Cameron's denial of having been seen in Pekin by Addison.

CHAPTER XIV.—Clyde goes to meet Yup Sing, sees Johnson, attempts to follow him, falls into a basement, sprains his ankle and becomes unconscious.

CHAPTER XV.—Clyde is found by Miss Clement, a missionary among the Chinese. He is sick several days as a result of inhaling charcoal fumes. Evelyn tells Clyde of a peculiarly acting anesthetic which renders a person temporarily unconscious. Murphy is discovered to have mysterious relations with the Chinese.

CHAPTER XVI.—Miss Clement promises to get information about Cameron Slump in Crystal Consolidated, of which Cameron is the head, is caused by a rumor of Cameron's illness.

CHAPTER XVII.—Clyde finds Cameron on Fifth avenue in a dazed and emaciated condition and takes him home.

CHAPTER XIX.—He gives orders to an imaginary man in Chinese jargon. Then in terror cries "I didn't kill them." Evelyn declares the man is not her uncle.

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde call on Miss Clement for promised information and find that the Chinaman who was to give it has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read it after he leaves the house and then destroy it. It tells of the abduction of a white man by Chinese who shipped him back to China. The man is accused of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha" in which 20 Chinamen were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they supposed they had shipped to China throws consternation into the Chinese. The brougham in which Clyde and Evelyn are riding is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is assaulted by Murphy and a fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde are rescued by the police and return home.

It was difficult to reach a conclusion. Mind and heart alike were arrayed against it. Yet, thinking clearly now, I recognized fully the position in which I had placed myself. I had been willing to swear, to wager, there was no tattoo mark, and the best evidence—my own witness—had proved me wrong. Certainly I could expect no mild judgment from these Asiatics. Honest as I had been, they must believe that I had known, and had meant to deceive them. They probably thought that I had signalled to Bryan to endorse me in my lies, and that the nurse had either misunderstood or openly rebelled.

Before Cheekabeedy had reached the door, I recalled him.

"On second thought," I said, "the officers need not wait. Tell them that it was a mistake. I shall not require them."

Turning to Yup Sing and his companion, I added:

"What Mr. Bryan has told you is the greatest surprise to me. Even yet I can scarcely believe it, unless the mark and the scar were obtained while my friend was a prisoner in the hands of your countrymen."

"Tattoo marks and scars show age no less than faces," the merchant replied. "Both of these are years old. Any capable judge of such things will tell you that. Possibly Mr. Bryan can tell."

"The scar is not a fresh one," said the nurse. "As to tattoo marks, I am not experienced; but I shouldn't think the mark on Mr. Cameron's arm was put there recently."

"Gentlemen," I said, making a final stand, "while I do not question Mr. Bryan's entire honesty in this matter, nevertheless I prefer to see those marks of identification, myself. I hope you will excuse me for five minutes. I shall not be long."

At the foot of the grand staircase, Evelyn joined me. Bryan, at my suggestion, went to the elevator and ascended that way, while she and I slowly climbed the broad, velvet-carpeted marble steps to the floor above.

"I thought you were never coming out of that room," she declared, nervously. "Once, I was on the verge of going after you. The first time you rang for Checkabeedy, I mean. . . . What did you have him telephone for? He absolutely refused to tell me. Was it the two policemen? . . . What did you want them for? . . . Why did you let them go away again? . . . Aren't those Chinamen ever going? . . . What on earth did you want with Mr. Bryan? . . . What are you going upstairs for, now?"

How tactfully I answered these questions and others I shall not attempt to decide. I know only that I set my teeth to guard the one problem which absorbed me, and which for worlds I would not have her know.

"It is all right, Evelyn," I assured her, over and over again. "There is not the smallest danger. . . . They came to give me information. . . . You must be very tired, little girl. . . . Go to bed, now, and forget it all until morning. . . . Yes, I'll tell you everything, then."

I wonder how many women there are who, burning with curiosity as she was, would have obliged me as she did! Is it pardonable, then, if again I say that throughout all this trying experience she proved herself a girl of a thousand?

Bryan was waiting for me in the passage outside Cameron's door.

"I left him sleeping," he explained, "and, if possible, I don't wish to disturb him; so we'll go in quietly together."

Slowly and with infinite care lest he make the least noise he turned the knob. Quite as cautiously he opened the door, and tiptoeing softly, we entered.

It was the first time I had been in the room since the day of that terrible outburst, and it still held for me an atmosphere as grewsomely forbidding as that of a tomb.

Only one lowered light burned, over a tall, antique bureau between the darkly curtained windows; the chamber was in semi-gloom. But scarcely had I passed Bryan, who stopped to close the door with the same adroit silence with which he had accomplished its opening, than a stealthily moving white figure defined itself, issuing, apparently from a massive carved wardrobe, which stood against the wall opposite the huge, testered bed.

The spectacle was at least arresting. I know I halted abruptly as if stricken all at once with total paralysis. For a heart-beat or two I think I stopped breathing. But my eyes meanwhile were strained fixedly upon the apparition, and seeing it pass with almost incredible swiftness beneath the one dim light above the bureau, I recognized Cameron.

At the same moment my mind was flooded with a multitude of [illegible], had seen, and [illegible] electric. Simultaneously [illegible] past me and was at [illegible]

"What does this mean?" I heard him say. "What did you want? Can't I trust you alone for ten minutes? I told you, Cameron, that you must not leave your bed unless I am with you."

I saw Cameron cower under the upbraiding. In his eyes I read terror, and all my sympathy was aroused on this instant. Bryan might be carrying out Dr. Massey's orders, but he appeared to me unnecessarily harsh.

"What were you doing?" he insisted; and then I saw him roughly grasp his patient's arm, and hold it up, revealing a tightly clenched hand.

"Mr. Bryan!" I cried in remonstrance. "Gently, gently. Remember—"

But the nurse paid small heed to me. He was busy opening the doubled fist.

I stood now where I could look Cameron squarely in the face, but my gaze was elsewhere. It was his left hand over which Bryan was engaged, and from his wrist to his elbow the sleeve of his white night robe had been pushed back, exposing a sinewy forearm, marked precisely as Bryan had described it.

Scrutinizingly I bent forward. The tattooing was indisputable, and, as the nurse had said, it bore no evidence of being recent work.

Up to that moment I had hoped against hope that in some way or other a misconception had occurred. I had hoped, I suppose, for the performance of some miracle which would exonerate this man. And now that hope was obliterated by those blue-pricked letters D. [illegible] N. beneath an almost exact facsimile of the black smudge which had taken the place of signature on each of the three threatening letters—the black smudge, of which Cameron, wearing it then indelibly in the cuticle, had dared to feign ignorance.

And yet, I asked myself once more, how was it that I had never noticed it before? Again and again I had seen that forearm bared. Surely I would have observed so odd a mark; certainly I would have been perplexed by those three unfitting initials.

"There, now!" Bryan was saying. "Back to bed with you, Cameron. What did you want this letter for, anyway? If it was necessary for you to have it, couldn't I have got it for you?"

"Give it back to me!" Cameron was pleading, piteously. "Give it back to me! It is a private matter. Give it back to me, or destroy it before my eyes. Burn it, here, before me."

"Let me have it, Mr. Bryan," I asked, and turning to the unhappy gentleman I said: "You'll trust me, won't you, Cameron? I'll destroy it, unread, if you wish it."

"No, no no," he objected, earnestly. "Give it back to me."

But even as he demanded it, Bryan put it in my hands; and spreading it out—for it had been crumpled to a pellet in the invalid's clutch—I was about to humor him, when the superscription [illegible] my eye and held it.

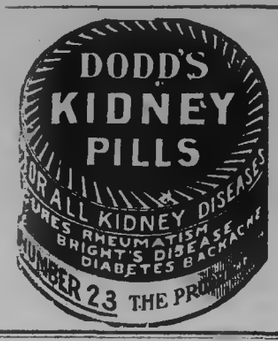
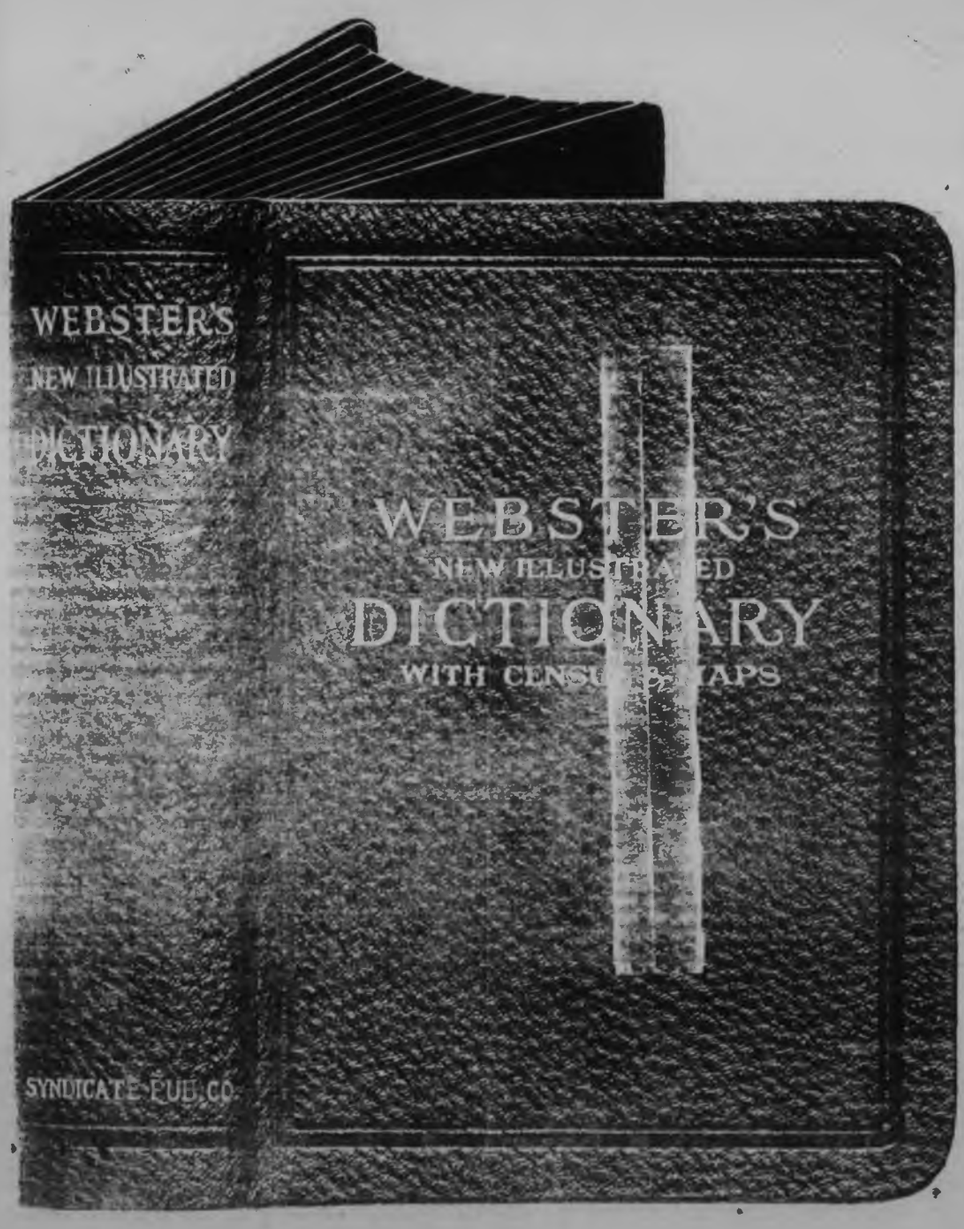
CHAPTER XXIV.



Another Problem Crops Up.

There are, I dare say, those who will not hesitate to charge me with an unpardonable lack of perception. "Even from your own telling," they will probably declare, "we realized from the first that the creature you discovered at two in the morning, supporting himself by means of a Fifth avenue area railing, was [illegible] Robert Cameron, but his [illegible] counterpart, and a not very deceptive counterpart at that."



I shall not dispute the justice of the criticism. As I look back at it all now, I sometimes wonder, myself, how I could have been so blind, so credulous. And yet [illegible] is something to be said on the other side, too. An able advocate, I believe, might make out a fairly strong case for me if I were disposed to defend myself, which, as it happens, I am not. Since the verdict can make no practical difference either to you or to me, and would only delay the culmination of our [illegible]

Old Folks' Coughs Permanently Cured

Elderly people take cold easily. Unlike young folks, they recover slowly, if ever. That is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia. Even though pneumonia does not develop and kill, coughs certainly weaken all elderly people.

Cough Syrups seldom do much good because they upset digestion. Any druggist or doctor knows that a much more effective treatments is "CATARRHOZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich piney balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

"At sixty-eight years of age I can testify that I am never troubled with coughs or colds," writes J. E. Pilgrim, of Kingston. "They used to be the bain of my life, and that was before I used Catarrhozone, which was recommended to me by C. L. Prouse, druggist. To use Catarrhozone is just like being in an immense pine woods. The balsamic vapor of Catarrhozone is like a tonic, it is so stimulating to the breathing organs, so soothing to sore spots, so full of power to drive out colds and congestion. I will always use and recommend Catarrhozone as a preventive and cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, throat irritation and catarrh. (Signed) "J. E. PILGRIM."

A Catarrhozone Inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00 and supplies treatment for two months; small size, 50c.; trial size, 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Who Knew Merrifield?

Chief Thompson has received the following letter which speaks for itself:

Edmonton, April 9, 1913.
Chief of Police,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Recently a man named Merrified died of pneumonia in a railway hospital at Entwistle. He had been working in the Bell and McPhee's lumber camp at MacKay Siding. Nothing could be ascertained from him regarding his relatives, but it is thought that he came from Stirling or Peterborough from some remarks he made. I would therefore be much obliged if you could verify this, if possible and notify his relatives if they are in your neighborhood. He is a man about forty years of age, 5 foot, 10 inches in height, weighs 150 lbs., has black hair, turning gray, a sandy mustache and brown eyes.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses Are Taken.

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, cures all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells; and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

It is the most wonderful remedy ver made for restoring the lifeless organs to health and strength and ridding the system of every particle of uric acid, and you can take it with he utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure such conditions.

You can obtain an original packge of Croxone at trifling cost from ny first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

GRITS AT OTTAWA TALK ANY SUBJEGT BUT THE CLOSURE

Opposition Attacks Mr. Rogers And Complains Opportunities for Investigation are Limited

Ottawa, April 17.—The Opposition is very tired of the closure debate and does not exactly like to let go It accordingly is striving hard to import all sorts of other issues. One expedient which has been devised is to interject various motions, the ordinary want of confidence motions of which every Opposition moves several every session. Thus on Tuesday Mr. Carroll raised the question of the allegations that the Department of Immigration had allowed strike-breakers to enter the country; and it was pretended that if once the closure rules are carried no opportunity would occur to discuss this matter—though as a matter of fact the very procedure adopted by Mr. Carroll is specifically guaranteed to the Opposition by Mr. Borden's closure resolution.

Mr. Rogers Attacked.

To-day Mr. Oliver was desperately in haste to discuss Mr. Rogers' administration of the public domain when he was Minister of the Interior. The transaction which forms the basis of the attack is the sale of a piece of land of about 80 acres close to or perhaps within the city limits of Prince Albert, to Arthur Donaldson, a son of S. J. Donaldson, Conservative M.P.P., for that town. In brief the facts are that if had been thought that the land in question was included in a forest reserve, but that it had been omitted; that afterwards the Laurier Government effected sundry alienations of land in the vicinity to its supporters, and omitted this tract that it was generally thought that the tract was alienated whereas in reality it was open for purchase, or homestead entry; and that S. J. Donaldson discovering the real position of affairs caused his son to homestead it.

PREMIER ROBLIN HAS AROUSED FRENCH IRE

St. Boniface Conservatives are Opposed to Taylor's Elevation to Cabinet.

Winnipeg, April 17.—St. Boniface French Conservatives are aroused to white heat over the intention of Premier Roblin to take E. L. Taylor, K.C., a prominent Methodist temperance lawyer, into the Cabinet instead of Jos. Bernier, member of St. Boniface. It is understood the Premier wishes to placate the temperance forces; and the Methodist Church feeling within that denomination which is severe against the Government for its attitude favoring liquor sellers and Separate schools. It was generally expected that Bernier would be the next member of the Cabinet, but now it is believed that he is to be sacrificed for advocating Archbishop Langevin's views in the Legislature too strongly.

LEGISLATURE WAS TO BE ASKED TO AUTHORIZE TORONTO DEBENTURES

Bill Will Provide for Thirty Millions of Bonds and the Deal if it Goes Through, Will be on a Stock Basis--Municipality is to Obtain Possession of All Lines Within the City

Toronto, April 17.—To-night, if the Toronto City Council approves of the negotiations conducted by Mayor Hocken, a bill will be introduced in the Legislature to permit the city to issue bonds to the value of $30,000,000 for the purchase outright of the Toronto Street Railway Company and the Toronto Electric Light Company, and to authorize the creation of a Civic Railway Commission for the operation of the combined municipal street railway system.

It is understood that the negotiations initiated by the Mayor have resulted in such an equitable understanding that Council will not offer objection to the continuance of the negotiations, but will strongly endorse the proposals. Great secrecy is being maintained by both parties as to the financial conditions of the contracts, but it seems evident that the contemplated agreements will be upon a stock basis. The city will acquire the entire stock of the rail way company, which, of course, would include all the rights of the franchise, real estate and equipment of all kinds. The same procedure will be followed in the case of the Toronto Electric Light Company. The estimated cost of both concerns, as shown above, will be approximately $28,600,000, the $8,000,000 being for the electrical carporation's interests, and the larger amount for those of the railway.

PONTIFF RISES UNASSISTED MAY END DAILY BULLETINS

If his Holiness Continues to Gain Strength as He Did To-Day All Fear of His Existence is Precluded--Doctors Are Hopeful

Rome, April 17.—The Pope is so much better, according to reports from the Vatican, that if present conditions continue the last bulletin about his health will be published by the physicians to-morrow. In this the doctors will declare that all fear for the existence of the Pontiff is excluded.

The Pope himself, says he is better. When Dr. Andrea Amici visited him at noon to-day and asked him how he felt, the Pontiff replied: "This is the first day since my first relapse that I feel really relieved."

More Comfortable in an Arm Chair.

Prof. Marchiafava and Dr. Amici to-day again impressed on the Pope the necessity of complete rest, informing him that any activity would create obstacles to his recovery.

"Your commands shall be obeyed" said the Pope, smilingly, with an aur of resignation. Shortly after the doctors had left, however, the sun broke through the clouds and inundated the Pope's bed chamber with its rays. The Pontiff thereupon declared that he could endure his bed no longer. His restlessness increased and he said he would feel more comfortable in an arm chair. He then insisted on rising and his attendants felt obliged to give way to his wishes. His valet proceeded to help him to rise, but the Pope refused his assistance, saying that he was not yet incapacitated and could help himself although he was feeling somewhat weaker.

FRIEDMANN GAVE ONE DROP OF SERUM FOR ANALYSIS

And Refuse the Request for More for a Further Test in Washington

Washington, April 17.—Dr. F. F. Friedmann, it developed to-day, has refused a request of the Federal Public Health Service for more of the serum which he claims is a "cure" for tuberculosis. Surgeon-General Rupert Blue, of the service, is reported to have asked Dr. Friedmann for further samples of his serum so that a more careful analysis of the alleged cure could be made. Dr. Friedmann is declared to have said that he had already supplied Surgeon John F. Anderson, director of the Hygienic Laboratory, with a little platinum "loopful" and that he could spare no more. The amount furnished by the Berlin scientist, according to Surgeon-Geqeral Blue, was a mere drop.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Not much change in temperature, colder in some localities.

HER LOVE GREW COLD SO SHE TOLD HIM THIS WAY

Invented Pitiful Tale of Lost Money and Jewels to Chill Affection of Affianced.

New York, April 17.—Agnes Erhart, aged 19, engaged to marry Feador Heinickel on Saturday, decided at the eleventh hour that she did not really love her affianced, but was afraid to tell him so. She thought the loss of what money and jewelry she had might chill his intentions.

In league with another man friend she concocted a robbery and turned up at the police station to-day with a pitiful tale of how a man had leaped out of a closet in her room tied a black bag over her head, choked her and bound her and made away with her valuables, including $125 in cash. When the detectives broke down her story after a lengthy grilling the girl admitted that she was not really robbed, but "had to do something to keep her from marrying Feador."

She signed a long written statement and was finally allowed to go.

Ottawa, April 17. Sir Admund Walker was again on the stand before the Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday morning.

Mr. Ames asked if times were hard and the banks powers were strained, what steps would betaken to prepare for the contingency.

Sir Edmund said that the banks would begin by drawing in call loans and securities from New York. If money continued tight they would gradually get the large loans paid off and in the case of big industrial companies have them issue bonds.

In reply to a question from J. E. Armstrong, he said that the average profit of the banks in 1912 on the entire assets were 1.20 per cent.

After allowing 6 per cent. on the capital and surplus, belonging to the shareholders, the profit was a little more than one-quarter of one per cent. Profits and the market price of stocks ranged from 6¼ to 9 per cent. The average percentage of dividends in the market price of stocks was from 5 to 5¼ per cent.

EIGHT SAVED FROM MOUTHS OF SHARKS

Picked up in Little Life Boat After They Had Abandoned Sinking Schooner.

New York, April 17.—Saved from death by drowning and a more horrible death by hungry sharks that surrounded their lifeboat, seven men and a woman, survivors from the wrecked schooner Lottie R. Russell, were brought into port to-day by the steamer Georgian Prince.

They had been picked up off Cape Henry, Va., after abandoning their sinking schooner, leaking from a two days' battle with heavy gales. The woman is the wife of first mate Van Zant. Captain J. C. James and all the crew were saved.

PRIVY COUNCIL MEASURE SURE TO BECOME LAW

London, April 17. Enquiries by the Canadian Press Association show that the Appellate Jurisdiction qill, introduced by the Lord Chancellor, is certain to become law. The bill is heartily welcomed in legal circles connected with the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which is perhaps, not unnatural, considering it means the addition of two salaried law lords, each at $6,000 yearly.

Apart from this, however, it is felt the bill's provisions will immensely strengthen the Privy Council, and consequently increase the popularity of appeals from the overseas Dominions.

KING AND QUEEN OF DENMARK ARE TO VISIT BRITAIN IN MAY

They Will be Official Guests of the Nation at Buckingham Palace Next May

London, April 17.—It is now expected at the English court that the King and Queen of Denmark will arrive in England about the third week in May. They will be the official guests of the King at Buckingham Palace, where they will occupy the Belgian suite of apartments. This suite is situated on the ground floor of the Palace overlooking the gardens. It received its name from its first occupants, the late King Leopold of the Belgians, and was last occupied by the German Emperor and Empress when, with Princess Victoria Louise, they came to England for the unveiling of the National Memorial to the late Queen Victoria. Their Majesties will remain in London for about a week, and will go to Windsor one day in order that King Christian may be invested with the order of the Garter, with befitting ceremony, a special chapter of the Knights of the Order being summoned for this purbose. Subsequently the King and Queen of Denmark will travel to Sandringham to pass a few days privately with Queen Alexandra. There will likewise be the customary drive through London to the Guildhall, where the City Corporation will give a luncheon in their honor.

WHY SHOULDN'T THE FANS GO INTO TRAINING, TOO?

GIPSY GIRL STOLE MONEY THROUGH TELLERS WICKET

London, Ont., April 17.—The detectives are trying to run down a young gypsy woman who yesterday went into a branch office of the Bank of Toronto and asked the teller as he was counting his money, if he wouldn't like to have his fortune told.

When he turned to mention the matter to some other clerks, the woman reached through the wicket and snatched a bunch of bills from his hand and made a rapid escape

All efforts to locate the girl have so far proven unsuccessful.

FATAL BLUNDER COST ONE MAN'S LIFE AND THREE HURT

KILLED.

J. J. Neill, Palmerston, brakeman on G.T.R. westbound train.

Severely Injured, May Die.

Injured.

Engineer W. Neill, Palmerston, bruises and cut about face and hands

Cause.

Place.

G.T.R. yards at the foot of Spadina avenue.

Time.

3.35 this morning.

Toronto, April 17.—One man was killed, another so badly injured that he may die, and two others more or less seriously hurt, when a G.T.R. train, consisting of engine and caboose, with the caboose running foremost, "side-swiped" an eastbound freight train which was crossing the diamond in the G.T.R. yards at the foot of Spadina avenue early this morning.

Brakesman J. J. Neill, of Palmerston, who was standing on the rear platform of the caboose with two others of the train crew, was instantly killed, the lower part of his body being badly crushed, while his fellow-brakesman, G. Kelly, also of Palmerston, was so severely injured that little hope is held out for his recovery. Conductor L. Shea, of Palmerston, escaped with slighter injuries, and Engineer W. Neill, brother of the unfortunate brakeman sustained severe cuts when he was thrown from his cab to the tracks.

Other Crew Escaped.

Kelly and Shea are in Grace Hospital where they were rushed in the police ambulance, while Engineer Neill had his injuries dressed at the office of Drs. Riordan and Rice, Bay street, this morning. No person was hurt on the eastbound train.

The accident is one of the most peculiar which has happened in years and according to the G.T.R. authorities, was directly attributable to the disobedience of the crew of the westbound train in running past signals. They had just taken a string of cars to the Don yards and were running west with the caboose foremost at a fair rate of speed. It was said this morning that before they arrived at the diamond at the foot of Spadina avenue the signals had been set against them and that they should have stopped to permit the other train crossing into the C.P.R. yards.

No Chance to Escape.

The latter train consisted of a number of freight cars which being shoved into the other yards by a G.T.R. transfer engine.

TORONTO LOST TWO MILLIONS ON RAILWAY TRACK PAVEMENT

Huge Sums Charged Against Municipality in Past That Should Have Been Paid by Property Owners on the Local Improvement Plan

Toronta, April 17.—"For some curious reason the city has been assuming the entire cost of track pavement instead of charging a fair proportion to the local properties," Ald. Wicket has reported to the Transportation Committee, "thus Yonge street properties, for example, pay only for pavements between the sidewalk and the track, the city paying for the surfacing of the area covered by the double tracks and devil strip. This means that altogether the city has paid for some $4,000,000 of pavements of which at least one-half might and should have been charged as a local improvement. Interest on this sum at 4 per cent. is $160,000, which may be taken as a rough approximation. This item of interest, it will be noticed, is over one and one-half times the item of rental for right-of-way."

"To apportion surpluses for general city purposes and then borrow fresh money for pavements is a costly and unbusinesslike policy," declared Ald. Wickett, in his report. "Had the local properties been charged their fair proportion there would have been little if any outstanding liability such as now stands against railway pavements and must be liquidated out of general taxes during the next few years. On this item alone the city is out about $2,000,000. If no action is taken the city will have to face an unnecessary bill of another million before many years are over.

"Moreover, a decision on this is advisable with a view to a civic policy in connection with our own lines. To charge the civic system with the entire cost of surfacing pavements, places a burden on this system that cannot fairly be charged as part of capital cost."

"Your committee further recommend that the cost of street railway pavements, apart from the cost of the substructure, be assessed as a local improvement; and that legislation be sought for this purpose."

BIG INDIAN CONGRESS NOW GETTING READY

As there is considerable talk through the city regarding Kendry's Indian Congress, a local organization that opens at Toronto Island on May 24th, a Times Scribe journeyed out to Auburn Mills yesterday to find out how things are coming along. Just to the south of the stables at the big mill are four, out of twelve contemplated tepees or Indian wigwams. Two of these, with the traditional cedar poles as supports, with an opening at the top to emit smoke are covered with birch bark and two with oak bark. The tepees are made in sections held together with hooks for facility of shipping.

In the big carpenter shop is a staff of mechanics under Mr. J. Koster, getting out costumes and other paraphrenalia. The woodwork branch is under care of Messrs. Larose and W. Garry. Mr. Koster is busily engaged in preparing costumes. These are mainly of leather which, by Mr. Koster, is treated with up-to-date burnt work. There are many trunks awaiting shipment of the costumes. One large trunk is full of completed war bonnets. These are made of natural eagle feathers imported from Omaha. For the chiefs of the Indians, the bonnets are of plumes from the true golden eagle.

Taken as a "toute ensemble," the costumes are life like as depicted in Western stories of the "Wild and Wooley."

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL

Toronto, April 17.—Hon. S. H. Blake was operated upon this morning at 9 o'clock by Dr. Bruce in the Wellesley Hospital, following a consultation of Mr. Blake's physicians—Drs. Bruce, Primrose and Caven—last evening, at which this course was deemed necessary.

Although it was feared that in view of Mr. Blake's advanced years the operation might prove serious, it fortunately happened to be most successful, and this afternoon it was reported from the hospital that he was resting easily.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store, we make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 336 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

Tremendous Traffic on Thoroughfares of Old World Cities

The City of London streets near the Mansion House have the heaviest foot passenger traffic of any in the world—500,000 persons a week day; while the Place de Opera in Paris has the heaviest vehicular traffic—63,000 vehicles a day, as compared with 50,000 a day at the Mansion House, corner. The Place de Opera has 450,000 foot passengers a week day.

After these two streets come the Friedrichstrasse in Berlin, with an average of 300,000 foot passengers a day; the Graben, Vienna, with an average of 275,000, and the Vladimorski, Prospekt, in St. Petersburg, with an average of 300,000 daily.

Centuries in Building

The four centuries between the Panama Canal's first conception and its completion are by no means a record in the annals of canal construction. The completion in 1892 of the canal across the Isthmus of Corinth was the finish of a scheme for which the first survey was made in the year 600 B.C., when Periander employed Egyptian engineers to carry out the work. Nero actually commenced work along the site of the present canal, but at his death it was abandoned, and the project was not revived until 1882, and this though the total length of the canal is under four miles.

HER MAGAZINE STORY

How Bob Found His Long Lost Ruth.

By ADELE MENDEL.

"Come on to bed, Robert; it's past midnight," said his roommate, Kenneth, as he knocked the ashes from his curved meerschaum pipe.

"Just want to read one more story and then I'll be with you," answered Robert, settling himself comfortably in the huge leather arm chair.

"One would think you were a love-sick maid, the way you devour those magazine stories," growled Kenneth.

"I'm not a love-sick maid, but maybe I'm that kind of a man," said Robert with a quizzical air and throwing down his magazine.

"I've no doubt of that, none at all," emphatically answered Kenneth. "Any fellow of twenty-eight who refuses to call on girls, declines all invitations to dances, dinners and parties, who never changes the color or style of his necktie, has something wrong with him, mark my word."

"Her name is Ruth Wilson," began Robert, as if he were repeating a well-known lesson. "She was a little pen-and-ink sketcher and sold some of her work to our firm; that is how I first became acquainted with her. But our acquaintance soon grew to friendship, and then it wasn't many months before we both knew we were in love with each other. I wanted to marry at once, but Ruth insisted upon waiting a year, as she felt she had a future in her artistic career and was not as yet willing to give it up. Patiently I agreed, and at the end of the allotted time she begged for six months more. And then another and yet another delay, until one evening, as we were seated in her two-by-four hall-room studio on the third story of a second-class boarding house, irritated by her seeming preference for her profession when she again asked for a postponement of our marriage, I lost my temper and hurled unkind, angry words at the girl. Naturally, she resented my attitude. One word led to another, I banged the door and dashed like a madman down the stairs and out of the house. I walked miles and miles,

"By George, Ken, I'm in Love."

not caring where, until, exhausted, I finally reached home. That is the last time I ever saw her. Only God knows how I love that girl!"

"Don't tell me you never went there again; it's unbelievable!" interrupted Kenneth.

"She, dear little forgiving angel," went on Robert, "had written me a note saying: 'I surrender. Name the day.' Through the stupidity or carelessness of the maid I never received it until four weeks later, when I chanced across it unopened in a book that was lying on my library table.

"I rushed to her home without delay. Everything on the way seemed to say, 'Ruth is going to marry me, Ruth is going to marry me.' I was fully prepared to tell her what an all-fired fool and idiot I thought myself for losing my temper. Bounding up the stairs, my pulse throbbing, imagine my feelings when the landlady informed me that Ruth had moved the day before and had left no address. That is two years ago, and although I have tried incessantly, I have been unable to secure the slightest clew to her whereabouts. Naturally, I suppose she thought I received her letter when written and didn't care to respond."

A few weeks after this conversation, as Robert entered the room, he found his friend excitedly walking up and down.

"Rob, Bob," he exclaimed, "I thought you would never come. I have found her, I've found Ruth—at least, I have a clew.

Robert gazed at him, speechless.

"Coming home," continued Kenneth, "I picked up this magazine from a news stand. I turned to the story entitled 'Unfinished.' It's almost word for word the story of Ruth and yourself. The name signed is doubtless fictitious, for Ruth, and no other, can have written it. Write to the publisher, secure her address, and then your troubles will be over."

Early the next morning, after a sleepless night, Robert reached the publisher's office, where he discovered that the name signed to the story was the author's real name, and that she lived in a small suburb in the outskirts of New York. Jumping on a train, after two impatient hours he reached his destination. A pretty girl, with a twinkling eye and sympathetic voice, answered the bell. He introduced himself, explained his mission, and added:

"Tell me, please, where I can find your heroine, for find her I must."

"I'll gladly give you her address, but first I wish to explain how I came to have the story published. Ruth, after leaving New York in an unhappy state of mind, came here to visit and rest with me. Poor thing, she was so distressed that I begged her to tell me the cause. I never intended to use the story for material to sell, but just wrote it up because its dramatic possibilities appealed to me. Last fall I sprained my arm, and mother, addressing some manuscripts to my publishers, in mistake inclosed this story. I felt dreadful at the time to think that it might appear as a breach of confidence. But now, if it will be the means of bringing Ruth and you together again, I will be the happiest of girls."

Robert thanked the girl, boarded his train, and lost no time in reaching his office and writing a passionate appeal to Ruth for forgiveness.

Many and weary were the weeks that followed. Hope and despair alternated in Robert's breast, but no answer came.

"It's no use," he remarked one evening to Kenneth. "Ruth has received my letter long before this, and it is evident that she no longer cares enough for me to answer it. I don't—"

The telephone rang, and Robert stepped to the phone. He heard a soft voice say, "Is this you, Robert? I just received your letter, returned to me from England. I am stopping with my aunt, Mrs. Davenport, who, strange to say, lives in an apartment next to yours. Would you care to come over?"

"Would I care to?" cried Robert "Oh, girl, just wait two minutes and see!"

As Robert bounded down the stairs, Kenneth said to himself: "I guess the little authoress won't be able to call her story 'Unfinished' any more."

SCOTCH GIRLS' FRIEND

Mrs. Radford Undertook Big Task at Advanced Age

Mrs. Jane Radford, founder and principal of the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau of Montreal, has big ideas for encouraging the best type of Scotch immigrant girls to come to Canada.

Mrs. Radford is considerably over the slotted span of years, and a very interesting story she had to tell of her work among girls who forsake the Old for the New World. Her public life commenced by her appointment to the Selecting Committee of an agency which was bringing girls out to Canada by the hundred. Her experience in this capacity gave her an idea of the great injustice done by the system under which these girls were sent out. Promises were made that never could be realized, with the result that disappointment and despair invariably made miserable the existence of girls who left the Old Country full of high hopes and ambitions. Realizing all this, Mrs. Radford although seventy-four years of age went to Canada and asked to be permitted to put her scheme into operation. That was to tell the truth with regard to the wages domestic servants would receive; to give opportunities to girls to select whom they should work for and see that the particular work of a domestic servant was made clear to her before any contract was closed; and to provide amusement and social intercourse for the girls during their free hours. This was rather a big undertaking for a woman, but the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau was organized as the result of Mrs. Radford's efforts, and part of its activity consists in bringing the girls into touch with ministers of their own denomination, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic; and giving them the advantage of a home at a very low rate for at least twenty-four hours after their arrival—a rest being desirable after the fatigue of their passage. To perform all these obligations, Mrs. Radford arranged a system of work which does her credit.

SAD END OF BARONESS

Member of Noble German Family Died in Straightened Circumstances

There died at the Aged Women's Home in Toronto, Baroness von Helmrod, widow of the late Baron Ernest von Helmrod, who lived on a little farm at Humber Bay. Her husband died about two years ago. The Baroness von Helmrod came from a distinguished noble Prussian family and when she came to Canada many years ago she had considerable money, which however, he lost in unfortunate speculations. The old couple for many years eked out an existence by selling chickens, eggs, vegetables, etc., which they raised at their little farm at Humber Bay.

MONEY FLEW FAST

Over Half a Million Dollars Changed Hands in Less Than Hour

What probably establishes a new record for real estate sales was made at the auction of Provincial Government lots in Prince Rupert. During the first 45 minutes over $500,000 in sales was recorded. The total amount realized on 252 lots was just $1,191,860; the highest price obtained being $58,000 and the lowest $505.

Coast to Coast Highway

The first sign post of the Transcontinental highway was planted in the town of Alberni, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The Canadian Highway Association, which is responsible for the inauguration of the idea of a highway from coast to coast was formed at New Westminster, B. C., and in the words of its president "From now on the route of the Canadian Highway is eastward, with Halifax as its destination."

Miracle at Kamloops

Horrified at the sight of an almost headless corpse, the remains of a man who was run over and killed by a train, A. Jasinki, a deaf mute, of Kamloops, B.C., suddenly regained his speech and hearing. The miracle was worked it is supposed by shock at being confronted suddenly with such a ghastly sight.

BLACKSMITH'S RISE

From the Forge to High Position in Roman Catholic Church

Archbishop McNiel, of Toronto, rose to his high office from the humble stepping-stone of the blacksmith's forge.

He is descended from the McNeils of Barra, the Highland clan whose battle-cry was "Victory or Death." The clan claims descent from Neil Og, who fought at Bannockburn, and was granted lands by Robert Bruce. The last McNeil of Barra, Major-General M'Neil, died in England in 1863.

The Archbishop, on his mother's side, is Irish. Her home was in County Kilkenny. In his youth Archbishop McNeil worked at his father's trade in his native town in Nova Scotia. He studied so diligently, however that he was brought to the notice of the parish priest, who helped him to college, and thus to the priesthood.

He became in succession head of St. Francis College, Bishop of St. Gregory's, and Archbishop of Vancouver, while in Newfoundland he travelled hundreds of miles from mission to mission, on pack-horses and on foot, in all kinds of weather. He is an astronomer and a profound mathematician.

RELIC OF THE PAST

Wooden Water-pipes Made From Solid Tree Trunk Found in Victoria

A relic of the early waterworks system of Victoria, British Columbia, was unearthed, when workmen uncovered one of the old wooden water pipes which for years carried the early water supply.

The pipe, a fine specimen of the fir tree, in an excellent state of preservation, had a four-inch hole bored throughout its entire length, and, with other lengths treated in similar manner, formed the primitive distribution system of the early water service. The main was laid in 1863, when the first waterworks system was installed in Victoria.

The system, in those days, was one in which the residents of the city took no little pride.

Tremendous Traffic on Thoroughfares of Old World Cities

The City of London streets near the Mansion House have the heaviest foot passenger traffic of any in the world—500,000 persons a week day; while the Place de Opera in Paris has the heaviest vehicular traffic—63,000 vehicles a day, as compared with 50,000 a day at the Mansion House corner. The Place de Opera has 450,000 foot passengers a week day.

After these two streets come the Friedrichstrasse in Berlin, with an average of 300,000 foot passengers a day; the Graben, Vienna, with an average of 275,000, and the Vladimorski, Prospekt, in St. Petersburg, with an average of 300,000 daily.

Centuries in Building

The four centuries between the Panama Canal's first conception and its completion are by no means a record in the annals of canal construction. The completion in 1893 of the canal across the Isthmus of Corinth was the finish of a scheme for which the first survey was made in the year 600 B.C., when Periander employed Egyptian engineers to carry out the work. Nero actually commenced work along the site of the present canal, but at his death it was abandoned, and the project was not revived until 1882, and this though the total length of the canal is under four miles.

HER MAGAZINE STORY

How Bob Found His Long Lost Ruth.

By ADELE MENDEL.

"Come on to bed, Robert; it's past midnight," said his roommate, Kenneth, as he knocked the ashes from his curved meerschaum pipe.

"Just want to read one more story and then I'll be with you," answered Robert, settling himself comfortably in the huge leather arm chair.

"One would think you were a love-sick maid, the way you devour those magazine stories," growled Kenneth.

"I'm not a love-sick maid, but maybe I'm that kind of a man," said Robert with a quizzical air and throwing down his magazine.

"I've no doubt of that, none at all," emphatically answered Kenneth. "Any fellow of twenty-eight who refuses to call on girls, declines all invitations to dances, dinners and parties, who never changes the color or style of his necktie, has something wrong with him, mark my word."

"Her name is Ruth Wilson," began Robert, as if he were repeating a well-known lesson. "She was a little pen-and-ink sketcher and sold some of her work to our firm; that is how I first became acquainted with her. But our acquaintance soon grew to friendship, and then it wasn't many months before we both knew we were in love with each other. I wanted to marry at once, but Ruth insisted upon waiting a year, as she felt she had a future in her artistic career and was not as yet willing to give it up. Patiently I agreed, and at the end of the allotted time she begged for six months more. And then another and yet another delay, until one evening, as we were seated in her two-by-four hall-room studio on the third story of a second-class boarding house, irritated by her seeming preference for her profession when she again asked for a postponement of our marriage, I lost my temper and hurled unkind, angry words at the girl. Naturally, she resented my attitude. One word led to another, I banged the door and dashed like a madman down the stairs and out of the house. I walked miles and miles, not caring where, until, exhausted, I finally reached home. That is the last time I ever saw her. Only God knows how I love that girl!"

"By George, Ken, I'm In Love."

"Don't tell me you never went there again; it's unbelievable!" interrupted Kenneth.

"She, dear little forgiving angel," went on Robert, "had written me a note saying: 'I surrender. Name the day.' Through the stupidity or carelessness of the maid I never received it until four weeks later, when I chanced across it unopened in a book that was lying on my library table.

"I rushed to her home without delay. Everything on the way seemed to say, 'Ruth is going to marry me, Ruth is going to marry me.' I was fully prepared to tell her what an all-fired fool and idiot I thought myself for losing my temper. Bounding up the stairs, my pulse throbbing, imagine my feelings when the landlady informed me that Ruth had moved the day before and had left no address. That is two years ago, and although I have tried incessantly, I have been unable to secure the slightest clew to her whereabouts. Naturally, I suppose she thought I received her letter when written and didn't care to respond."

A few weeks after this conversation, as Robert entered the room, he found his friend excitedly walking up and down.

"Bob, Bob," he exclaimed, "I thought you would never come. I have found her, I've found Ruth—at least, I have a clew.

Robert gazed at him, speechless.

"Coming home," continued Kenneth, "I picked up this magazine from a news stand. I turned to the story entitled 'Unfinished.' It's almost word for word the story of Ruth and yourself. The name signed is doubtless fictitious, for Ruth, and no other, can have written it. Write to the publisher, secure her address, and then your troubles will be over."

Early the next morning, after a sleepless night, Robert reached the publisher's office, where he discovered that the name signed to the story was the author's real name, and that she lived in a small suburb in the outskirts of New York. Jumping on a train, after two impatient hours he reached his destination. A pretty girl, with a twinkling eye and sympathetic voice, answered the bell. He introduced himself, explained his mission, and added:

"Tell me, please, where I can find your heroine, for find her I must."

"I'll gladly give you her address, but first I wish to explain how I came to have the story published. Ruth, after leaving New York in an unhappy state of mind, came here to visit and rest with me. Poor thing, she was so distressed that I begged her to tell me the cause. I never intended to use the story for material to sell, but just wrote it up because its dramatic possibilities appealed to me. Last fall I sprained my arm, and mother, addressing some manuscripts to my publishers, in mistake inclosed this story. I felt dreadful at the time to think that it might appear as a breach of confidence. But now, if it will be the means of bringing Ruth and you together again, I will be the happiest of girls."

Robert thanked the girl, boarded his train, and lost no time in reaching his office and writing a passionate appeal to Ruth for forgiveness.

Many and weary were the weeks that followed. Hope and despair alternated in Robert's breast, but no answer came.

"It's no use," he remarked one evening to Kenneth. "Ruth has received my letter long before this, and it is evident that she no longer cares enough for me to answer it I don't—"

The telephone rang, and Robert stepped to the phone. He heard a soft voice say, "Is this you, Robert? I just received your letter, returned to me from England. I am stopping with my aunt, Mrs. Davenport, who, strange to say, lives in an apartment next to yours. Would you care to come over?"

"Would I care to?" cried Robert. "Oh, girl, just wait two minutes and see!"

As Robert bounded down the stairs, Kenneth said to himself: "I guess the little authoress won't be able to call her story 'Unfinished' any more."

SCOTCH GIRLS' FRIEND

Mrs. Radford Undertook Big Task at Advanced Age

Mrs. Jane Radford, founder and principal of the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau of Montreal, has big ideas for encouraging the best type of Scotch immigrant girls to come to Canada.

Mrs. Radford is considerably over the allotted span of years, and a very interesting story she had to tell of her work among girls who forsake the Old for the New World. Her public life commenced by her appointment to the Selecting Committee of an agency which was bringing girls out to Canada by the hundred. Her experience in this capacity gave her an idea of the great injustice done by the system under which these girls were sent out. Promises were made that never could be realized, with the result that disappointment and despair invariably made miserable the existence of girls who left the Old Country full of high hopes and ambitions. Realizing all this, Mrs. Radford although seventy-four years of age went to Canada and asked to be permitted to put her scheme into operation. That was to tell the truth with regard to the wages domestic servants would receive; to give opportunities to girls to select whom they should work for and see that the particular work of a domestic servant was made clear to her before any contract was closed; and to provide amusement and social intercourse for the girls during their free hours. This was rather a big undertaking for a woman, but the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau was organized as the result of Mrs. Radford's efforts, and part of its activity consists in bringing the girls into touch with ministers of their own denomination, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic; and giving them the advantage of a home at a very low rate for at least twenty-four hours after their arrival—a rest being desirable after the fatigue of their passage. To perform all these obligations, Mrs. Radford arranged a system of work which does her credit.

SAD END OF BARONESS

Member of Noble German Family Died in Straightened Circumstances

There died at the Aged Women's Home in Toronto, Baroness von Helmrod, widow of the late Baron Ernest von Helmrod, who lived on a little farm at Humber Bay. Her husband died about two years ago. The Baron von Helmrod came from a distinguished noble Prussian family and when he came to Canada many years ago he had considerable money, which, however, he lost in unfortunate speculations. The old couple for many years eked out an existence by selling chickens, eggs, vegetables, etc., which they raised at their little farm at Humber Bay.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Globe says there cannot possibly be an election before June. The Globe is right.

It seems to us that Japan is taking desperate chances when it selects a man named Takacashi to be minister of finance.

Judging by the character of the reports from Washington a new tariff bill has made the sugar men very sour and caused the wool men to feel quite sheepish.

The Liberals have decided to fight the naval proposals "to the bitter end." And it may be remarked that the end will be a decidedly bitter one for these Separatists.

The Conservative party, in parliament is solid to a man behind the Government's proposals to increase the effective naval forces of the Empire

The world is full of strange contrasts. While London is trying to force food down the throats of the imprisoned suffragets, there are hundreds of her people, who do not know where they are going to get anything to eat.

According to the London Chronicle the suffragettes' latest joke is to send pennies to people in unregistered and unstamped envelopes. This is not the first time they have played the fool with "coppers."

Our local contemporary, the Examiner, is curious to know what posterity will say of John Pierpont Morgan. It is not likely that posterity will know or say anything about him, because the men who loom large in the history of any country were not those who gave their lives and souls to the amassing of great fortunes.

The Philadelphia clergyman who entertained himself with speculating whether the late S. Pierpont Morgan went to heaven, shows by his utterances that the all-important thing for him to do is to concentrate his energies upon getting there himself. The judgment day may furnish some startling surprises for loose-talking, uncharitable individuals of this kind.

KEEP OUR OWN MARKET.

Those Liberals who boasted loudly of the advantages of reciprocity, never could hold out the rosy hope that the same advantages could be gained without sacrificing the tariff of Canada. Conservatives speakers in the reciprocity campaign preached a doctrine of moderation and caution. All that and more has now been justified. The Democrats by their action have shown that the Americans wanted to trade with the Canadians but with us as much benefits on their side as possible. They will trade with the Canadians now but the latter will keep

ROMAN CATHOLICS IN THE UNITED STATES

The official Roman Catholic Directory advance sheets of which have been secured by the press, show that the United States now ranks as one of the countries in which Roman Catholicism has attained its greatest numerical strength. It is reckoned that there are now 23,329,000 Roman Catholics in the United States, 7,000,000 of these, however, being in the Philippines. These figures differ from those of the census, but they are the official Roman Catholic figures. Italy heads the list of woman Catholic countries with 30,500,000 persons who are nominally Roman Catholics. Austria and Germany are but slightly in advance of the United States, while Spain has 4,000,000 less Roman Catholics, and the British Empire 10,000,000 less, than the United States. Last year the Roman Catholics built 373 new churches in the United States, making the total of 14,312. To minister to these they have 17,945 priests. They have also 6,169 young men studying for the priesthood, and 57,000 women who belong to societies or orders, and give all their time to religious, educational, and charitable work. But there are in the United States 174,396 ministers and 220,814 churches, so that the Roman Catholics have only about one priest to every nine Protestant and other ministers, and one church to every fifteen Protestant and other churches. These proportions seem rather strange alongside of their claim to have about one-sixth of the population. The figures, however, are worth noting as the official Roman Catholic ones. When we consider the large Roman Catholic immigration into the United States during the last fifty years, it is evident that there has been a tremendous leakage somewhere. Rome has not been holding her own children. The question is, "Can she hold them in a free country?" Can she hold them anywhere?

Headache Over the Eyes? Look for Nasal Catarrh

Catarrh Never Stops in One Place—It Spreads Rapidly—Often Ruins Health Completely.

In this changeable climate it is the little colds that drift into Catarrh. Unless the inflammation is checked it passes rapidly from the throat or nose to the bronchial tubes and then to the lungs. You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or toes, but you can cure catarrh.

The surest cure consists of breathing in the healing balsamic essences of CATARRHOZONE, which is simply a medicated vapor so full of rich curative properties that every trace of Catarrh vanishes before it.

"The soothing piney vapor of Catarrhozone is the most powerful medicine I ever used," writes Mrs. Edmond J. Christine, of Saskatoon. "Every breath drawn through the Inhaler sends a grateful feeling through the air passages of the nose and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of frightful headaches over the eyes, relieved me of a stuffy feeling in the nose, and an irritable hacking cough that had been the bane of my life for a year. My general health is greatly improved, my appetite and digestion are considerably better than before. Catarrhozone has been the means of giving me such health as I always desired, but never possessed."

Even though catarrh has a firm hold on you, and affects your throat, nose or ears, you can thoroughly cure it with Catarrhozone. Large size, guaranteed, costs $1.00; smaller size 50c.; sample size 25c. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

AN AGGRESSIVE CHURCH

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like to ask through your fearless paper why the council pays no attention to the latest aggression on the part of the Roman Catholic church in this city. There is hardly anyone in the city able to size up existing conditions, but who is aware that that church has fenced in Rubidge street between the former Bradburn property, now owned by the former, and the Dumble homestead. Not only has this public highway, that would make a pretty park, been fenced in, but the church is using it as a dumping ground for ashes, and a back yard for dying clothes on stationery whirly-go-rounds, but they have built their permanent buildings on the public domain. Would the Council allow any other church to fence in a public street, without even condescending to ask permission? Had the church even had the decency, in the public eye, to have clipped the wires at each side of the street line, thus demonstrating a temporary possession only, this might have been partly condoned. It is understood that Mr. Dumble is not without hopes of selling part of his property to the church. Should the church be allowed to thus absorb public property and eventually fence in, along with it, such portion of Mr. Dumble's land as they might buy, a nice little ring fence would surround their enlarged domain. Is this why Mr. Dumble, generally so touchy as regards his property in general makes no complaint?

NAVAL STATION BY NATURAL RIGHT

From its very beginning, Halifax, Nova Scotia, was destined to be a Naval station for British ships, its natural advantages claiming every right to that honor, and by way of recognition of this suitability there was established, in 1758, the beginnings of the dockyard.

In 1758-9 Halifax was the rendezvous for an army and navy meant to attack the positions of the French in Canada and the Dockyard, then furnished with a careening wharf and mast house, played a part by no means unimportant in the fitting out of the vessels destined to win for the British Empire the whole of Canada. Up to the close of the war in 1763, Halifax was the rendezvous of many transports and ships of the line who kept the Dockyard busy supplying and repairing them.

In 1765 a lot of land adjoining the north end of the naval yard was granted by Montague Wilmot, captain-general and Governor of Nova Scotia, to the Right Hon. Alex. Covill, rear-admiral and commander-in-chief and his heirs and successors in the command for extension of the naval yard.

In 1783 John Pan, captain-general and governor-in-chief of Nova Scotia, granted a lot of about 20 acres to George Thomas, naval storekeeper, and to John Halliburton, surgeon, and agent for hurt and sick seamen of H.M. Royal Navy. In 1770 the excavation earth from the citadel was used to fill up the southern end of the yard. In 1790 five and one half acres adjoining the yard were deeded over to the naval authorities by the executors of Joshua Mager. In 1794 a new naval hospital was erected.

The difference between France and England during the Napoleonic Wars led to no small number of marine engagements between the rival nations and their allies in American waters, and the Dockyard lived in stirring times. Shattered ships of war were repaired and re-fitted, and foreign prizes made into British ships of the line. Prison hulks were anchored off the busy wharves and French and Spanish prisoners kept on board.

The most noticeable feature of that period was the arrival in port in the year 1813 of the British ship-of-war the Shannon, accompanied by her prize, the Chesapeake, which she worsted in the battle of the 1st of June, 1813. The two ships anchored off the Dockyard, and the wounded men were taken ashore and cared for.

On New Year's Day, 1907, the H.M. Dockyard passed into the possession and control of the Dominion government, and the keys were handed over by the Imperial officer in charge to the representatives of the Canadian government.

PRESS GANG DAYS

Manning the Navy Was Different in Nelson's Time From To-day

One of the complaints that are heard as to the British navy to-day is that it is undermanned because it is underpaid. In the days of Nelson the pay was a matter that received little consideration.

The news of a shortage of men in the Navy and the hint of action by the Admiralty would put the merchantman on guard. Towards the end of the eighteenth century, for instance, there was a call for sailors for the Navy, and "persuasion" was the rule. "The press in the Thames for the last three days has been very severe. Five or six hundred seamen have been laid hold of." Thus runs one of many entries in the papers of the period. It was not always peaceful "pressing" as this item in the "Times" of 1795 will prove. "There was a very hot press on the river on Friday night last, when several hundred able seamen were procured. One of the gangs, in boarding a Liverpool trader, were resisted by the crew, when a desperate affray took place, in which many of the former were thrown overboard and the lieutenant who boarded them killed by a shot from the vessel."

Bought Canadian Land

One of the largest individual land deals ever effected in England was completed when Lord Joicey, an owner of extensive collieries in the Newcastle district, and one of the wealthiest Liberal peers bought nearly 24,000 acres of mixed farming and dairy farming land in the vicinity of Fort George, B.C., for which he paid $450,000.

A Twelve-Year-Old Forger

A boy of twelve, Harry Victor White, who had been taught at school as part of a commercial education to draw cheques, was charged at Eltham (Kent) with forging a cheque for $22. The Bench ordered him to be given six strokes of the birch.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Geodetic Survey Office Building, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received until 4.00 P.M., on Monday, May 12, 1913, for the above mentioned building on the Dominion Observatory Ground, Ottawa, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied and signed with their actual signatures, the nature of the occupation, and the place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Bad cuts and burns often happen in the kitchen. It is well to know of a handy remedy. To stop a cut from bleeding, powder it with green rice or flour, rice is the best; if a burn; bind on soft soap on a burn; it will relieve the pain at once. No matter how bad the burn, soft soap will relieve the pain in either case.

A STAMP MACHINE

Designed to do Away With the Licking of Postage Stamps

To eliminate the use of the unsanitary postage stamp is the object of an ingenious invention patented by a Montreal man, Mr. C. W. King.

Instead of selling postage stamps, Mr. King would have the Government sell a stamping machine. He invented one which, he claims, would answer the purpose. This machine can be set so that it will only stamp a certain number of letters, say five hundred, or a thousand, and when it has been used that number of times it locks automatically, and can only be set again by the post office officials.

The banker or merchant buys the machine, paying for it according to the number of impressions it is set for.

The die used would be unsaleable by vendors. Mr. King would guard against forgery by having each machine bear a special number on its stamp, so that every purchaser would have a number of his own, and thus if duplicates came in, he claims they could be traced.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16353½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

ENGLISH POLO.

A London cable says:—W. S. Buckmaster, the popular captain of England's polo team, received a serious injury while playing a week ago. In a practice game at Eaton Hall, where the ground was slippery from a heavy rain. Buckmaster's pony fell and unshipped its rider.

In the fall Buckmaster tore the ligaments of his right shoulder blade, which was broken in a previous accident in 1911. Though badly hurt by the fall, Buckmaster remounted and for the remainder of the week continued with great endurance to take part in such play as has been possible in the unfavorable weather.

BASEBALL

Umpire Bill Brennan is an inventor. Bill has a device, which he will have patented to eliminate the dangers of broken toes, crushed insteps and similar mishaps which befall arbiters. The device will be made of the same wire material that is used in the most expensive masks, and will be so adjusted as to clasp on the shoes and above the sole, completely protecting the toes and instep. Brennan says he got the idea from a pair of toe clips he used to wear on a bicycle.

Waivers have been asked on the Indian, who stirred the athletic world recently when he was ousted by the Amateur Athletic Union. Manager Huggins has filed a claim for Thorpe. Huggins is anxious to corral Thorpe and he declares that he will bid to the extreme limit to annex the redskin, if it is McGraw's intention to try and pass him out of the National League.

"I believe Thorpe can be developed into a ball player," says Huggins. "He has what I want—speed. It may be that he will need plenty of seasoning, but I would be willing to carry him a year or so as a utility player."

RING.

With Ad Wolgast threatening to retire if he fails to land a knockout or earns a twenty-round decision over Harley Tommy Murphy at San Francisco next Saturday, Joe Rivers getting the verdict from New York critics over Leach Cross, boxing enthusiasts will probably have to wait until July 4, for the next championship scrap. Whether Wolgast will continue in the running or fade from the spotlight is something that remains to be seen, but at this time it commences to look as if Rivers and Ritchie are the pair who will listen to bids from Jimmy Coffroth and Tom McCarney, both of whom are going to try and land the scrap.

Instead of a complicated flair, as the 133-pound championship seemed early last November, when Wolgast, Mandot, Ritchie, Rivers and Knockout Brown were regarded eligible for the title, only two remain, the Mexican and Ritchie. The chances of these boys meeting looms up brighter every day, for Ritchie, isn't busying himself to land ten-round bouts, while Rivers is inclined to train a few days to get a purse of $5,000, but matches of this sort are a thing of the past, for the boxing fans will hardly stand for anything but a scrap for the title.

A WELL-STOCKED KITCHEN

The most satisfactory way to obtain a worth-while kitchen outfit is to buy a few things at a time. Not only will the expense be spread over a longer period, but each article will be more carefully selected. Aluminum utensils are the best and the most expensive. Graniteware is durable when used with reasonable care—white-lined makes are perhaps the most satisfactory. Graniteware should never be allowed to boil dry nor be scraped when food sticks. In the latter case boil a little washing-soda and water in the dish for a few minutes or soak in warm soapsuds. Tin articles are light to handle and cheap, but rust and discolor, requiring a great deal of scouring. Iron pots and pans are heavy, hard to keep clean, and beyond a thick iron frying pan and an old-fashioned roasting pan, are not necessary.

The following list gives the most necessary appliances for the ordinary kitchen, to which may be added such odd pieces as the housewife finds necessary:

- A teakettle
- A dish-pan

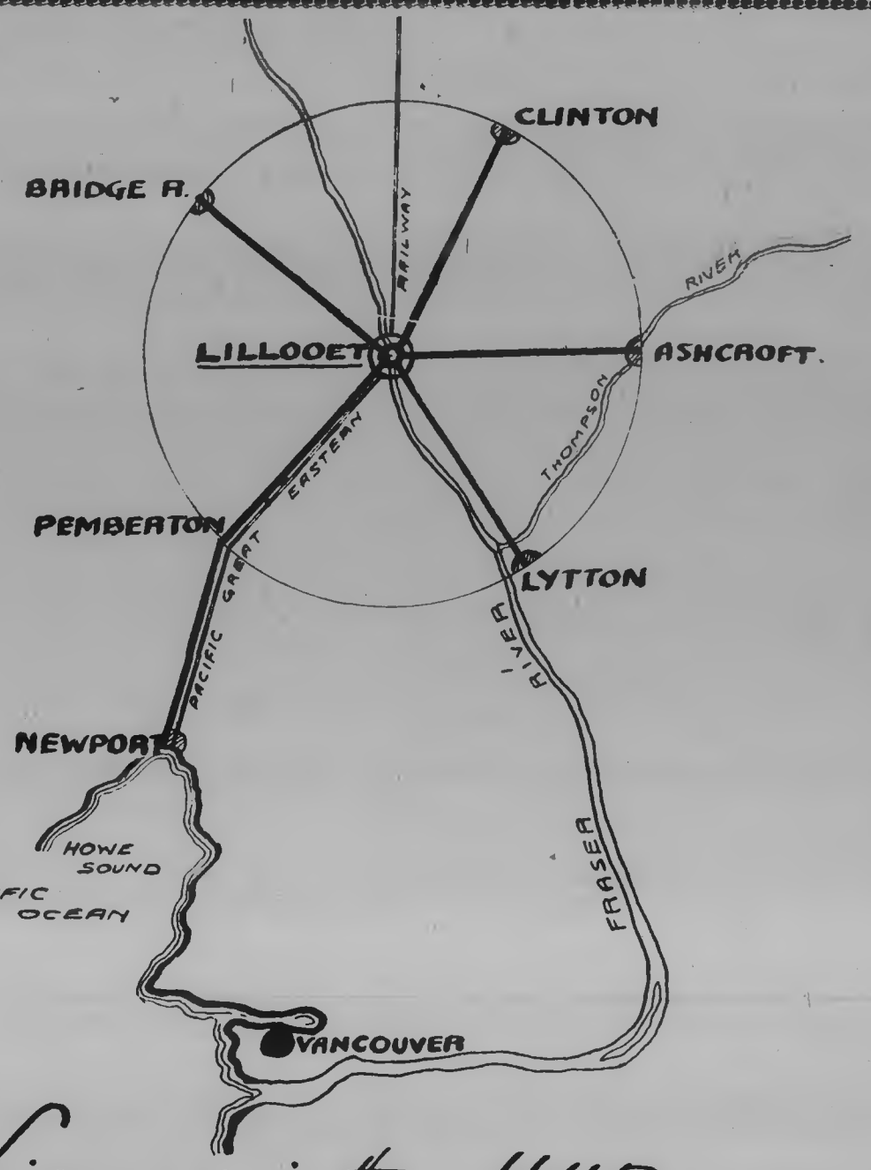
NEW COFFEE PERCOLATOR



Bag on Standard Holds Pulverized Coffee Suspended

A new way to percolate coffee has been discovered by an Englishman. The device is quite simple, comprising a goose-neck standard of aluminum, a circular stand of the same metal, into which the standard screws, and a cotton bag, which holds the ground coffee and which is fastened to the goose-neck by drawing strings. Place the requisite amount of coffee in the bag, stand the device in an ordinary pot and pour in about three inches of water—hot or cold. When the water boils it will bubble up around the pulverized coffee and acquire the full flavor without getting that strong, rank taste that is the result of grounds standing in the bottom of the pot. The water also rises in the goose-neck tube and circulates freely through that from bottom to top, a flange on the tube preventing the bag from being pushed off.

RELATED BY BIBLE SELLERS

Queer Things, It Appears, Are Traded for the Books in Many Foreign Lands.

The dangers and humors of the life of the Bible colporters—the men and women agents of the British and Foreign Bible society who sell the Scriptures in the scattered villages of nearly every country in the world—are modestly recorded in the report issued a few days ago, the London Mail states.

In South India last year a colporter caught sight of a tiger crossing his path. In Burma a colporter came face to face with a leopard. In a Peru town a Bible seller was cruelly beaten by fanatical opponents. In the insurrection in Persia a colporter was arrested and charged with being either a spy or an assassin.

On the other hand, the colporters have experiences which relieve the hardships of their tasks. An old woman in France bought a copy because her fancy was struck with the name Nathanael which occurred in a chapter read to her by the seller. She thought the name very pleasing, and decided to propose it for a grandson who was not yet baptized.

Curious bargains are often struck by these Bible sellers. Eggs are a frequent currency. In a Roumanian village a colporter bartered a Bible for a hen. It was a very excellent hen, so he added a New Testament. For four yards of home made linen he disposed of another Bible. Ten eggs and "a lump of bacon" was the price of one Bible in a Hungarian village. In northern Hungary a farmer gave a live pig for a large Bible. A rabbit was an exchange in one Spanish village, and a quantity of preserved peppers and tomatoes in another.

An Arab woman in Fez insisted on giving her silver ring for a Bible, and at a neighboring village a Gospel was exchanged for a pail of water for the colporter's horse. In Korea payment was taken in potatoes. These the colporter traded for rice in a market ten miles away. The rice provided him with food for several days. In another village a man, too poor to pay in coin, bartered a vine, the inner bark of which is used locally in making ropes. In some parts of southern Brazil eggs, fowls, fruit, coffee, cabbage, bread and brick sugar are exchanged for Bibles.

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1912, by A. C. McClurg & Co.)

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde on Miss C... for promised information and find that the Chinaman ... was to g... has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read ... after he leaves the mission and then de... it. It tells of the production of a ... man by Chinese who shipped him ... to China. The man accused ... of the "Sable Lorcha" in which ... Cameron were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they suppose ... had shipped to China throws con... ation into the Chinatown. The brough... in which Clyde and Evelyn are ri... is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is seized by Murphy and ... fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde ar... ed by the police and return home.

CHAPTER XXII.—They find Yup Sing and the Chin... Yup tells Clyde the story of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha," in which 37 Chinamen were deliberately sent to their death by one Donald McNish, whom they declare is Cameron.

CHAPTER XXIII.—They declare that McNish can be identified by a tattoo mark on his arm. Clyde declares that Cameron has no such mark. The nurse is called in and describes a tattoo mark on his patient's arm. Clyde goes to investigate and finds the patient attempting to hide a letter. It is addressed to Donald McNish.

In general contour and individual feature the likeness to Cameron was monstrous in its fidelity. The same rugged power, inherited from Scottish forbears, was traceable in every lineament. But there the similarity ended. The face I gazed upon lacked illumination. Character, so strongly indicated in the other, was from this totally absent. In its place was an admixture of craft and brutality, so palpable now—so clearly, unmistakably evident—that I marvelled at my former delusion.

It was the newspaper puzzle picture over again. Having at length discovered the hidden rabbit I could see nothing else whatever. It dominated the drawing. It fairly sprang at me from out the printed page.

There was still another feature of the revelation, however, which held a contrasting pathos. The letter which carried conviction beyond all possible dispute was from Donald McNish's aged mother. And while it tempered in a measure the harshness of my judgment against the son, it was of tragic import, in that it was one potent piece of evidence in his undoing, covering the last link in the chain which connected his identity with a shamefully maligned Cameron.

Evelyn wept over this letter, and I am not sure but that my own sight grew hazy, too, as I read the fond, quaintly couched phrases of endearment, penned half a year back in Dundee, by this God-fearing old Scotchwoman, to that infamous, blood-stained reprobate, who, to her, was still her "ain bonnie bairn."

It all came out, eventually, that McNish had traveled the world over in the sixteen years intervening since the coolie massacre, employing a score or more of aliases and so studiously avoiding the name by which he had then been known, as to have almost forgotten it, probably, himself, until, yielding to the call of home, he had at some early period of the last twelvemonth returned for a brief visit to his native town and his septuagenarian mother.

It was then, most likely, that he gave to her the address of the New York hotel. Fate influenced the mother to write, and Fate sent the son there six months later to get the letter, and so carry upon his person the confirmatory evidence of his identity, just at the time when it would prove fatal.

"How did it happen," I have been asked, "that you didn't examine immediately the clothes that the supposed Cameron wore, when you found him?"

In view of subsequent events it is very easy to see what an important bearing such an examination would have had ... at the time, there was no one who thought of it. Our chief purpose then was to get the injured man to bed and to secure a physician and nurse to minister to his recovery. If he had been found dead, then, of course, we should have gleaned what information we could from his pockets. But we did not expected him to be able to tell his own story, and in the anxiety and confusion of the moment the possible pertinancy of the disclosures that lurked in his apparel was entirely lost sight of.

When we did make the examination, on the morning following the episode of the letter, it was to discover that the suit and overcoat worn by McNish were of Scotch manufacture, having been made in Dundee, according to sewn-in labels, early in the current year.

The contents of the pockets were not significant. The letter he had been so anxious to secure and destroy was the only letter, apparently, he had carried. There was a cheque-book on a Chicago bank, and there was a wallet containing a small sum of money in bills, and a few business cards of importing houses, which we took to indicate that the possessor was still desultorily engaged in trade, or some species of smuggling, with the Malay states and the Straits settlements as his field, since most of the cards made reference to goods of such origin.

That morning, which succeeded the night of exciting events already detailed, was crowded with another succession of happenings scarcely less sensational.

At seven o'clock, O'Hara, in obedience to my instructions came to my room in the Loyalton, rousing me out of a heavy sleep; for I had not got to bed until four, and then had lain ... until after ... in bath robes, I ... bedside, and sinking ... on a low, brass-bound clothes chest, poured forth his story.

"Sleep!" he echoed, when I had made my apologies. "I haven't had a wink, myself. I've been with the boys all night doing as pretty a round-up as you ever see. We've got the bunch right this time, Mr. Clyde, and there'll be a clearin' out down there in Chinatown such as hasn't been known since the Chinks discovered Doyers street."

"Yes," I said, encouragingly.

"It's another war of the tongs," he went on. "They have 'em periodically, you know, and there's always a few of the moon-faced boys snuffed out, which ain't much loss nohow. But this time they interfered, you see, with you and Miss Grayson, and they beat up that driver of our buzz-carriage something fierce; and the Commissioner's issued orders to put the whole yellow population on the pan if necessary to get the ones what is responsible."

"Were any arrests made?" I inquired.

O'Hara smiled. "Were any arrests made?" he repeated in a tone that indicated supreme pity for my ignorance. "Why, we took 'em in by the wholesale. We lowered the net and dragged it and you ought to see what come up. There was one fellow, a skinny old geezer half-breed, neither Chink nor white man, but a slimy mixture of all that's bad in the two. We've had him on the griddle all night. Talk about the third degree! He got it good, and he's made enough admissions already to send him straight to the chair."

"And Murphy?" I suggested.

"He's a tough one, that lad! When they'd brought him to, they figured they'd get him to convict himself in the same old way. But there was nothin' doing. He just shut his trap, and not a word would he answer one way or the other. But his turn'll come, all right. I've got it on him, Mr. Clyde. While I've been shadowin' him for the past month I've picked up a bunch of stuff that will come in good. To begin with, his name ain't Murphy. It's Pat Moran, and his mug's at headquarters."

"His mug?"

"Sure! In the Rogue's Gallery. And his record's there too. He's done time, already."

"For what?"

"For stabbin' a man in the back."

It requires no great mathematical ability to put two and two together. The result is always either four or twenty-two. So, in logic, the answer is invariably either right or wrong. Murphy had stabbed a man in the back; McNish carried the scar of a knife wound under his shoulder blade. There were the two and two.

"What were the facts?" I asked, with kindled interest. "Whom did he stab? When? Where?"

"The bloke's name," O'Hara answered, after a moment's thumbing of his note book, "was MacNichol—Douglass MacNichol. It was in Buffalo, in 1900."

My putting together of names could hardly be a coincidence.

"Pat Moran served five years in Auburn," the detective added.

"You don't know what became of McNish—I mean MacNichol?"

"No."

"Nor any facts about the cause of the stabbing?"

"That's easy got," O'Hara informed me. "But it ain't in the record at headquarters. What is there, though, is that Moran had lived in Chinatown in Frisco, and was arrested there and tried for smuggling opium, but was acquitted for lack of evidence."

For a moment I sipped my coffee in thoughtful silence.

"The skeleton guy knows Moran, all right," O'Hara broke in.

"You mean the half-breed?"

"Yes. He give that away."

"What does he call himself?"

"He's known in Chinatown as John Soy. He says he's a cook."

Once again I was busy with two and two. Unless all signs failed this John Soy and Peter Johnson and the Eurasian cook of the Sable Lorcha were a single entity.

"O'Hara," I said, finishing my coffee, and putting down the cup and saucer, "I have the key witness in this case. You and I together are going to take him with us and have him confront both Murphy and John Soy. I promise you the result will be interesting."

The detective looked his perplexity.

"Some one who knows them?" he asked.

"Unless I am very much mistaken," I answered, "it is some one who knows them both better than any other person in New York. Unless Heaven is just now engaged in constructing enigmas simply for the bewilderment of us mortals, the witness I have is the man whom Moran stabbed in the back, in Buffalo, eight years ago."

But before I could carry out my plan there were several minor matters which claimed my attention. Ever since reading the note which Miss Clement placed in my hands I had been uneasy concerning her safety. To judge from O'Hara's report Chinatown had been in a ferment most of the night, and I feared lest the blame for the disturbance be visited upon the brave woman missionary and some measures of vengeance meted out to her.

For half an hour I tried unsuccessfully to reach her by telephone. The Mission did not answer. With my anxiety intensified by this repeated failure, I ordered my motor car around at once, and taking O'Hara with me, made the trip to Pell street in record time, despite obstructive trucks and other vehicles which were encountered, the hour being still early, in maddening frequency.

Eager inquiry of none-too-loquacious neighbors eventually elicited the information that Miss Clement, alive and uninjured, had started at daybreak, if not indeed before, to hunt up a brother of the murdered Ling Fo, in Long Island City.

Half an hour later, having stopped at Bellevue hospital on the way up town to inquire as to the condition of Eloi Lacoste, the injured chauffeur, and leave instructions that everything possible should be done for his comfort, I alighted from the car at the door of Dr. Massey's office on West Fifty-sixth street.

I trust I am not that type of man which, when guilty of error, delights to shift the responsibility to other shoulders. I had small excuse to make for myself in confounding McNish with Cameron, yet I confess I had much less for the family physician, who had been so easily deceived.

Dr. Massey greeted me almost jovially, but checked himself as he observed the seriousness, the coolness even, of my manner.

"Our—our patient is not worse?" he questioned, taken aback.

"No, doctor," I answered, tempted to a grim humor, "that would be impossible, I fancy."

For a second he regarded me with frowning incomprehension.

"Our patient," I repeated with a sarcastic emphasis that could not be misunderstood, "long ago, I fancy, reached the limit of blackguardism."

The doctor's eyes widened, his lips parted and he stood aghast.

"But—but—I don't quite see," he stammered. "You have quarreled with Mr. Cameron? You have—"

"No, no," I returned, interrupting him. "Would to God I had him here to quarrel with. Miss Grayson was right. The man you have been using your skill upon is no more Robert Cameron than I am."

I hardly knew whether to be irritated or amused by that which followed. Dr. Massey threw back his head and roared with boisterous laughter.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! That's the richest kind of a joke, my dear fellow!" he exclaimed, as his mirth subsided. "Not Robert Cameron? Why, do you know, Mr. Clyde, how many years I have been his physician? No. Of course you don't. Ten years and over, and I know Cameron as I know myself."

"Then tell me," I said, irritation having its way, "why on earth he ever had the initials D. M. N. tattooed on his left arm?"

The doctor's quick changes of expression were becoming an interesting study. The smile which had lingered after the laughter now gave way to a lowered brow and pursed lips.

"A tattoo mark on his left arm?" he repeated, slowly. "There's no such thing there."

"But there is," I insisted; "there is, at least, on the left arm of the man you've been treating."

Dr. Massey was still thoughtful.

"There is some mistake," he decided.

"No, there is no mistake," I assured him. "Miss Grayson's eyes were better than either yours or mine. She saw at once that this outlaw was not her uncle, and you and I fancied we knew better. If you are still unconvinced, doctor, I'll run you up in my car, which is at the door, and you shall satisfy yourself. Meanwhile I'll give you some of the confirmatory evidence."

He went with me; and to him and O'Hara, at the same time, I related the dumfounding occurrences of the previous night.

"And what did this McNish say?" the doctor inquired, when I had finished. "Did he admit the masquerade?"

"He became delirious. There was no getting a sensible word from him. My own idea is that the delirium was feigned."

"Possibly."

"Isn't it equally possible, doctor," I asked "that he has been feigning since the first?"

"No," was his answer. "I don't think so. He may have exaggerated his symptoms, when conscious, to gain time; but if he had been able to think clearly he would have secured that letter before last night. You may rest assured that that was the first opportunity he had, after regaining the power of thought continuity. And still," he continued, "I am not entirely convinced that he is not Robert Cameron. If it is merely a resemblance, as you claim, then it is the most remarkable case of likeness that I have ever encountered. Moreover, there is one thing we must not lose sight of. His abductors, as has been demonstrated by everything they have done, are an unusually clever and cunning lot of men. To counterfeit age, so far as the tattoo mark is concerned, is not so difficult as you might imagine; and I should have to see the scar before admitting that it is not of recent origin. The letter might have been a forgery, or a real letter, secured and placed in Cameron's pocket for this very purpose. And hypnotic suggestion would easily explain his desire to secure and destroy it. The use of a foreign tongue in his dementia, even, could be accounted for in the same way."

It was natural that Dr. Massey should exert his ingenuity to reconcile these divergent points. To him it seemed, as it had to me, that a mistake as to the identity of the patient was incredible. But now I simply shook my head in negation.

"Wait until you see him again, doctor," I requested. "Wait until you read his face, not for what is on the surface but for what is behind it."

The motor, drawing a swift diagonal to the curb, came creepingly to a halt before the Cameron house. As I was about to alight, Dr. Massey laid a detaining hand on my arm.

"If your conclusion is correct Clyde," he said, gravely, "what course do you propose to take? Do you realize what is involved? Don't you see that your conviction and mine is one thing, but that to convince the public is an entirely different matter? Can we afford to give this man up for his crimes until we have Cameron actually here to prove that it is not he who was thus involved sixteen years ago?

In the recent result of developments I had not thought of that. But I saw now that it presented a problem no less perplexing than some of those which had just been solved.

CHAPTER XXV.

Enemies Face to Face.

As events shaped themselves the problem presented by Dr. Massey found a speedy solution. Had I been compelled to grapple with it unaided I am not yet sure what course I should have pursued. Of my own volition I must have hesitated to take a step which could not fail to throw suspicion—at least among the only partially informed—upon my absent and defenseless friend. But all choice in the matter was denied me.

I arranged with Dr. Massey that he should go unaccompanied to his patient's room, and, without so much as a hint that he was cognizant of what had transpired on the previous night, make whatever examination he deemed necessary to a definite conclusion.

In the meantime, having learned from Checkabeedy that Evelyn was in the breakfast room, I joined her there. Her curiosity had ripened by a night's suppression; and having dismissed the footman who was serving her, she at once demanded the fulfillment of my promise to tell her everything.

"It's another case where you have the right to say, 'I told you so!' I began, as I took a chair next to her.

In her wide blue eyes I read that she divined my meaning.

"Yes," I went on, "the man upstairs is not your uncle. We have been nursing a viper, it seems, who promises to give us a deal of trouble before we are through with him."

There was no need for her to question me. Rapidly, succinctly, I told her the story I had learned from Yup Sing; told her, too, of the scene in the bedchamber, after I had left her on the previous night; and showed her the letter from McNish's poor old Scotch mother.

"There, there," I soothed, as in silence but with quivering lips and eyes overflowing, she started to read the tremblingly penned sentences a second time. "I'm sorry for the dear old creature, too, but—"

"Philip," she interrupted me, her face and voice alike pleading. "Let us send him back to her!"

"Send him back!" I repeated in amazement.

"Yes. We can, can't we? We don't have to give him up to those horrid Chinamen, do we? He's well enough to go, isn't he? Why can't we call a cab, give him enough money for his passage and send him, at once? There's a steamer sailing this morning, isn't there?"

For just a moment I was on the point of yielding. Seldom has a villain had a more puissant advocate than had McNish in this enthusiastic, resolute girl, spurred to his salvation by the pathetic appeal of that maternal yearning which breathed from every line of the letter before her. The unselfish ... her cause illumined and tran... Her beauty was radiant.

"Answer me!" she insisted, impatient at my silence. "Isn't it possible? Isn't it really the very best way out of a difficulty? ... will never do to admit that ... had that man here in mistake for Uncle Robert, you know."

"But there is something you have forgotten, my dear child," I objected, with all the mildness I could bestow upon the words. "In your wish to give joy to this poor old mother—and in that I am with you heart and soul—you have quite overlooked the fact that we are still with scarcely a scintilla of information concerning the present whereabouts of your uncle."

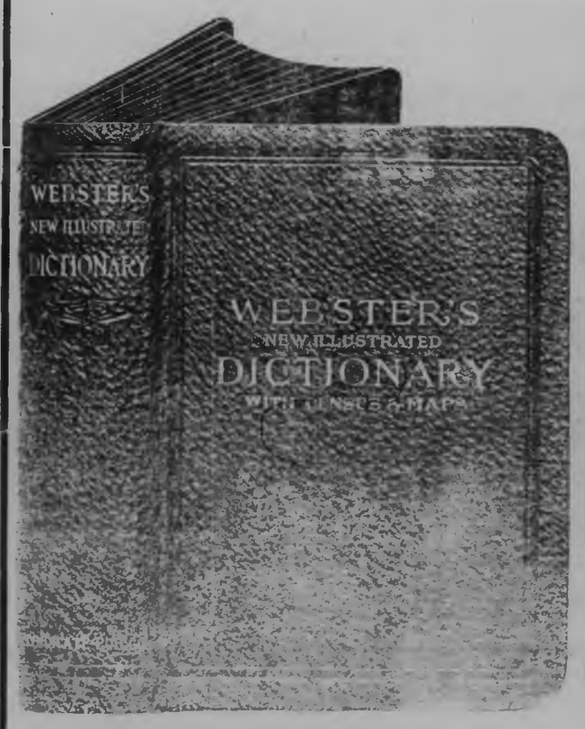
"Oh, no, I haven't," was her prompt rejoinder, "but I don't see what that has to do with it, except that it makes it all the more necessary to pretend that we still believe this McNish is he. How will sending McNish abroad hinder ..." And then she broke off, suddenly, as I had rather expected she would, knowing what a keen brain she had and how once she got a clear perspective on the situation, she must see again the very point she had suggested once herself, and which I had still in mind.

"You mean," she began again, speaking very slowly now, as she mentally focused the conditions, "that we must hold McNish as a hostage, and only give him up when they return Uncle Robert to us?"

"Exactly," I agreed. "Just as two armies do that are at war—exchange prisoners."

"Isn't there any other way?" she asked, frowning. "Oh, there must be. I don't care a straw, you know, for that wicked man; but, Philip, think of his poor old mother!"

"I do think," I told her. "I've been thinking, ever since I read her letter, and if it were possible, Evelyn, I'd give the reprobate his chance for her sake, little as he deserves it. But I've been thinking of Cameron, too. He may be somewhere on the high seas, as Miss Clement's note implied, or he may be a prisoner in some underground dungeon of Chinatown. Wherever he is, we are safe in concluding he is neither comfortable nor happy. Why, then, should we consider, to come right down to practicalities, this old Scotch mother of an infamous son, when the safety—the life even—of one we both love so dearly may at this moment be at stake?"



I flattered myself there was no getting away from this argument. It seemed to me conclusive, but the letter had stirred the sentimental depths of the girl's nature, and she refused to yield without one last effort.

ACCOUNTING FOR GRAY HAIRS

Possibly Here Is Explanation of Why Some Men Seem to Be Prematurely Aged.

It is this kind of a wife that makes some men old and gray before their time.

"William," she says, after William is curled snugly up under the blankets for the night, "did you lock the front door?"

"Yes," says William briefly.

"You're sure you did?"

"Yes, sure."

"And you slipped the bolt, too?"

"Yes."

"You know you forgot it once, and it gave me such a turn when I found it out in the morning, I didn't get over it for a week. We haven't much that anybody'd want to steal, I know; but I don't want the little we have taken, for I—"

"I tell you I attended to the doors."

"Well, I hope so, for goodness sake. You attended to the basement door?"

"Yes, I tell you."

"Because if you hadn't, you or I, one or the other, would have to get up and attend to it now. I read today of—"

"Don't care what you read!"

"It said that a man forgot to—"

"I don't care if he did!"

"And in the night a burglar walked right in and—"

"I don't believe it."

"I've a good mind to get up and see if you have locked that door. You're sure?"

"How many times have I got to tell you what I did?"

"Well, you thought you locked it that time you left it unlocked."

Driven to desperation, the poor man crawls out of the warm bed and makes his way down the stairs to see if he locked the basement door, and when he comes back the wife opens her eyes long enough to say:

"Are you sure that it was not locked when you went down?"—Pittsburg Leader.

Unusual.

"He has a very magnetic personality."

"He has indeed. Why that man keeps his friends even after they get automobiles."

CAUGHT A LIVE RED FOX IN A TORONTO GARDEN

Reynard is Full Grown and He Put Up a Lively Tussle Escaping Once Before He Was Conquered

Toronto, April 17.—A full grown red fox was captured by Fred Newman, in Conboy's market garden, at the head of Sha wstreet.

Newman was working in the garden when he spied Reynard slinking along under some lilac bushes. He gave chase, armed with a rake and a lively few minutes ensued. Finally Mr. Fox was cornered in some bushes, and Mr. Newman brought the rake down pinning the animal to the ground. He finally managed to catch the fox by the neck and carried it towards the house.

When near the barn the fox made a sudden dash for liberty, tearing itself from Newman's grasp and dashing for cover. The nearest place unfortunately for Reynard, was the barn, and he made the fatal mistake of trying to hide inside.

He was cornered again, but put up a stiff fight, tearing and clawing Newman's hands so badly that they bled freely. It was an unequal struggle, however, and he was once more made a prisoner, and taken by his captor to his home, 1030 Shaw street.

EPITHETS HURLED ACROSS THE FLOOR AND ANGRY SCENES

Furious Attack By Dr. Edwards Denounced as "Lie" by Member

Ottawa, April 18. The Opposition this morning gave an odd exhibition of purposeless bad temper.

Yesterday was spent in debating the attack on Mr. Rogers' administration of the Western lands. A special opportunity was given for this by Mr. Borden, as the Liberals on Wednesday professed to be in a hurry to bring it forward; the House was moved into supply in order to allow the want of confidence motion to be moved. The division took place at a late hour and was not completed till 2.15 this morning. It is customary on such occasions for the House to go formally into Committee of Supply and then rise at once. The Government intended to take this course.

When the Government moved that the Committee rise, Sir Wilfrid Laurier nodded assent. The chairman was just about to rise when Mr. Pugsley suddenly took charge of the Liberal party. He protested, he said, in a rather long speech, against the Committee rising; it should do business and pass some estimates. It had been asserted that the Opposition was blocking the public business that was not true; it was anxious to get on with the public business except the one bill which it was blocking.

Japan Wants War With United States

Tokio, April 18.—Without exception the responsible newspapers of Japan to-day ridiculed and tried to pass off as a joke the hysterical public meeting of last night, in 20,000 persons wildly cheered a demand for war against the United States should the alien land bill in California become a law.

Called His Bluff.

Mr. Borden thereupon said that he was glad that the Liberals were in so amiable a mood and that they would take the estimates up. The two parties cheered and counter-cheered defiantly.

The first estimates brought forward were the salaries in the Customs Department. The Liberals, led by Mr. Pugsley, at once began a block, asking all sorts of questions, some of them of a thoroughly frivolous nature.

MACKAY TO GET SEAT IN HOUSE

If Hon. C. W. Cross Wins in Edson, Still in Doubt, He Will Resign.

Edmonton, April 18.—Hon. C. W. Cross, in a statement yesterday, said he hoped Hon. A. G. Mackay would finally triumph in Edmonton. If this does not happen, and Mr. Cross wins in Edson, which is still in doubt, Mr. Cross will resign there in favor of Mr. Mackay. The latter, however, does not yet admit defeat in Edmonton.

Mr. A. F. Ewing, Conservative, probably elected here, said the result showed that the people no longer had that implicit faith in the Liberal Government with which they had been credited.

The A. and G. W. question was the material factor against the Government.

ALLIES WILL ACCEPT TERMS OF THE POWERS

King Nicholas Will Abandon Siege of Turkish Fortress of Scutari.

Vienna, Austria, April 18.—The Balkan allies will to-day, or at the latest to-morrow, notify the European powers of their acceptance of the peace proposals, according to the Neure Frie Presse. Bulgaria, Servia, and Greece at the same time will telegraph King Nicholas of Montenegro urging upon him the advisability of following their example.

King Nicholas of Montenegro is, it is understood, preparing a proclamation explaining to his subjects that as the Servian troops have been withdrawn he finds himself compelled to abandon the siege of the Turkish fortress of Scutari.

HIS BODY ALMOST CUT IN PIECES

C.P.R. Yardmaster Dixon Met His Death at West Toronto

Toronto, April 18.—Knocked down and ground under the wheels of a box car which had been shunted on the "fly," C.P.R. Yardmaster Ed. Dixon, 198 Quebec avenue, met instant death in the C.P.R. yards opposite Pacific avenue, early this morning. The remains which were almost cut in two, were removed to Spears' Undertaking Parlors, and later taken to the morgue, where an inquest will be opened.

No person saw the fatality, but it is said the unfortunate official was superintending some shunting operations in the western yards at the time it occurred. He was standing with his back turned from a string of cars which were being shunted by a yard engine and failed to notice that one of them had been propelled towards him. The car smashed into him, knocking him athwart the rails where a moment later both wheels passed over his body.

Mr. Dixon was 48 years of age and leaves a widow, three daughters and two sons.

DETAILED PLANS AND PROFILES OF CITY TO BE PROCURED

Also a General Topographical Map--City Engineer Parsons Assumed His Duties in the Proper Spirit

The City's Board of Works met last night for the second time in three days.

The new engineer, Mr. Parsons, asked for instruments and authority to employ a rodman on a leveller, with whom and which to take levels and make general and detailed plans of the city before constructing the new sewerage and drainage systems to be installed this year. He strongly advised that a general topographical map is necessary to aid in satisfactorily carrying out the work of the engineer department. Separate detailed plans and profiles of the drainage system, street pavement, sewers and sidewalks are of inestimable value when planning the construction of such new work. He did not wish to put the city to any uncalled expense, and respectfully offered that a fair start in the engineering department is economy in the end.

Ald. Gordon opined that City Engineer Parsons was taking hold of his duties in a correct spirit for properly conducting the work of his department. He also thought a ready sale would be found for reprint of general plans of the city.

His worship contended that Mr. Parsons request is commendable. Such levels and plans of the whole city to hand would safeguard a citizen from having to pay for a sewer 22 feet deep, as one ratepayer is doing to-day.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by the Mayor,—That the City Engineer be authorized to purchase the necessary instruments, and to retain the assistance as recommended, and to have the work carried out to prepare and complete topographical plans of the city.—Carried.

RATEPAYERS SHOULD VOTE FOR VERMONT MARBLE CO. BYLAW

President of the Moore Monumental Co Recommends the Industry as a Very Desirable One for Peterborough--Vote For the Bylaw on Tuesday

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Re the Xermont Marble Company's by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers on Tuesday next, the 22nd inst., I think a few remarks on behalf of the said by-law would enable the ratepayers of the city to see the necessity of carrying the same

The Vermont Marble Co. is the largest marble manufacturing company in the world, employing from 4,300 to 4,500 men, mostly skilled mechanics, in their various departments. They have branch houses and distributing plants in the following cities: Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Tacoma, but nothing as yet in our Dominion. The amount of finished marble coming to Canada would not be more than 50 per cent. of the whole imported and they have not, as yet, extended their trade here in interior decoration work which is the coming trade in Canada for banks and all public buildings. They being producers of marble used in that work I am informed if there is marble in Ontario, which I do not doubt, it is the company's intention to develop the same, or to buy out any existing parties who can show mercantile marble in their claims. If there is marble in Ontario it means a large outlay to develop it and would give employment to a large number of men, both here and at the quarries where the marble was discovered. In my judgment I would say the discovery of marble here would be one of their ideas for coming to Canada and opening a beanch here, besides the savings of customs of 20 per cent. on the finished work would be another incentive. I am informed that they have now placed orders with Canadian firms for all machinery they require for this Canadian branch. Unfortunately there are other municipalities who are trying to capture this industry and are making larger inducements than we are and I think it would be a calamity if some western town would get this industry by our neglect of pushing this to a success. The capitalization of the Vermont Marble Co. is over $6,000,000, and is a close corporation. It has no stock for sale. It has no water in its stock and if established here would not go out of business in a few years, but its business would be extending each year by leaps and bounds, and I think, as we have in the Canadian General Electric and the Cereal, here, branches of two of the largest manufacturing business in America, it would be up to us to add a branch of the largest marble manufacturing business in the world

Thanking you for your valuable space I am

Very truly yours.

POPE DYING

Rome, April 18.—A report gained circulation shortly before noon that the Pope's condition had taken a very sudden turn for the worse. At the hour of this despatch it is impossible to verify the report.

The prostration and exhaustion of the Pope are undoubtedly augmenting, and, according to those about him, the truth is that he may die at any time.

DEBATE ON WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE AT ST. PAUL'S

St. Paul's Young Men were once more in debate last night. This time the coming politicians voiced their different opinions on the Woman's Suffrage question. One young man in an almost exuberant manner, on the negative side, condemned the way in which the women of to-day vouchsafed to use every conceivable means to gain what the suffragette would call "their rights." He concluded by saying that the home is the domicile of the woman, not the polling booth. The affirmative, though "up against" some oratory supreme, where equal to the occasion and indometable valor, rallied the female audience to the height of keen delight. Their arguments stood the test and the impartial judges, after a retirement of several minutes, returned with the verdict of "Votes for Women."

A fairly large audience was present the fair sex in majority, and were delighted with the elegant manner in which the arguments were delivered. Those who took part in the debate were:—Affirmative, Messrs. Corson Ellis and Wilburn Ferguson. Negative Messrs. John McNab and Maurice Rosenburg.

Pyramid building by ten young athletes was a special feature of the intervals between the debate, and fairly took the ladies' breath away, by the way in which this was performed.

Other items on the programme were: Solo, Miss Dorothy Allan; instrumental duet, Misses Georgie Davidson and Beatrice Starke; recitation, Mr. Stuart Quick.

Mr. William Madill acted as chairman in a very suitable manner.

Laurier worship, as exemplified by J.A.M., is a form of superstition that makes the idol as well as the idolator ridiculous.

C. P. R. FLOWER DAY HERE

First Distribution of Seeds 24 Years Ago To-day

It is just twenty-four years since an employe of the C.P.R. raised a few varieties of flower seeds in his own garden and distributed them among his friends in the company with the idea of beautifying to some extent the somewhat barren aspect of the stations on the railroad, round houses and yard offices on the company's property. It was a small beginning but today the C.P.R. is celebrating its semi-annual flower day and the little seed planted in earlier days has grown to such an extent that it requires a Floral Department to handle the work and instead of a few packages of seeds handed out to a limited number of employes no less than 150,000 packets of various varieties have been distributed to station agents, section foremen, those in charge of round houses, yard offices, and all employes living on company's property, showing an inclination towards the cultivation of flowers. In the fall a million of bulbs were given out and the benefit of these is now being felt, as from the Atlantic to the Pacific and even on Xancouver Island, the traveler will see the delightful results from the fall planting of these luxurious flowers. Even in the midst of the prairies where man are permanently encamped working on the irrigation ditches at forty different points have seeds been sent for cultivation which is another demonstration of the effect the tending of flowers has on the human mind and body. These men take a great delight in caring for the plants as they gradually grow and enjoy their fragrance as much as the man nearer home. The influences and encouragement of flower growing on the C.P.R. during the last twenty four years has materially assisted in the inauguration of floral societies in almost every town along the lines of the system, and an examination will show that actively connected with these hundreds of societies are employees of the C.P.R., whose first lessons in flower culture and the love of the beautiful were learned in the service of the company under the stimulating influences of the Floral Department. Station improvements have led to town improvements and often the C.P.R. is asked to co-operate with some of these institutions for the beautifying of open spaces, and in many instances the station is a sort of bureau for flower information, while the Floral Department at Montreal is looked upon as the headquarters of flower information for the whole of the C.P.R. system from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In every division special prizes are awarded for the best displays and many of the employes have become so intered in the work as to try their results against the best in the country by exhibition at the big exhibitions. In many instances they have been very successful and have carried away the premier prizes. Many agents have wonderful vegetable gardens in the west for the climate is such that anything can be grown.

LIBERALS CARRY ALBERTA WITH A REDUCED MAJORITY

Liberals Secure 32 Seats, Conservatives 19, Independents 1, Doubtful 4--A. G. Mackay Loses After Hard Fight

Edmonton, Alta., April 18.—The result of the Provincial electian in Alberta is the return of the Sifton Government with a large majority. The latest availaqle figures are Liberals 32, Conservatives 19, one Independent Liberal. Two seats, Pembina and Clearwater, northwest of Edmonton, are yet unheard from, and two elections, Peace River and Athabasca are deferred.

A number of constituencies are doubtful and full figures may change the results one way or the other. Premier Sifton claims that final returns will give him forty members, while the leader of the Opposition, Michener, says the number of Liberals elected may be reduced.

Features of the election were the defeat of Premier Sifton in Macleod, of Hon. C. R. Mitchell in Medicine Hat, and the probable defeat of Attorney-General Cross in Edson. Messrs. Sifton and Cross were elected in Vermillion and Edmonton, however, but Mitchell is left without a seat. Another notable feature of the contest is the defeat of ex-Premier Rutherford in South Edmonton, where he stood very strong in the past, by a young and previously untried opponent, H. H. Crawford. Rutherford entered the contest as an independent Liberal opposed to Premier Sifton who had replaced him.

Smith Headed the Polls.

Returns last night show George P. Smith, Camrose, had the biggest majority in the Province, with 1,400; Hon. A. J. McLean has about 1,000 in Taber. Calgary, as in the last election went straight Conservative, returning three Opposition members. It is the first time Conservatives have secured a foothold in Edmonton, and the next House will have A. F. Ewing and H. H. Crawford from this city. A. G. Mackay, late of Ontario, though only a newcomer to the city public, had a hard fight.

JEALOUS WIFE WANTED TO SOLVE DEATH'S MYSTERY

Young Woman Grieved Because Husband Would Not Live With Her

Toronto. April 18.—Crazed with grief because, it is said, her Greek husband refused to live with her, 19-year-old Lillian Catto attempted to commit suicide qy swallowing carbolic acid at an Ontario street house last night. She was taken to the General Hospital, where this morning she is progressing towards recovery.

The girl had only engaged a room at her present address a short time ago, and little is known about her. It appears, however, that she returned to the house about eight o'clock last evening and went upstairs. As she entered her room she called out to one of the young men in the house, "Come and see me in fifteen minutes."

They knew What to Do.

Her manner was so peculiar that the young fellow was alarmed and went to the girl's room, where he found her stretched on the floor with a bottle of carbolic acid by her side. She was then semi-conscious, but other persons in the house, with ready presence of mind, forced her to swallow copious quantities of milk. To this fact the hospital authorities attribute the saving of the girl's life. The police ambulance rushed her to the General Hospital where emetics were applied and she was pronounced out of danger.

Married Two Years.

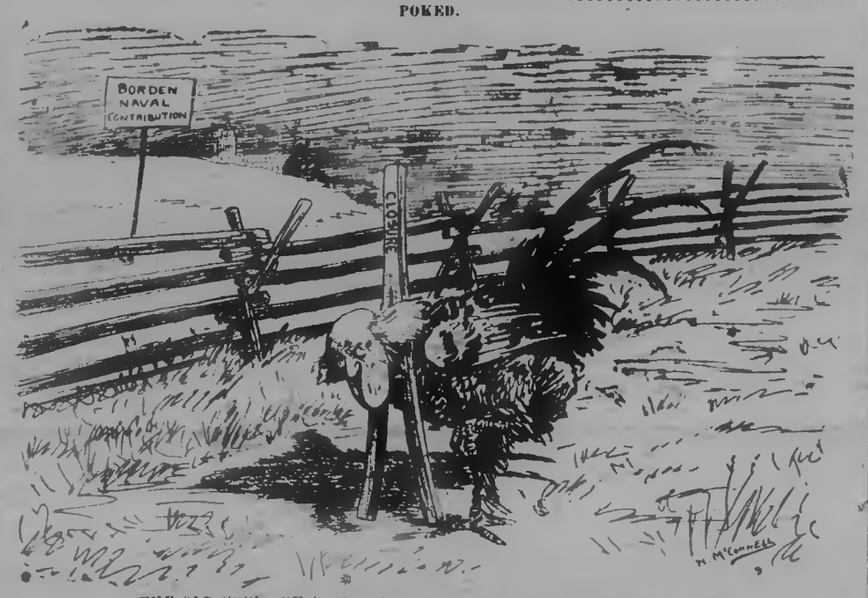
According to the police, the girl had been married two years ago to a Greek who left her. This fact had preyed on her mind and when she learned that her husband was paying attentions to another woman she became unhinged with jealousy. It is said she paid a visit to her husband last evening to ask him to renew domestic relations, but he refused. She then purchased the carbolic acid and sought to end her life.

When recovered she will face a charge of attempting suicide.

Just because Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not recognized as the whole circus and two or three of the sideshows at Ottawa, Sir Wilf must needs give way to temper.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Moderate to fresh northwesterly winds; fair, with a little lower temperature.



HOW TO ABSORB FRECKLES AND OTHER BLEMISHES

Every spring I receive many letters from girls seeking reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year I advised many to try mercolized wax. Such favorable results were reported that this season I have recommended nothing else for the purpose. The wax seems to possess unusual properties which completely absorb every freckle with no harmful effect. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted.

Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist, spread a thin layer of it over the entire face every night for awhile, washing this off in the morning. For rough, red skin, sallowness, blackheads, pimples, and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any that has ever come under my observation.

Springtime also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. Pour a half pint witch hazel into a basin, then an ounce of powdered saxolite, which quickly dissolves. Bathe the face in this; the effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable.—Marie Demegrest in Ladies' Favorite Magazine.

THE WOMEN TOOK POSSESSION OF LARGE LONDON MONUMENT

Floated Huge Banner From Top, "Victory or Death," and Let Loose Showers of Suffragette Literature--Two Arrested

London, April 18.—A number of enterprising militant suffragettes this morning took possession of the "Monument," which stands near the northern approach to London bridge and commemorates the great fire which destroyed the city of London in 1666. Ascending to the topmost balcony they displayed two of the flags and an immense banner in the suffragette colors, on each of which was written in white letters on a black background, "Victory or degth."

Having securly fastened the flags to the railings surrounding the balcony, the women locked themselves in, preventing the police from ascending the winding staircase of three hundred and forty-five steps leading to the top.

They took up their positions inf side the iron cage erected to prevent suicides and showered suffrage literature among the thousands of people who gathered at the foot.

For a long time traffic was suspended in the immediate vicinity which is one of the busiest districts of London.

A huge mob and a squad of police reserves besieged the "Bashi Bazouksesj' until they managed to break in the gates, and arrested the two women.

Canada's Senate may use its veto so as to temporarily deprive Britain of the three Dreadnoughts, but that same veto will deprive the Laurier party of all chances of a restoration to the office in this country.

A VERY VENERABLE PETERBOROUGH ORDER

As next month all local liquor licenses will be issued, it is of interest to note that the Times was kindly handed by Mr. Arthur Rountry, the local mineral water manufacturer, an ancient document regarding the sale of liquor here. Given below is a reproduction of this document, which was addressed to a prosperous local citizen, the late Mr. William Cluxton. It reads as follows:

W. Cluxton, Esq.,
Haldimand Distillery,
March 30th, 1849.

Sir, We beg to inform you that we are now selling whiskey of the same strength (28 U. P. Sykes's) and quality as that usually made by us, at this office, at ½ per gallon, and at ¼ for cash only, or grain, at cash prices. Casks to be paid for when taken away, but they will be rebought if returned within three months in good order.

We are, Your obedient serv'ts.
Campbell & Standley.

N.B. We will take your orders for 1,000 gals. each, and draw at three months adding discount."

The above is made out on a printed form, the name and ½ or one shilling and [illegible] filled in the writing.

A WRIT FOR DAMAGES HAS BEEN ISSUED

Messrs. Hall, Medd & Davidson, the local lawyers, have issued a writ for $3000 damages, on behalf of their client, Mr. W. J. Kearns, the local mining man. The writ is against Mr. H. F. Jackson for false arrest. It would seem that owing to some misapprehension Jackson had Mr. Kearns arrested and detained on a false charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. At the police court, defended by Mr. Medd!—earns was honorably discharged.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store, we make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 326 George St., directly opposite Crossman's store.

IN THE MOONLIGHT

How Dudley Lane Won a Worthy Bride Who Loved Him Alone.

By GERTRUDE MARY SHERIDAN.

"The michief!" said Dudley Lane.

"A bad pother, isn't it, now?" asked Ralph Norman.

"Something of a mix-up. I must say," was the reflective reply. "See here, Ralph, how did it ever come about?"

The scene was the little hotel at Brocton, where Norman had been a guest for several days and where Lane had just arrived, to be greeted with some decidedly stirring and sensational disclosures by his closest bosom friend.

"It's very simple," explained Norman in his usual droll, good-natured way. "Poverty is the cause, riches the motive power."

"See here, what nonsense are you talking?"

"Facts, Dudley," insisted Norman. "Here am I—alleged artist, some fame, no money. And there's you—literary idler, rolling in wealth. A little outing jaunt proposed. I come in advance to spend a day or two with our college friend, Sidney Worth. I find him out west. Family home. Servant takes my card. In a few minutes Mrs. Worth comes in. Fat, fashionable and a tuft hunter. How did I do, Mr. Lane? Heard so much of me from city friends of the ton and her son. She talked so fast I couldn't get in a word edgewise. Then comes papa, next. He, too, overwhelmed me. Invited to call in the evening. Social gathering. I go outside, breathless. Never knew I was so important before. Then it all dawned on me."

"How, may I ask?" projected Dale suspiciously.

"Your coat."

"My coat?"

"Precisely. You remember turning over a misfit to a poor struggling artist friend, don't you?"

"H'm—that's so."

"One of your cards happened to in a side pocket. That was the one I gave the servant in mistake for my own."

"But when you came to explain?"

"I didn't explain," replied Norman brazenly—"haven't since; don't see how I can now!"

"What!"

"No," coolly announced the artist. "Introduced and accepted as Mr. Lane—courted, feted as the rich man worth knowing. Then I met Irma."

"Who's she?"

"And slightly in love with her, eh, Ralph?" intimated Lane.

"Well—oh, no, I've got too much sense to imagine myself a suitable parti for a member of the old and aristocratic Worth family."

"H'm!" said Lane again thoughtfully. "And what do you suggest?"

"Why, we are going south day after tomorrow. With out flitting the episode is ended. No need of disagreeable explanations. The Worths know you were coming today. We'll run up there tonight. Irma is interested in art, music and all that, and particularly wishes to know you."

"To know Ralph Norman, the artist, you mean?"

"That's so," agreed his companion. "A sort of mix up in personality, isn't it? Too late to mend it now, though, so—"

"Continue your Haroun al Raschid career, and get through with it," said Lane indifferently.

The young millionaire did not leave Brocton with his friend that day, nor the next. In fact, from the evening when he was first introduced to Irma Worth the idea seemed vividly injected into his mind that life had a new attraction and was well worth the living.

He and his friend drifted into the pleasantest week they had ever enjoyed. Norman was wild to paint the portrait of his ideal—but he was no longer "the artist!" As to Lane, so different was Irma to the average run of society belles who had courted him for his fortune, that a tie grew stronger daily that he feared it would be hard to break.

Lane winced one evening as they strolled in the white moonlight, and all the poetry in the nature of his beautiful companion was called out by the rare loveliness of nature about them.

From many a word Irma had dropped, Lane realized that her brother had been a staunch friend and admirer of Ralph Norman, artist.

"It must be a grand life, that of yours," said Irma. "It seems to me that the painter, the composer, the poet live in a sphere far above the ordinary mortal. Mr. Lane gave me a little book last evening. It is called 'Idle Thoughts,' and he says a friend of his wrote it. I would like to know that friend. This peace and beauty about us reminded me of one of its finest sentiments: 'Come up out of the feverish into the calm of eternal purposes.'"

"She likes me—I feel it, I know it," said Lane rather distressfully to himself later, "but half that feeling is for the sake of the art she thinks I represent. I must either tell her all," he added, "or get away from here."

It was two evening later. They stood together watching the rainbow glintings from the flowing fountain, when some one came rushing up the walk.

"Why, it's brother!" cried Irma.

"You here, Lane!" exclaimed Sidney Worth, after he had greeted his sister affectionately. "And Norman, too," he added, catching sight of the artist on the porch, and rushing off to greet him.

"He called you Mr. Lane!" murmured Irma, in a mystified tone.

Lane was wretchedly silent. Not yet did his companion suspect the imposture. She saw that he was disturbed. Always tactful, however, Irma diverted the conversation with the remark:

"You should paint a picture of the fountain in the moonlight, Mr. Norman."

"I—I never painted anything," blundered out Lane in desperation.

"What!" she laughed—"Mr. Norman, the artist who won the academy prize?"

"I am not Mr. Norman, I am not an artist," declared Lane in full confession. "The only things I ever painted were some word pictures, and I never thought them worth while reading. I wish I had the power just now to paint a word picture of a truly penitent man Miss Worth. I have something dreadful to confess."

And then and there Lane told his story. He found Irma more astonished than offended. She sighed a little. Then she lifted her eyes to his.

"Yes," continued Lane in a despondent tone, "I am a poor ideal to consider. The only thing I ever did except to spend money was to write that volume of 'Idle Thoughts,' and nobody ever seemed to understand it."

"You wrote that book?" cried Irma, her eyes radiant with delight. "I understand it," and then she dropped her glance and blushed at so openly betraying her appreciation.

"I would like to write a letter to you," said Lane, "depicting my very serious thoughts about this innocent imposture of mine, Miss Worth. I would even like to go further and explain why—why I kept it up, why I couldn't help lingering at Brocton."

"Can you not—tell it?" inquired Irma softly, sinking to a rustic bench.

It was a beautiful word picture that the young man delineated, for through it all there ran the golden warp of love. And when later they joined the others, happy Dudley Lane knew that he had won a worthy bride who loved him for himself alone.

RICH WIRGIN AREA

Coal and Iron in Huge Quantities One of British Columbia's Assets

With the construction of the big bridge over Seymour Narrows, connecting the Campbell River section of Vancouver Island with the mainland of British Columbia, an area of great mineral wealth will be made more accessible. The coal deposits are very extensive; in fact, they are said to be almost inexhaustible. Up near the head of the Quinsan river, an affluent of the Campbell, there is a very extensive deposit of iron ore. What other minerals remain to be discovered in the mountain slopes, which flank this great timbered area, one may surmise, but no one can really speak with certainty; but the coal and iron are of themselves sufficient to support a large industrial community.

As a timber country, the region seems to be unsurpassable. There are tens of thousands of acres upon whose soil the sun's rays have not fallen for centuries, because of the stately canopy of verdure, which the firs, the spruces, the hemlocks and the cedars support with their lofty, columnar trunks. About two million feet of lumber per day is being cut, yet the forest wealth shows no sign of diminution to the casual observer. One of the most important and difficult problems presented for consideration is the use to which the sawed off acres shall be put. Some of them will, doubtless, be reforested. Much excellent pasturage can be had even where many of the large stumps are left.

A MONKEY GHOST

Terrifying Appearance of Little Creature to Unsuspecting Chinaman

A small monkey which escaped from its quarters in the Medical Building of McGill University, Montreal, managed to fall into a pail of white paint, and having accentuated his ugliness and his wierd appearance to an extent difficult to describe, he appeared ghost-like in the path of a Chinese laundryman. Screaming with terror the Chinaman started down the street at full speed, people rushed to the doors, and in the excitement a fire alarm was sent in, which brought the engines to the scene. When the hub bub abated, the little animal was recaptured, more frightened, probably, than the Chinaman.

A GIRL'S OUTLOOK

A Few Thoughts From a Young Woman's Diary

The following is an excerpt from a girl's diary in The London Mail:

Several important things have happened to me to-day.

In the first place, it is my eighteenth birthday and in the second, I have put up my hair and worn a long skirt for the first time.

Lastly, I have had a very long and very wonderful talk with mother about my Future. I cannot resist spelling it with a capital F.

My mother, I am secretly convinced, is just the wisest, most understanding mother that ever was born. She has a way of knowing exactly what everyone she talks to is feeling like itself.

And although conditions have changed a lot since she was eighteen, she says she felt the same about many things as I do when she was my age. Of course she will never grow old, not if she lives to be ninety. She is really far younger and more up to date than I am and she has simply hundreds of friends.

One of the things she said to me was that she wanted me to have a good time and have no worries or responsibilities at all for at least a year.

She thinks every girl ought to have a year of nothing but enjoyment after she leaves school.

But she did not want me to do through this pleasure-time without definitely making up my mind about what was to follow.

So now I have to sit here and decide what I really do mean to make of my life. I must ask myself.

1. Do I want to be useful.
2. Do I want the lot of the bachelor woman or that of the happily married wife and mother?
3. Am I going to earn my own living, and, if so, in what way?

I do want to be useful and I believe I shall have more opportunities if I find out what it is like to earn my bread and butter. All the women mother likes best, I have noticed, are women who work. And all the girls I was fond of at school were those who meant to go in for a profession of some sort.

Now what about love—and marriage? There I am all vague and rather trembly. I want love in my life, of course. What girl doesn't? But I want it to be something very fine and splendid—something that will not easily get spoiled. I should like to give my love only to a man who would be strong enough to let me keep my ideal of him always clear and untarnished.

I am not going to sit down and wait for marriage. If it comes—the sort of marriage I dream of—my work will go to the winds. But if I never get within reach of more than a "second best" love, then I will do without it altogether.

There will be a lot left, even if I miss that. I shall try to get into touch with other people as many of them as I can find. I shall aim at being the same sort of woman as my own mother.

She simply sees the very best side of every man or woman she comes in contact with, and then she tells them what she sees.

Historic Chester

Excavations for the extension of Chester Infirmary brought to light numerous Roman graves, the site being undoubtedly that of a graveyard used by the Twentieth Legion of Romans during their occupation of the city. In one grave were the skeletons of a mother an dbabe, who had been buried together. Near the spot were Roman sandals in a wonderful state of a mother and babe, who had been tiles, tiles and other articles were secured in great quantity.

Most Densely Populated

One of the most densely-peopled spots in the world is Odori Street, Tokio. It is extremely narrow, so that the density of the crowd does not make the daily figures much above the 300,000 mark. Unlike most of the other important cities of the world this thickly-populated commercial district of Tokio is situated outside the city walls.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The motto of the officeseekers is—A place for everybody and everybody in his place.

It may be difficult for you to believe that the world will go on just the same after your demise—but it will.

Were it not for the weather we might get conversation down to a point where the supply would not exceed the demand.

A New York newspaper says the great fortune of J. Pierpont Morgan is in gift-edged securities. But, come now, isn't it a fact that many of those securities are "gift-edged!"

"Mrs. Pankhurst and her supporters," says Dr. Mary Walker, "are a rowdy crowd who ought to be in the insane asylum." Time was when we believe the sweet Mary herself needed treatment, but this remark establishes her sanity to our entire satisfaction.

A recent London Illustrated shows a picture of Sir Thomas Lipton watching the proceedings at an aviation meeting with interest and a certain pensiveness. Was he, we wonder, contemplating the possibility of a Shamrock of the air?

The Monetary Times figures that if all the debentures awaiting sale by Canadian municipalities were placed end to end they would make a girdle reached round the London underwriters necks one hundred times from the collar stud to the point of strangulation. An impressive calculation.

The war in the Balkans in producing heroes worthy to rank with the illustrous dead. The story of the two hundred Montenegrins who went to certain destruction in order to open the way into the Tabarosch fort is like to be compared with that of the Light Brigade at Balaklava or of the Spartans at Thermopylae.

AUSTRIA'S BLUFF

If the great powers of Europe imagine that their naval demonstration will prevent Montenegro from reaping the fruits of her heroism and sacrifices they may be in for big disillusionment. Public opinion in Russia and Great Britain sympathizes with Montenegro and is not going to permit statesmen to play Austria's game. In stopping this war the powers may find they have precipitaten a much more disastrous one.

SIR WILFRID'S POLICY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has ever been a believer in the independence of Canada. That has been the goal to which all his energies were directed. At the various Colonial Conferences which he attended as Prime Minister, he resolutely set his face against any movement, which would have for its effect the strengthening of the naval forces of the Empire. At the conference of 1902, Lord Selborne, then First Lord of the Admiralty brought up the question of the overseas dominions participating in Empire defence, and the records of the conference show that Laurier refused to do anything. At the conference of 1907 Laurier again showed he was an enemy of British connection. He flatly refused to support a resolution moved by Dr. Smartt, representing South Africa, which was to the effect that it was the duty of the overseas dominions to make such contribution to the up-keep of the Imperial navy, as may be determined by their local legislatures—the contribution to take the form of a grant of money, the establishment of local naval defence, or such other services, in such manner as may be decided upon after consultation with the admiralty. What was Laurier's answer to this? He declared that Canada had no interest in the affairs of the defence of the Empire, but was too busily engaged in material pursuits. In other words the answer of Laurier was that Canada had enough to do in developing her country and that she disregarded or refused to recognize any Imperial responsibilities.

And what was the stinging rebuke of Dr. Smartt to that selfish declaration on the parb of the spokesman of the Canadian people? He said:

"We have done so much in the way of pious affirmation that I am anxious we should do something of a practical nature."

And the Laurier of 1902 and 1907 is the Laurier of to-day. He is not desirous of doing anything for the Empire. When public sentiment overwhelmed him in 1909 and 1910, he introduced his naval service act which merely resulted in the purchase of the Niobe and Rainbow. That was Laurier's idea of aiding the Empire!

He is to-day appealing to the people of Canada not to do anything to aid England, and the very reason he is so bitterly opposed to the Government's proposals is that he knows they are the first real step towards discharging in some small way the debt that Canada owes the motherland for faithful and loving protection.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past twenty years when my heart wasn't aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam P. O., and continuning her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. I tell you how I feel to-day and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful medicine. OLD-TIME BUFFALO HUNT

Huge Herd Slaughtered to Provide Meat After Being Driven Into Pen

The driving of buffalo is a science with which the modern cowboy or plainsman is unacquainted, according to Mr. Albert Tate, an old-timeer of Edmonton. To make plain the methods adopted of buffalo hunting in the old days, Mr. Tate told the story of a great round up which occurred nearly half a century ago.

It was in the winter of 1867-68 that the great drive took place. The country was in the possession of the Indians and buffalo. That winter the buffalo had been reported as decidedly uneasy in their movements, with a strong tendency for more southern pastures. So it was decided to organize a large hunting party to lay up a store of meat and provision before the buffalo moved into the prairies beyond the Battle and Red Deer rivers. The white men and half breeds conceded to the request of the Indians who had inferior horses and guns, to build a "pound" and drive the buffalo in, and each share up alike.

A pound was accordingly built in a natural hollow or valley, with the walls of young poplar and willow brush, tepee poles and buffao rugs in a circle on the higher edge, so that the buffalo, when driven in, would be at a disadvantage, should they attempt to leap, being on a lower level.

The entrance was placed in the wall facing the north. A rough line of fence was run for about half a mile or more from each side of the gate way, gradually widening out to the east and west respectively.

These lines were continued by living posts, boys on ponies, with Tate in charge of this squad, and the lines still extending, were made up of young men on good ponies until at last the "wings" were made up of fully armed hunters on fast horses ready to give chase and kill should the buffalo break through the lines.

One or two envied hunters rode out amid the good wishes of all in the camp "to bring the herd home."

Having located the herd, they took their bearings, along their proposed route towards the wings of the pound.

Slowly, very slowly at first, the buffalo were "induced" to go southwards, the drivers keeping up a system of signals with their friends, red and white, nearer the pound, and taking care not to stampede the animals too soon.

At last, after long waiting, came the signal: "They have started," and soon came another message: "They have formed in line; the leaders are off." These signals reached the anxious camp hours and hours before any untoward movement could be noted.

Discreetly, the living wings closed up the rear, out of sight from the now running herd, until at last even the small boys were in the rear of the frantic drove. There was only the open space in front with a solid living wall behind in the distance, and finally the buffalo were in the hollow, surrounded by walls and the gateway closed.

Then came the slaughter, the boys and men shooting right and left into the struggling mass until not one animal young or old remained alive.

The scene of this great hunt, probably the last one of its kind, was near the site of the present town of Hardisty, Alberta.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS QUICKLY CURED HIS KIDNEY DISEASE

Marchbank, King's County, N. B. April 18.—(Special)—After suffering for five years from kidney disease, on by a strain, Hudson Marchbank, Esq., the well-known farmer of this place, is again a strong healthy man, and another grand cure for Dodd's Kidney Pills has been put on record. In an interview, Mr. Marchbank says:

"About five years ago I hurt my back from lifting, and it developed into kidney disease. My back pained me all the time, and I was very much troubleh with headaches. My appetite was fitful; I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the mornings; I perspired freely, and my perspiration had a disagreeable odor.

"I used liniments and plasters, but they did not do me any good, and as there were other symptoms that my kidneys were affected, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes, my back was completely cured, and my kidneys have not troubled me since."

When Mr. Marchbank decided that his kidneys were the cause of his troubles, the rest was easy. Almost any of his neighbors could tell him that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneys.

The Trek to British Columbia

They retained only 15 acres for each homestead, and leaving 2,000 of their brethren on this land, the others trekked to British Columbia, where they purchased 10,000 acres at the junction of the Kootenay and Columbia Rivers. Here they established a thriving settlement with several important industries. They built an enormous pumping station, and planned a vast scheme of irrigation, but could not be satisfied with the laws of British Columbia. These laws are chiefly those having to do with reporting births and deaths within the community. In spite of many warnings, the Doukhobors refused to provide this information, and at last two of them were arrested for not making out declarations as to the death of their relatives. They were sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

MADE A POOR START

Western Lady's Attempt to Promote Trade Relations With France

Though perfectly innocent of any intention of defraud, the wife of a prominent business man in Prince Albert, in her individual endeavor to promote trade relations between France and Canada set the police authorities busy in both countries. It happened in this way. An advertisement appeared in some of the French newspapers offering employment to those who would put up a deposit of $2,000 with the Globe Trotters' agency of Prince Albert. Shortly after its appearance the immigration department was besieged with inquiries and an investigation into the matter was immediately started on both sides of the water. On the face of it, the advertisement seemed to be a gigantic fraud, consequently the energies of the police on both sides of the Atlantic became very active. It was ultimately discovered that the advertisement had been inserted by the wife of a prominent Prince Albert business man.

The lady, quite innocently, had thought of this scheme as the best means to get in touch with some of the French commercial houses, with the idea of promoting French-Canadian trade. She did not want the two thousand dollars for her own purposes but merely wished it put up as a bond of good faith. After getting in touch with the firms her intention was to start the business and then get them to send over travellers to carry on the work when it would be worth their while.

That the name "Globe Trotters" was chosen was an accident. The lady, who is herself French, made an imperfect translation, and she failed to understand the meaning of the expression "globe trotter" as it applies in the English. Satisfied with the explanation the authorities dropped the matter.

Never Hang Mirror in Sun

If a mirror is hung where the sun's rays can fall directly upon it, the heat will affect the quicksilver on the back of it; the glass will become dull and cloudy. Whitening mixed to a soft paste with water, to which a few drops of ammonia have been added, is excellent for cleaning mirrors.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16858½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co, Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

A CANADIAN'S VIEW OF LIPTON CHALLENGE

Will Yankees defend the cup with a ninety-footer?

Will a duck swim, or a brick in the air come down? asks a writer in the Toronto Telegram.

Sir Thomas Lipton stands aqout as much chance of getting the America Cup caretakers to defend their silverware with anything else than a ninety-footer as he does of becoming mayor of Toronto.

It wouldn't be human nature for the New York Yacht club to do anything else.

They have held the trophy since 1851 and every defender in the last 20 years has been a 90-footer, squeezing the limit to the very last decimal of an inch.

They have specialized on the type until they know more about 90-footers than any other kind of defenders.

Are they going to go back and learn the kinds of 75-footer just because Sir Thomas has specialized on that style and wants to challenge with one? Not unless your Uncle Sam has changed his spots.

And what is a 90-footer, anyway? The answer is simple: a yacht measuring 90 feet on the water level. That's the only definition the old deed of gift will hold you to.

It's all very well for Sir Thomas and his merry designers to point out that the "75-footer" of today is "just as big" as the 90-footer of ten years ago, the time of the last American cup racing. What do they mean by a 75-footer?

If they are talking rating under the "universal rule" or "International rule" their words convey a different meaning to the layman than they do to the yachting sharp. The difference between a lineal foot and a "foot of measurement", is always considerable. In the last-named term "foot" only means a unit; it has only an indirect relation to 12 inches.

And so, Sir Tom's "75-footer" may turn out to be a 90 after all. That is, he may sail with a cutter of 75 feet racing measurement, which goes 90 feet on the waterline and he will be foolish if he doesn't.

If his challenger is smaller than the American defender, she will be entitled to time allowance. Sailing history proves two things: Under the same conditions the big boat is the faster; and under most systems of time allowance or handicaps the fast boat can afford to give time to the slow one.

So the closer Sir Thomas gets to the 90-foot waterline, the closer will he be to the cup. At least, that's the way it looks to the Old Man.

KITCHEN KEYNOTES FOR HOUSEWIVES

To keep a carpet in good condition go over it once a week with a broom dipped in hot water to which a little turpentine has been added.

When cutting a cake which is iced put your knife in boiling water for a few seconds. You will then be able to cut without the icing breaking.

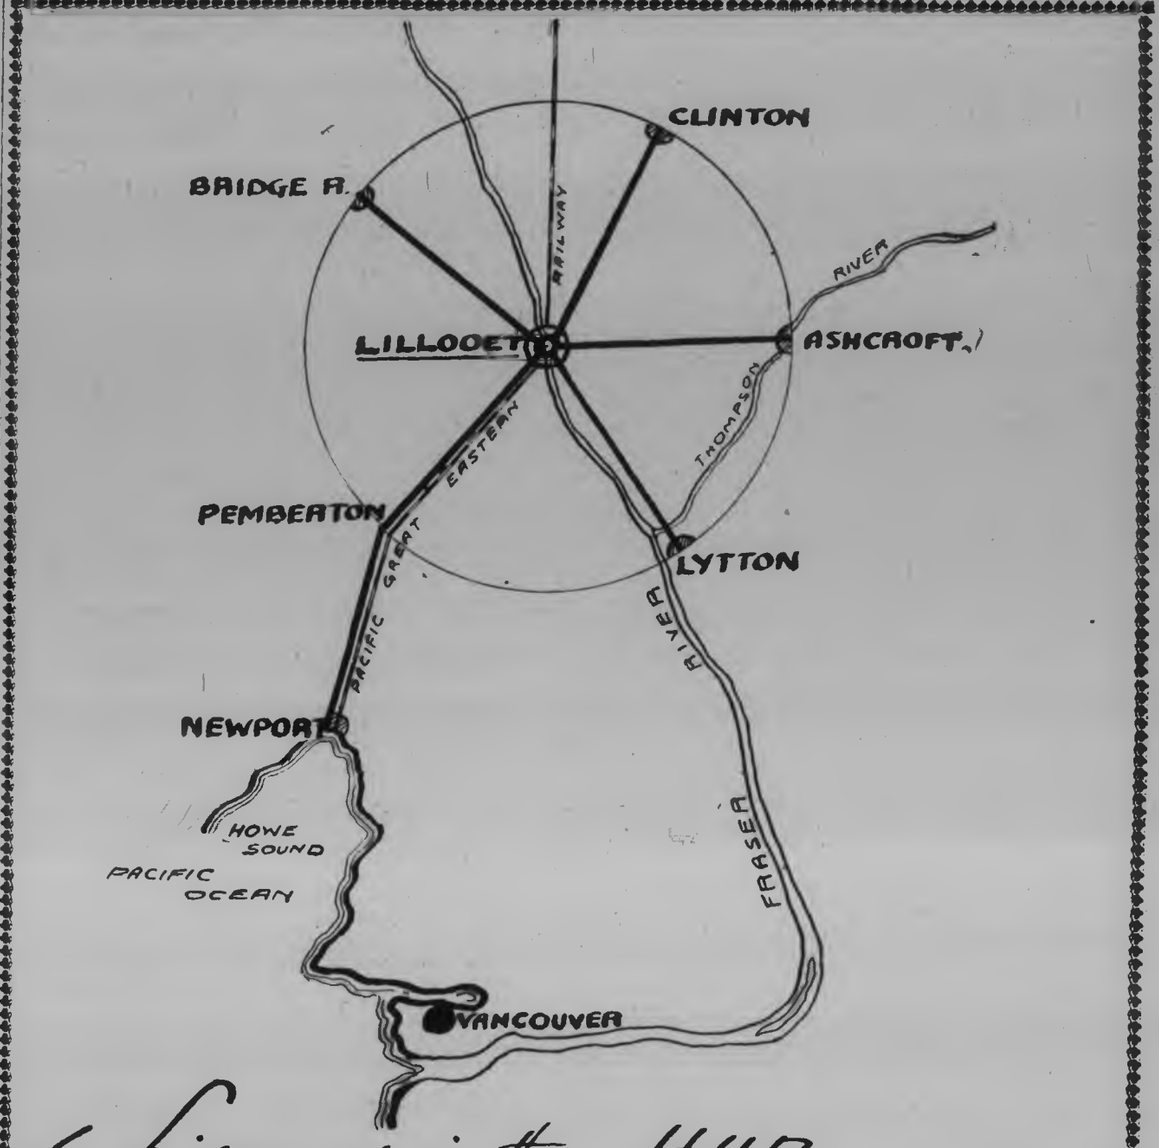
To clean plaster casts dip them in cold liquid starch; when they dry the starch is brushed off and the dirt comes off with it, leaving the casts as clean and white as when new.

To whiten a doorstep mix a little quicklime with half a pint of skim milk. Having first washed the doorstep, paint it over with this mixture, and the rain will not wash it off.

When soaking cauliflower prior to cooking it place it in unsalted wtaer. This draws out the insects. If the water is salted the insects are killed, but remain in the vegetable.

When about to roast a joint cover it with a rind saved from a piece of ham or bacon and cook with it on. This will save the trouble of constant basting and will prevent the joint from burning or drying.

To relieve asthma soak a piece of blotting paper in a strong solution of saltpetre. Dry it, then cut into pieces two inches square; place on a plate in the bedroom and set light to it. Great relief will be experienced.



If a mustard poultice or plaster is mixed with vinegar instead of water all risk of a chill to the patient is avoided. If the white of an egg is used for mixing, the poultice will not even blister the most delicate skin.

Velvet that has been spotted with the rain should not be brushed dry. Shake the velvet and leave it. The water will evaporate and show no mark, unless the velvet was dusty before getting wet. In that case wipe the velvet while still damp with a clean damp cloth. This will remove the dust. Then shake well and leave to dry.

In ironing garments on which there are hooks and eyes, care should be taken not to press the hooks together so that they have to be prised open in order to use again. The best way to prevent this is to place a folded towel underneath the part on which the hooks are sown. When ironed on the folds of the towel the hooks will come out as good as new.

One of the best and simplest methods of ventilating a bedroom is that of procuring a piece of wood four inches in depth and of the same breadth as the window, and inserting this along the bottom of the frame after raising the lower sash. The window should then be lowered on to the strip of wood, fresh air entering the room in the centre between the two sashes.

Before peeling apples for pies it is a good plan to place them in the oven for a few minutes, as this facilitates the removal of the skin. Hot water should first be poured over them. They should then be drained and placed on the top shelf of the oven for a few minutes, the door being left ajar. At the end of this time the apples should be removed and the skin slightly pared off with a sharp knife when there will be much less waste than if they were peeled in the ordinary manner.

"My peace and blessing I leave to my family. If I have injured any one either in purse or feeling, I humbly beg their pardon, and hope they will forgive me the legal and moral debt.

The above is an extract from the will of the late R. W. Williams, of Three Rivers, Que., who died leaving an estate worth about $6,500.

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1911, A. C. McClurg & Co.)

CHAPTER XX.—Evelyn and Clyde call on Miss Clement for promised information and find that the Chinaman who was to give it has just been murdered. Miss Clement gives Clyde a note asking him to read it after he leaves the mission and then destroy it. It tells of the abduction of a white man by Chinese who shipped him back to China. The man is accused of the murder of the "Sable Lorcha" in which 30 Chinamen were killed. The appearance in New York of the man they supposed dead had shipped to China throws consternation into the Chinese. The brougham in which Clyde and Evelyn are riding is held up by an armed man.

CHAPTER XXI.—Clyde is seized by Murphy and a fight ensues. Evelyn and Clyde are rescued by the police and return home.

CHAPTER XXII.—They find Yup Sing and the Chinese consul awaiting them. Yup tells Clyde the story of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha," in which 27 Chinamen were deliberately sent to their death by one Donald M'Nish, whom they declare is Cameron.

CHAPTER XXIII.—They declare that M'Nish can be identified by a tattoo mark on his arm. Clyde declares that Cameron has no such mark. The nurse is called in and describes a tattoo mark on his patient's arm. Clyde goes to investigate and finds the patient attempting to hide a letter. It is addressed to Donald M'Nish.

"I know, Philip. I appreciate every word of what you have said; but couldn't we find out what we want to know through Miss Clement? She must have a lot more information than she put in that little hurriedly written note. Or, couldn't O'Hara find out for us?"

Before I could answer her, Checkabeedy stood in the doorway.

"Dr. Massey has just come down, Mr. Clyde," he said, "and would you spare him a moment in the reception room?"

I turned to Evelyn.

"Shall we have him in here?" I asked. And at her consent, Checkabeedy, a moment later, led the doctor to us—a very changed doctor, a very decidedly less cocksure doctor than I had encountered earlier that morning in his Fifty-sixth street office.

Even in his bow to Evelyn I detected the shamefaced humiliation he was suffering.

"We take off our hats to your perspicacity, Miss Grayson," he said, confirming my reading. "I had never thought such a modern real-life instance of Lesurques and Dubosc possible."

"Then you admit?" I asked, smiling.

"Candidly. There is no question. Yet I could have sworn yesterday that I was attending Mr. Cameron. It is the most remarkable resemblance I have ever seen."

Evelyn asked him to be seated and I drew out a chair for him.

"And how do you find the patient?" I inquired, when he had sat down.

"Quite normal in every respect save one. He is in a highly nervous state. He is endeavoring to maintain the fiction that he is the gentleman we supposed he was. He evidently learned his lesson from Mr. Bryan, before we suspected anything. It is really wonderful how well he does it, considering that he never saw the man he is trying to impersonate."

"But he must know that he has been discovered. He certainly knows I have this letter."

"A desperate man will battle against the most overwhelming odds," Dr. Massey observed, "and he is a desperate man."

"You gave no sign that you knew?" Evelyn asked.

"Not the slightest. I pretended that I believed him Mr. Cameron."

"But Mr. Bryan must have—" I began.

"On the contrary," said the doctor, "Mr. Bryan knows him only as the Mr. Cameron he has nursed from the first. He would be the last man to indicate to his patient a knowledge of anything untoward."

"Miss Grayson and I were just discussing a course of action when you arrived, Doctor," I explained, "but had reached no conclusion. Last night I arranged with Yup Sing, who is probably the most prominent and best educated Chinaman in New York, and his friend the Chinese Vice Consul to meet me here today at noon. The chances are they will bring a United States deputy marshal with them, with a warrant for McNish's arrest. Now if we give him up, what will be the result? He will still maintain that he is Cameron in spite of our knowledge to the contrary. Yup Sing and his clan will insist that he is right and that we are wrong, and our chances of finding Cameron will dwindle. It isn't reasonable to expect that those engaged in the abduction plot will confess to their error and inform us as to Cameron's place of detention, is it?"

Dr. Massey knitted his brow behind the bow of his glasses and pursed his thin lips.

"We are certainly confronted by a very trying complication," he admitted with characteristic gravity.

"Miss Grayson has suggested that we send McNish abroad—at once, on a steamer sailing this morning."

"Mr. Bryan could go with him," Evelyn volunteered.

"If the United States authorities have a warrant for him," the physician argued, "that would only delay matters. They would arrest him on landing."

There was no question as to the accuracy of this deduction.

"And the newspapers," I added, "would be sure to publish columns of speculation. . . . If we could only wring an admission from McNish it would simplify matters."

"Isn't there some one you could confront him with?" Dr. Massey asked, and hope rose within me at the suggestion.

"As far as I can make out, from what O'Hara tells me," was my rejoinder, "the police have in custody now the Eurasian cook who, I believe, has been McNish's Nemesis these sixteen years. If we could bring those two miscreants face to face, McNish would be sure to betray himself."

"Then arrange it by all means," urged the doctor.

"Have McNish taken there, you mean?"

"Or have the Eurasian brought here."

And so, ultimately through the offices of O'Hara, who all this time had been awaiting me in the tonneau of my car which still stood at the door, John Soy, accompanied by two plain clothes men from the Detective Bureau, was brought from the Tombs to that sumptuous home on upper Fifth avenue.

I say "ultimately" because his coming was delayed beyond all patience. Hour after hour passed. The morning dragged by with periodic telephone excuses from O'Hara. The hearing was in progress before the police magistrate. . . . Soy had been held for the grand jury. . . . The magistrate would have to sign a permit and he could not be approached until he came off the bench. . . . Soy had gone to the Tombs. . . . The warden was at luncheon and could not be seen for half an hour.

Meanwhile Dr. Massey, impelled by the necessities of his practice, had departed, and Yup Sing and the vice consul, Chen Mok, had arrived and been relegated to the reception room. To my relief, Checkabeedy reported that they were unaccompanied. Meanwhile, too, Evelyn had received a call from Miss Clement and had learned with some dismay that the missionary's ill-fated informant had left with her no more definite information regarding Cameron's transportation than that which she had already conveyed to us.

"We're just starting in a taxicab," came at length from O'Hara over the wire. "We'll be there in less than half an hour."

And in less than half an hour they came, an ignoble, vulgar quartette against a stately, pompous background.

The three detectives were more or less of a piece—gross, coarse, red-faced men whose hands and feet seemed out of all proportion to their size, bulky as it was. Of the three O'Hara, possibly because of familiarity, struck me as the least offensive. But after all it was not the detectives who claimed and held my chief interest, but the shrunken, shadow-like creature they had in charge, whom I recognized instantly as the supposed castaway the Sibylla had picked up that warm October day somewhere east of Nantucket—the slinking figure I had followed through the press of Doyers street almost to my death.

My conjecture was thus in part verified; John Soy and Peter Johnson were the same, and it only remained now to prove that the rest of my guess was as well founded.

Stepping to the door of the reception room, I made brief apology for my detention and bade my two Cathayan visitors join the others.

"I think, Mr. Yup," I observed, "that we have here the Eurasian cook of the Sable Lorcha about whom you told me."

I suppose I was foolish enough to fancy that the merchant would at once make the identification I desired. I should have known better. In subtlety we are no match for the ancient race to which Yup Sing belonged, as was evidenced by the absolute impenetration of his manner, as, after gazing sharply at John Soy, he turned to me with a visage as blank as the marble wall, and, in a voice without a shade of inflection, said:

"I do not know him. I have never seen him until now."

Had a white man dared to make such denial, I should have laughed in his face. But the dignity of the Oriental, the perfect aplomb of [illegible] manner, including an utter absence of all that could be construed as feeling, forbade such rejoinder; yet I knew that he had lied.

"Come, gentlemen," I said, denying myself even the satisfaction of a shoulder shrug, "and [illegible] decide whether the man upstairs is the villain you claim he is, or—" but I was in no mood to finish the sentence.

The seven of us, crowding into the [illegible] were lifted to the floor above, where I preceded the others to the door of what we were wont to call Cameron's bedchamber. There I paused.

"Pardon me just a moment," I begged, with my hand on the knob, "until I see whether everything is ready."

I had instructed Mr. Bryan to have McNish up and dressed, and I wished to make sure that these preparations were completed. But I was hardly prepared for the scene which greeted my entrance.

McNish, clothed in the suit he had worn when I found him, was in the act of closing a drawer of an old-fashioned rosewood secretary which occupied a place against the right wall beneath one of the medallioned windows. And the nurse was nowhere in sight.

Startled by the sound of the opening door, the trespasser half turned, his hands still on the brass drawer handles; then, at sight of me, he wheeled completely and stood defiant with his back to the antique desk.

"What are you doing there?" I cried, indignantly. "What were you looking for?"

Even before he spoke I saw the look of cunning come into his small, furtive eyes.

"I was looking for some papers of mine, Clyde," he answered, boldly, and his voice was so like Cameron's that, for just a moment, a shuddering uncertainty assailed me. Only the crafty leer weighed for the truth.

"Papers of yours?" I snarled, ignoring his familiar use of my name. "I have the only paper you brought into this house, Donald McNish, and that's evidence enough to put you where you beyond. Where's Mr. Bryan?"

But at that moment the nurse, appearing from the adjoining room, answered for himself, and McNish, with a capitally assumed nonchalance, said, smilingly,

"I didn't think you could be so easily imposed upon, Clyde. The letter to Donald McNish was given to me by McNish himself. He wanted me to answer it. It was his last request. He——"

"Silence!" I cried; and then, "Mr. Bryan, get him into that chair before the bureau, facing the door. These people outside must not be kept waiting any longer." With which I turned, and with hand on knob once more paused until the nurse had rather roughly, but in all haste, dragged his charge across the floor and fairly flung him into the indicated seat.

It was not until after the immediately succeeding occurrences that I learned from O'Hara what had been told to John Soy on his way up town in the taxicab. As I understand it, the other detectives had informed him that he was being taken to this house so that his chief accuser, who was nigh unto death, could make an ante-mortem identification. As a matter of fact, of course, the situation was practically the reverse: We desired Soy to identify McNish, and McNish, under stress of the encounter, to admit his own identity. The Eurasian, however, having been thus misinformed, was at a distinct disadvantage. So, when I drew back the door, and he was pushed forward into the room, instead of seeking, he imagined himself sought, and with bowed head and eyes on the floor, stood shrinkingly ill at ease.

To this misunderstanding is probably attributable all that followed. Had Soy known that McNish was regarded, equally with himself, as an aggressor, he might have controlled his outbreak and permitted the law to wreak its tardy justice. But Soy did not know, and the tide of events met sudden change.

It is, indeed, scarcely conceivable, how rapidly it was all enacted. For just a moment the weazened figure stood still, while behind him crowded the rest of us—the three detectives, the two Chinamen and myself.

I saw McNish struggle for an instant to maintain his pose of indifference, and then I saw his cheeks blanch, and his little eyes widen in craven terror as he recognized the shabby, silent thing before him. His lips parted, his bared teeth clicked together; and his hands, like talons, clutched tensely his chair arms.

In that strained moment the room was strangely hushed. I know I scarcely breathed, as nervously intent I watched those two miserable creatures; the one keenly conscious, the other blind to everything save the rug pattern at his feet.

Then, like a flash, Soy stole a glance at his supposed accuser, and I saw him quiver into steel. It was as though an electric bolt had shot through his shrinking frame and limp limbs. He seemed to grow out of himself, to rise inches taller, towering with stiffened neck and lifted head.

To describe with any degree of accuracy what ensued, I cannot. I know only that McNish rose cumbrously to his feet, only to fall back again beneath the pouncing spring of the Eurasian. Then followed a pistol shot, muffled, yet sounding lethally loud against the grim silence of the chamber; and, as with one accord we leaped forward, I saw Soy roll over in a spasm of contortions, and McNish, thus freed from his gripping hold, raise an arm and fire again, with the pistol pressed to his own temple, just as Bryan, who had been nearest to them, bravely made a grab for the weapon.

CHAPTER XXVI.

His Sister Confessor.

The death of McNish was instantaneous. Soy, with a bullet in his abdomen, lingered for three days. During that time Miss Clement became his sister confessor, and so there drifted into our possession a host of facts which otherwise we might never have learned. Strange, uncanny creature that he was, he seemed to repose the utmost confidence in the gray, sweet-faced missionary, and fairly unburdened his sin-charged soul to her. Those of his fellow conspirators that she promised to protect, she protected. Those that he believed to have played him false, she protected likewise. Her religion was one in which personal justice has no dwelling. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay," her Lord had admonished, and to him she was content to resign the problem of retribution.

Had I been more familiar with the Cameron town house and the town habits of its master, justice probably would not have been tricked out of having her way with two as lawless wretches as ever infested a community. I should have known then that one of the drawers of that quaint old rosewood secretary was the hiding place of a 38-caliber Colt, and in all likelihood have had it removed before McNish was capable of searching for it. As it was, Mr. Bryan took no little blame upon himself for not having been the first to discover it, though to my mind he could hardly be regarded as recreant in failing to investigate a piece of furniture of so intimate a character.

The notoriety consequent upon the murder and suicide was hideously inordinate. Inspired and stimulated by the sensational press, which did not hesitate to imply what it dared not state openly, the currency of falsehood and misconception at one period came close to being disastrous. As I had foreseen, the resemblance of McNish to Cameron, coupled with the seemingly convincing fact that the tragedy had occurred in the Cameron town house, where the millionaire was supposed to be convalescent, gave excuse for persistent iteration of a rumor that, in order to preserve the fame of a man regarded as above reproach and at the same time to protect the line of securities in which he had been interested, the story of a confusing likeness had been invented.

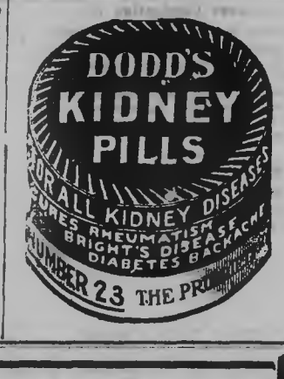
No paper in the land would have had the temerity to print this as a fact, but again and again—silly and impossible as it must have appeared to all thinking persons—it was promulgated by innuendo and embodied in more or less weakly-worded denials.

As a result Crystal Consolidated suffered. Bonds and stocks alike sloughed fraction after fraction and point after point. And our mouths were necessarily closed upon the truth, since that, if possible, would have been even more damaging, for, while we still hoped, we could give no positive assurance that Cameron was yet alive.

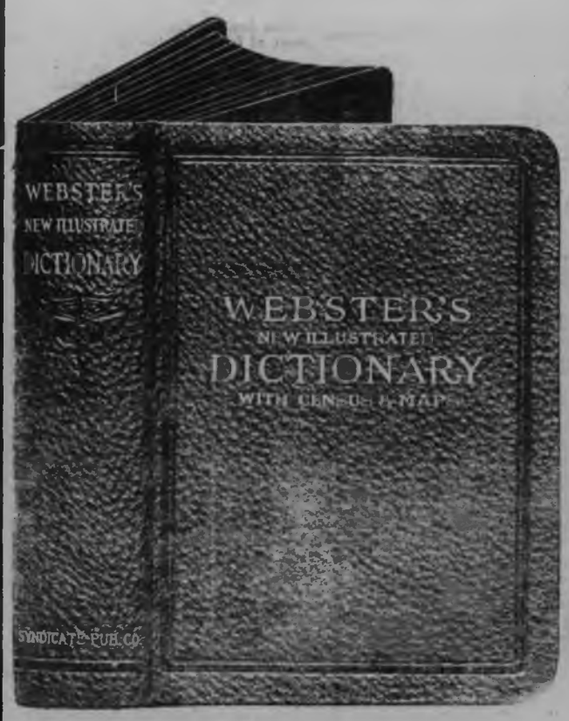
Strangely enough, though the whole wretched complication had been raked reportorially with a fine-tooth comb, the kidnaping from the yacht had not yet been so much as hinted at, but I lived, daily, in mortal dread that it would be brought to light at the next journalistic hand-sweep. Accurate information as to Cameron's present whereabouts was the news now most eagerly sought not alone by the press but by Wall street as well; our failure to supply it—though excused by us on the ground that in his present nervous condition, it was imperatively necessary to keep him sequestered from interviewers—was not unnaturally arousing a suspicion that we did not possess it to supply.

If, under the strain of the tragedy and the brutal publicity which followed upon it, Evelyn Grayson had not eventually succumbed she must have been more than human. Bravely she had borne up against a whelming succession of nerve-wrenching experiences, refusing to entertain fear and fighting valiantly against discouragement, but heart and nerves have their limit of endurance; and when, on the third day, John Soy was gathered to his yellow and white fathers, and a more yellow than white evening journal ventured, more boldly than had been dared hitherto, to make the implication to which I have referred, Evelyn collapsed utterly.

As chance would have it, I myself came upon her, lying white, limp, and unconscious on the library floor, with the paper still loosely held in her right hand. The sound of her fall had carried to me faintly as I neared the closed door, and a misgiving born of intuition rather than of any more definite cause had hastened my steps.



Having lifted her to a couch and rung for her maid I at once set about doing what I could to restore her to consciousness. But her plight was no ordinary momentary faintness. Stubbornly she refused to respond to my efforts, and those of the maid when, after hours it seemed, she came, were equally unavailing.



Alarmed, I called up Dr. Massey, only to learn that he had gone to Boston for a consultation, and that Dr. Thorne, his assistant, was operating [illegible]. For a moment, distressed and anxious, the names of other physicians eluded me. In despair, I opened the Telephone Directory, in hope of a suggestion, and the name of Addison leaped at me from the page. To my infinite relief he was in his office; his electric was at the door, and he would be over at once.

Many Reasons Why Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Care Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which Are Breathed to the Further Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing, medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs attack the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailments thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches th deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and in fact have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief but will always cure permanently.. Yours sincerely, (Signed) WILLIAM RAGAN, Brockville, Ont.

For absolute permanent cure, use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00 smaller size, 50c. at all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y. and Kingston, Canada.

They have not been found since. Black disappeared for a few days last year. The Sturgeon boy is a son of Mr. R. G. Sturgeon, Charlotte street. As the boys have little money, it is confidently expected that very shortly their return will be welcomed by tears of gladness and flexible slippers.

Owns Two Very Old Drums.

Mr. Arthur W. Banta, manager of the Advanced Vaudeville Co., whose splendid organization was so greatly admired at the Grand Opera House last night, favored the Times with a call yesterday. Mr. Banta is a collector of musical antiques. Among the many specimines in his New Haven, Conn., home are two drums, one of which was played in the war of 1812 and the other carried by two Union drummers, the first of whom was shot at the battle of Bull Run, through the war of the Rebellion.

William Went Bad.

At yesterday's police court, William Paquette was charged with being drunk. It seems that William got outside of more joy water than his system could conscientiously assimilate on Thursday. William got seeing red in a local hotel. It took two cops and an express van to bring William to the station. On his joy ride to Castle Thompson, William kicked the everlasting stuffing out of the dash board of the rig on which he reclined. $6.50

Procession Frightened a Horse.

Yesterday at noon as the procession of the Advanced Vaudeville Co., was parading up George street, headed by a man dressed like an African warrior, or a Wankifimad (read this backwards, this word was penned by the late P. T. Barnum) a horse belonging to Dale's meat express took fright and ran away. Several bystanders grabbed at the flying horse, but it had pressing business to the north. In front of Butcher's 10-cent store, the rig collided with a heavier vehicle and was "busticated." The horse sped north, but was eventually captured.

Refined Vaudeville at the Grand.

Last night patrons of the Grand Opera House enjoyed one of the highest class musical entertainments ever seen in this city. The event was the "Advanced Vaudeville Co.," and, it might be noted incidentally, that their vaudeville is unique in its excellence. The company carries with it $3000 worth of solid gold musical instruments, the only ones of their kind on this continent. The Marriott Twins, Canadian boys, have just returned after a successful tour of the world. Their cycle juggling act was worth more than the price of admission alone. The sensational ride in mid-air was a revelation. Zinca Panna, in her Hungarian overture was also a marked feature. Her trained dogs were most clever. One dog played a musical instrument, whilst two other canines did the tango and turkey trot. Arthur Huston, in his scenic "Roosevelt in Africa," brought down the house. Without making invidious comparisons, possibly the leading feature of the show was the Banta Bros. whose act is unexcelled. The Bango Five were also clever. Taken as a whole, Messrs. Turner & Sons are to be congratulated on producing so fine an organization.

SALMON CANNING ON THE COAST

Interesting Processes Through Which the Fish Pass Before Reaching Consumer

The majority of those who see the familiar cans of British Columbia salmon in stores have no conception of the many processes involved in transferring the fish from river to table. Siwash and Chinese represent the two principal nationalities of the working outfit. Japanese labor in canning being now difficult to obtain. The Japs are out for the fishing and its more remunerative if risky results and are fast acquiring a monopoly of boats.

Cleaned by Machinery

As these boats or launches arrive at the cannery, the fish are loaded by elevator and conveyed into an iron chink, where the heads, tails, fins and entrails are removed by machinery. The beheaded, de-tailed and disembowelled fish are then sent along moving belts into washing tanks, where they are thoroughly washed by Indian women, with both salt and fresh water.

They are then conveyed to a revolving knife machine, which cuts up the fish into small portions for easier manipulation in packing the cans. In the meantime, the cans, without lids, come down by shoots from the store room, and are conveyed to salting tables, where by a simple process each receives a certain amount of salt.

Squaws Fill Cans

These cans are then carried by truck to the Indian women who cut up and fill them as the fish sections are received from the revolving knife machine.

The filled cans are now put through a hot water washing machine, where they are rendered thoroughly clean, and from thence pass through a weighing machine, by means of which light cans are automatically put aside to be refilled to the proper weight.

The cans are then passed through a machine where the covers or lids are put on by automatic pressure afterwards passing through a soldering apparatus, which solders the cans around.

After being cooled off, the cans are placed in hot water tanks for testing them, any leakage showing air forced out by the hot water, and defective cans are then adjusted or refilled.

Cooking Procedure

The canned salmon then undergo their first cooking, being conveyed in to a steam retort, which cooks them for 30 minutes at 212 degrees or boiling heat. The cans are afterwards vented for the purpose of allowing the cold air to escape, the aperture being afterwards soldered.

They then undergo a second cooking for one hour at 240 degrees of heat.

Finally the cans are passed through washing machinery, being thoroughly cleaned with water and caustic soda or lye.

They are now ready for the packing room, where they are lacquered, labelled, and put in cases ready for shipment.

VOL. XL NO. 93. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, APRIL 21, 1913 PRICE, TWO CENTS.

LAURIER'S FOLLOWERS SAY HE IS MORE THAN CAUTIOUS

They Feel He Handled Navy Issue Badly and That Mr. Pugsley Almost Redeemed Party

Ottawa, April 19.—The reports in the Liberal newspapers that Hon. Mr. Rogers is trying to supplant the present prime minister are being countered by reports in the Conservative papers to the effect that Hon. Wm. Pugsley is trying to oust Sir Wilfrid Laurier from his position as leader of the Opposition.

Last night Mr. Edwards of Frontenac put a question upon the order paper asking to whom the salary of the leader of the opposition would be paid hereafter and some facteous Liberal will no doubt come back with an enquiry as to whom the salary of the prime minister is to be hereafter paid to. There is no such office, technically speaking, as prime minister or leader of the opposition, and the salaries paid in either case go to the member of parliament "holding the recognized position."

One could imagine a coalition government, of which no one would be first minister and an opposition broken into groups without a recognized leader, but the accountants will run the risk for the present in paying Sir Wilfrid Laurier his usual salary.

At the same time there is a line of cleavage among the Liberals, some of whom regard the old chief as cautious to the verge timidity. They feel that he handled the navy issue badly, and that Mr. Pugsley as far as possible has redeemed the situation. The western members especially feel that Sir Wilfrid dallied over long with imperialism and ruined their case by his extravagant proposals respecting two fleet units. By common consent from now on Mr. Pugsley will do the hard fighting in the house, but this does not mean that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to retire from the leadership. Indeed the old chief is said to brook little dictation or even suggestion from his followers.

IMMORAL PICTURES

Montreal, April 19.—With a decision not to allow any more immoral scenes, murder, and deeds of violence, scenes where religions and ministers are held up to ridicule or contempt, suicide, divorce, vulgarity, low comedy, and suggestive prize fights to be shown, Quebec's new Board of Censors for Moving Pictures is now under way. They ruthlessly slaughtered a number of films which offended against their code

C. N. R. NEEDS FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS FOR EQUIPMENT

Company Will Require This Amount Within Three Years and Orders Will Be Placed Early--G. T. P. Outlay Also Big

Winnipeg, Man., April 19.—With the proposed expenditure of $40,000,000 on freight equipment, of $7,000,000 on passeager equipment, and of $3,000,000 on Obsidiary rolling and operating stock, or with a total expenditure of $50,000,000 on all kinds of equipment, the Canadian Northern Railway is planning what it will need to operate its new transcontinental lines when finished.

With the completion of this line from Quebec to Port Mann within measurable distance the company finds itself face to face with the colossal and almost unprecedented task of anticipating what equipment will be needed to operate the railway.

The above estimate, secured after careful figuring, is regarded as conservative and it is expected the company will need this equipment within less than three years. Orders will be placed for a considerable portion of it as soon as the money market justifies the expenditure.

Where this vast amount of railway equipment is to be manufactured is puzzling Canadian Northern officials.

At the present time every locomotive and car manufacturing company on the continent has more work on its hands than it can possibly attend to.

Thirty-five million dollars will be expended by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in new equipment to man its nearly completed transcantinental railway from Moncton to Prince Rupert.

WHAT TRENT CANAL REALLY AMOUNTS TO

The Department of Railways and Canals has just issued their annual report on canal statistics for 1912. From this is quoted some details regarding the Trent Canal as follows.

TRENT CANAL.

The term 'Trent canal' is applied to a series of water stretches, which do not; however, form a connected system of navigation, and which, in their present condition, are efficient only for local use. By various works this local use has been extended, and by others, now in progress and contemplation, this will become a through route between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron.

The series is composed of a chain of lakes and rivers, extending from Trenton, at the mouth of the River Trent, on the Bay of Quinte, Lake Ontario, to Lake Huron.

Many years ago the utilizing of these waters for the purpose of through water communication between Lake Huron and Lake Ontario was projected.

The course, as originally contemplated and modified, is as follows:—

Through the River Trent, Rice lake, the River Otonabee and Lakes Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon and Cameron to Lake Balsam, the summit water, about 155 miles from Trenton; from Lake Balsam by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe; thence by the River Severn to Georgian bay, Lake Huron; the total distance being about 200 miles of which only about 15 or 20 miles will be actual canal.

The full execution of the scheme commenced by the Imperial Government in 1837, was deferred. By certain works, however, below specified, sections of these waters have been made practicable for navigation, and the whole scheme is now being carried out. A branch of the main route, extending from Sturgeon lake south, affords communication with the town of Lindsay, and through Lake Scugog to Port Perry, a distance of 175 miles from Trenton.

From Trenton, Bay of Quinte Nine Mile rapids to Percy land to Healey's Falls dam	10½	— 14½
Healey's Falls dam to Peterborough	51½	—
Peterborough to Lakefield	—	9½
Lakefield to a point across Balsam Lake	81	—
	132½	33
Total distance, Bay of Quinte to a point across Balsam Lake		165½
From Sturgeon point on Sturgeon lake, 48½ miles from Lakefield, the branch through the town of Lindsay to Port Perry at the head of Lake Scugog		27

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Generally fair with higher temperature in some localities.

NEW WILSON TARIFF REPORTED WEDNESDAY

No Change in Items of Wheat on Which Millers Have Been Making Fight.

Washington, April 19.—The Ways and Means committee majority agreed to-day to amendments to transfer buckwheat and rye to the free list, and add savings banks "not conducted for profit," to the liss of exemptions from the operation of the income tax. They were reported later to the caucus.

There was no change in the items of wheat, on which the millers have been making a great fight because of the putting of flour on the free list.

When the caucus assembled Democratic leader Underwood said he expected the tariff bill would be completed in caucus to-night. As amended it will be reintroduced in the house Monday and according to present plans, voted upon by the entire membership of the ways and means committee at a meeting Tuesday, and probably taken up for consideration by the house Wednesday.

SECOND INJECTION FOR FRIEDMANN PATIENTS

German Physician Gives Further Treatment at the New York Hospital for Deformities.

New York, April 19.—Dr. Friedmann visited the Hospital for Deformities to give a second injection of his vaccine for tuberculosis to such of his patients there as require it.

The vaccine was to be administered in the presence of government physicians who are investigating the treatment.

Meantime Dr. Friedmann said active preparations are being made for marketing the vaccine. No deal has yet been closed, he added, but negotiations are being pushed.

PRIMROSE DAY

Saturday was Primrose Day, the anniversary of the death of Lord Beaconsfield, which occurred in 1881. It was observed by Englishmen throughout the world.

BELGIAN GENERAL STRIKE IS STILL GROWING WORSE

Two Million Dollars a Day Being Lost--Printers and Tailors Join In The Movement

Brussels, April 20. Two-thirds of the loss of $2,000,000 a day caused by the strike for political rights, fall, according to the socialist trade union leaders, upon the employers and supporters of the existing system, and the organizers of the strike affirm that the men, by exercising self-denial can hold out as long as the capitalists are willing to endure their deprivation of dividends for a politicgl reason only.

All appearances go to show that the strike will continue for a considerable period, as the determination of the men is met by the equality firm ejection of any idea of compromise by Premier Charles de Broqueville and the other cabinet ministers. The premier declares that he did not offer his resignation to King Albert on Thursday, as reported, nor will he consent to submit to a referendum of the country the demand of the men for equal sufirage.

The printers of the capital struck work at midnight, but as the newspapers were practically ready for publication at that hour all appeared this morning. Even the men employed on the socialist organ, Le Peuple, walked out, but enough will be permitted to stay to print a sheet containing strike news. Some of the evening papers came out to-day in reduced form.

The strike also extended to the tailors in Brussels to-day, and there is a marked increase in the total number of men who have joined the movement.

From the provinces come reports of firm intention to succeed on the part of the men, while reports of minor incidents of violence have been received from various quarters, but as a rule all is pacific.

ANTI-JAP BILLS HELD UP

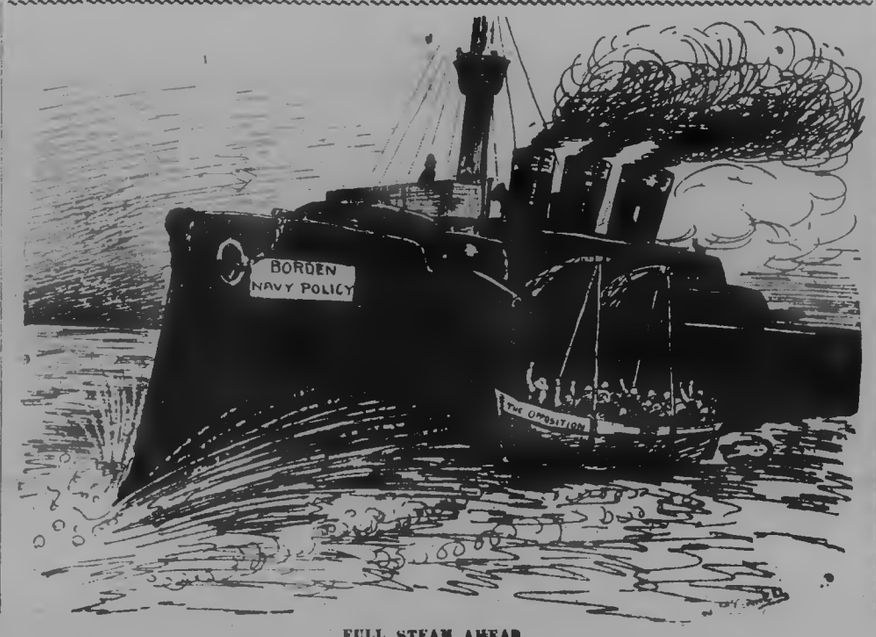
Bryan Asks Governor Johnson of California to Withold Signature

Washington, April 19.—Secretary of State Bryan to-day telegraphed to Gov. Johnson, of California, requesting him to withhold his signature from any anti-alien legislation passed by the California Legislature which might be in violation of treties between the U.S. and Japan.

The postponement by the California Legislature of the alien land bills until next week has the effect to slightly relieve the tension here.

President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan make no secret of the fact though they are precluded from officially interfering in the progress of legislation in California that they are privately addressing themselves to individuals to secure the amelioration of the features of the pending land bills offensive to the Japanese Government.

SUFFRAGETTES TRY TO BLOW UP ANOTHER FAMOUS RELIC



Militants Attempt to Destroy Eddystone Lighthouse--Wind Blew Out Fuse

Plymouth, Eng., April 19. A Hilitant suffragette "bomb troop" this morning attempted to blow up the famous Smeaton Tower on Plymouth Hoe, which is the original Eddystone lighthouse built by John Smeaton in 1756-59, dismantled when it had become antiquated and re-erected on the Hoe as an historic relic.

As in many instances of recent date the bomb employed by the militants failed to explode. It consisted of the usual cylindrical tin canister filled with explosives and with a fuse attached at the top.

The bomb was placed by the women within the entrance gate of the tower. The fuse had been lighted but was apparently extinguished by the wind.

On the cylinder the women had painted in bold letters the words: "Votes for Women. Death in ten minutes." While all around was scattered suffrabe literature.

FULL STEAM AHEAD.

LIBERALS CLAIM MITCHELL ELECTED

Calgary, April 19.—Last reports indicate that 36 Liberals and 15 Conservatives have been elected in Alberta. According to despatches received to-day three seats—Clearwater, Penbina and Sturgeon—are still in doubt.

Liberals claim there is a possibility of Hon. C. R. Mitchell being elected in Medicine Hat. Nelson Spencer, Conservative candidate, now has a majority of 107, with 14 outlying polls to be heard from

HON. SIR CHARLES MOSS
Chief Justice of Ontario, who died at Toronto after a brilliant legal career. He was 73 years old.

BEST VAUDEVILLE EVER SEEN IN CITY

The Grand Opera House was well filled at both matinee and evening performances on Saturday. The attraction was the Advanced Vaudeville Co. It is surprising how a company carrying such attractions, of clean and unique vaudeville acts, can afford to play the time in cities of so small a population as Peterborough. A Times scribe on Saturday, overheard three gentlemen, who are equally at home in London, Paris, New York and other hog cities, as in Peterborough remark that no city in the world has ever seen more (to quote the title) advanced vaudeville than shown here on Saturday. It may interest those who did not avail themselves of the opportunity last week, to learn that Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, have managed to secure a second presentation of this splendid company for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

ASKS FOR RELEASE OF OUR STATE PRISONER

Ill Health Given as Reason Why R. C. Miller Should Be Released.

Montreal, April 20.—The friends of R. C. Miller, Canada's state prisoner now in jail in Ottawa for refusing to state to parliament what he did with over $40,000, alleged to have been paid to secure government contracts for the Diamond Light and Heating Company, of which he was president, are circulating a petition for his release on the grounds of ill health.

WILL OF LATE J. P. MORGAN WILL BE PROBATED TODAY

Many Friends of Dead Financier Remembered in Will Made Public Last Night

New York, April 20. The will of J. Pierpont Morgan will be offered for probate to-day. An official copy of the document was made public Saturday night, for publication in Sunday papers. The instrument was drawn on Jan. 1, 1913, and was witnessed by John G. Milburn, Edna M. Blackmar and Lewis Cass Ledyard, jr. There is a codicil executed Jan 6, 1913, witnessed by Joseph H. Choate, Elbert H. Gray and Lewis Cass Ledyard.

After provisions for his funeral Mr. Morgan gives to his wife, Frances Louisa Tracy Morgan 1. One million dollars in trust. She to receive the income during her life and to have power to will it at her death. 2. In addition she is given other property sufficient to yield in the aggregate an income of $100,000 a year. 3. The widow gets the country place at "Cragston" and the town house at Thirty-sixth street and Madison avenue for life, with its contents, including the works of art, except the family portraits.

The sum of $3,000,000 was set aside for the children of J. P. Morgan, jr., in case he died before his father.

To the daughters, Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee and Anne Tracy Morgan, are left $3,000,000 in trust each. William Pierson Hamilton, son-in-law, $1,000,000. To Herbert Livingston Satterlee, son in-law, $1,000,000.

Wines to J. P. Jr.

To J. P. Morgan, jr., all the wines and also his father's interests, rights and interests in the the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History.

After providing for relatives and employes to the extent of several million dollars, Mr. Morgan gives the residue of his estate to his son, J. P. Morgan. This includes the family portraits in the town house. Mr. Morgan then says:

"I have been greatly interested for many years in gathering my collections of paintings, miniatures, porcelains and other works of art, and it has been my desire and intention to make some suitable disposition of them or of such portions of them as I might determine, which would render them permanently available for the instruction and pleasure of the American people. Lack of the necessary time to devote to it has as yet prevented my carrying this purpose into effect."

All of the collections in question are then passed in the will of J. P. Morgan, Jr.

The executors and trustees of the will are: J. P. Morgan, jr., William Pierson Hamilton, Herbert Livingston Satterlee and Lewis Cass Ledyard.

PROVINCE MAY HAVE TO BUY ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

Toronto's Demand for Power Near Limit Now of Contract With Hydro---Hon. Adam Beck Furious Over Controllers Church and Foster Revealing What Took Place in Private Conference with Board

Toronto, April 20. Toronto's hydro-electric system, now having entered the profit period, finds itself reaching the limit of electric current at its disposal. That limit is 100,000 horse power. Arrangements have to be made in the very near future for more current. The possibility of procuring more current from the provincial hydro-electric system is fading away before the projected radial system of the province. That radial system will require all the surplus of the surplus of the provincial electric development plant, and a good deal more.

At present the Totonto Electric Light Company has the cream of the business in the city. When the city buys out the Toronto Electric Light Company, as is likely within a month or two, all the electric light and power for the city will be under civic commission control. Then there will be assured an earning power that will not only take charge of all expense, but will yield a profit.

It is now in natural sequence for the province to either buy out the Electrical Development Company or increase the electrical development plant at Niagara Falls. What is generally expected is that the Electrical Development Company will sell out to the province for the same reason that the Toronto Railway Company and the Toronto Electric Light Company are selling out to the city. The money is needed for the C.N.R. In the meantime, however, the city will be assured the necessary amount of electric current from the Electrical Development Company when the Toronto Electric Light Company's profits hands of a civic commission.

Hon. Adam Beck is one of the most indignant men in Ontario to-day. He read the report of the city council meeting and realized that Controller Church and Foster had deliberately told in public all that had occurred perty and business passes into the in the private conference between the board of control and Mr. Beck. Mr. Beck was assured that the conference would be unquestionably private.

THIRTY-FIVE MACKENZIE CLAN TREK TO CANADA

Lost Crops in Oklahoma through Drought and Grasshoppers and Will Start Over Again

Winnipeg, April 19. Older two thousand immigrants have arrived in the city in the past thirty-six hours from Eastern Canada and Europe. They are on their way west to take up farms.

Among the new arrivals is a most unique party composed of 35 Scotchmen, a portion of the Mackenzie Clan, who have migrated from Oklahoma. These newcomers, who all bear the name of Mackenzie, are descendants of those members of their clan who came to the American continent with Lord Baltimore 200 years ago. At that time they settled in Maryland and remained there and prospered as farmers for 175 years. Twenty-five years ago some of them, attracted by new territory which had been opened up in western Oklahoma, trailed into that State, where they remained until now.

Norman Mackenzie, leader of the party, states that they left Oklahoma owing to the failure of their crops for the past five years. During this period they have lost their crops through drought and grasshoppers each year. On their arrival in Winnipeg they were advised of benefits to be derived from settling in homestead districts north of this city, but members of the party said they had made up their minds to go to a district northwest of Edmonton.

They are a fine party, all of them being typical Highlanders, tall and agile.

They may be obtained from Messrs. N. C. Mills, G. B. Wilson and S. E. H. Henderson, of the Canadian General Electric Company. No tickets are required for admission to the lecture which will take place in the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium.

FRISCO POLICE OPEN WAR ON CHINATOWN

San Francisco, April 19. A state of siege was declared in Chinatown to-day. By order of the Police Department and the district attorney no white man will be allowed to enter Shinatown and no yellow man will be allowed to leave it. If Chinatown is killed commercially, well and good, declare the officials, the price is not too heavy for an end to Tong murders.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

AFTER THE LAST ACT

Story of Suffering and Sorrow of Two Lovers in Play.

By RICHARD BENNETT.

Arthur Langdon had gone into the theater quite accidentally; he had been dining with a friend who was suddenly called away, and, passing homeward to his lodgings on Forty-third street, he had stopped and found himself gazing with passing interest at the poster representing Miriam Grey in "The Looking Glass." Underneath the picture was pasted a slip bearing the words "Opening night."

Langdon looked at the picture with increasing anger and disdain. He imagined the morrow's criticisms—out flowings of eulogy upon "a great heart drama" or "a triumph of art" by some new dramatist. Paul Smith, this author called himself, who imagined that he had penetrated into the arcana of the universe and shared in every human experience!

Then he bought a ticket and went in, in better mood, in order to sneer. So the curtain went up and the performance began, and Langdon sitting in his seat prepared to satiate his chagrin and contempt.

He had devoted five years of his life to play writing, and every effort had come back to him with the barest formality of a reply. So he had abandoned that field to reap a fair success as a story writer. But the failure of his earlier efforts had embittered him against those whose struggles had been rewarded.

Yet when Miriam Grey came on and captivated the attention of the audience; when the plain, simple story gradually began to make its way into the hearts of the audience; when sobs punctuated the silence, Langdon found himself gripped enthralled by the writer's power but it was not until the second act was half over that he half leaped out of his seat and then subsided, very white, very determined, and sick with the sudden upwelling of memory. For this was his play, and in it he had told the story of his own tragedy.

It was a common enough story—that of the separation of two lovers. It had happened to him three years before, when his fiancee, Lillian Walters, and he had had their quarrel. But both were proud and both were young; and so the little quarrel had become a big one, and finally he had left her in anger, to find when he was ready to ask forgiveness that she had gone away. He had found no trace of her since that day, though he had sought far and wide. Once she had had literary aspirations, too; he had hoped to hear of her in some of the magazine offices, but she had disappeared completely from the knowledge of all who had known her.

He watched the development of the drama, the tragedy that set forth word by word, line by line, an indelible picture that revived each single memory and seared him to the heart. It was his! It was he who had written this and offered it to a manager the year before, hoping that in the final stage reconciliation Lillian would read his own hopes and dreams; that she would see it and remember their love and come back to him. And the play, rejected everywhere, had yet been held long enough to enable some manager to make a copy of it and steal it and have it produced.

There was no mistaking that. Skillfully as it had been changed and rewritten, though every word had been put through the crucible of the manager's mind, yet the play had emerged the same. It was his play! It was his play! And he would have justice.

Suddenly, at the height of the second act, when the most tense stillness brooded over the darkened theater, Langdon was impelled to glance across the aisle. A woman sat there, watching him, upon her mouth the faintest vestige of a smile. But there might have been tears in her eyes—in Lillian's eyes.

It was Lillian! He knew her immediately. She had changed but little, though lines of suffering had come about her mouth and her face was more earnest, more mature but not less beautiful. Langdon rose in his seat.

"Sit down! Silence!" called some one angrily behind him, and he sat down.

He would go to her after the act was over. He wanted her as he had never wanted her before. For her sake he would lay aside the last vestige of his pride, for her sake he would confess his folly; and for his own sake he would beg for the glory of her love.

He could not see her face through the misty curtain that floated before his own. He put his hand to his eyes and was surprised to find it wet. He looked again. He could not see her now.

The curtain fell; the lights went up. But Lillian was not there.

Was she a dream only, born of his imagination and his desires? No, there was the empty seat, and there, even, was a little glove, dropped from her lap. He could not but know Lillian's glove. He picked it up and pressed it to his lips reverently; then suddenly he found that people were staring at him. He glanced round him wildly—and all at once became aware that all eyes were turned upon the stage and that a storm of applause had broken loose all over the theater. He looked up. Lillian was standing before the curtain, and her bow was to the crowd; but her eyes were on his.

Then suddenly Langdon understood. She was the author; she had succeeded where he had failed, and she had put all the sorrow and suffering of both of them into the story. And even as he watched her she was gone, and he stood still in the aisle among the moving crowds.

The second seat was empty. Langdon slipped into it, and presently he saw her coming down the aisle toward him. Her head was very high, her cheeks aflame with happiness. And she sat down at his side.

"Lillian!" he whispered, hardly daring to look into her eyes. "It was you!"

"Yes," he heard her answer faintly.

"Lillian, I have sought you all this time. Why didn't you let me know? Why couldn't you forgive?"

"But I have forgiven long ago," she said.

"Then you—"

"I thought you knew where I was living. I thought—hush. I'll tell you afterward. See, the lights are going out for the last act."

"The last act!" he muttered. "Lillian, how is it going to end? Will it—?"

"It ends as our romance will end," she whispered. "You will see soon. Have patience. Haven't we been patient for three years? It's only a half hour longer now."

And with this Langdon felt strangely content.

CAUGHT REAL WILD MAN

Demented Creature Had Lived in a Cave for Ten Years

Half-naked, his head and face covered with hair, armed with a club and barking like a fox when approached, Arthur Britton, forty years old, who has been missing from his home for more than ten years, was found recently living in a cave in the Pawling Mountain near Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Britton, because of his wild life, has almost lost the art of speaking. His mind is shattered, but although he is thin he possesses the strength of a giant. Britton's mind became affected while serving in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War. When he returned to Pawling after the war he began to wander in the woods and camp out.

Ten years ago his family lost all trace of him and it was only recently that Britton's brother came to the conclusion that the wild man seen frequently in the neighborhood of Pawling Mountain might be his brother. He started an investigation and located the unfortunate man.

LOOKED FOR DIAMONDS

No Stones Found in James Bay Districts but the Gems May be There

Mr. W. A. Muir, a well known prospector, told in Ottawa of an interesting trip he took to the east shore of James Bay in quest of diamonds.

Mr. Muir and his party had many exciting experiences. They paddled 180 miles down the Mattagami river into the Moose river and then down to Moose Factory where they revictualed for the long trip around the southeast shore of the bay.

It was there that their new experiences began. The coast line is very shallow and consists of mud flats extending far out into the bay. Naturally, the canoemen did not care to go very far from shore on account of the great danger of storms. The consequence was that they found the tides a great difficulty. While paddling along on their journey the tide would go down and leave them stranded in the mud. Frequently they had to pack their goods over two miles to shore. On two other occasions while camped, as they thought, high and dry on shore, the tide and a favorable wind working together carried the waters into their camp and swamped them out at midnight.

Mr. Muir prospected along the shores of the East Main river and found large beds of blue clay which is known to the geologists as the diamond matrix. An eminent geologist upon examining the sample brought back and Mr. Muir's report of the country was very favorably impressed.

Regarding the country in the locality of Ungava in which he traveled Mr. Muir said that it was a disappointment to him. It is not heavily timbered and seems to be almost desolate for he did not see a single sign of game. Mr. Muir saw no white men in the district.

Simplicity and comfort marks this dainty bedroom or house gown. It is of dark red sicilienne with collar and cuffs of white Swiss lawn dotted with navy blue embroidered squares trimmed with valenciennes lace. About the waist there is a strip of valenciennes insertion through which is drawn a blue velvet ribbon. One thing about this model that will prove pleasing to some women is that it may be worn as a house gown at times when a kimona would be much too informal.

Practical Hints for the Housewife

To Mash Potatoes

Use hot milk instead of cold when mashing potatoes and they will be fluffier.

Paint Coal Shovel

If the cellar is dark and the coal shovel has a way of eluding you paint the handle white.

Ironmold

To remove ironmold from linen, etc., damp the places; rub them over with ripe tomato juice and place in the sun.

Roasting Meat

After the roast has been in the oven 15 or 20 minutes lower the temperature of the oven somewhat. This will help to retain the juices.

Prolongs its Life

After emptying the rubber hot water bottle blow a little air into it and screw in the cork. This prevents the sides of the bottle from sticking together and adds to its life.

Fruit Pies

Fruit pies often boil over, spoiling their appearance and soiling the oven. To prevent this sweeten the fruit to taste, add a tablespoonful of cornstarch and heat before putting the cover on the pie.

Makes Meat Tender

A very little vinegar cooked with coarse meat will make it tender or you may dip the meat in vinegar before cooking. A small piece of apple cooked in a meat pie or stew also makes the meat tender.

Testing Jelly

To tell when jelly is ready to pour into the glasses dip a silver knife in the boiling juice and then place it on the ice or where it can get cold. If the jelly wrinkles as you push the finger along the knife it is done.

Fresh and Sour Milk

Sour milk makes a spongy, light cake. Sweet milk makes one which cuts like pound cake. With sour milk soda alone is used. With sweet milk soda and cream of tartar are used. Never use fresh and sour milk for the same cake.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Colonel Cody, who is to be one of the first to attempt the crossing of the Atlantic by aeroplane, says he figures the trip will cost about $100,000. This will make a hole in the Daily Mail prize of $50,000.

A German scientist claims to have discovered an elixir of youth with radium as its base. Now harassed cabinet ministers will know what to give to the "militants" when the hunger strike is on.

Is war correspondence dead? The present war is the first instance since 1854 that newspaper correspondents have been excluded. The Balkan states and Turkey, for reasons that no sane man will question, have decided that a circle shall be drawn around their military operations.

Mrs. Pankhurst is out on ticket of leave, and once more arson, destruction of property, and violence will flourish like a green bay tree. Meanwhile daughter Christabel languishes in Paris and earns the sympathy of the community in being so ready to sacrifice her relations.

Suicide by aeroplane as accomplished recently by a Russian avaitor will never be really popular because the expanse of owning or even hiring an airship is too great. The dead aviator has earned a dreadful fame by anticipating the writers of "thrillers" who have not yet caught on to that novel way of finding death dramatically.

The offer by the London Daily Mail of a prize of $50,000 for the passage of the Atlantic by a hydroaeroplane in seventy-two hours is not very attractiae. It is estimated that the cost of construction and the incidental expenses would easily exhaust a much larger fund than that offered by the well-known journal.

WORDS AND DEEDS AT OTTAWA.

Canadian Gazette. London:—"If for any reason the Dominion Parliament does not confirm Mr. Borden's offer of three Dreadnoughts, or if the contribution of these three ships is much longer delayed, then the gap in the defensive strength of the Empire must be filled up by others—that is presumably by the British taxpayer. This is the position as put before the House of Commons by Mr. Churchill on Monday last, and, unless we altogether mistake the temper of the Canadian people, it will strengthen their determination to do their duty by the Empire and do it now. The Canadian ships are, in Mr. Churchill's words, 'absolutely necessary for the whole-world defence of the British Empire from the end of 1915 or from the beginning of 1916 onwards.' They also seem to us to be absolutely necessary if Canada means to wipe out the reproach of accenting the benefits of British citizenship without sharing its burdens and responsibilities. In other words, it is time for Canadians to close up their ranks, and let a little doing take the place af interminable talking. The loquacity of the Canadian parliamentarian, after the innumerable professions from both parties of their bold and decisive intentions, is making Canada look not a little ridiculous."

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries, Bladder Weakness, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such trouble.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorizes to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

THE PURCHASING POWER OF MONEY.

The high cost of living is measured in the purchasing power of money. We have a reaffirmation of the figures which the Labor Department of the British government Broard of Trade has published. Taking the board's list of twenty-three articles of food, it is found that in the last seventeen years there has been a steady decrease in the purchasing power of the English sovereign, or pound, equivalent in our money to $4.8665.

In the year 1896 there has been no change, but the year 1897 saw the purchasing power of the sovereign drop to $4.66. In all but one year since 1897 there has been a steady decline in the purchasing power of the sovereign until in 1912 the purchaser could procure with a sovereign but $3.85 worth, or 91 cents worth less food than in 1895.

The United States Bureau of Labor had prepared figures covering the same period. With few exceptions during these years the purchasing power of the American dollar has declined steadily. In 1898 it had reached only 97 cents, but by 1912 it had declined to 63 cents. To state the matter differently, a sovereign last year would buy but $3.68 worth of the things which it bought in 1895, and an American dollar would purchase but 63 cents' worth.

It is well to note, however, that while the purchasing power of the English sovereign has declined 18 per cent. that of the American dollar has declined 37 per cent.

CAKES, CAKES, CAKES, CAKES

Here is a Group of The Latest Recipes For the Best Cakes Produced

Many persons find cakes made entirely of buckwheat objectionable. This can be remedied by making the batter one-third corn meal and two thirds buckwheat. The cakes are said to be equally as good. Many prefer this mixture rather than the ordinary all buckwheat cake.

Buckwheat Cakes

Two cups of buckwheat and half a cup of corn meal; two cups of warm milk and half a cup of warm water; two tablespoonfuls of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one even teaspoonful of salt. Mix milk water and molasses together. Sift meal and flour three times with the baking powder and salt. Make a hole in the centre of the flour, stir in the milk and water quickly and lightly till you have a good batter, not too stiff. Bake.

Griddle Cakes

A soapstone griddle is to be preferred for all hot-cake making if it can be had. Cakes are baked upon it, not fried, making them comparatively wholesome.

Set the griddle at the side of the range to heat slowly at least an hour before it is time to make the cakes. If heated suddenly it may crack.

Clean with dry salt. Wipe with a clean cloth and it is ready to use.

Do not allow grease to touch it.

If an iron griddle must be used grease it with a bit of fat, just enough so the cakes will not stick.

Stale Bread Cakes

This recipe is a wise one in which to use up stale bread crumbs. For an hour soak two cupfuls of bread crumbs in a quart of milk. Into this beat a tablespoonful, each, of molasses and melted butter, a teaspoonful of salt and two or three well beaten eggs. When thoroughly mixed add half a cupful of flour which has been sifted with a half teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake on a soapstone griddle if possible.

Feather Cakes

The best way to make feather griddle cakes is to add to a pint of water and milk a teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of yeast and flour enough to make a batter. Let stand all night. In the morning add one cupful of thick sour milk, two eggs well beaten, one level tablespoonful of butter, one level teaspoonful of soda and flour enough to make the consistency of pancake batter. Let stand twenty minutes and then bake.

Entire Wheat Cakes

The wheat griddle cake is cooked the same as the sweet milk cakes. The ingredients are one-half cup of entire wheat flour, one cup of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, three tablespoons of sugar, one egg, one and one-quarter cups of milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter.

Rice Cakes

Rice griddle cakes require two and one-half cups of flour, one half cup of cold cooked rice, one tablespoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, one-quarter of a cup of sugar, one and one-half cups of milk, one egg and two tablespoons of melted butter. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Work in rice with tips of fingers; add egg well beaten, milk and butter. Cook the same as other griddle cakes.

Potato Griddle Cakes

Twelve large potatoes, three heaping tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one or two eggs, two teacupfuls of boiling milk. Peel the potatoes, wash and grate into a little cold water (which keeps them white). Then strain off water and pour on boiling milk, stir in eggs, salt and flour mixed with the baking powder. If agreeable flavor with a little fine-chopped onion. Bake like any other pancakes, allowing a little more lard or butter. Serve with stewed or preserved fruit.

Cheque From Strathcona

Mayor Schmaltz of Berlin, Ont., received a cheque for $4,000 from Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada, subscribed toward the building fund of a new Y.M.C.A. building, providing the sum of $40,000 was raised.

Sledding Over Sand

French army officers believe they have solved the problem of travelling over African desert sand, a light sledge, driven by an aeroplane propeller making fair speed and climbing grade easily.

FOUND HUMAN BONES

Tragedy of Half a Century Ago Revealed Near Kingston

A sensation was furnished at Stones Corners, about twenty miles from Kingston, Ont., when workmen found human bones secreted in a cave through which they were making a cut.

Dr. Stewart of that place believed the bones to be those of a girl of about fifteen years of age. Beside the body eight buckles such as a girl would use were found. One of the old residents of the neighborhood called to mind that a young girl was reported missing about forty-five years ago, but could not recall her name. At the time the girl disappeared it was believed she had lost her way in the woods or had been devoured by wolves. The buckles found were of old fashioned style. Dr. Stewart gave it as his opinion that the bones had been in the cave for forty or fifty years.

A Cornwall Mystery

While overseeing the digging up of a street in Cornwall, Ont., to permit of the extension of the water works system, the superintendent, Mr. Charles Lount, left two great iron crowbars standing against the side of the excavation. He crossed the street to look after another section of the work, and when he returned a few minutes later one of the bars had sunk completely out of sight and the other one was only a few inches above the surface.

One of the bars was recovered, but although a depth of four feet was sounded the other could not be found, having gone beyond reach.

Substitute for Bridges

Owing to the great width of the North and South Saskatchewan Rivers, the cost of bridging them is very high, and in order to provide the settlers with access to their markets the Government maintains an ever increasing number of ferries across these streams. There are upwards of forty of these ferries under operation.

Guide to Motorists

The directors of the Ontario Motor League sent to their sign committee a proposal to put a band of paint on posts to designate the various roads. The scheme is to use paint instead of sign boards, which are often knocked down and otherwise destroyed so that the tourists lose their way. The League will put a band of paint on poles and fences along the route.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

The Company owns four claims of forty acres each, in the Pain Killer Lake District, a Gold Camp of great promise. The property is located nine miles from the railway station at Matheson, with a good winter road.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16353½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co., Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.
$600.00 buys .....1000 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

CRICKET.

The Ontario Cricket Association, generally believed to be defunct, has taken on a new lease of life, and the enthusiasm, convinced by its members is but another indication that cricket is going to boom this season as it has seldom boomed in Toronto before.

The delegates from the various clubs comprising the Ontario Cricket Association got down to business in right good earnest at tae Walker House, Toronto. Under the presidency of Kerwin Martin, of Hamilton, they sketched a program for the ensuing season of an exceptionally attractive character.

BASEBALL

Newark, N.J., April 19.—Somewhat crestfallen because of the reverses encountered in the first two games played here, but boiling over with that indomitable fighting spirit that brought the International League championship penhant to Toronto last season, the champion Toronto Maple Leafs made their last stand to-day against the altogether too blood-thirsty Newark Indians. The score stood 6—4 in favor of Newark.

Astor Villa achieved a remarkable victory on Saturday at the Crystal Palace, when by beating the "All home "To Coop" in triumph to their Star" Sunderland team, they carried Midland home for the fifth time in their long and honorable history. Six times have the gallant "Villan's" figured in the final struggle for possession of the silverware, and on only one occasion have they departed from the field minus the coveted trophy. That occasion was in 1892, when their near and dear neighbors, West Bromwich Albion beat them by a score of 3—0, a defeat which was avenged three years later, when the "Throstles" lost by the only goal scored.

ONTARIO VERSUS QUEBEC

The inter-Provincial match of bygone days is to be revived, and secretary D. D. Eppes, and his associate, Harry Dean of Rosedale Cricket Club fame, are entrusted with the task of arranging a two-days' match, to be played in August if possible, between teams representing the Ontario and the Quebec associations.

New York, April 19.—At the baseball school, backed with capital to the extent of $1,000,000, and conducted along lines decidedly novel, is a possibility of the near future. Charley Carr, at one time a member of the Detroit team and during the past few years connected with various American Association teams as manager, evolved the idea and will soon put the matter up to the National Commission for a sanction. Carr has interested several wealthy men in the project and will have unlimited backing in his efforts to make the school a success.

Midland Football League.

Ernie Brumwell of Peterborough, was elected president of the Midland Football League at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon. F. Cryderman, of Bowmanville, is secretary-treasurer. The Havelock club was admitted. The clubs represented were Bowmanville, Oshawa, Bethany, Warsaw, Nomads and C.G.E.

FINE MILITARY POINT

"What are those men doing back there with their hats on?"

This question coming in Toronto Police Court from Chief Inspector Archibald, followed by the orders of two constables to remove their headgear, failed to have the desired result with a corporal and a private of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, who went to the court to get a deserter.

The soldiers shook their heads and remained with their hats on till one of the constables went over to them.

"We are a military escort," explained the corporal.

"That makes no difference. You've got to take off your hats."

"We'll go out," and the two marched out.

When the case was called they went in again with their nats on, took away the deserter, and nothing was said.

Col. Grasett, Toronto's Chief Constable, was of the opinion that the soldiers should have removed their hats.

"The civil law over-rules the military law," was the Chief's explanation. "And even if the military law says a man should keep his hat on, while on duty, I don't think they should stand on a little piece of military etiquette like that."

On several occasions Col. Denison, the magistrate, has ordered escorts of the same kind to remove their hats, and they have done so.

"A soldier on duty is never supposed to remove his hat," said another military man whose opinion was asked.

Mayor's Chain of Office

Vancouver has an elaborate chain of office which is worn by the Mayors on special occasions. It was purchased by the city at a cost of twelve hundred dollars, and consists of five shields representing the great industries of the province—agriculture, mining, timber, fishing and the industrial arts. Suspended from these is a larger shield bearing the coat-of-arms of Vancouver, carved and enamelled in colors. The smaller shields measure two and one-half inches by two inches, and the larger measures four and one-eighth inches by three inches. The chain wighs two and one-half pounds.

Editor at Fifteen

"The Searchlight," published once every three weeks at Beloit, Wisconsin, has for its editor a fifteen-year-old boy, Louis T. Merrill, a student at the Beloit high school. In addition to his editorial duties, Louis looks after the illustrating, advertising and printing of his paper.

"The Searchlight" is printed by the blue-print process instead of in the usual way of a printing press.

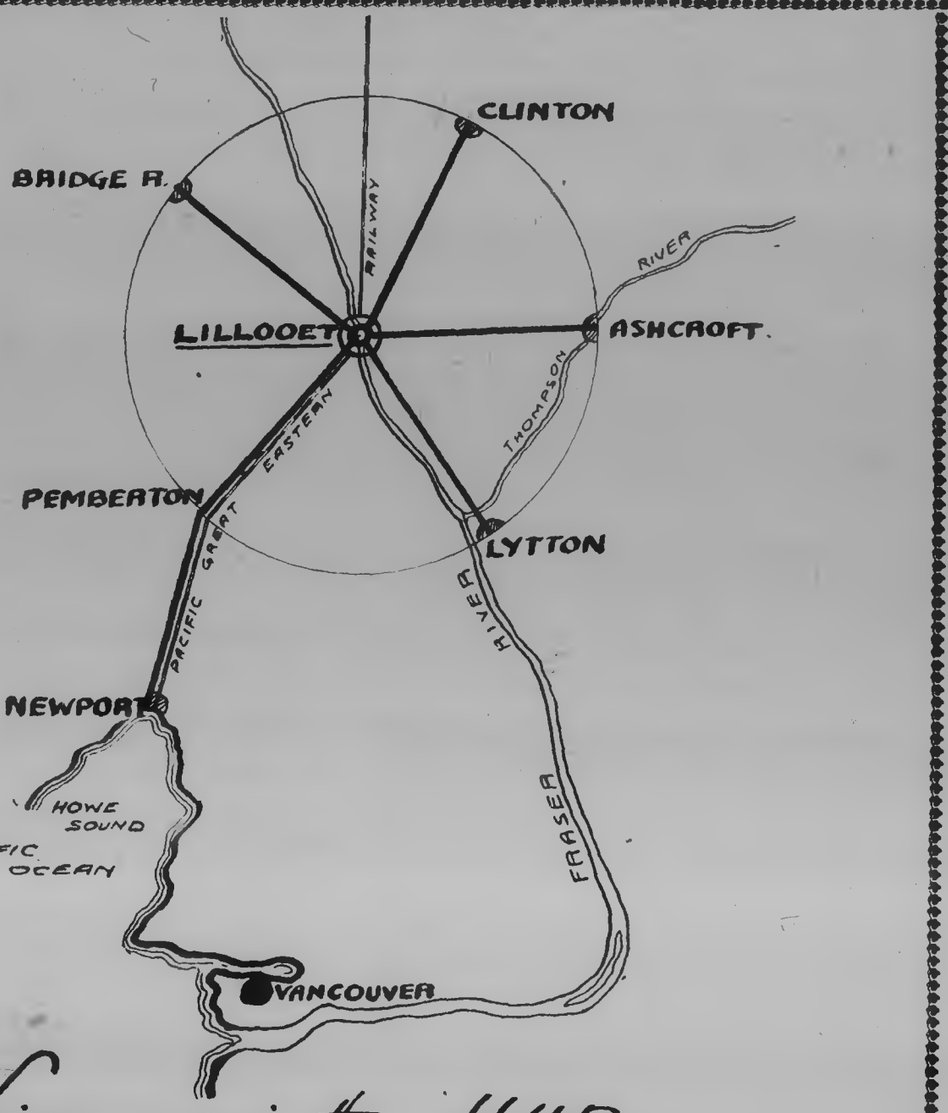
Musician's Pension

Jan Sibelius, the Finnish composer, has been more fortunate than many others who trust their musical pens for a living. Several years ago he was granted a pension for life by the state, in order that he might be free from struggling for existence while following his musical career. The Czar of Russia has now come to assist him further with a grant of $500 a year.

Canadian Whalers

The Canadian Whaling Company, organized in Montreal about two years ago, and operating in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is reported to be prosperous. The company has two steam whaling boats in commission and over 70 whales were captured in one season. Most of the capital was subscribed in Norway, and many of those engaged in the enterprise are Norwegians.

Canadian Aviators



Two ambitious and enthusiastic young machinists of Montreal—Messrs. A. Anctil and G. Pollien, constructed a flying machine which was satisfactorily tested in short runs and glides of one hundred yards or so. They intend to build monoplanes with which sustained flights may be accomplished.

Lifting Pig Iron With Magnet

It is quite a common practice to use lifting magnets for handling furnace pig iron. Usually the pigs are stacked horizontally and not many of them can be lifted at a time because a relatively small number can be brought into contact with the magnet. Someone recently hit upon the idea of stacking the pigs vertically, so that the face of the magnet will touch a greater number of pigs. It was found that by this method, the lifting capacity of a magnet which heretofore was able to raise only 1,000 pounds of pig iron was increased to 3,000 pounds.

Electric Hats Now

A late invention, used abroad, is a scheme for keeping cool in hot weather. A fan is attached to a small storage battery, which is screened in the crown of top hats, the fan working just above the head. The [illegible] is started by touching a [illegible] the rim.

RE-STOCKING THE LAKES

How the Fish Supply of the Northern Waters is Kept up

During the last few years the Ontario Government has planted in the Lakes in the Highlands of Ontario thousands of parent fish for the purpose of increasing the supply in these waters. A special fish car was built a few years ago by the Grand Trunk Railway for the transportation of these fish. The Provincial Government of Ontario is operating fish hatcheries with very successful results and the season of re-stocking finished with the following results:—74,000 black bass fingerlings were planted in the following waters: Muskoka Lakes, 35,000; Gull Lake, near Gravenhurst, Ont., 2,000; Sturgeon Lake, Cameron Lake and Balsam (Kawartha Lakes), 10,000; Fair Lake, Vernon Lake, Peninsular Lake and Mary Lake (Lake of Bays District), 10,000. Lakes reached by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, 12,000; and Cache Lake, Algonquin National Park, 5,000. These small fish were transported with great success and without any loss in transit so that they were depoited in the several waters in splendid condition. The black bass grow very quickly and within three years are beyond the prohibited limit in size. This re-stocking has continued for a number of years and the fishing in all these waters is improving annually.

FISHING LAWS RESCINDED

Efforts to Secure Parent Fish Unsuccessful in Part of Georgian Bay

An order-in-Council was passed at Ottawa rescinding a regulation passed a couple of years ago setting apart the waters of Georgian Bay from Grondine Point to the mouth of the French River during October and November of each year for the purpose of securing fish eggs for hatcheries. The change was made because efforts to secure parent fish in the waters affected were unsuccessful, and because the regulation cut off one month from the open season covered by provincial fishing licenses.

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1911, A. C. McClurg & Co.)

CHAPTER XXII.—They find Yup Sing and the Chinese consul awaiting them. Yup tells Clyde the story of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha," in which 97 Chinamen were deliberately sent to their death by one Donald M'Nish, whom they declare is Cameron.

CHAPTER XXIII.—They declare that M'Nish can be identified by a tattoo mark on his arm. Clyde declares that Cameron has no such mark. The nurse is called in and describes a tattoo mark on his patient's arm. Clyde goes to investigate and finds the patient attempting to hide a letter. It is addressed to Donald M'Nish.

And it was not until ten minutes later, when he came hurriedly into the room, that I remembered. The name, when I saw it, had at once struck me as familiar. I seemed to know, even, that it belonged to a physician of reputed high standing, yet it was only at the instant of his entrance, when his penetrating steel-gray eyes drilled into mine, that I associated it with the man to whom I had gone, not for any ailment, but to learn whether my friend, in spite of his denials, had ever been in China.

If the recognition was mutual, Dr. Addison gave no sign of it. His patient demanded and received his immediate attention. Hastily he administered a stimulating hypodermic, and then, himself assisted in carrying her to her room.

When he rejoined me in the library, half an hour later, it was with the glad news that she had responded gratifyingly to treatment, and was sleeping calmly. After thanking him for his promptness and efficiency, I said:

"You do not remember me?"

"Oh, yes, I do," he returned, almost brusquely, fixing me with his gaze. "You are Mr. Clyde. Did you get any relief from the prescription I gave you?"

I had not expected the question and was unprepared for it. In venturing an evasive reply I stammered.

"I don't suppose you even had it filled," he declared, with a grim smile that was at least partially reassuring. And I admitted that his surmise was accurate. Moreover I begged him to sit down.

"I have a confession to make, Doctor," I said, a little shamefacedly.

"It is unnecessary, Mr. Clyde," was his half-polite rejoinder, as he sank into a chair before the fireplace. "I read the newspapers, and I have come to understand many things in the past few days."

As I took a seat opposite to him, I said:

"The newspapers have been misleading, I fear, Dr. Addison."

"No," he contradicted, his tone softened. "On the contrary they have opened my eyes to a truth that was long hidden; they have made a very contrite and, I must confess, a very unhappy man of me."

"Unhappy?"

"More unhappy than you can conceive, Mr. Clyde. For years I have misjudged one of the best friends Heaven ever privileged a man to have."

"But, my dear Doctor," I began, "you were not at fault, altogether; you—"

He raised a deprecatory hand. "No, please don't," he pleaded. "You cannot temper it. I should have taken his word, without question. I knew his love of truth—I probably more than any one else. What right had I to conclude then, because of certain apparently irreconcilable happenings, that his word was false?"

"We are all fallible," I said.

"All but he," was his prompt reply. And then, leaning forward, with a strained, eager look in those piercing eyes, his voice vibrant, he asked:

"Is it true that he is very ill? That he cannot be seen?"

For a scruple I hesitated.

"The newspapers have been misleading, I fear," I said again, and I judge my expression of countenance was as cryptic as my words, for my visitor's look changed instantly to one of dire perplexity.

"He is not ill?" he questioned. "You mean—"

"Confidentially, Doctor," I admitted, "we haven't the faintest notion just how he is. He may be in excellent health or he may have ceased to exist."

"Good God!" he exclaimed, and his face was as white as his linen.

"Our best information is that he is on a steamer—a tramp—bound for China, but we have no particulars, and worse still, no verification."

It was neither fair nor consistent to conceal longer from one so justly interested the whole truth, and so, without reservation, I told Dr. Addison the story.

Before I had quite concluded, Miss Clement was announced, and when she was shown into the library, instead of permitting the physician to leave, as he made offer of doing, I presented him and insisted upon his remaining.

"I want you to tell Miss Clement about your patient, Doctor," I said. "Miss Clement is a very good friend of Miss Grayson's."

Graciously he complied, making it quite clear that sedatives and sleep would undoubtedly effect a prompt recovery.

"And now Miss Clement will tell us something," I added. "She has had a patient, too, who died this morning, as you may have seen by the afternoon papers—the Eurasian who was shot by McNish."

Up to that moment I knew but little of what Soy had divulged, for the missionary, in her two or three brief telephonic talks, had given us scarcely more than promises of important revelations when opportunity could be made for a meeting; and I was impatient for the fulfilment.

She had chosen a seat at some little distance from us, but now, at my solicitation, she accepted a more comfortable chair, which I placed in confidential juxtaposition with our own.

"It's rather a long story," she began, in her sweetly quiet voice. "And as it came to me piecemeal, I'm afraid it will be rather disconnected. You see this poor fellow suffered horribly at times and when he was not suffering he was under the influence of opiates, so ordinarily I doubt that it would be safe to accept as fact a good deal said under such circumstances. It appears to me, however, that in his case, these very conditions only strengthen the probabilities; for his mind seemed to hold only the one theme, and his statements could hardly have been either spontaneous or studied inventions. On the other hand, they were rather a sort of involuntary recital of the particulars of a subject which had engrossed him for years to the exclusion of almost everything else."

Dr. Addison nodded his head, encouragingly. "I quite understand, Miss Clement," he said. And I, too, assured her that her reasoning appeared to me logical.

"It was significant," she continued, "that so far as I could fix dates, he made no references at all to any happening prior to sixteen years ago. The tragedy of that time was the beginning of what I think I may call his mania. Everything he told me had to do with it. It came at the beginning, at the apex, and at the end of every revelation."

"The tragedy of sixteen years ago?" inquired the physician.

"The tragedy of what has been called 'The Sable Lorcha,'" I reminded him.

"Oh, yes, of course."

"You know of that, then?" asked Miss Clement. And briefly I ran over what Yup Sing had told me.

"John Soy, I understand, was the cook whom McNish imprisoned in the galley," I added.

"It seems he broke his way out just as the lorcha was sinking. McNish had waited until he had gone to his bunk for his usual hop, and had chosen the hour he was sleeping to get away and scuttle the vessel. For five days Soy floated about on a bit of wreckage without food or drink, and was finally picked up by a proa and taken back to Macao at the mouth of the Canton river, where, after weeks of delirium, he told his story of the lorcha's fate. From that day the search for McNish began. It seems that he had a partner, an Irishman, named Moran, who for a time was suspected of having been in the conspiracy; for, you must remember, it was thought then that the sinking of the lorcha had been planned from the first, the idea being that it was simply a scheme to get the passage money from the poor coolies, and then drown them."

"Horrible!" ejaculated the physician.

"But the Chinese are just," the missionary continued. "They discovered that a certain United States cruiser that had been warned of the attempted smuggling, did, on that particular day, give chase to a lorcha, which eventually disappeared in the fog. So the enmity against Moran subsided, and, ultimately, this same Moran became the most openly bitter of all the avenging horde that for over a decade and a half scoured the four corners of the globe; for it seems that McNish had not only made off with his share of the receipts of their joint enterprise, but had left him with a ruining lot of debts to settle as well. There was something, too, I believe, about a Chinese woman whose loyalty to Moran, McNish undermined, but I confess that part of the story was not very clear to me. At all events Soy, the half-breed, and Moran, the Irishman, who appears to have been a roving blade, a sort of soldier of fortune with some talent for painting, became the prime movers in this relentless quest, in which they were backed by what is known as the Six Companies. All the tongs, no matter how much at variance on other points, were a unit in this instance, and unlimited money was always available to prosecute the search."

A footman, appearing at this juncture with the inevitable tea paraphernalia, interrupted temporarily the current of Miss Clement's narrative. But our interest was such that we limited the cessation to the briefest possible period. Dr. Addison, whose professional engagements were being toppled over one after another, politely urged her to continue, directly her cup was in her hand.

"Think, Miss Clement," he said, with an ingratiating smile, "of the rapt audience you have! I trust it is at once an inspiration and a compensation."

"It surely is," was the good lady's prompt acknowledgment. "And, by the way, I must not forget to tell you how this man, McNish, actually had the temerity to return to China a few years ago. He appeared to think either that his crime had been forgotten or that knowledge of it was limited to the Southern provinces, for in the early fall of 1903, under one of his many aliases, he arrived at Peking, by way of the Trans-Siberian Railway."

The doctor and I exchanged glances. It was odd how confirmation of the error he had already avowed should thus come about from the lips of one who knew nothing of his story of a shattered friendship.

"Oddly enough, Moran happened to be in the city at the time and every arrangement was made to capture the long-sought prey and convey him to Canton for some exquisite torture devised especially to fit his crime. In some way, however, the intended victim got wind of what was proposed, and came within an ace of escaping unscathed from under their very fingers. Indeed, he did escape in the end, but not before Moran had very nearly put a finish to him by a knife thrust in his back."

Once more I exchanged glances with the physician, for scarcely half an hour before, I had told him of the scar under McNish's left shoulder blade, received as I had been told, in Buffalo.

"Moran fled from Peking after this encounter, not knowing whether his enemy were dead or alive, and for awhile, I believe, 'laid very low,' as they say. In spite of all the efforts of the combined Chinese organizations, McNish, warned now of his constant danger, eluded their search, but at length Soy himself succeeded in tracing him to Canada and thence to Buffalo. There Moran came, post-haste, and once more there was a street encounter. Moran was arrested, and McNish charged him with assault with intent to kill. The result was that Moran was convicted and sent to prison for a term of years; and once again the earth seemed to close over McNish."

The discrepancies between Miss Clement's narrative and that of Yup Sing I did not regard as sufficiently vital to raise a question over, yet I must admit that I could hardly foresee a conclusion without a much graver antagonism of facts as I knew them.

The missionary, having paused to sip her tea, Dr. Addison asked permission to smoke a cigarette, which she readily granted.

"On Moran's release from prison," Miss Clement continued, fortified by the fragrant Oolong, "he appears for the first time to have considered the advisability of adopting some sort of an incognito. Prior to this time he had, Soy told me, been carefully clean shaven and close-cropped. Now he grew a beard and wore his hair long, and, in addition, he doctored it with henna until it became a fiery red. He also changed his name from Moran to Murphy, and instead of frequenting the busy marts of men, he retired to an isolated country place on the Cos Cob river and posed as an artist. He employed always a Chinese servant, and at least once a week, without fail he visited Chinatown, keeping always in touch with the powers there, which were still unrelenting in their efforts to trace McNish."

She came now to Murphy's so-called chance meeting with Cameron on the Fourth of July, of which Cameron himself had already told me. I would have saved her this recital, but it was new to Dr. Addison and so I allowed her to proceed.

"It was plainly evident to Moran," she pursued, "that McNish—or at least the gentleman he supposed was McNish—did not recognize him, and his delight at this discovery was unbounded; for it gave him opportunity, quite unsuspectedly, to arrange all his plans for a most ingenious campaign of torture. What that campaign consisted of, of course, you already know, Mr. Clyde, and I presume Dr. Addison does, too."

"Yes," I replied, "I have told the doctor."

"What you don't know, though," she added, "is how it was managed."

"We have been told something about amyl pearls," I suggested.

"Amyl pearls?" queried Dr. Addison, curiously.

With as much clearness as possible I explained to him what I meant by using this admittedly inaccurate term.

"Incredible!" he exclaimed. "Can it be possible that there is such an anaesthetic as this, and we have never even heard of it before?"

"There can be no doubt about its existence," I answered. "I myself have experienced its effects, though I have never actually seen it put in operation."

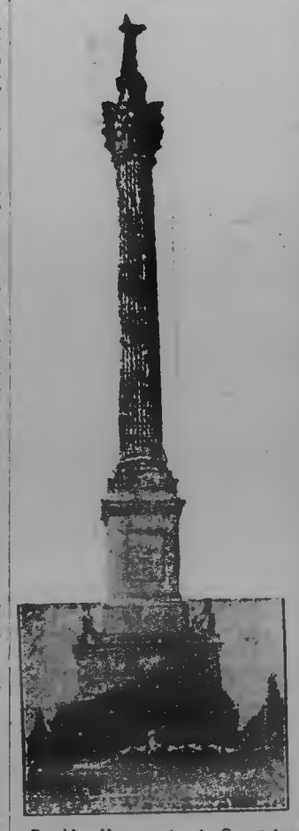
But it was Miss Clement who was most convincing.

"I have never seen either it or its effects, Doctor," she said, "but I am willing to believe even more marvellous things than that where the Chinese are concerned. You must remember that as a race they are most jealous of their knowledge as well as their possessions. Just now, after all their many centuries of a civilization greater in some respects than our own, we are beginning to learn something of them and their ways, and I should not be at all surprised to discover that in chemistry, in medicine even, they have forgotten more than we know. Soy assured me that not only for days, but for weeks, he himself came and went about Mr. Cameron's—or, as he called it, McNish's—country place without being either seen or heard, simply by using this ether of invisibility. It was he who delivered the three letters. It was he who cut the head from the portrait, and it was he who broke the mirror; and yet no one saw him on the grounds or in the house, and indeed there were very few who saw him in the vicinity. Again and again, he assured me, he could have taken his victim's life but that he was intent on inflicting a punishment more protractedly horrible than mere sudden death."

"Who wrote the letters?" I asked.

"Moran."

"I thought so. And Moran killed the Chinaman who worked for him."



"No; there you are wrong, Mr. Clyde."

"Then who did?"

"Soy himself. He learned of how that boy, unable to control his hatred of the man who had slain some one or more of his kinspeople, carried back the head that had been cut from the portrait, borrowed a rifle from Mr. Cameron's own gamekeeper, and shot the canvas full of holes. It seemed to Soy, then, that in spite of all his and Moran's careful preparation this would surely involve trouble, and that once more their quarry would slip through their fingers. And to prevent the possibility of any more unrestrained fervor on the boy's part, Soy beat him to death."

"I know Soy, or Peter Johnson as he called himself, managed the kidnapping from the yacht," I said, "but I shall never understand how it was done. Did he speak of that?"

Defying the Law

An officer who went to subpoena some of the Doukhobor women as witnesses was thrown bodily out of a house, and his summonses torn up. In order to prevent the police from securing any evidence the Doukhobors of Grand Forks plowed up their graveyard and harrowed it level. The whole community took a vow of silence, and even the children refused to answer any questions. They protested against the action of the police, but were informed that they would have to comply with the laws of the province, and it was this news that prompted them to communicate with the State Immigration Commissioner of Colorado.

The Real Socialists

The Doukhobors are one of the most remarkable religious sects in the world. They are practical Socialists, holding everything in common, and their motto is "the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood." They have no written laws or rules, and nothing is fixed in their worship. Theft is unknown among the Doukhobors, as is drunkenness, smoking, profanity, brawling and lying. They are vegetarians, and will not eat even eggs. Nevertheless they are said to be rugged and healthy. The great stumbling block in their relations with governments is that the Doukhobors recognize no authority over a man but God.

Men Who Don't Exercise

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS.

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens of Woodstock.

In his convincing letter, Mr. Stephens says:

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old-time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Bob Beach Made Good.

What Bob Beach, the trap drummer at the Grand Opera House Saturday, didn't do to make the acts of the Vaudeville Co. "go," would take very little space. Bob seemed to be a telepathist or clairovoyant, and to know just when to put on the soft pedal or smash the cymbals.

Lillico's Horse Locked.

A horse drawing Lillico's delivery rig got locked on Saturday afternoon at the corner of Charlotte street and Boundary Road. The steed made east on Charlotte street as though the only oat in existence was on the east bank of the Otonabee. The reins flapping behind, evidently made the animal imagine that His Satanic Majesty was riding behind. Fortunately the horse was checked in his wild career before any damage was done.

Member for the East Gets There.

The East Riding of Peterborough has need to be grateful to their efficient member in the Ontario Legislature, Mr. Jas. Thompson. This lawmaker has had $3,675 placed in the supplementary estimates to be used in his riding. The amount is distributed as follows: Anstruther, $200; Belmont, $300; Burleigh, $600; Chandos, $600; Dummer, $200; Douro, $200; Methuen, $675; Dummer, $300; Lakefield, $400. As will be seen by the above, Lakefield has secured a grant of $400 to be expended on Queen street running north from the skating rink. This is the first grant Lakefield has received from the Ontario Government, and it was secured mainly through the efforts of Mr Thompson and the representations made by Reeve Fitzgerald.

Offensive Breath Caused Usually by Catarrh

A Simple Remedy Discovered That Cures Without Drugs.

The American people suffer more from Catarrh than from any other disease. It undermines more constitutions and creates more sickness than all other diseases combined. It is, therefore, very dangerous.

You can't successfully treat catarrh by internal dosing—you must in some way send a purifying, healing agent through the breathing organs so that the germs can be reached. This you do every time you inhale Catarrhozone. Its rich essences and healing balsams are breathed all through the nose, throat and lungs and effectively destroy every trace of Catarrh. This is a proven fact.

I endorse Catarrhozone because I know of six bad cases of Catarrh, including my own, that it has cured. It is a sensible remedy because it is capable of going where the disease is. I believe it cures quicker than other remedy because it gets sooner to the source of the disease than anything else I know of. I had headaches, bad breath and much stomach trouble associated with my Catarrh, but they have disappeared since using Catarrh ozone, which keeps me free from colds, headaches, catarrh and all winter ills." OTTO E. KRAMER, Belleville, Ont. FDFDFD FDFDF DFDFF ville, Ont.

Catarrhozone is needed in every home. Large size lasts 2 months price $1.00; small size 50c; trial size 25c. At all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y. and Kingston, Canada.

Miss Giroux was assisted by Miss Dorothy McGann, a pupil of Dr. F. H. Torrington, whose singing of Ronald's "Sunbeams," and "Il Bacio," by Arditi was very much enjoyed.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the muscous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co., Testimonials free.

THE GOLDEN NORTH

Canada's Arctic Region Abounds in Mineral and Animal Wealth

Rev. Father Lefevre, procurator of the missions and industrial schools under the direction of the Sisters of Charity, and located between Fort McMurray and the Arctic Red river, said in the course of an interview at Edmonton, that the north country, on the rim of the Arctic circle, abounds in untold mineral wealth, including gold and copper. He brought samples of coal oil and asphalt from the Mackensie and Athabasca rivers.

"Gold has been found in the Liard river, where the Hudson's Bay company maintains a trading post," the missionary declared. "Copper outcroppings at Coronation Bay indicate that great stretches of this metal underlie the grass roots. Little or no work has been done in the way of prospecting, but I am satisfied the mineral is there in quantity and quality. It is not difficult of access."

Replying to a question, Father Lefevre was emphatic in his denial that cannibalism is practiced by the Indians in the far north. He said the missionaries living there had never known such a state of affairs, adding: "There are no man-eating Indians in our country."

Father Lefevre told about a large herd of wild buffaloes in the vicinity of Fort Smith, saying also that the northern country is full of black, white, red, cross and silver foxes, otter, marten, lynx, beaver, mink and muskrat, while the streams literally teem with whitefish and trout, the main sustenance of the Indians.

Three months is required to make the trip from Fort McMurray to the Arctic Red River country, including stops of a day or so at the various missions.

HOW FIRES START

Carelessness Responsible for the Greater Number of Factory Fires

Preventable fires in factories start from a lack of cleanliness, oily rags hidden behind steam pipes; from smoking, lighted cigars tossed in the corner of a varnish room; matches, dropped carelessly where they will be ignited accidentally.

Lighting equipment, such as paper shades on electric lights; inflammable material, fired by overheated pipes, chimneys and electric wires; and explosive, similar to gasoline and used near a flame these form another group of typical ways in which fires are started.

Many other fires are caused by gases, due to leaks and improper piping; by oils, dripping from leaky bearings in material of inflammable character; holiday causes, due to the lack of cleanliness and inspection at such periods of idleness; and by carelessness, and the utter disregard of fire rules and regulations.

Waste in Pencil Stubs

That more than thirteen million feet of lumber is thrown into waste-paper baskets every year is the statement made by a New York statistician with a head for figures. This enormous waste results, he said, from discarding partly used lead pencils.

"Seventy-three million feet of lumber is used in the manufacture of pencils every year in the United States," he declared. "At least half of each pencil is thrown away because it has poor lead or is too short. Think how the conservation of our forests would be promoted if every person would be more careful in the use of pencils."

Clean the Kettle

When copper kettles become dull and black looking try cleaning them this way: Cut a lemon in half, dip in salt and rub it all over the surface of the kettle. Afterwards wash well in warm water to prevent the acid from eating into the metal. Polish with powdered brick

SILK HATS IN CHINA

Republican Congress Decided Question of Dress and Salutation

Ten sessions of the Republican Congress in Pekin were devoted to the question of dress. One whole day was given over to the trying on of hats, and all possible and impossible fashions of mens and women's clothing were displayed and examined. The results of this painstaking investigation may be gathered from the following resume of the laws passed:—

1. All Chinese officials, without any distinction of rank, shall wear European clothing. This shall consist of black walking coat, top hat of Chinese silk, and patent leather shoes. No mention is made of trousers. On ordinary occasions a derby hat may be worn.

2. Non-office-holding persons shall also dress as above on festivals.

3. Those belonging to the military, police and to the judicial and student bodies shall wear the prescribed uniforms.

4. Women shall use European hats but otherwise retain their customary dress with certain modifications.

The etiquette of greetings was defined as follows:—Ordinary greeting, hat off, bow once; official greeting, hat off, bow three times. Women keep their hats on.

THE CELEBRATED CLOSURE BILL NOW THOROUGHLY FOUGHT OUT

A Vote is Expected Tomorrow or Thursday and Liberals Have Given Up Hope

Ottawa, April 21.—The vote on closure, it is expected, will come about Wednesday or Thursday of this week. The Liberals have given up all hope of defeating the measure and it is only a matter of time until it passes. With the closure out of the way the House will get back to the naval bill. It is not likely that the new closure rules will be invoked at once, in fact the Liberals will still be given plenty of time to discuss the bill. But if they continue their blockade then the Government is in a position to stop the obstruction and to stop it hard. This will be done if the Liberals pursue their ridiculous tactics.

No Life in Liberals.

There have been plenty of rumors that before the closure was finally passed there would be more disorderly scenes in the House. This seems very doubtful. The debate has been allowed to so peter out, that it is hard to put life into it even in the final division. It is said now that the Liberals are preparing to precipitate trouble instead when the first attempt is made to apply the closure Hon. Chas. Murphy announced in the House that he would not be bound by the new rules and there are said to be others of Mr. Pugsley's followers who will try to get named and suspended when the rules are enforced.

DOING GOOD WORK

Religious services were held in 250 lumber camps under the auspices of the Shantymen's Christian Association, during the winter, and 5000 Bibles were distributed. These were the salient points in the Secretary's statement at the annual meeting of the association held in Toronto.

Practically all the larger lumber camps in the Province were included in the above, including some in Peterborough and Victoria counties.

BITTER FIGHT ON AT OTTAWA BETWEEN WARRING MEMBERS

Our Correspondent Believes Personal Conflict Between Dr. Edwards and Mr. Carvell is Essential to Restore The Dignity of the House

Ottawa, April 21.—The Edwards-Carvell quarrel in the early hours of Friday morning has produced an exceedingly disagreeable sensation, which does not wear off upon reflection. Dr. Edwards on Friday on the Orders of the Day reverted to the subject. Rising to a question of privilege he formally repeated his absolute denial of the truth of the two assertions which Mr. Carroll had made about him, and repeated, in parliamentary terms, his public statement that he was ready to call that member of Parliament a liar in a place where the rules of the House would not interfere to prevent a settlement.

A Painful Situation.

The situation is exceedingly painful. The dignity of the House, which, to tell the truth, is nothing to boast about, is greatly lowered by this desperately vulgar interchange of coarse abuse. It may startle a good many readers, but it is the deliberate opinion of the writer that the two men should meet and fight. A personal conflict would at least show that they take seriously the savage language which they have used about each other; and this probably will command general assent that a man who uses violent language about another and takes it seriously enough to incur the risk of a black eye is in a more respectable position than a man who shouts a hoax and thinks it a light matter.

SENTENCE DEFERRED AGAINST H. LANDRY

His Honor Judge Huycke held a court yesterday morning. Herbert Landry was cfharged with the theft of $35 from Milton Hutchison, at Nixon's Hotel, on April 12. Sentence was reserved until Thursday morning in order to allow Judge Huycke to investigate the history of the accused.

F. D. Kerr appeared for the prisoner and Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution.

As the evidence in the case has been given before, we simply sa that, he was found guilty and sentence deferred until Thursday.

MANUEL KING OF PORTUGAL TO MAKE HIS WIFE A QUEEN

Rich Princess He is to Wed and Her Title Discussed by Berlin

Berlin, April 21.—A lively controversy has been started here on the question whether the Princess Augustine Victoria of Hohenzollern, who is affianced to ex-King Manuel of Portugal, is to be called Queen.

Some of the German experts on court questions declare that she will rank only as a Duchess with the title of "Royal Highness," while others assert that as Manuel has not recognized his deposition from the throne of Portugal, and retains the title of "King and Majesty," even at those courts where Government have officiously recognized the Republic of Portugal, his consort will share this courtesy title. Many are inclined to the belief that the latter view is probably correct.

Entire Life in Seclusion.

Little is known in Berlin of the bride, as her entire life has been spent in the South of Germany, but it is understood that she will bring to Manuel a plump dowry, as this branch of the Hohenzollern family is wealthy.

Its members financed the Roumanian throne, whose present occupant, King Charles, is a Prince of Hohenzollern for the Spanish throne, the dispute in regard to which brought about the French-German war.

Ex-King Manuel visited his aunt, Duchess Karl Theodoro of Bavaria, in 1912, and at that time met Princess Augustine Victoria. He went to Sigmaringen last week on another visit to the family and the betrothal was announced three days later.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Moderate, fresh south east to south winds and mild.

THE REAL OTTAWA SITUATION

Borden: The Government will pass the Naval Emergency Grant after allowing free but reasonable discussion of the question.

Laurier: The Opposition will leave no stone unturned to block assistance in this form to the Empire. It will, if possible, postpone the question by forcing on an election and so get a second chance of restoring me to power before I retire.

Borden: (After two solid weeks of undiguised obstruction) We will amend the rules of the House as the only means to put an end to this deliberate and declared blocking policy; the time had, in any event come for such an amendment as admitted on both sides of the House

Laurier: It is true that many of my Party Leaders pledged themselves to some such amendment of the rules, if we had been returned to power in 1911, because they thought that there never should be obstruction of the public business, but things have changed and I will oppose any change in the rules and we will block your effort to change them by moving amendments without notice and blocking every amendment till we tire the House out by postponing supplies, and thus we will kill your Naval Bill.

Borden: I can only take that as a declaration of open war

Laurier: You rightly apprehend my meaning.

Borden: (Bringing up his first Dreadnought). Since war it has to be your effort to move amendments to my resolution must be outwitted. I therefore invoke a standing rule of the House passed by your own Party while in power, whereby the majority of the House, can, at any time, declare to which of various speakers who seek to have the floor they will listen, quite apart from any declaration as to who is first seen by the Speaker. You must therefore surrender to me that amendment not yet moved, Sir Wilfrid, as the result of the House voting to give priority to Mr. Husen's motion "that the question be now put." That means that you can't fire off your amendment, Sir Wilfrid, nor can any more amendments be moved, though it won't interfere with your right of free speech on the Resolution itself.'

Result: The Liberals can speak freely upon Mr. Borden's closure motion but they can only speak once and there will be no amendment upon which they could otherwise have also spoken—the change in rules will then be passed and will come into effect; the Naval Bill can then be passed and public business can be proceeded with, with decency.

THREE NEW FIREMEN WILL BE ADDED TO THE FIRE DEPT

A New Fire Alarm Box Made in Canada, by the Northern Electric Company, May be Installed on Apporoval

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, chairman Ald. Gillespie presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Anderson, G. Walter Green Duffus, and Langford.

Fire Chief Howard wrote asking leave of absence to attend the 41st annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers to be held in New York City, September 1st to 6th next, and he hoped that the necessary appropriation to defray expenses would be granted. This matter was left in abeyance

Firemen's Uniforms.

Tenders will be invited through the daily papers for firemen's uniforms, as follows: Sixteen double-breasted sack coats, sixteen waistcoats, 32 pairs of trousers, one officer's coat, and five winter coats. These goods are to be delivered by August first.

Alarm Boxes.

The Committee was notified that the Gamewell fire alarm boxes which are in use in this city have been reduced from $125 each to $110, duty paid.

Several new boxes are to be installed this year, including one in the neighborhood of Princess street, on Park street.

Chief Howard informed the Committee that the Northern Electric Manufacturing Co. is manufacturing an alarm box at $90, which he thinks might answer all purposes. The company will be written to and asked if they will send one of these boxes on approval; if so, that the chairman be authorized to purchase it if found satisfactory. The Northern Electric Co. is the only firm in Canada making fire alarm boxes.

New Firemen.

The chairman and Fire Chief were authorized to engage three extra firemen.

FOUR MEN LOST TOLL OF FLOOD

Two Dams Gone, Bridges and Property Ruined North of Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., April 21.—Latest reports to-day from the scene of the bursting of the Fifth Lake dam in the township of Hinchinbrooke indicate that four lives have been lost in the disaster, two dams carried away, three bridges destroyed and thousands of acres under water.

The body of one of the victims, George Hutchinson, of Centreville, has been recovered and searching parties are scoring the banks of the flooded territory for trace of the three Pollocks of the party of four who on Thursday night attempted to cross the swollen stream a short distance above Bell Creek.

It is persistently reported that the bursting of the Fifth Lake dam was caused by a dynamite explosion. Five feet of water above high water mark is flowing over the dam at Petworth, which is a new concrete one and will probably withstand the strain. If it should fail a considerable residential district below will be flooded

A BAD PRAIRIE FIRE NOW RAGING IN SASK.

Is Sweeping Everything Before It, and Homesteaders Flee for Their Lives.

Maose Jaw, Sask., April 21.—A bad prairie fire is raging in the country to the south estimated to be 50 miles in width, and sweeping everything before it. Already half a dozen or more homesteaders have lost everything and several have had narrow escapes for their lives.

...It is the worst fire known here and has already burned over a large area with no signs of abating. Rumors of lives lost lack confirmation.

Hundreds of men are out fighting the flames, but with little or no success, far the territory in which the fire is raging is largely virgin pairie.

A BIG DEFAULTER CAUGHT AT TORONTO

Was Living Quietly With Wife and Family—Fifteen Thousand Dollars Involved.

Toronto, April 21.—After living a secluded life with his wife and two children since he arrived here some weeks ago, George R. Fox, a former employe of the Novelty Knitting Co. of Cohoes, N. Y., was arrested at 54 Radford avenue yesterday by Detective Austin Mitchell on a charge of grand larceny preferred by the authorities at Albany. The amount involved is said to be as high as $15,000.

Though the local department are reticent about the matter, it was learned that the accused left his place of employment suddenly on February 15th last. An examination of the books revealed defalcations, the extent of which came as a surprise to the firm. A warrant was immediately sworn out, but so good use had the fugitive made of his time that all trace was lost of him. Later, however, it was learned that he had headed north for Canada and the local police were asked to be on the watch, with the result that his arrest was affected on Sunday.

This morning he intimated his intention of waiving extradition proceedings and will return with an officer from Albany, who is expected to arrive to-night.

Fox is a man about 45 years of age and stands six feet five inches.

BIG UNSIGHTLY POLES REMOVED GEORGE STREET

Yesterday morning a gang of Great Northwest Telegraph linemen began the removal of the big 60 and 65 foot poles that were placed in the year 1892 on George street and made that thoroughfare look like an exaggerated view of the Seugog River.

There are 14 poles to be removed. The gang first removed the big pole at the southwest corner of George and Brock streets.

Our older readers will remember that in 1892, the G.N.W. Co had a row of 30 foot poles where the present unsightly monsters stand. When the Ontario Telephone Co., that had its exchange in the Snowden Block, on Simcoe street, got a spasmodic fit of misapplied ambition, and began business, they used their local influence and got the council to allow them to replace the small telegraph poles with the big ones. The understanding between the Ontario Co. and the Telegraph Co., was that the latter should retain use of the top 11 feet of the then new poles.

The wires and cables carried on the cross arms of the poles being removed, will be now brought up Charlotte street for distribution.

These poles are as good practically at their butts, as when placed on George street. The company, we understand is arranging to sell them to the Dominion Government for use along the canal. They are now worth $1.00 a foot although bought at 10 cents per foot.

VOTE FOR VERMONT MARBLE COMPANY BYLAW TODAY AND BOOST PETERBOROUGH

If We are to Have a "Live" City, Location of New Industries in Our Midst Must be Encouraged--Peterborough's Prosperity Hinges Upon Its Industrial Growth--Representative Citizens Endorse The Bylaw

To-day is the time for voting on the Vermont Marble Co. by-law, and every ratepayer who recognizes that the acquisition of new industries is indispensable if we are to have a "live" city will vote for tae measure. Peterborough is entering upon an indistrial era; several desirable industries have located here within the past 12 or 15 months, others are enquiring into our advantages for location, and everything indicates that Mr. D. W. Dumble's prophecy that within a few years this city will boast of a population of at least 50,000 will be realized. But we must not turn down so substantial a firm as the Vermont Marble Co. if we are to continue along the road for expansion we have already entered upon; if we do, the industrial advancement of this city will be set back several years. Therefore, The Times earnestly advises its readers who have a vote to cast that vote to-day FOR the Vermont Marble Co. by-law.

This journal has already published full information in regard to the Vermont Marble Co. proposition. Suffice it to say here that the company employs between three and four thousand hands in the States, is a millionaire firm, capitalized at six and half million dollars, and the biggest industry of its kind in the world. They are going to establish a branch in Canada to avoid the duty on their finished product, and to facilitate the handling of their Canadian trade, which is growing to big proportions. The city is to give them a free site in East City, and the customary exemption. This site is now paying $25 a year in taxes, and the taxes for school rates and local improvements which the company will pay on their initial plant will amount to $150 a year. The cost of acquiring this very desirable industry for Peterborough will represent seven and a fraction of a cent on each $1.00 assessment annually for ten years; so small that no property owner will feel it as a burden upon him. The most representative of our citizens are endorsing the measure, and join with this paper in urging a big majority vote to-day in favor of the Vermont Marble Co. Industrial By-law.

IS NOT GERMANY'S WAR TALK INSPIRED BY MAKERS OF ARMS?

In Order to Goad France and Germany to Larger Expenditures, Says This Socialist

Berlin, April 21.—Herr Liebknecht Socialist leader in the Reichstag, has made additional charges against German manufacturers of arms and ammunition, supplementing the statement he made yesterday in the Reichstag. He declared that French capitalists were interested in German cannon and gun concerns, and that the warlike newspaper stories in both France and Germany were inspired by the manufacturers to goad on both nations to larger expenditures.

He declared that he could furnish documentary proofs that the Krupps bribed army officers to reveal the figures of rival bidders for Government business.

Washington Anxious to Prevent Minority From Introducing Many Amendments, Comes Up Wednesday

Washington, April 21. The Democratic tariff bill as amended by the House caucus was reintroduced in the House to-day and will be called up for general debate Wednesday. The House Rules' Committee is considering a resolution to limit the time for discussion and the number of amendments, aiming to put the bill through to its passage as rapidly as possible. A resolution offered in the caucus would limit debate to eight legislative days, the number of amendments to each schedule to two and permit only two amendments to the bill as a whole. That was designed to prevent prolonged delay by the introduction by the minority of numerous amendments to each schedule when the bill is taken up under the five minute rule. Should that resolution pass, it is estimated that at least five weeks will be required for House consideration of the bill

TIMES REPRESENTATIVE AT METROPOLITAN OPERA

A Times representative who has just returned from New York, describes in glowing terms his experience at the Metropolitan Opera House, as the special matinee on Thursday, April 17. The occasion was a splendid rendition of Grand Opera, the play being Die Zauberflote (the magic flute) given in German. The opera was in two acts with 14 tableaux, the latter being a revelation in modern scenic effects.

Our representative, who stated the truism that the Metropolitan is New York's most celebrated headquarters for Grand Opera, remarked that the big audience applauded to the echo the various exponents of the muse.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 35c. and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 35c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 326 George St., directly opposite Cressman's store.

BRENT INHERITANCE

Case Made Lawyer Famous and Happy.

By HAROLD CARTER.

"Yes, the Brent case made me famous, I suppose," said the old lawyer thoughtfully. "At any rate, I am sure that it was the foundation of my fortunes. Also, it gave me more real happiness than any case I have undertaken. You see, young Mrs. Brent deserved the inheritance. If ever any woman deserved one. She had actually redeemed her husband, had made a man of him—but let me tell the story in my own way.

"Theodore Brent was one of those pompous, self-sufficient, heartless, and withal scrupulously honest men whom Massachusetts used to turn out in the middle of the last century—a sort of transplanted survival of the John Bull type. I believe it is still flourishing in the old country. He had two sons, Ralph and Jack. Ralph inherited his father's business instincts and was slated for succession to the company after the father's death. Jack was a spendthrift, a wild young fellow, who was dismissed from Harvard, drank, gambled, and broke his father's heart—what there was of it. Withal, he had done nothing worthy of being disinherited. However, his father sent him west for five years to make a man of himself, failing success in which operation the money was to go entirely to the elder brother.

"When Jack Brent wrote home, a couple of years later, that he was married to an actress, the father, with the old prejudice against the stage, wrote back informing his younger son that he had cut him out of his will for good and all. He politely invited him to go to the devil and told him never to show his face in the east again.

"Ralph was not quite so quiet as his father imagined. In fact, where Jack was open-hearted and open-handed, Ralph was close-fisted and secretive, and that was mainly the difference between them. Jack had never had a chance. When old age softened the old man's acerbity somewhat Ralph began to initiate him into the pleasures of life. Among other things, he inspired him with a passion for motor-cars. A strange fancy in an old man—but we lawyers are used to these strange streaks in human nature.

"They were on an automobile tour when the accident occurred. The car ran into a ditch somewhere along the boundary between two states of the middle west, and both men were killed. Witnesses proved that the father died instantly, while Ralph Brent lived just ten minutes longer than his father.

"That was where I came into the story. For the will was so drawn that if the father died first all the property—valued at about six millions—went to the son and his heirs. As there were no heirs this meant that some distant relatives would inherit it. If the elder son died first the will became null and void, and the property went to Jack, who was then ranching in California. His wife had made him a successful man in a small way—but I wanted her to get the money with all my heart. And I did not want it to go to the flock of vultures who came out of the uttermost parts of Massachusetts, greedily demanding their moiety. You see, I had sought out and found Mrs. Jack, and her soft voice and gentle ways went right into my heart, and stayed there. And the thing that most astonished me was that she did not seem to care whether she got the money or not.

"Well, the case came up for trial. Ferdinand Quipp, the famous legal light, appeared for the claimants, and the decision seemed inevitable. Witness after witness swore that Ralph Brent had survived his father by several minutes. I went home feeling pretty blue the evening after the other side had rested its case; and yet, the harder I thought, and the more hopeless our chances seemed, the more I determined that Mrs. Jack Brent should get what ought to have been coming to her.

"We had offered to compromise for a quarter share, and our offer had been most impolitely laughed at. The claimants seemed sure of their case, as did Quipp, who bullied Mrs. Jack unmercifully, dragged out her past into the light, and called her a designing actress and a worthless schemer—much to the delight of the opposing party.

"As I've said, I went home and thought and thought and thought, and at last—I don't know why—I got out my big map of the United States and pored over it. Then I got my state map and pored over that. I had hoped to create some effect by the point which I had noted—namely, that the two men had died in different states. In fact the road was the dividing line. Ralph Brent fell into one state and the father in an adjoining one. But that didn't seem of any particular value—merely curious.

"I dozed off in my chair—and suddenly the significance of those maps came to me in the middle of a dream in which Quipp and I were fighting for the possession of a ghostly carbureter which persisted in trying to get into Quipp's pocket. I jumped up, yelling like a madman.

"'Your Honor,' I said, next day, 'the defence will bring forward no witnesses. We accept the contention that the father died before the son. But I wish to point out that they died in different states.'

"Here I brought out a map and cross-examined a few of the witnesses of the other party. Nobody saw the significance of the event.

"'What is your point?' asked the judge impatiently.

"'This,' I answered. 'These states are divided on some maps by a thin line of red. It does not run parallel with any meridian—it is a purely arbitrary line, zigzagging from right to left as men have drawn it. It signifies that the standard time is one hour later on one side of the boundary than on the other. So the father died some fifty minutes after the son.'

"And the court went wild.

"Yes, I don't mind admitting that we compromised rather than fight the matter out in the higher courts. But it was for half and half, not three-quarters and a quarter. I said that this case was the foundation of my fortunes, didn't I? You see, after Jack Brent died I—Oh pshaw! come home to dinner and let me introduce you to my wife. But don't mention the Brent case to her."

THE HOLY GRAAL AND ITS HISTORY

Much Doubt as to the Authenticity of Legends Surrounding Supposed Priceless Cup

An interesting account appeared in a Paris paper of the Holy Graal, which is preserved in the Church of St. Lawrence at Genoa. It is a large green cup, presumably hexagonal which, according to popular belief, was used at the Last Supper, and was requisitioned at the Crucifixion. But it seems to have a history far anterior to that great event, and it is claimed for it that it was a present from the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon.

At all events, it seems to have been in Genoa since 1101, when it was given by a knight who brought it from the Holy Land when he returned from the First Crusade. It formed part of the booty which fell into the hands of the Crusaders at the siege of Cæsarea. For a long time up to 1476 it was not allowed to be touched, not even to adorn it with precious stones which the faithful were desirous of offering. This rigour, was not due to piety, but there was a fear among the citizens that should the cup be broken pilgrims would cease to visit Genoa.

The cup was at one time believed to have been cut from an enormous emerald. For a long time the vessel was kept in a steel box, and was taken out only once a year. Then it was lifted by silken cords, and placed by the Archbishop on the High Altar for veneration. After the fifteenth century, according to the chronicles of the day, many fetes were held in honor of the vessel, which attracted thousands of pilgrims, not only from Italy, but from other countries. La Condamine examined the cup, and he declared that it was of glass.

It was brought to Paris by Napoleon, who was persuaded of its intrinsic value. On being submitted to the Institute, La Condamine's view was upheld. But the verdict of the scientists was kept a profound secret. There were several reasons for this. It was thought that if the Genoese learned that it was only glass they would be less anxious to ransom it. By some means the secret ceased to be such, and in 1815 the Genoese got it back at pretty much their own price.

$25 FOR EVERY BABY

Australians Ridicule Commonwealth Maternity Allowance

Press and public in Australia make fun of the Commonwealth Maternity Allowance Act, which provides for the payment of $25 to every woman who gives birth to a child either in Australia or on board a ship proceeding from one port of the Commonwealth to another.

It has been calculated that if the $25 were claimed for every baby born for example, in the State of South Australia in a year, it would absorb more than half the State land tax.

Fortunately for Australia's financial position there seems to be too much independence among the citizens of the Commonwealth for full advantage to be taken of the Act. Very few applications have been made for the bounty during the short time it has been in force.

RECENT INVENTIONS

A new ceiling rosette for electric lights has a shock absorber concealed within it.

A leather covered metal tube which may be slipped along a closed umbrella to roll it tight is an English invention.

Invented by a Cuban but built in Switzerland, a new cigaret machine will turn out 600 perfect cigarets a minute.

Tungsten lamp filaments will last longer if a weak current be kept running through them, enough to keep them at a dull red.

A Sturdy Centenarian

"It's a grand thing to be alive and have good health." Is the philosophy of Mr. William Brown, of Mottingham Farm, near Eltham, England, who maintains towards life an outlook of invincible optimism, and who is now over 102 years old.

"I eat well and sleep well," he confessed, "and can smoke my cigar and take my glass of grog with any man. I'm getting a trifle more dull in my ears, but it comforts me to know I never turned a deaf ear to any one who were in want. I am glad to think there are some to-day who are better off because I gave them a helping hand."

Mr. Brown, when he grows reminiscent, has memories worth the telling. Among his early acquaintances was George Stephenson, the great engineer. "the best of all the G.'s" he calls him. "I had many a talk with him, and helped him to make the railway from Liverpool to Chester and helped him to unload the first engine that ran on the Great Western at Maidenhead."

Mr. Brown's memory is as good as his health. He recalls that he earned his first money when at the age of eleven years, he worked on the construction of the first railway from Chester to Liverpool. He was a keen and industrious worker, and later, as a contractor, he laid a line of railway from Erith to Woolwich.

Mr. Brown is very proud of the fact that he rose entirely without influence, by his own unaided efforts. He took Mottingham Farm in 1883. Thirty years ago he started a "Beggars' Rest," where he gave a night's lodging to destitute wayfarers.

The old gentleman is farming 500 acres of land rented from the Crown, and in addition to this at one time he worked a farm of 400 acres, and never kept an account or put a figure on paper. Yet he knew his expenditure and income to a penny. "You can," he said, "if you keep things in your own hands and be master in your own house." Mr. Brown was born in Buckinghamshire.

CIVILIZATION FATAL

Whiskey, Soap and the Bible not Good for Eskimos

Vilhjalmur Stefanson, the Arctic explorer, and discoverer of the blond Eskimo tribes in the Coronation Gulf region of Canda, wants to keep all kinds of civilization, including religion, away from them. He fears their extinction from measles or some other contagious disease, if civilization gets to them, and he wants the Canadian Government to issue a proclamation of perpetual quarantine of the whole district in which the blue-eyed and fair-haired aborigines are now roaming.

DECLINES TO SUICIDE

Late Mikado's Physician Does Not Like the Old Fashion

The doctor who attended the Emperor of Japan in his last illness is finding himself in difficulties because he will not satisfy the demands of that circle in Tokio which still clings to old ideas. These persons, who were much impressed by General Nogi's suicide, demand that the doctor also shall kill himself, but he declines to do so. It has been explained to him that he will be held in dishonor if he does not follow the example of Nogi, but all the persuasion and indignation leave him unmoved. It was not his fault, he says, if the emperor died. He declares that he was unable to attend the Mikado as he should have done owing to the court etiquette, and added that if the emperor had followed his advice and abstained from alcoholic drinks he would still be alive.

Killed While Fencing

While fencing with a fellow playmate at Enfield Grammar School, James Crichton, aged 14, of Bush Hill Park, was accidentally killed.

Crichton was playing with foils with another boy named Howard in the school gymnasium. Howard, during the combat, retreated before a lunge made by Crichton, and by a mischance Howard's weapon struck Crichton just under the eyebrow, entering the brain. The boys were not wearing masks.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The home was woman's sphere until the moving picture show came and created another.

Is it not funny that Peterborough has a crackerjack baseball team until it begins to play with the other teams.

Success in the men's hunger strike in the jail at Denver is less assured than that of the London militants. But meals mean more to men.

With the Chinese government asking the prayers of all the Christian churches, we ought soon to hear less mention of the "heathen Chinee."

In addition to making Brussels carpets and raising Belgian hares, the little kingdom of Belgium is demonstrating its ability to produce a very serious strike.

The suffragets want the marriage service changed so that the man may be "given away" as well as the bride. But why not the service explain that the man who marries one of their number throws himself away.

Mrs. Julia Blatch, a lady uplifter of Boston, says that what every man needs a wife who will tell him what to do. Well, well, well! Since we come to think of it, that is the kind of wife every man has. Telling him what to do is her strong suit.

The Examiner printed an item the other day about a cat that thought it could play the piano. The readers of this great family journal will agree with us that it is a more desirable animal to have around the house than a cat that thinks it can sing.

The release from a London jail of Miss Zelie Emerson, the American suffraget, may be explained by the fact that she constantly sang "John Brown's Body" in a loud and rasping voice. It was more than the warden and the jailers could stand.

A palatial hospital for dumb animals is to be erected in New York City by the Women's League for Animals. It will contain an operating room for dogs, padded, cells for horses with blind staggers, apartments for sick cats, a kitchen for preparing food for animal patients, and a roof garden or paddock where animals recovering from sickness or operations may have the benefit of fresh air.

DOWN IN MEXICO.

Mexico has figured a little less in the news for the past few weeks, for even Mexico cannot provide a first-class revolution or a presidential assassination month after month indefinitely, but this does not mean a resumption of peaceful and prosperous conditions. In the capital the air is full of rumors and nobody knows what horrors the spirit of intrigue is yet to work there. Provisional President Huerta and Gen. Felix Diaz have been in control of things since the bloody coup of a few weeks ago, but it has been a joint control that could not long continue without friction. Two such men might keep up the appearance of friendship and co-operation for a time, but in the nature of things each would be suspicious and jealous of the other. There would be plots, counter-plots, and then one would suddenly take a short cut toward getting rid of his rival, with a result that the former desperate conditions would be renewed.

The prospects of self-government in Mexico in the near future are far from bright, yet the country has not shown that it is wholly unfitted for self-government. The best it can hope for is an intelligent dictator who will root out anarchy and give the people a chance to settle down to business in peace. Later it may learn the lesson of freedom.

SAINTS, SINNERS, AND SIR WILFRID.

We have always understood that a man was not eligible for canonization while still alive. Why then should Sir Wilfrid's admirers demand that he be canonized, not only while living, but while still fighting lustily on the firing line? Why should Sir Wilfrid be allowed to escape criticism for acts, which if done by another would call forth the severest censure? Sir Wilfrid Laurier's admirers are of course at liberty to indulge in the most ardent adoration and to persuade themselves if they can that their King can do no wrong but we refuse to be coerced into bending the knee to their Baal and they should not expect us to do so. Sir Wilfrid has many good qualities. He has been a successful politician. He has a pleasant personality, a keen instinct for dramatic effect, a profound knowledge of what will tell in a play to the gallery and an eloquence that appeals to a public gathering. He is in fine a picturesque figure in our politics and under ordinary circumstances we should be loth to disturb the dreams of his idolators by a word which would seem to disparage their idol, but when we are asked to treat him as Sacro sanct; when we are asked to bow the knee to him as one not made of common clay, then we are forced to remember that he is a political leader who has been carrying on a campaign of unblushing obstruction for weeks; who has contrary to the constitution been endeavoring to defeat the will of the people; who has been boasting through his henchmen that the majority will not and cannot rule and who has been generally indulging in the antics of a naughty and irresponsible boy. When we remember all this we are constrained to say to his idolators if your idol goes to battle he must accept the fortunes of war like any other fighting man and while you are welcome to adore, you must not complain if we on our side critisize. Surely to take any other course is to put good Sir Wilfrid on the same level as the shrill termagant who kicks and screams and then says "You daren't touch me because I am a woman." No, Sir Wilfrid, is not yet canonized and must take his share of hard knocks like any other sinner. We trust it will be long before Sir Wilfrid complies with the first requisite of canonization for, political acrobat though we believe him to be, he yet has many likeable qualities. We hope however, that the "Noli me tangere" attitude will be dropped and that Sir Wilfrid will stand and take his medicine like a man, especially when it is medicine of his own prescribing.

New Treatment Now Advocated for Bronchitis

Is Having Wonderful Success, and is Making Most Remarkable Cures

For bronchitis a different form of treatment is now advocated. It consists of a scientifically devised vapor that penetrates to the uttermost recesses of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Every spot that is sore, every surface that is irritated is at once bathed with soothing balsams and healing essences that make chronic bronchitis an impossibility.

This treatment now so universally employed in bronchitis, throat troubles, colds, etc., is called CATARRHOZONE. It acts just as air of the pine woods acts, as a healing antiseptic remedy for all diseases of the breathing organs.

Just think of it—a remedy that can be carried with the very air you breathe to the seat of bronchial or catarrhal inflammation. A remedy powerful enough to kill germ life and yet so healing that disease flees before it. Catarrhozone is truly a wonderful remedy. In many lands it has lands it has won its way, and is affording grand results to sufferers from colds, catarrh, throat weakness, asthma and bronchitis. There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c., sample size, 25c., all storekeepers and druggists, or The Ctarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CANADA EXPORTS HUGE FUR CATCH

The Far North Still Abounds in all Kinds of Valuable Wild Animals

Seven hundred and twenty five thousand dollars was the value of furs brought to Edmonton from the north country and transshipped in one week recently to London, Paris, St. Petersburg, New York, and Boston. The Hudson's Bay Co. headed the list, with $375,000 worth of furs, Revillon Brothers had $150,000, the Northern Trading Company $100,000, and independent fur traders make up the balance. The skins were of the highest quality and were in the best of condition.

There were several silver fox skins, each valued at from $1,250 to $1,500, and others ranging in value from $500 to $1,000. The catch of fox furs was larger than in former years. The other skins were marten, mink, beaver, fox, bear, deer of various kinds and muskrat. Most of the furs were from the country north and east of Slave Lake and the Mackenzie River, and from the Peace River district and the northern portion of the Provinces of Alberta and British Columbia.

Indians are the principal hunters in the northerly posts of the trading companies, although a number of white men are engaged in the business. The average catch for an experienced trapper is valued at from $1,500 to $2,000 a season, though at times the hunter earns from two to three times that amount by taking silver foxes, which are not only rare, but also difficult to lure to the baited traps. The Chippewyan Indians, who are the chief hunters for the Hudson's Bay Company, make their largest catches in the Great Slave Lake district, where the country is as wild and unpeopled as Nature left it centuries ago.

SIR HENRY M. PELLATT

Some Side-Lights on the Career of One of Canada's Big Men

A man who has acheived notable success in Canada's financial circles is Sir Henry M. Pellatt of Toronto. He it was who accomplished the plan of bringing power from Niagara Falls to the city of Toronto for use for street railway purposes, and also for lighting the streets and houses of the citizens, and he became president of the companies formed for that purpose, the Electrical Development Company and the Toronto and Niagara Power Company; he is also president of the Toronto Electric Light Company, and is upon the directorate of a number of important Canadian enterprises, such as the Dominion Steel Corporation, the Toronto Railway Company, the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, the British American Assurance Company, and a number of others.

A native of Toronto, born in 1860, he is the son of Henry Pellatt, who, on crossing the Atlantic from England to Canada, became a resident of Toronto and in due course of time figured prominently in the financial world as the senior partner of the famous stock broking firm of Pellatt & Osler.

Henry Mill Pellatt was educated in Upper Canada College and received his business training under his father's direction, entering the office and becoming thoroughly familiar with the stock brokerage business in principle and detail. Upon the dissolution of the firm of Pellatt & Osler in 1882 he was admitted to a partnership by his father under the firm name of Pellatt & Pellatt.

Sir Henry has been one of the foremost men in Canada to encourage every description of manly, outdoor sports, games and pastimes. He himself is a fine practical sportsman. As a youth he was an expert at many games and forms of athletics and was the American amateur champion runner at a mile, having won that much coveted title in a competition held in New York City against all contestants on the American continent. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman and fisherman, and is also a most ardent supporter of horticulture.

Sir Henry Pellatt is moreover a prominent figure in military circles. In his youth he became a private of the Queen's Own Rifles, the largest volunteer corps in the Dominion, and with this Regiment has since been associated, retiring but recently with the rank of Colonel. He is, now Brigadier in Command of the 6th Infantry Brigade. In 1910 his broad outlook showed him a way of promoting his strong imperialistic ideas, and at his own expense, which must have been very heavy, he took his Regiment, the Queen's Own Rifles, consisting of over 600 men, to England to take part in the manœuvres of the British Army at Aldershot. While there he was sent for by the King to Balmoral Castle in Scotland, and received from him the distinction of Commander of the Victorian Order.

At the Coronation of King George V. Sir Henry and Lady Pellatt were given seats in Westminster Abbey, and Sir Henry received an appointment for special military duty in the grand procession the day following.

Were Tried and Stood the Test

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MAKING A REPUTATION IN THE WEST.

Saskatchewan Man Tells How They Cured Him, After Four Month's Suffering from Backache and Other Forms of Kidney Disease.

St. Phillips, Sask., April 21.—(Special)—In a new country, where changes of climate and impure water are among the difficulties to be surmounted, kidney trouble is prevalent. It is the kidneys, the organs that strain the impurities out of the blood, that first feel any undue strain on the body. Consequently, Dodd's Kidney Pills have been well tried and tested in this neighborhood.

They have stood the test. Many settlers tell of backache, rheumatism and urinary troubles cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Otto Olshewski is one of these. In speaking of his cure he says:

"I suffered from kidney disease for four months. My back ached, I had heart flutterings, and was always tired and nervous. My skin had a harsh, dry feeling; my limbs were heavy; and I had a dragging sensation across the loins.

"I consulted a doctor, but as I did not appear to improve, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used six boxes, and now I am all right.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always stand the test. Ask your neighbors.

The secret of frying fish crisp and brown, without either egge or bread crumbs, is to dry it well, dredge both sides with plenty of flour and plunge it into boiling fat. Be sure the fat is boiling and that there is plenty of it.

Lace curtains should soak for two hours before washing in cold water to which a little borax has been added. They are much easier to wash afterwards, and this rids them of the smell of smoke and dust.

SPRUCE IN THE LEAD

But Balsam Fir is Much Used for Pulp—Tremendous Waste

Spruce continues to hold its place as the most important of Canadian pulp woods. According to a bulletin of the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, over four fifths of the wood consumed in the pulp industry is of this species. Balsam fir, hemlock and poplar, together, make up twenty per cent. of the total consumption. The Province of Quebec is at the head of the provinces in the pulp industry, consuming 58 per cent. of the total pulpwood cut. Ontario uses nearly one-third, and New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and British Columbia together consume approximately one-fifteenth of the total.

Balsam fir is coming more generally into use as a pulpwood. It has been found that up to forty per cent. of this species can be used with spruce to produce good paper.

The mechanical process, from which the bulk of newspaper stock is made, continues to be the main source of pulp supply with 60.4 per cent. of the total Canadian product. The sulphite process consumed nearly one-third, and the remainder (nearly eight per cent.), was manufactured by the soda process. This last is the method by which kraft paper, now coming largely into use, is made.

It is estimated that if the material which goes to waste in the woods and mills of the Dominion were made into pulp the product would be greater in amount than at present made from the regular cut.

CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY. LIMITED

Incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act and subject to Part XI thereof.

Capital Divided Into 1,000,000 Shares at $1.00 Par Value

600,000 Shares in the Treasury.

The Trial Shipments of Ore made by this Company gives returns of

$38.10 PER TON GOLD

The ore was sent to Campbell & Deyell, at Cobalt.

The Company owns four claims of forty acres each, in the Pain Killer Lake District, a Gold Camp of great promise. The property is located nine miles from the railway station at Matheson, with a good winter road.

Equipment: 3 drill compressors, hoist, 45-horse-power boiler, 2 drills, blacksmith's shop, and all necessary tools and appliances, sleeping and eating camp to accommodate twenty men, stabling for five horses, buildings for compressor and boiler house; all these have been paid for and the only debts the Company have are practically current accounts.

VEINS: Eight veins have been located, nearly all carrying free gold. On L, 1891, there is a dyke averaging fifteen feet wide, running right across the claim. Assays were made from this averaging $30.90. TWO ASSAYS WERE TAKEN FROM CLAIM NO. 16353½ GIVING $5562.00 PER TON AND $1326.00 IN GOLD AND $6.00 IN SILVER respectively. The first assay was made by THE CANADA METAL CO., Ltd., of Toronto, and the second by Milton Hersey Co., Limited, of Montreal. None of the samples taken were picked. The shaft is down about forty feet and between seventeen feet and forty. FORTY-THREE ASSAYS WERE MADE AVERAGING $71.40 A TON.

It is intended to sink the shaft to the seventy-five foot level, which will make the bottom of the shaft on a level with where the $5562.00 and $1326.00 sample was taken from. The vein on the surface of this shaft was two inches and has gradually widened to about thirty. The properties are heavily timbered and adjoining the lake; have plenty of water for mining purposes.

Development work has demonstrated the property to be of such value that the directors have decided to order a five stamp mill at once. A small amount of stock is offered to the public at sixty cents a share, to furnish funds for future development work and to install the mill. Twenty men are employed on the property and working steadily. A thousand tons of ore are ready for the mill that will average over $50.00 Gold to the ton and enough ore is blocked out that will keep the mill running for several months.

THE CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, are well-known among mining men. We advise the immediate purchase for an early advance. Money does not have to be spent in hunting for the ore, as they have plenty, and all they require is a mill to stamp out the Gold and return dividends to the stockholders.

The button, from the assay made, can be seen at this office, along with the assay papers, also samples of the ore. Do not lose this opportunity to reap handsome dividends that should accrue to the investors of this stock.

The management of this highly developed property now well on towards maturity, is one whose efficiency has already been proven.

AN INVESTMENT, NOT A SPECULATION.

You can now buy at 60 CENTS A SHARE, par value $1.00. This stock will be advanced to 75 CENTS ON MAY 1st.

43 assays were made from the shaft, averaging over $70.00 gold to the ton.

Mines with a 5-stamp mill are making $500.00 profit a day. There is no reason why CARTWRIGHT GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, when the stamp mill is installed, should not make $1,000.00 per day profit and pay big dividends to the lucky shareholders.

$ 60.00 buys ..... 100 shares.
$120.00 buys ..... 200 shares.
$300.00 buys ..... 500 shares.

The Company have demonstrated that they have the ore and all they have to do is to get the mill installed and produce the gold. Buy before the advance in price.

BASEBALL

Lindsay's town league executive is now sure of four teams for the season. They are Collegiate Institute, Business College, Beal's and Horn's.

On account of the inability of Abbie Johnson of St. Catharines, to gather a professional team, the Peterborough White Caps will train at Preston.

The signed contract of Jack White, outfielder of the White Caps, has arrived and all is well. White says he will report at Preston on Thursday next.

Eddie St. Pere, the secretary of the "Big Four" Lacrosse League, will probably be the star official again this season. His cry of "Hold your heads, boys and play the game," has often saved many a player a fine. He is popular with all the players and did excellent work last summer.

San Francisco, April 21.—Baseball rooting may not be classed legally among "loud and unnecessary" noises, Such, in effect, is the ruling announced to-day bf the City Attorney on the protest of a local hospital against the proposed location of a ne wCoast League ball park in the vicinity of the institution. An ordinance designed to protect hospitals was cited but the City Attorney held that it referred only to street noises incident to traffic.

CRICKET.

The annual meeting of the Norwood Cricket Club was held recently, when the following officers were elected for the coming year:—

Hon. Pres.—Dr. S. P. Ford.
President—Mr. J. B. Pearce.
Vice-President—Mr. J. R. McKelvie.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. K. G. Thomson.
Manager—Mr. J. F. Pearce.
Captain—Mr. William Stares.
Executive—Messrs. George Mills, A. Kempt and F. B. Garlick.

A well-attended meeting of the Ontario Cricket Association, held at the Walker House, Toronto, and presided over by President Kirwan Martin of Hamilton, plans were formulated for the coming season, which it is expected will be the most successful in the history of the organization. It was decided to divide the clubs at present forming the O.C.A. into divisions, from each of which will be selected the elevens to contest in the match at Rosedale on July 30. This match will form the preliminary from which will be selected the players to constitute the Ontario team that will battle against Quebec some time in August. The divisions are are follows:

LACROSSE.

Two hundred dollars was set aside by the D. L. A. at their meeting to buy medals for the teams that wins the championship this season.

The only division where interest in Canada's national game does not seem alive is the C.P.R. line, Orangeville to Owen Sound. With Blaney McGuire, past president of the O.L.A., at Orangeville which was one of the best towns on the map for lacrosse, and Tom Nevings, ex-councillor of the C.L.A., at Owen Sound, this ought to be a hotbed for lacrosse. Get busy and let Orangeville, Shelburne, Dundalk, Markdale and Owen Sound be heard from.

The Dominion Lacrosse Association met in Toronto and after a long conference with Con. Jones, of Vancouver, and Lionel Yorke, of Victoria, entered into an agreement with the Coast moguls in regard to the reservation of players. This agreement Mr. Jones will submit to the Westminster Club at a meeting of the Coast League to be held on Saturday, April 26th, and if Westminster are satisfied with the terms of the arrangement, lacrosse players will be under the same rules that are in force in baseball. Players will belong to the clubs for which they played last year and if they are not wanted they will be released or sold to another team in the "Big Four" or Coast League. There will be no war even if Westminster fail to see the benefits of an agreement, because if they do not enter into the Commission Vancouver and Victoria will play without them and next fall the champions of the "Big Four" will go to the Coast to compete with the winners of the Western League.

HOT BREAKFAST MEANS MUCH

Success or Failure of the Day Depends to a Large Extent on First Meal.

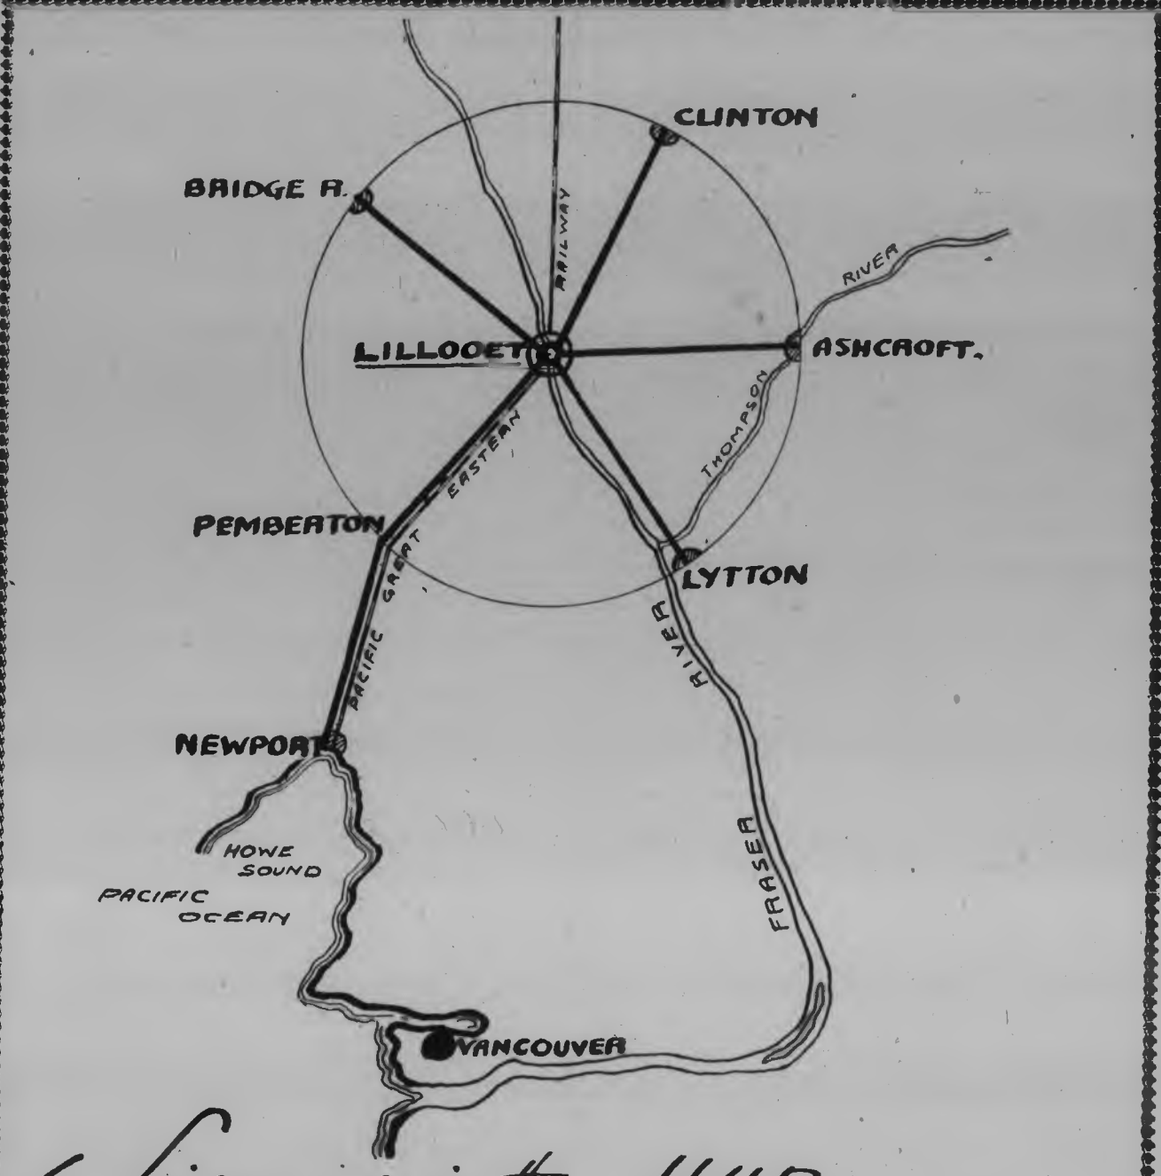
When a singularly successful business man was asked the secret of getting on in the world, he modestly said his wife deserved most of the credit, as she always had a good breakfast ready for him every day in the year, served punctually and piping hot. He further said that poor food, especially in the morning, was responsible for many business failures, for the man who sets out on a cold morning with cold, indifferent food in his stomach is ill-prepared for the business battle. It takes time and planning, but it pays to serve good breakfasts. It means getting up early enough to insure against rushing about and fretting when things go wrong, but the wise woman counts it no sacrifice to send her husband off cheery and well fed. There are plenty of ways in which a woman without help may manage, and even if she keeps a maid she will find plenty to oversee and correct day after day. The women who rise early to get breakfast for their husbands unite in saying there are possibilities in the early morning hours realized later in the day. When other women are sleepily getting up, the thrifty housekeepers have their morning work done and are ready to get the children off to school. There would be fewer failures in school work if all children were sent to the school room well fed in the morning. If they were aroused in time to dress leisurely and eat a hearty breakfast there would be fewer cases of nervous prostration among teachers. A cup of hot cocoa, a poached egg, good toast and well-cooked cereal served to the entire family in the morning and eaten in a leisurely manner would rob hospitals of many patients and give doctors and surgeons extra vacations every year.

Theories About Rainfall.

While we in this country have been suffering for some years from a lack of rain, some parts of Europe appear, according to statistics, to be getting more rain every year.

Observations at the Observatory of Paris show that from 1804 to 1824 the average yearly rainfall was 502 millimeters (an inch is about 25 millimeters). In the next twenty years the average was 507; then from 1845 to 1872 there was an increase to 525; in the next twenty years it was 553, and in the last nineteen years the average has grown to 584 millimeters—about 23½ inches.

The commonest theory to account for this is that the smoke and dust rising from a large city favor the condensation of moisture. But this theory runs counter to the experience of London, the smokiest city of Europe, where no such increased rainfall is recorded.



And in some of the mountainous regions of France the increase has been as much as 73 per cent., as compared with thirty years ago.

Worse and More of it.

"Concord! Concord!" shouted the brakeman, as the train pulled into the station during a tremendous outburst of thunder and lightning.

The clever woman grasped her umbrella firmly.

"Not only conquered," she ejaculated, "but taken by storm!"—Youth's Companion.

Like Ontario's System

Two State Commissions, from California and Maryland respectively looked into Ontario's system of handling prison reform methods as exemplified by the prison farm in Guelph and their verdict was:

"Ontario has spoken the last word in prison reformatory methods,' at least so far as we have yet met, and we have been on the work for some time. The working of the institution and the results attained are a revelation." Both the above named states contemplate the reorganization of prison methods along the lines of Ontario's system.

Backward Spain

As the result of an investigation ordered by King Alfonso, the Minister of the Interior reported that sixty per cent. of the land in Spain is uncultivated, and 38 per cent. is utterly without irrigation. The report showed that 4,500 villages are without roads or railroads, 30,000 towns and villages have no schools, and 12,000,000 of Spain's 17,000,000 inhabitants can neither read nor write.

Bluing Steel

A fine and fairly permanent blue is obtained on polished steel goods by immersing in fused black oxide of manganese one part, nitre nine parts. When sufficiently blued, they are partially cooled in water, then entirely in linseed oil.

Removing Rust From Iron

Rust on iron or steel goods may be easily removed if the goods are first soaked in a hot caustic soda or hot caustic potash solution. This softens the rust so that it is much more rapidly and effectually removed than by the acid pickle. The method, although old, is generally satisfactory.

ABOUT THE POTATO

The Irish potato is not Irish at all in its origin. As a matter of fact it was not known in Europe until after Columbus had discovered America. It is also native to South America and grows wild both in Chile and Buenos Ayres.

It was first shipped to Spain from the neighborhood of Quito in the early part of the sixteenth century, first to England from Virginia in 1586. Sir Walter Raleigh first planted it in Ireland on his estate of Youghal, near the City of Cork. In 1587 it was first planted in Lancashire, England, from Sir Walter Raleigh's gardens.

Sir Walter Raleigh's experience was that he considered, with other people that the potato was a fruit (pomme de terre) "apple of the earth," and when the plant grew and the seed stock shot forth he perceived the seed balls upon them and concluded that they were the delicious fruit, and upon boiling them found they were not like what he had had, and only discovered his mistake when digging up the ground for other purposes.

Sir Walter upon experimenting found that treble the quantity of potatoes could be raised from the same parcel of ground as of any other vegetable, and immediately the potato became the principal food of the Irish peasantry.

Parmentiere, the great Frenchman, introduced the potato into France under great difficulties. He wanted the French people to adopt the potato as food, but they would not even taste it until conniving with the authorities he succeeded in fooling them into using the potato.

He planted a garden in potatoes and made a big "to do" about them until they were ripe. He then was allowed a detachment of soldiers to guard them. The common people got interested and stole the potatoes from the garden and France became a potato eating country.

DEPENDENT ON CANADA

Without Our Nickel the Big Navies of Europe Could Not Exist

"It has been discovered that Canada possesses the key to the European naval problem," according to an article in Conservation, the bulletin of the Dominion Government. "When Schneider, in 1889, introduced the use of nickel into the manufacture of steel armor plate he little realized that he was placing in Canada's hands a great means for maintaining the peace of the world.

"Battleships without nickel steel armor would be utterly helpless before modern guns. If nickel were no longer obtainable, armor construction would go back a quarter of a century.

"Canada to-day produces about ninety per cent. of the world's supply of nickel. Practically all of the remainder comes from New Caledonia, an island in the southwestern Pacific controlled by France.

"Consequently, if Canada were to prohibit the export of nickel, the nickel steel industry of Europe would fall into decay, and high-grade armor plate for battleships would be an impossibility."

NO NEED FOR SLUMS

Western Cities Given Good Advice by Eminent Nurse

As young as the prairie cities are, some of them have slums already, and others show signs of soon having them. This was the declaration at Edmonton, of Miss Mary Ard MacKenzie, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

In this respect, said Miss MacKenzie, Winnipeg was almost notorious, and Yorkton, Saskatchewan, had pronounced symptoms.

Miss Mackenzie advised the cities of the west to start right in their city building. She hates slums with all the vehemence of the woman who knows how disease is bred of pestilence and advocated a law providing that no more than a certain number should be allowed to sleep in and breathe the atmosphere of houses of defined cubic space.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1913, A. C. McClurg & Co.)

CHAPTER XXII.—They find Yup Soy and the Chinese consul awaiting them. Yup tells Clyde the story of the crime of the "Sable Lorcha," in which 27 Chinamen were deliberately sent to their death by one Donald M'Nish, whom they declare is Cameron.

CHAPTER XXIII.—They declare that M'Nish can be identified by a tattoo mark on his arm. Clyde declares that Cameron has no such mark. The nurse is called in and describes a tattoo mark on the patient's arm. Clyde goes to investigate and finds the patient attempting to hide a letter. It is addressed to Donald M'Nish.

CHAPTER XXIV.—The letter is from the man's mother in Scotland and identifies the patient as M'Nish.

CHAPTER XXV.—Confronted by the sole survivor of the Sable Lorcha—who, it develops is Soy, a half-breed Chinaman, recognized by Clyde as Johnson, the fisherman—M'Nish shoots him and kills himself.

CHAPTER XXVI.—Miss Clement gets the whole story from Soy before he dies. Murphy, whose right name is Moran, had been a partner of M'Nish in the nefarious Chinese trade and later became his most relentless pursuer. He was the author of the threatening letters. Soy was responsible for the mysterious happenings at Cameron's home by the aid of the ether of invisibility. Cameron was drugged and shipped as a member of the crew of a tramp steamer bound for Hong Kong.

"Over and over again. It was he who learned of the intention to take the cruise. At first they thought they would have to change their plans and carry their enemy off before he had a chance to take to his yacht. But Soy maintained that that would be too crude a method; whereas to let him think that he had escaped and was safe away, and then, at the very moment of his triumph, to snatch him from seeming security, would be the very refinement of cruelty the avenger so much desired. And so the properties were secured at some fabulous figure—I forgot just what they paid for that fast power boat—the scene was set, and the great act of the drama, with Soy still the star, was carried to a successful climax."

"But," I made question, "I don't see how Soy could take such a risk. If it had been McNish instead of Cameron, he certainly would have recognized him, when he was brought aboard from the disabled dory."

"He thought of that, but you must remember that in all those sixteen years McNish had never once seen Soy. He thought he had perished with the rest when the Sable Lorcha went down. And so Soy decided that in oilskins, apparently unconscious, in an open boat off the New England coast, there was not one chance in ten thousand that McNish would connect him with the cook he had left for dead in the South China sea."

"But McNish did recognize him as soon as he laid eyes on him in this house. I saw that myself, you know, Miss Clement. He recognized him and was terror stricken."

Miss Clement smiled tolerantly. She was armed at all points.

"You did not know, I suppose, Mr. Clyde, that that was not their first meeting," she explained. "Soy met McNish on the night you found him. It was he who assaulted him, somewhere about Seventh avenue and Fiftieth street, and would have killed him then had not the police arrived at the moment. The officers probably thought McNish was intoxicated and let him go, seeing that he could stand, and so he staggered on to Fifth avenue; and there you discovered him."

"No, I did not know that," I admitted, a little crestfallen. "What followed?"

"You remember I told you that Chinatown was in a state of frenzy the next day? You can understand now, why. Soy, of course, reported that McNish had escaped from the steamer—"

"What steamer?" I cried, suddenly realizing that the one really vital piece of information we should have obtained, had all this while been delayed. "What steamer? Did he give you the name of it?"

"In just a moment, Mr. Clyde," she said, with a smile that I confess exasperated me.

"Pardon me," I returned, insistently, "but you do not realize, I fear, what minutes even may mean in this matter."

"No," still very calm. "I really don't. The steamer has been at sea now twenty-five days. It is bound for Hong Kong. If there was a chance of overtaking it, I—"

"There's every chance of overtaking it," I interrupted once again. "Tomorrow, or next day, or even today, it may put into Rio. We must telegraph the United States Consulate at every possible port."

And then, for the first time, apparently, Miss Clement seemed to appreciate there was a real urgency.

"The steamer is the Glamorganshire," she said, quickly: "A freighter; a tramp, I suppose; bound for Hong Kong. She sailed on Wednesday, the twenty-eighth of last month, and Mr. Cameron was put aboard, half-drugged, as one of the crew."

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Tortoise and the Hare.

Although Miss Clement's interesting chapter of disclosures was by no means ended with the name of the steamer and its date of sailing, it there came, so far as I was concerned, at least, to an abrupt intermission. For, as though the delay and inaction of the past month but served to swell the flood of my eager energy, the tide, so long checked but now set free, careering like an unleashed spring freshet, overrode all barriers. With scant apology, I sprang to the telephone, and if Miss Clement continued her conversation with Dr. Addison, I was deaf to what she said.

What I sought, first of all, was corroboration. Did a steamship, named the Glamorganshire, sail for Hong Kong on October 28th? In less than five minutes, the facts were mine. Such a steamer had sailed for the east on that date. Her agents were Bartlett Brothers. Their offices were in the Produce Exchange Building.

Another minute, and Bartlett Brothers were on the wire. No, the Glamorganshire did not take the South American route. Her course was through the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal. She carried no passengers. She was British. She was very slow. She had called at the Azores and then at Gibraltar, where she had been delayed in coaling. Yes, she would make several Mediterranean ports. If all went well, she would reach Port Said about December 6th. Certainly not before that. Probably a day or so later.

I dare say it was exceptional that I secured all this information with so little trouble, and without giving any hint as to why I desired it, but merely on the statement that I was Mr. Clyde, of The Week.

So far as I could judge, the Glamorganshire would call at Algiers in a few days; and for a while I considered the advisability of communicating with the United States Consul at that port, through the State Department at Washington. But a knowledge of the tortuous involutions of official red tape deterred me. After all, I believed that if Cameron was to be rescued from the gruelling slavery of servitude on this British freighter, the work must not be intrusted to the personally disinterested.

Thereupon I consulted calendars, steamer schedules, and Continental time-tables. By the fast transatlantic liner sailing on the morrow, I could make Paris in six days. Forty-eight hours later I could be in Brindisi. If good fortune followed, less than four days more would land me at Port Said. It was now Monday, November 23. Twelve days hence would be December 5th, and the Glamorganshire, her agents had told me, could not possibly reach there before December 6th. The margin was not wide, but it seemed to me sufficient, and the thought of further inaction, now that the trail lay bare, was nothing less than unendurable torment.

Wisdom, I suppose, would have dictated the advisability of securing some badge of authority from my own government before setting forth on a mission involving so delicate a point of international maritime law as that which was here embraced; but the saving of time was with me, just then, the paramount consideration. The loss of a day meant the possible missing not only of connections, but of the main object of my journey; and so armed with nothing more potent than good health, strong determination, and a well-filled purse I boarded the Kronprinz Wilhelm and started on my diagonal race to head off a quarry which already had twenty-five days' start of me.

Speed being all-important, my wish was to travel alone and unencumbered, but at the last moment I was persuaded to consent to the company of both Evelyn Grayson and Dr. Addison. Realizing the brave, unfaltering assistance which the young woman had afforded me from the first, I could hardly refuse to gratify her wish to be present at what we both hoped would be the victorious end. Moreover, the thought of absence from her for a month at least, and probably much longer, was far from the most pleasant contemplation; my yielding, therefore, was not altogether unselfish.

Dr. Addison's case was different. At the last moment he decided to go abroad by the same ship; and, on the way over, touched by his contrition and his almost pathetic desire to make amends to his quondam friend at the earliest possible minute, I myself invited him to go with us the rest of the way.

Evelyn had proposed that Mrs. Lancaster should also be included in the party, but this I would not hear of. I for propriety's sake, another presence was necessary, her maid, and, ultimately, Dr. Addison, afforded all the security the conventions could demand.

The fever of haste was upon all of us from the start. The time on shipboard, in spite of our common subject of converse dragged eternally.

Should we reach Cherbourg in time to connect with the P. & O. Express at Paris? That was the one constantly recurring question, to be speculated upon with varying degrees of hope and despair.

As good fortune would have it, we made the train with fifteen minutes to spare, and the run to Brindisi was accomplished without accident or unseemly delay.

Here, however, we were compelled to wait six hours. The steamer was late, owing to some seismic disturbance off the coast of Malta, and fear of encountering new and necessarily uncharted volcanic islands, which had demanded slow and cautious sailing.

However sinister had been the game Fate played with us in the earlier stages of our quest, the favor of its present mood could not be gainsaid. That we were now reasonably sure of reaching Port Said in advance of the Glamorganshire was in itself a welcome relief from trying anxiety; but that was only a small part of the banquet of good things provided for us.

I was still exercised in a measure over the steps which must be taken to secure Cameron's release. Without proper introduction to the authorities, it was becoming more and more a question in my mind whether, after all, I should be able to accomplish my end in the brief time to which I was restricted.

With this fell possibility of failure dinging in my reflections, I was striding the white deck of the P. and O. steamer, in the early morning following the night of our departure from Brindisi, when a hand, dropped heavily on my shoulder, spun me round to face a laughing, sun-browned, young Englishman in white flannels.

For just a moment I was literally, as well as figuratively, taken aback, for the tone of the ringing voice which greeted me carried me five years at least into the past, when Lionel Hartley and I had ridden to hounds together at Melton Mowbray, while fellow guests at a house-party in the neighborhood.

"You bally Yankee!" he was shouting. "Fancy running into you in this fashion! I'm jolly glad to see you, old chap!"

Though my delight at seeing him was at that moment tempered by absorbing interest in my mission, it rose a few minutes later to unadulterated ecstasy, when I discovered that he was stationed at Port Said, and occupied what seemed to me just then one of the most important posts in the British Foreign Service—secretary to the Governor General for the Suez Canal.

"You're going to Cairo, I suppose?" he hazarded.

"No," I replied. "I'm going with you, and I shall not let you out of my sight, my friend, until you have proved you're something more than a figure head stuck up in the Egyptian sands."

"If there's any little thing I can d—" he began; but I interrupted him.

"There's a very big thing you can do," I corrected. And then I told him.

"What a lark!" he cried, refusing to recognize the serious side of it. "Fancy one of your American multi millionaires passing coal on a British freighter."

"Passing coal!" I exclaimed. "What rot! Surely they wouldn't—"

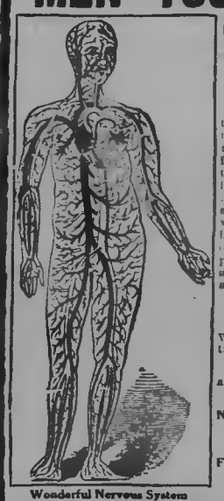
"Oh, wouldn't they?" he broke in. "That's just what they would do. He isn't an able-bodied seaman, is he? You can safely wager he's an experienced stoker, or at least a trimmer by this time."

"Don't, Hartley, don't," I protested. "It's too cruel to think of."

"Never mind, old chap," was his rejoinder. "There's a good time coming. We'll have him out and washed and dressed and sitting at table with us an hour after the old tub lets her anchor drop. And I'll wager you a tenner that there won't be a miss in any part of the programme."

When, at breakfast, I told Evelyn the good news—omitting, of course all reference to the coal-handling suggestion—she demanded that I hunt up Hartley, at once, and present him. Discretion, however, seemed to me in this instance, the better part of obedience. I did hunt Hartley up and I did present him, but not until I had allowed time for the first flush of Evelyn's fervor to cool.

He was a very good-looking young chap; Evelyn was both grateful and impulsive, and I—was in love.



Our landing at Port Said was made on the morning of Saturday, the fifth of December, and all that day and the next, we waited in more or less constant expectancy and a boiling temperature for tidings of the tardy Glamorganshire.

Hartley, meanwhile, was a model of hospitality, but Port Said is primarily a coal[illegible] on the sea-edge of the desert, and aside from the concrete docks, the ships, the light house, and the nearly naked Nubians that swarmed everywhere, it proved utterly lacking in objects of interest.

Sunday brought some small relief from the intolerable heat, and grateful for the respite, all four of our little party were early to bed. Gradually we had come to believe that our waiting was likely to be prolonged. The earthquake at Malta having delayed one vessel would in all probability delay others as well, including that which we had come so far to intercept. So, utterly worn out by nervous tension and the fatigue of the tropical climate, we found rest grateful, and slept soundly. Just how soundly was demonstrated when, at an hour after midnight, three resounding knocks on my hotel chamber door only roused me, dully, and left Evelyn and her maid and Dr. Addison, who occupied adjacent rooms, in deep slumber, totally undisturbed.

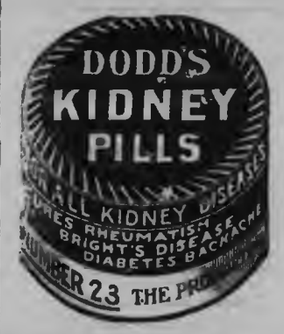
WASHING LACE

In Tepid Water With a Pinch of Soda

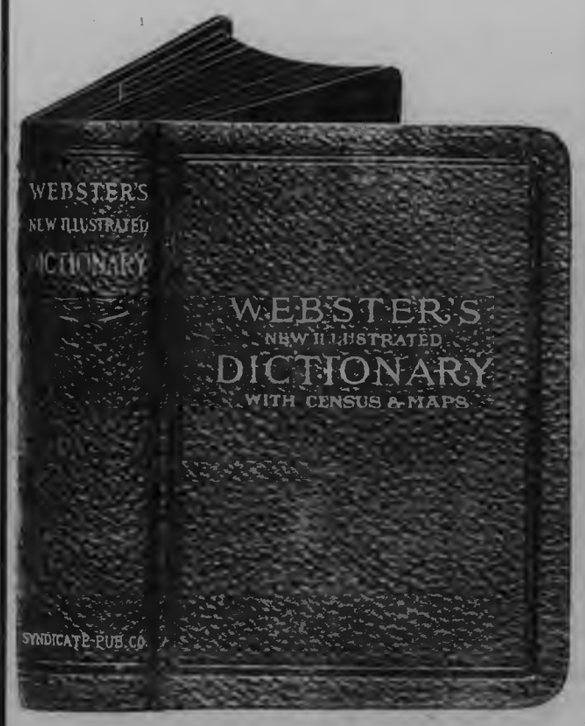
There are two ways to do every thing; the right and the wrong. This applies to washing lace as to anything else.

Lace should be washed in tepid water which contains a very small pinch of soda. It should not be rubbed. Make a lather and dip the flimsy articles up and down in it.

It is a great mistake to iron lace.



The wisest method in drying is to lay the collars or ruffles in a clean folded towel. When still a little damp pull the lace, make it into a small, tight roll and pin it. When it is completely dry unfold it. The lace will look almost like new.



Groping for a Genius.

Anybody, from the millionaire down to a cook, can write a good play. This is a fact, and must be true, because all of them, laying aside for the moment their overmastering mode, will tell you so.

This is what the manager of a great theatrical business in New York said the other day.

"It is the hardest thing imaginable to find a good play. Our concern has read a thousand plays a year for the last seven years, a total of seven thousand and out of that number we have not found a single play worth using. Anybody can write a play but mighty few can write it right."—The Popular Magazine

When Appetite Fails and Digestion is Bad

THERE IS DANGER AHEAD FOR THE MAN WHO NEGLECTS NATURE'S WARNING.

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made a new man of me. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly unnerved man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut are purely vegetable, 25c. per box, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A Venerable Horse.

A local hotelkeeper seeing a team drawing a delivery waggon of a local lumber comber company pass yesterday morning, remarked, "You see that horse on the off side of that black team, the one with the white face? Well, that's the first horse I ever drove in Peterborough, and that is 14 years ago. That horse must be old enough to enter the happy grazing grounds of the equine hereafter."

Mr. M. Pappas who recently operated the Royal Theatre here, has obtained a ten year lease of a valuable property on Queen street east, Toronto. Gun Versus Stones.

A scrap was ventilated at the Lindsay County Magistrate's Court, Saturday. Percy and Garnet Nicholls were charged with pointing guns at Roy Wheelton. A counter charge was made that Wheelton threw stones at the Nicholls boys. The scrap arose out of two rival camps, on Emily Lake, being at loggerheads. One witness swore that the Nicholls boys chased a canoe occupied by the Wheelton's and threatened to drown the latter. The case was enlarged.

A Local Philosopheress.

On Sunday morning a young lady, residing on Stewart Street, whilst going up the steps leading to the entrance of St. John's, accidentally dropped a 25 cent piece she was taking for the collection. The Ladies' Bowling Club of Belleville have decided to make several improvements to their green. Local Egg Dealers in Toronto.

Representatives from Peterborough attended the biggest meeting of poultry and egg dealers ever conducted in Canada, held yesterday in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. It is to be hoped that the local members will not be egoistical or chicken-hearted enough to advocate pulling the understanding of local housewives for 43 cents a dozen for henfruit containing, in too many cases, immature chicks or combustibles that would make a gasoline engine explosion blush.

George Sturgeon and Stanley Black, the two boys who got the wanderlust last Wednesday and strayed away out to near Apsley have been successfully corralled. Mr. Sturgeon went after the wanderers. The boys were captured by Constable Brown. A gentleman passing the respective homes of the youngsters Sunday night, states that he heard that plaintiff old ballad, "As I listen to the patter of a shingle on his pants," being rendered, but we don't guarantee the accuracy of our informant's hearing. Our congratulations are extended to the parents affected on the safe return of their progeny.

The Signal Corps of the 57th Regiment will hold a ball in the Armouries' Band Room to-morrow night.

To-day Mr. Simon Morrow takes over the Victoria Hotel at Tweed, the former proprietor having retired.

To-morrow evening the St. Georges banquet will be held at the Woodmen of the World hall. Mr. Peck, M.P.P., will preside.

A. Woolacott, caretaker of a Port Hope school, was fined $2 and costs for throwing a child over one of the school stone steps.

The fire brigade had two calls yesterday morning. One was to extinguish a grass fire and the other a chimney fire in a local terrace. No damage in either case.

Mr. H. W. Coleman, supervisor of cow-testing in Ontario, has been in the city during the past few days planing the work of the coming season with the new recorder, Mr. Wm. Weir.

Rev. Mr. Bacon, the "Yorkshire Nightingale" is to preach next Sunday at Lindsay. Should the reverend divine need inspiration he might visit the sylvan beauties along the stump lined Scugog River.

No Sadie. You may have read of Sand storms in the Sahara Desert. It was not a Simoon that blew along Water street yesterday, it was simply clouds of dust raised by the wind and unfettered by water from a city cart.

Chief of Police Phillips, of Smith's Falls, has been fined $1 and costs for forcibly yanking a citizen from a store railing, where the latter sat. The magistrate said the chief was justified in making people "move on," but in this instance, had exceeded his authority.

An esteemed evening local contemporary, in last night's issue, in adjoining columns, has two articles on dress. One is headed "Trousers for Oxen" and the other "Costumes for the bride." It is natural to infer that the material of both was either cowhides or dear-skin.

VOL. XL, NO. 95. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, 1913 PRICE, TWO CENTS.

UNDERWOOD DECLARES TARIFF BILL WILL PASS LOWER HOUSE

The Bill Holds to a Duty on Raw Materials, While Lowering the Tariff on Finished Products

Washington, D.C., April 22.—That the tariff negotiations of the Taft Government have brought the United States into a humiliating position in regard to Canada, is the tacit declaration of the report of the Ways and Means Committee which Congressman Underwood submitted to the House to-day. This report carries back to Congress the Tariff Reduction bill with practically no changes from its original form, and a recommendation that the bill pass.

Mr. Underwood's report declares that the Payne bill of 1909 delivered a threat to the whole world, informing all countries that unless they admitted the products of the United States to their ports on terms as favorable as those accorded the goods of other countries, an extra duty of twenty-five per cent. would be imposed upon their products.

The work of the Tariff Board in following out this program brought the country into a humiliating position to Canada, "wherein," the report proceeds to say, "we were practically obliged to recede from the extreme demands we had made of the Canadians, and instead of getting as good terms as were granted by Canada to such countries as France, England, and others, we were obliged to accept a very small list of nominal concessions in order to avoid the embarrassment of failing to apply the maximum which we had threatened to assess. The failure of this negotiation with Canada led the Administration of Mr. Taft to attempt to secure the adoption of a reciprocity agreement, which was rejected by Canada."

This maximum tariff policy, the committee declares, is now abandoned, but substitutes a policy to preventing dumping by adding a 'dumping duty equal to the difference between the home and the foreign value of goods exported to the United States and sold here at export prices.

Mr. Underwood Sees Victory

Mr. Underwood declared last night that he will put the bill through the House in twenty days and through the Senate in ninety days.

ENGINEER FROM OTTAWA HERE RE DRY DOCK

Likely be Built This Summer—New Waiting Room and Freight Shed to be Erected on new Peterborough Dock—Mr. Burnham Still "on the Move."

An engineer from the Department of Public Works is in the city, looking over the site for the dry dock which is to be built here. This will certainly be a great convenience to the steamboat men, and will help the machine shops to have the repairs to the boats on the Trent Canal all done in Peterborough. No doubt this dry dock will be built this summer. Mr. Burnham has not lost much time in getting after this necessary work. The steamboat men have been hoping for years that something of this kind would be built. Another great improvement which Mr. Burnham, M.P., is having done here, is a waiting room and freight shed placed on the new Peterborough dock, George street. These two works will give a lot of employment to labor this summer.

SOCIALISTS IN ONE RIDING CHANGES ALBERTA PARLIAMENT

Former Member For Rocky Mountain, Alberta, Found to be Ten Ahead

Edmonton, April 23. — Returns yesterday indicate that Rocky Mountain has gone Socialist, C. M. O'Brien the former member, winning out over the Conservative, Campbell, by a majority of 10. Final returns from Edson give Cross a majority of 58 with all polls heard from. In Medicine Hat, Mayor Spencer has a majority of 32 over C. R. Mitchell with all polls heard from. There will be a re-count of protested ballots in MacLeod where Premier Sifton was defeated by 17, and also in Medicine Hat, as well as in Edmonton, where the count is now in progress.

Mackay Gets Eight More

Latest results here gave an additional eight votes for Mackay on the hearing of protests in three out of eighty-five polls where Ewing has a majority of sixty-six. A large number of other polls come up today. Liberal leaders here now claim that Conservatives have only 13 absolutely sure seats out of 51 contests. It is practically certain that declaration day will find between that number and eighteen Conservatives elected.

BELGIUMS WORKERS WON OUT ON GREATEST STRIKE ON RECORD

Premier Announces to House That Government Will Accept Compromise

Brussels, April 22.—Premier Chas. de Broqueville announced this afternoon in the Chamber of Deputies that the Government had accepted with an unimportant amendment the resolution introduced by F. Masson, the Liberal leader, providing for a compromise. This means that the strike has come to an end.

Figures issued by the Government show that the number of strikers is about 375,000, while the leaders of the Socialist trade unions which organized the strike declare that nearly half a million have ceased work.

In Brussels the number of strikers was increased by 2,000 to-day, while in other parts of the country small bodies of men have seceded from the movement and others have joined it, making the total about the same as it has been for the past few days.

Among the strike contributions today were a subscription of $700 from the Young Turks of Constantinople, another of $1,000 from the Austrian Socialists, and $800 from an anonymous donor.

GLASS FABTORY STARTS.

Val-Saint, Lamberth, Belgium, Apr 22.—The strike was brought to an end this morning by the return of all the workers to the glass factories which are the most important in Belgium.

SOLDIERS FIRED UPON.

Braine-Le, Comte, Belgium, April 22.—Soldiers guarding a railroad bridge near here were fired at five times from a long range during the night, but none of them was hit. It is not known whether the outrage was committed by strikers or other persons.

SCOTCH VERDICT IN THE DICKSON CASE

At yesterday's police court, Frank Dickson of Parnell street, was charged with abducting Kate Sadler, aged under 16 years, from her father's care. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the accused, and Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution.

Kate Sadler, in the witness box, said she lived with her father at Byersville. Dickson had boarded with them, and always used her all right. Her mother threatened to protest against Dickson paying her attention. When her mother died, Dickson left the house, and boarded with a Mrs. Reid. She knew Mrs. Reid, "because Frank had taken me there." Frank tried to kiss her once or twice. She had gone to the picture shows with Frank. She went by invitation, to the house of Mrs. Wilder on Chambers street, with Frank and her sister. She asked Frank to get a place for her and her sister to sleep as she thought her father had told them to get out. She went to Frank's place to get him to procure a boarding place for her. She went with Frank down the railroad to Downer's corners on Saturday and went into a house with him there. She and her sister slept in one room and Frank in another. Frank bought her a ring and a watch but never said anything improper.

The magistrate dismissed the case on a Scotch verdict.

THE WEATHER

Today—Fresh south-westerly winds, with a few scattered showers, higher temperature.

HEIRARCHY WOULD RULE

The Roman Catholic heirarchy are trying to create more trouble in Manitoba by trying to resurrect the question of Separate Schools in that Province. At a meeting o the executive officers of the Manitoba Federation of Catholic Laymen from the parishes of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, as well as eight Catholic priests from the parishes of Winnipeg, a resolution was unanimously passed, protesting against the acceptance of a portfolio in the Manitoba Cabinet by Joseph Bernier, M.P., on account of the non-settlement of the separate school question and declaring that Bernier's acceptance of the provincial secretaryship will be regarded as a direct violation of the principle for which the Catholic minority have been fighting for the past 20 years.

Rev. Father Anzalone, of the Sacred Heart church, stated in church that it was the first time since 1890 that a Catholic had deemed it advisable to accept a portfolio in the provincial cabinet under the coercion that obtains in Manitoba regarding separate schools.

ANOTHER GERMAN AIRSHIP DESCENDS ON FRENCH SOIL

Chief Inspector of Aviation in Germany on Board, Says He was Short of Gasoline--Officials Release Aeroplane After Investigation

Nancy, France, April 22.—Another international military aviation incident occurred on the Franco-German frontier yesterday morning, when a German army aeroplane alighted on French tyritory at Nord Arracourt.

Two German officers in uniform were on board. These were Captain Devall, chief inspector of aviation of the Germany army division, whose headquarters are at Darmstadt, and Lieut. Von Mirbach.

The local military police and the French Customs officers, hastened to the spot, and Captain Devall explained to them that his gasoline had become exhausted, and he was compelled to descend, but he had thought at the time of landing that he was on the German side of the frontier.

THE NEW "BIGGEST SHIP" RUNS INTO EARLY TROUBLE

New Hamburg-American Steamship, Foremost in the World Has Slight Accident While Proceeding to a Trial Trip

Hamburg, April 22 The new Hamburg-American steamship Imperator, 900 feet long, ran aground in the Elbe yesterday morning. She was proceeding from the Vulcan ship building yards for the lower Elbe to make ready for her official trial trips when she grounded off Altona.

Under favorable conditions it is hoped she can be floated to night.

The steamship Imperator, when she goes into commission with the start of her maiden voyage to New York on May 29th, will for a time be the largest vessel sailing. Her keel was laid two years ago, 900 feet in length or almost double that of Germany's largest warship and her other dimensions are 96 feet beam and 62 feet depth.

VERMONT MARBLE CO BYLAW CARRIED ALMOST UNAMINOUSLY

Yesterday a comparatively small vote was polled on the Vermont Marble Co. by-law, which was carried by 1002 to 46. To reiterate what we published, in yesterday's issue concerning the company, we might repeat that they employ between three and four thousand hands in the States, and are capitalized at six and a half million dollars, and the biggest industry of its kind in the world. They are going to establish a branch here to avoid the duty on their finished product, and to facilitate the handling of their Canadian Trade, which is growing to big proportions. The city gives them a free site in East City, and the customary exemption.

It will be remembered that formerly it took two thirds of those qualified to vote to carry a money by-law, such as the above. Now it only takes two thirds of those who actually vote to carry such legislation.

THE MEANEST MAN IN TOWN

A SECOND ARMISTICE MADE WITH TURKEY

Constantinople, April 2. The Greeks and the Servians to-day concluded an agreement with Turkey similar to that made between Bulgaria and Turkey by the terms of which hostilities are to be suspended for ten days. The Grecian and Turkish Governments also have agreed to begin the repatriation of Turkish prisoners of war.

Vienna, Austria, April 22 Some 16,000 Turkish soldiers, with whom are Djavid Pasha and all his generals, the temnants of the Vardar army and refugees from the fortress of Janina are reported to have arrived ar Fiera on the coast of the Adriatic Sea to the north of the port of Avlona.

The fugitives are said to be in a pitiable state. The troops are mostly ill and suffering from semi-starvation. They are completely demoralized.

CHARGE AGAINST LAURIER TO BE PROBED

Mr. J H. Burnham After the Liberal Leader

Ottawa, April 22.—An echo of last week's discussion on the Prince Albert land transfer is contained in a resolution of which J. H. Burnham, of Peterborough, gave notice in the House to-night. He asks for a committee to investigate a charge made against Sir Wilfrid Laurier by Hon. Robert Rogers.

In the debate Mr. Rogers referred to 16,000,000 feet of timber being handed over to one Crawford 12 days subsequent to the defeat of the late Government, and stated that the order in council was signed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the absence of the then Minister of the Interior. The reply of the leader of the Opposition was that he had no recollection of the matter, but if he signed the order-in-council, it was in the ordinary routine. If any wrong was implied he said he would be prepared to meet the charge if the Minister would move for a committee to investigate.

Mr. Burnham will move that, in view of the serious charge, the matter be referred to a special committee for enquiry.

FAR WESTERN CITY ENDANGERED BY FIRE

Moose Jaw, Sask., April 22.—The prairie fires in the south continue to rage fiercely, fanned by high, changeable winds. The flames are carried far and wide, mocking the efforts of the settlers who have worked unceasingly since Saturday night to combat the conflagration. The damage is now counted in thousands of dollars. All the grass for many miles around has been burned and the problem created of feeding the live stock until the new grass grows. At Snowy Springs, the pumping plant formerly used to supply Moose Jaw is threatened. The fire department rushed from here found the flames within a few feet of the big gasoline tanks, with one man fighting hard for the safety of the plant.

EUROPE RECOVERING FROM YELLOW RERIL FEARS SLAVS

War in Balkins Has Caused Surprise--Europe Can Produce 10,000,000 Fighting Slavs

New York, April 23.—Europe has practically recovered from the fear of the yellow peril. Now she is coming down with the Slav scourge.

There are 135,000,000 Slavs in Europe. That multitude could produce 10,000,000 two-fisted fighting men. The thought of so many hungry Slavs goose stepping cross the country has given the rest of Europe the horrors. Austria is especially gifted in visioning this danger. She sees the Czar of Russia at the head of the largest body of fighting men — in proportion to total population—since Genghis Khan put the "for rent" sign on China. There wouldn't be a county line or a frying chicken left from Scutari to the Faubourg St. Germain.

"All nonsense," says Prof. M. I. Pupin, who is without doubt the foremost Serb in the United States. He is at the head of the allied societies of Serbs here, and is in constant touch with the leaders in the Balkans. "It is inconceivable that the Slavs of the Balkan states and of the Austrian provinces should ever place themselves under the political leadership of Russia."

Effect of Balkan War.

That the war in the Balkans will result in upsetting the balance of power in Europe and in the creation of a new political entity is his conviction, however.

KING AND QUEEN MAKING TOUR AMONG POTTERY DISTRICTS

Last Year They Visited South Wales and Yorkshire--Yesterday They Were at Crewe

New York, April 22. A cable from London says:

The King and Queen yesterday began another tour among the industrial classes of their subjects. A year ago their Majesties visited South Wales and Yorkshire; yesterday they were at Crewe, and to-day and to-morrow they will be among the people of the potteries. Their Majesties left London yesterday for Crewe Hall, where they are guests of the Marquis and Marchioness of Crewe.

When His Majesty reached Crewe Hall he sent for Robert Turnbull, superintendent of the line on the London and North-Western Railway, and conferred upon him the honor of knighthood.

ARTHUR BALFOUR DECLARES SUFFRAGETTES MUST FIGHT

Englands Rivers and Lakes Patrolled in Fear of Destructive Women

London, April 22 — An "arson squad" of militant suffragettes succeeded during the night in burning down the Hanbsworth Park boat house in a Birmingham suburb. Four pleasure boats and a large quantity of equipment were destroyed.

With the opening of the boating season attempts to destroy skiffs and shells are expected and along most of the rivers and lakes a close watch is kept by special patrols night and day for suffragettes bound on destruction.

Create "Suffragette" Millinery

New York, April 22. Women suffragists are going in for militant millinery for the suffrage parade here on May 3. They have chosen for their newest suffrage hats a design decidedly Napoleonic and they set to work to-day upon the manufacture of them. The hat is a cocked affair with an upturned broadside and a yellow cockade, all heavy with import of siege and capture. It is described as fatally becoming and allied with steel of flashing glances, is warranted to pierce the armor of all the "antis."

Praise for Militancy

New York, April 23.—Praise of the militant suffragettes in England and prediction of serious trouble in America if women do not get the ballot were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's farewell theme as she prepared to-day to sail to-night for Europe as a delegate from this country to the International Women's Suffrage convention in Budapest, opening June 15.

Mrs. Belmont said she approved of everything the English "wild women" have done and that if women suffrage is not effected in New York in 1915 militant methods may prevail here. "The English women will get the vote now before we do, and that will be a disgrace," she said. "People here do not know it, but Mrs. Pankhurst was told by Arthur Balfour and other big men that militant methods must be used if the women would win. Men never won their freedom without shedding blood and the women will not get their's without fighting."

TWO WHITE MEN THREATEN INDIANS

The two Nicholls boys of Bobcaygeon, who were charged with pointing a gun at and threatening to drown the Wetung boys of Chemong Indian village, on Emily Lake, were fined $38 each or $76 in all. The case was tried at Lindsay before County Magistrate Moore. The scene of the battle was an island 30 feet wide by 180 feet long, and the date of the occurrence April 15th. It seems that the Nicholls boys tried to interfere with the Wetungs who were trapping. An altercation arose and the Nicholls brothers each pulled a gun on the Wetungs. 6The former chased the Wetungs in a canoe race and threatened to drown them. The Wetung brothers were armed with an unloaded gun and a war club, but did not use them.
